LEGISLATURE ENACTS HISTORIC CHALLENGE AGAINST WAR

THE MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE Wednesday enacted and sent to Gov. Francis W. Sargent unprecedented legislation challenging the President's authority to conduct undeclared war such as the Vietnam conflict. Final enactment by the House and Senate marked the first time a state legislative body has questioned the federal government's constitutional authority to continue the Vietnam conflict in the absence of a Congressional declaration of war. The Senate passed the bill on a 49-3 roll call vote less than three hours after the House passed the measure on a 127-92 roll call vote. A spokesman for the governor promised a decision on the bill within 24 hours. He would only say Sargent, who participated in the October Vietnam War moratorium, has kept an "open mind" on the bill. Filed by Rep. H. James Shea, D-Newton, on behalf of the Unitarian minister from Lexington, the Rev. John Wells, the legislation prohibits the federal government from sending Massachusetts servicemen to combat zones in conflicts conducted in the absence of Congressional declarations of war. The state attorney general is empowered through the legislation to defend Massachusetts servicemen by bringing suits on their behalf before the U.S. Supreme Court. Unless the governor affixes an emergency preamble to the bill to make it effective immediately, the legislation would take effect 90 days after it becomes law with the governor's signature.

DENNY McLAIN SUSPENDED FOR HALF-SEASON

PAINTING A PICTURE of star pitcher Denny McLain as a man who was duped "by his own gullibility and avarice," into thinking he was buying into a bookmaking operation, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Wednesday slapped the Detroit Tigers' star with an half-season suspension. McLain, said Kuhn after a two-month investigation of gambling charges against McLain, was guilty of "conduct not in the best interests of baseball." The ruling by the baseball commissioner was revealed by him to President Nixon on Tuesday, and Kuhn said the President had called the action "very fair." McLain, who won 31 games for the Tigers when they won baseball's world championship, was at home in Lakeland, Fla., when the decision was announced. He has been under indefinite suspension since Feb. 19.

MEDINA ACCUSED OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR MY LAI MASSACRE

THE ARMY Wednesday charged Capt. Ernest L. Medina with being responsible for all murders of South Vietnamese civilians that occurred during the My Lai massacre. Medina has denied he ever ordered a massacre or that he ever knew that one occurred. The Army has never said how many civilians died at My Lai, but Medina has been charged with four murders, one of his platoon leaders with 102 and another officer with two. In addition, seven other soldiers have been charged with killing an unspecified number. "This charge does not mean that Capt. Medina is charged with personally murdering all these individuals," the Army said. "The charge involves deaths allegedly caused by Capt. Medina as a principal."

COMMUNISTS ATTACK CAMBODIAN FORCES INSIDE COUNTRY

NORTH VIETNAMESE troops took part for the first time in an attack on Cambodian forces five miles inside Cambodian territory, the government reported Wednesday in Phnom Penh. The first report of North Vietnamese action since the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk March 18 prompted government communiques telling both Communist and Allied forces to stay out of Cambodia. The broadcast on Phnom Penh radio said the Cambodian forces suffered casualties in the battle Tuesday near the border town of Shou. The number killed or wounded was not disclosed.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES IN HIJACKING OF JAPAN AIRLINER

JAPAN'S transportation minister refused permission Wednesday for a hijacked Japan Airlines jetliner to fly from the South Korean capital of Seoul to North Korea, despite assurances from the Communist nation that the 100 passengers locked inside as hostages would be promptly returned. The hijackers reportedly gave the minister, Tomisaburo Hashimoto until 6 a.m. Thursday (4 p.m. Wednesday) to change his mind, tightening the stalemate that began Tuesday when the plane landed at Seoul's Kimpo airport. The report of the deadline was broadcast by Seoul Radio, but a spokesman for the Japanese Embassy later denied that such a demand had been made. The spokesman said no break in the stalemate could be foreseen.

COMMUNIST FORCES KILL OVER 100 ALLIED SOLDIERS

COMMUNIST FORCES in South Vietnam Wednesday launched a countryside offensive that killed more than 100 Allied soldiers and wounded about 500 others, military spokesman said. One of those killed was an American general. In their heaviest wave of attacks in Vietnam in eight months, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong carried out at least 115 shelling attacks and sent ground units in assaults against at least 14 American and South Vietnamese camps. American military spokesman said among those killed Wednesday was Brig. Gen. William R. Bond, commander of the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade. The general was fatally wounded by gunfire just after noon in Binh Tuy province, about 70 miles northeast of Saigon. Bond, 51, of Portland, Maine, was shot in the chest by small arms fire while riding in a command helicopter.

FRANCE CALLS FOR TALKS TO END INDOCHINA WAR

THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT warned Wednesday that recent developments in Laos and Cambodia have spread the Vietnam conflict to the whole of Indochina and called for negotiations by "all interested parties" to make the area a neutral zone. A government statement issued in Paris after a 5½ hour cabinet meeting chaired by President Georges Pompidou said: "The French government notes that the recent developments in Laos and Cambodia have considerably aggravated the situation in Indochina and have contributed to the spreading of the Vietnam war to the whole of the Indochinese peninsula." Noting that all hope was not lost that Cambodia could retain and Laos regain its neutral status, the statement also said there still was hope the Vietnam war could be settled by a negotiated settlement "guaranteeing the existence of a truly independent and neutral South Vietnam."

NCDF Chooses Architect In Housing Plan

After a search that included the review of over 30 architects, the Newton Community Development Foundation (NCDF) selected the PARD TEAM INC. of Boston to be its architect and architectural designs are now being developed.

In making the announcement, Robert C. Casselman, Chairman of the Board of NCDF, stated:

"The Board of Directors was particularly impressed with the PARD TEAM's site plans and designs for townhousing in Reston, Virginia, one of their most outstanding architectural achievements. In his

Supplementary Bond Issue Vote Decides

Aldermen Save High School On Squeaker

After a long and suspenseful evening, approval of a $3 million supplementary bond issue needed for the construction of a new Newton High School squeaked through the Board of Aldermen by a hair on Tuesday night and very nearly didn't make it at all.

Mayor Monte G. Basha had requested approval of a $4 million bond issue. The funds were needed because the contractors' bids received last week disclosed that the new school will cost $19.5 million or $4 million more than $15.4 million bond issue approved by the Board last April.

However, a motion by Aldermanic Finance Committee Chairman Edward Uehlein to cut the supplementary request by $1 million was approved. The School Department will determine where to make the cut to keep the costs in line with the reduced figure.

On the first vote the Board of Aldermen turned down the bond issue and, therefore, the whole school, which was four years in the planning, was defeated by a one vote margin. But on a reconsideration the measure was approved by the switch of two votes.

The first vote was 15 to 8 in favor of the bond issue, but 16 votes were needed for passage. The second vote was 17 to 6 and was accomplished when Aldermen Adelaide Ball and Sidney T. Small changed their vote from no to yes.

The Aldermanic Public Buildings Committee had come into the meeting with a 5-3 vote in favor of the new facility. On the other hand, the Finance Committee turned thumbs down on the project by a 5-3 vote.

Since only eight negative votes were necessary to defeat the project, it seemed doomed from the start of the 5th Anniversary Participants

Key participants in recent anniversary celebration of Newton's Catholic Guild for All the Blind were, left to right, Rev. Robert H. Carolan, Guild executive director; James Duffy of Worcester, the Guild's first trainee when it opened; James Acton, St. Raphael's director; and the Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, director of professional policy and development.

Nixon Has Praise For Guild

President Richard M. Nixon recently commended the Catholic Guild for All the Blind and all who have had a part in the continuing success of this fine institution.

"The fifth anniversary of St. Raphael's Geriatric Adjustment center is an occasion of pride and satisfaction to all who are familiar with its outstanding, pioneering work," the President said.

"I wholeheartedly salute the Catholic Guild for All the Blind and all who have had a part in the continuing success of this fine institution."

"Your rehabilitation programs have assisted individuals to lead normal, productive lives; and they have particularly given self-reliance and confidence to our older blind citizens."

St. Raphael's was opened in March, 1965. It is the only residential center in the nation for rehabilitation of geriatric blind persons.

Many have been rehabilitated to the point of being able to live independently. This includes running their own homes and traveling with little or no assistance.

The Catholic Guild for All the Blind is located at 770 Centre st. in Newton.

Aldermen Vote Protest Against School Budget

An extraordinary situation developed last Thursday night when the members of the Board of Aldermen by a 13-9 vote refused to act on the School Department budget for this year.

The 1970 school budget became effective yesterday by default but actually had not been approved by the city fathers.

The Aldermen, who have no authority to reduce the school budget, voted 13 to 9 to "hold" it.

This reflected their dissatisfaction with the $21 million-plus school budget.

Members of the Board of Aldermen voted their approval of Newton's 1970

municipal budget at their special session but made plain their disapproval of the disproportionate rise in school costs as compared to the general city budget.

The 1970 school budget is $2.4 million greater than that of last year, with a stable school population, while the city budget increased only $370,000 over 1969.

The total city portion of the budget, which was approved by a unanimous vote, was $21,330,140.48.

The Board of Aldermen cut about $433,842 from Mayor Monte G. Basha's recommended budget.

As a result of the rises in the school budget, city budget, county and other assessments along with

McCarthy Seen As "Spoiler" Candidate Against Sargent

Governor Francis W. Sargent, in the judgment of most political observers, is a fairly solid favorite to win election to a full-four-year term over any Democratic adversary next November.

But a cloud in the political sky is beginning to cast a shadow over Mr. Sargent's prospects of continuing as the head man in the state government for the next four years.

John J. McCarthy of Chatham, commissioner of administration and deputy Governor for a two-year period during John A. Volpe's second term on Beacon Hill, will run for Governor as an independent candidate if his supporters can secure the necessary signatures to place his name on the ballot.

George Zilzer In Concert At Music School

The All Newton Music School presents George Zilzer in its third faculty concert of the 1969-70 season on Sunday afternoon, April 7, at 3:00 at the All Newton Music School, 321 Chestnut Street, West Newton. Mr. Zilzer is a graduate of Harvard College and has studied with Claude Frank and Alexander Borovsky. Mr. Zilzer will be presenting the following program on Sunday: Schenker's Piano Piece, Op. 11, No. 1, Haydn Sonata in C Minor, Brahms Intermezzo, Op. 118, No. 2 and 6 and Ballade No. 3, Scriabin Etudes Op. 2, No. 1, Op. 8, No. 11 and Prelude Op. 11, No. 13, and Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 13. The public is invited to the recital. No admission is charged.

Ten Newtonites On Dean's List

Ten Newton-area students have been named to the Dean's List at the University of Vermont for the fall semester. For this honor they maintained an average of 3.0 (B's and above) or higher and carried 12 or more hours. They are: Jane Berson of 1095 Commonwealth Ave.; Ronald A. Fox of 71 Andrew St.; Barbara J. Greenblatt of 63 Rosalie Road; Judy E. Hamberg of 33 Dedham St.; Jane Litsky of 161 Pond Brook Rd.; Kenneth J. Miller of 725 Chestnut St., all of Newton; also Joseph Friedman of 118 Wendell Rd.; Marsha F. Red Cross Bloodmobile At Temple Emanuel April 8th Temple Emanuel, on Ward Street, Newton Centre, will have the Red Cross Bloodmobile on April 8th. It will be open to donors from 2 until 7:45 p.m. This will be an open bloodmobile and therefore it is not limited to just members of Temple Emanuel.

It is hoped that members of other organizations and churches will avail themselves of the opportunity to have their members donate at this time.

There is never enough blood in the blood banks. The need is constant, and the minimum quota of 1000 pints a day in Massachusetts has not changed, but the varied uses in therapy changes and increases constantly.

Negative type blood is urgently needed at this time. It is hoped that donors with this type of blood, who usually hold themselves in reserve for emergencies, will change their pattern of giving and come forth at this time. Also hoped for is that they change their pattern further and donate regularly when there is a bloodmobile.

Red Cross is on hand day and night to cover blood emergencies. If the blood bank is kept full, then Red Cross can work with the hospitals and physicians to process the blood promptly.

One pint of blood donated, assures a family's needs for an entire year. It makes sense to have this measure of security.

Please call the Newton Red Cross at 527-6000 to make an appointment to give blood on April 8th, at Temple Emanuel, on Ward Street, Newton Centre. It is also possible to be a walk-in donor. Let Red Cross know.

Freedom, Responsibility In Schools Is PTA Theme

"Freedom and Responsibility in Public Schools" will be focus of tonight's (Thursday's) program of Annual Spring Conference of the Newton Council of PTA's. The Conference will be held at the Newton South High School, dinner at 6:15 and meeting at 7:45.

"Who runs the public schools? Is Education a process or a response to immediacy where the loudest voices force hasty decisions? Can it be a mutual undertaking in which the civil rights of all citizens (students, teachers, administrators, parents and non-parents) are respected?"

These will be some of the questions addressed to Panel Speakers and their Reactors. Speakers are: Mr. Daniel D. Levenson, of Newton, General Counsel for the Mass. American Civil Liberties Union; Dr. Graham B. Blaine, Jr., Director, Harvard University Health Service; and Dr. Howard Niblock, First Vice-President of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Chairman of the Conference is Rev. Joseph O'Donnell, President of the Day Junior High PTA.

The community is encouraged to attend and participate in the evening's program. Formal Reactors to speakers will be a Newton North High Teacher, Newton South High Student, and member of the Newton Clergy Association.

A light admission charge for registration will be made at the door.

designs, Samuel E. Mintz, president of the PARD TEAM, showed deep concern for the creative use of open space and the retention of the natural landscape of the area. "Throughout their work, Mr. Mintz and his staff have demonstrated a keen awareness of the needs of the community, and a remarkable ability to design attractive and comfortable housing within strict FHA maximum costs limitations."

The PARD TEAM is one of the best qualified firms in the country in the field of low and moderate income housing. PARD TEAM INC. has designed over 1000 units of low and moderate income housing including Edgewood Terrace Apartments, a high-density development in Washington, D.C., which included commercial and community facilities as well as the Concord Towers project currently being designed for the Boston Redevelopment Authority's South End Urban Renewal area.

Also in the South End, the PARD TEAM did rehabilitation designs for South End Community Development Inc. They are the architects for the Charlesview Housing in Allston which is being built for the Committee for North Harvard Inc., a community organization which, like NCFD, includes clergymen, civic and business leaders.

"In all of these developments, the Architect Selection Committee of the Foundation was impressed with the PARD TEAM's willingness, and demonstrated ability to help the sponsoring organization in working effectively with community groups," added Mr. Casselman.

The Architect Selection Committee of NCFD consisted of: Mr. Joseph Bennett, of Newton Centre; Mr. William Carmen, of Newton; Mr. Norman Leventhal of Newton Centre; Mr. Ronald Silberstein of Chestnut Hill; Mr. Herbert Weiss of West Newton; Mr. Tetsuo Takayanagi of Auburndale; and Mr. Pat Ulmark of West Newton, Chairman.

Mr. Ehrenberg and Nathaniel Fowler, Fowler Printing Co. have been named sub-committee chairmen to secure improved housing in Newton and Needham, respectively. Both are members of the Chamber's Planning, Zoning & Redevelopment Committee.

Mr. Nicolazzo will be in charge of the Chamber's Annual Achievement Dinner. Five other committee chairmen will be announced shortly.

Mr. Nicolazzo has also appointed Edward Ehrenberg, West Ford to represent the Chamber in the Newton Coalition and Geoffrey Stoughton, WNTN to represent the Chamber with the Newton Community Chest & Council.

Mr. Ehrenberg and Nathaniel Fowler, Fowler Printing Co. have been named sub-committee chairmen to secure improved housing in Newton and Needham, respectively. Both are members of the Chamber's Planning, Zoning & Redevelopment Committee.

GILES E. MOSHER JR.

NATHAN I. GREENE

Top Management Changes At Newton-Waltham Bank

Two top management changes were announced at the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton-Wellesley Bank and Trust Company.

Nathan I. Greene was re-elected board chairman and chief executive officer while Giles E. Mosher, Jr., was elected president and chief administrative officer.

Greene had been both chairman of the board and president since 1963. He is an overseer of Bowdoin College and a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank and the Waltham Hospital.

In announcing the changes, Mr. Greene stated that the tremendous expansion of the bank which has taken place during the past five years has necessitated re-aligning executive responsibilities.

Mr. Mosher joined the Newton-Waltham Bank in 1955 and served successively as manager of the Credit Department, assistant treasurer, assistant vice president and vice president.

He was elected senior vice president in 1966 and was named executive vice president in 1968. The following year, he was elected a member of the bank's board of directors.

Mosher is a member of the Board of Incorporators of the Union Warren Savings Bank and a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton South Cooperative Bank, Yankee Capital Corporation and Massachusetts Business Development Corporation.

He is also treasurer of the Newton Bankers Association and is a member of Brae Burn Country Club.

Currently serving as first vice president of the Boston College Alumni Association, Mosher is a trustee of both the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton. He also serves as a member of the Advisory Board of Massachusetts Housing Finance agency, Emmanuel College and the Academy of the Assumption.

During the past ten years, he has received many honors including the Young Man of the Year Award in 1960. Subsequently, he was named one of the Ten Outstanding Young Men of Greater Boston in 1964.

That same year, he was awarded the Bronze Medalion of the Boys' Clubs of America. In 1965, he was selected as one of the Four Outstanding Young Men in Massachusetts and the following year, he was named among the Five Outstanding Young Men of New England. In 1967, the Alpha Gamma Sigma Fraternity selected Mr. Mosher as their Honorary Member.

The father of five children, he and his family reside at 32 Holden Road in West Newton.

Conservators Ask That Leaf Burning Ban Be Maintained

The Hon. Monte G. Basbas Newton City Hall Newton, Mass.

Dear Mr. Basbas:

A public hearing scheduled by the Board of Aldermen for April 9 on the prohibition of open burning in Newton has been cancelled because of the proposed Metropolitan Air Pollution Control District regulations prohibiting open burning of leaves and domestic refuse and the use of backyard incinerators, effective July, 1970, with local enforcement.

Mr. Elliot Cohen of the Legislation and Rules Committee has informed me that when the new regulations are ratified the Board will act in accordance with them, and that in the meantime the matter is being held in committee.

We hope that a local enforcement instrument will be formulated and enacted in time to allow the city to work out administrative details and alternative practices before the fall of 1970. To this end we have supplied the Legislation and Rules and Public Works Committees of the Board with our recommendations and stand ready to assist them further in any way we can.

I have supplied Mr. Cohen with a copy of the MAPCD's proposed regulations and you also, with a copy of our recommendations to the Aldermen, as well as a copy of our testimony at a public hearing on March 9 on the proposed regulations.

The spring leaf burning season is at hand, and we are most anxious that the current ban on open burning be extended until the MAPCD regulations take effect, and that continuance of the ban be well publicized and enforced as it was most successfully last fall.

We trust your careful scrutiny will be given to all the new regulations, most particularly those which are to be enforced locally, so that timely arrangements can be made to enforce them.

We draw your attention to a regulation prohibiting air pollution by herbicides and pesticides, and we accordingly ask you to consider ceasing all city spraying programs. A recent letter from Mrs. Frank

Howard of the Newton Conservators, Inc., to the city forester urged the cessation of city spraying in connection with the HEW's commission on pesticides recommending immediate restrictions on the use of "Sevin" with which our street trees are sprayed in the spring.

Mrs. William L. Kierstead, Chairman, Comm. on Air Conservation; Chairman, Clean Air for Newton.

It was the third time in a row that the Troop's three Eagle drums were sounded and Troop Committeeman Edward Donaldson noted advancement in the troop was largely due to active programming with strong participation by committeemen and parents of Scouts.

He also announced the Troop would tour Valley Forge as the Spring activity in May. The entire Troop will attend the tour on May 8, 9 and 10 traveling by chartered bus.

The Troop will camp two nights in historic Delmont Reservation while touring Valley Forge.

Eagle Scouts Jack Polsky and Michael Shockett received the Scoutmaster's Citation for "Outstanding work as Patrol Leaders."

Other Scouts recognized for merit badges or advancements were:

To Tenderfoot: George Thomas, Steven Hammett, Jeff Stoloff, Eric Lundquist. To Second Class, Phillip Wallace, Greg McKinney, William Fuchs, John Levin, David Hall, Richard Houghton. To First Class, Donald Wallace.

Merit Badges were awarded to: Michael Shockett, Chris Hammett, Barry duMoulin, Craig McCool, Phillip Wallace, Jeff Stoloff, John Collins, William Fuchs, Paul Sawin, Jr., Michael McKinney and Frank Walker.

Troop Bugler was awarded to Jeff Stoloff who joins Brad Woolf in that rank.

Maybe you don't... if you think of God as merely some distant person, or unknowable.

Unitarians To Invest In Bonds Of Black Council

The relevancy of religious institutions to the realities of life, and the need for personal as well as institutional commitment was expressed uniquely by members of the First Unitarian Society in West Newton at a recent special parish meeting by voting to recommend to its Investment Trustees that one-half of its unrestricted endowment funds (approximately $125,000) not already invested for socially relevant purposes be invested in Black Affairs Council (BAC) Bonds.

The Society two years ago voted to invest an initial 10% of its unrestricted endowment in socially constructive ventures. BAC, a black-controlled organization has just disaffiliated from the Unitarian-Universalist Association. The proceeds of the bond issue, which aims for a subscription of $5,000,000, will be used for black economic development within national, regional, or neighborhood plans, with additional criteria for individual enterprises of social utility to black communities, providing equity for the community as a whole, and providing equity for employees. The bonds will be issued when at least $1,000,000 has been subscribed.

With over one-third of its membership present, the resolution was passed by a 55-4% vote, being the original resolution proposed by the Society's minister, Mr. G. Clyde Dodder. In view of the speculative nature of the bonds, alternative proposals were presented by the Social Concerns Committee, the Board of Investment, and the Board of Trustees of the Society — all of which called for a similar $125,000 pledge to be paid over five years, partially from endowment funds and partially from a capital drive. Thereby, as stated in the proposal of the three-member investment Board, this process "will maintain the current cash income to the Church; it involves members in a meaningful yet realistic personal commitment; and, finally, it increases the Society's ability to invest in a socially relevant manner."

In his original statement to the parish, Mr. Dodder spoke of "the dangers of an institution becoming too wound up in its own internal affairs. The result of succumbing to such inter-mural fixations is to miss the meaning of the larger events that are happening all around, and to risk denying the very purpose for which the institution was created. . . I believe the Church that makes itself a part of the dynamics of a changing society need not fear for its survival. And, I am also saying that it requires a certain amount of ego disengagement, and emotional resiliency to bring that about. I have long ago accepted as fact that hope, and, health

The Berkshire Apparel Corporation of Malden, a Division of Genesco, Inc., has announced the promotion of two Newton residents in executive positions with the company.

Kenneth Sheffer of 15 Walden St., Newtonville, has been made Vice President of Marketing. He was vice president of the Western Division. Murray Pruess of 47 Hammond Pond Parkway, Newton, has been made Executive Vice President of product development from Key Account Co-ordinator. Both men have lived in the Newtons for many years.

$5,000 Check From Temple Is Given To Newton Development

In recognition of the Newton Community Development Foundation's (NCDF) pressing need for immediate funds, Temple Shalom of Newton last week gave NCDF a check for $5,000 from its own funds towards its pledged goal of $7500 which it will seek to raise from its members.

In presenting the check to Mr. Robert C. Casselman, Chairman of NCDF, Mr. Jackson L. Parker, President of the Temple, said: "The members of the Board were very impressed by NCDF's concept of scattered townhouse and garden - style apartments for low and moderate income families on 10 sites in the Newtons."

We felt that by giving our wholehearted support to NCDF during this critical period, we could make a most substantial impact on the housing needs of our neighbors.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman of the Temple, who was one of the 22 Newton clergymen who founded NCDF in 1968 and who is a Director of the Foundation, said: "I am most pleased that the Board of my Temple has made such a strong commitment to NCDF. In my travels around the country, I have yet to see a more creative — and yet more challenging — response to the housing shortage than NCDF's scattered - site concept."

In thanking the Temple on behalf of the Foundation, Mr. Robert C. Casselman, Chairman of the Board, stated: "We are very pleased, not only because this gives a tremendous boost to our fund drive, but also because it represents a substantial commitment on the part of the members of one congregation. It is because we are being met throughout the community with this kind of commitment that we believe we will very shortly reach our goal."

Jewish Historians To Meet at Marriott

The 68th Annual Meeting of the American Jewish Historical Society will be held in Newton's Marriott Motor Hotel next weekend. Hundreds of educators, historians and lay scholars from all over the United States are expected including Cecil Roth, Editor-in-Chief of the Encyclopedia Judaica and Percival Goodman, noted architect and educator, who will be the main speakers.

Photo Display

"The Altered Image," an unusual collection of contemporary photographs, is on display at the Lasell Junior College library in Auburndale now through April 12th.

himself, followed the return of bids last week indicating the school would cost $20 million.

The aldermen originally had placed a ceiling of $15.6 million on the school but delays have pushed construction costs upwards. Muther presented a taxpayers' alternate North High plan with an estimated cost of $9.8 million.

Muther cited as an example of "over - elaboration" a $683,000 charge for air - conditioning in the proposed new school.

He said that state aid of about $11 million for this proposal, plus the $5.2 million already committed for Day Junior High "would not even pay the interest on 20-year bonds . . ."

Muther said the Day School "plus this proposal alone would more than double the city's debt, to more than $40 million with a debt - valuation ratio of over 11 per cent."

He said, "The tax rate would be affected by a rozen - in addition starting at about $5 and averaging about $3.50 for the 20 - year period. That may not be too much in itself but it is serious when we consider that the tax rate soon will reach about $130 per $1000 anyway unless taxpayers and officials do more than merely express sorrow."

He said that, "Reviving the Taxpayers' Association plan of two years ago would take better advantage of existing capital assets, and even with another year's delay (costing $1 million) plus paying off the present architects ($600,000) at an estimated resulting increased cost absorption of $1.6 million, much as that hurts, would still give the city a sound working high school at an estimated net savings of $2 million in principal cost plus more than $1

One hundred and forty-one people came to donate blood at St. Jean's Hall in Nonantum, at the recent bloodmobile held there.

Since this was an open bloodmobile people from other organizations came to donate, i.e.: Ucinete, Rose-Derry, Adamation, New England Telephone, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., New England Pipe, the Newton School Department, and the Education Development Centre. Newton is pleased that these people realize how important the bloodprogram is and that they came.

Ladies from St. Jean's Church graciously cooked and served dinner to the workers. Those who did so were: Mrs. Edwin Davol, Mrs. Martial Prybille, Mrs. Arthur Marchand, Mrs. Walter Landry, Mrs. Fernand Boudreau, and Mrs. Oscar LaRousse.

Father's Weekend

Three Newton fathers attended the recent 19th annual Freshman Father's Weekend at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H., where their sons are students. Participating in the festivities were Dr. Charles L. Sullivan of 65 Lenox st., West Newton and his son David; Morris Adelman of 83 Neholden rd., Newton, and his son, Lawrence; and William Glovsky of 415 Highland st., and his son, Robert.

Muther suggested as a "minimum alternative" that the aldermen should "make specific cuts if they don't reject it (the proposed plan) outright. In any event, as it is now offered, the present proposal should not be adopted and preferably should be refused."

Following is the taxpayers' alternate North High plan: One - year delay — $1 million. Paying off architects — .6 million. Razing Bldg. No. 1 — 2 million. New building between Bldgs. No. 2 and No. 3 — 7 million. Renovating Bldgs. No. 2 and No. 3 — 3.8 million (no state aid). Gross principal cost — 12.6 million. Less: State aid on new building — 2.8 million. Total estimated principal cost 9.8 million.

ACD Elects Dr. Frankl As Fellow

Dr. Spencer N. Frankl of Newtonville, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Pedodontics at the Boston University School of Graduate Dentistry, was inducted as a fellow of the American College of Dentists at its recent annual meeting in New York City.

Dr. Frankl and his wife, Rhode, live at 24 Mt. Vernon Terrace, Newtonville, with their two children.

Before joining the Boston University staff as Assistant Professor and Chairman of the Department of Pedodontics in 1964, Dr. Frankl was Assistant Professor of Dental Medicine at Tufts University School of Dental Medicine and Cleft Palate Institute. He received his D.D.S. from Temple University Dental School, and his M.S.D. in Pedodontics from Tufts University.

Dr. Frankl is the Head of Pediatric Dentistry, Beth Israel Hospital; Chief of the Dental Service, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Memorial Hospital for Children, the Cape Cod Hospital and the Falmouth Hospital. His professional organization memberships include: Diplomate, American Board of Pedodontics; International Association of Dental Research; American Dental Association; and Sigma Xi Honorary Society.

Parochial Schools

A bill is pending before the State Legislature which would provide for financial assistance to parochial schools in Massachusetts.

Under the separation of Church and State, that aid presumably cannot be in the form of general financial grants.

It is of great importance, however, that means be found to help the parochial schools sufficiently so they can remain in operation.

For example, funds might be provided to purchase text books or other supplies, to defray the salaries of lay teachers or to meet costs which have nothing whatever to do with the religious convictions of those who run the schools or attend them.

This is not simply a matter of maintaining parochial schools so that parents, who prefer to send their sons and daughters to such schools instead of public schools, can do so.

This is a life-and-death question of survival for some cities and towns in Massachusetts which would be crushed by the financial burden of starting the new public schools which would be needed if parochial schools suddenly close their doors because it is no longer financially possible for them to continue to operate.

Parochial and private schools which pay even a part of their own way will still be great civic assets in the communities in which they are located.

Barnum Was Right

Abbie Hoffman, who gained national exposure before and during the trial of the so-called Chicago Seven, is traveling around the country raising funds to press his appeals from the verdict of the jury and the punishments decreed by the judge.

He is also about to put a book on the market.

If he didn't know it before the Democratic convention in Chicago, he now knows that there's a gold mine ready for digging not only among the ultra-leftists but among those Americans who relish ridicule of "the establishment," its government and its institutions.

The more buffoonery he can add to his stock in trade, the wilder this self-styled revolutionary can make his exhortations for destruction — the more attention he gets.

He'd be laughed to scorn in another day. Today a large segment of the media, whether they realize it or not, are helping his quest for dollars.

The other day he succeeded in getting himself booked for a TV talk show on a national network. When the camera focused on him, he opened his coat. He was wearing a replica of the American flag for a shirt.

The show was pre-recorded. When the president of the network saw the film, he is reported to have been semi-shocked. Engineers and technicians worked almost up to the minute of actual broadcasting the next day eliminating the degrading use of the flag from the film. At the same time they eliminated Hoffman. Only his voice was heard.

With the erasure of some of his gutter language, the show went on the air, without even his face showing. Within a few hours on the following morning the New York office of the network got 4000 calls of protest, most of them demanding to know why Hoffman was left out of the picture. No one complained about his unbridled denunciation of his country.

From a publicity standpoint Hoffman probably gained more attention by having himself and his shirt blacked out of the late-night show than he would if the head of the network had not been half-shocked by his prize guest.

Under the guise of free speech he'll go right on collecting college campus fees and he'll probably sell his book, too. Here's a ridiculous, real-life clown who is re-discovering what Phineas T. Barnum found out at the turn of the century.

Good Investment

In 1944, even before the Nazis and Japs had capitulated in World War II, Congress passed a measure known as the Servicemen's Readjustment Act which was quickly dubbed the GI Bill of Rights.

Its basic provisions called for assisting in the education and economic welfare of the returning veterans.

Among some in Congress who voted for the bill there were misgivings. Some members, too, expressed the fear that the nation could not afford the cost.

They warned their colleagues it would cost billions.

It did.

Furthermore, the expenditure proved to be one of the most profitable investments the United States has ever made.

More than 8,400,000 World War II veterans participated in the education provisions of the act. By 1965, more than 6,600,000 veterans of World War II and the Korean War were aided by loans amounting to $60 billion, 95 per cent of which went into the acquisition of homes.

Many a professional man who reached eminence in medicine, law, education, science, and in virtually every field of worthwhile endeavor would have been destined to a life of anonymity without a lift on his return from World War II. Millions would not have been able to establish a true American home without those loans.

President Nixon's decision to step up GI Bill benefits for Vietnam-era veterans is a stride in the right direction. New provisions which are written into law now may well be amended in the future just as the original GI Bill has been revised and further implemented since its adoption.

Involved is not only a debt to those who have served in this most unpopular of all American wars. Beyond that debt there's the matter of the future welfare of a large number of U.S. citizens.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Mr. McCarthy has no more chance of achieving election to the Governorship than our aged Aunt Samantha who isn't running, but he might poll enough votes to make Governor Sargent's election task much more difficult.

Valid signatures of slightly over 61,000 voters throughout Massachusetts must be obtained in order to place McCarthy's name on the ballot, and you may be certain the Governor's aides will comb through them to ascertain if they are valid in the event they're filed.

McCarthy does not have the organization which would be needed to collect that volume of signatures, but a suspicion exists that Democratic politicians, who will want to see him in the gubernatorial fight, will dispatch volunteers to help realize that objective by assisting in obtaining signatures.

Realistic Republican leaders have visited McCarthy in Chatham to urge that he stay out of the fight for Governor, pointing out to him that he might siphon off enough votes to cause the defeat of Governor Sargent and the election of the Democratic candidate.

McCarthy's response to these arguments has been that such a turn of events in his opinion, would not exactly be a tragedy or disaster.

It hardly seems that McCarthy is so politically naive that he believes he would be anything but a "spoiler" candidate, but some political writers insist the Chatham man really thinks he has a chance of hitting the political jackpot and becoming Governor. That in itself is incredible.

Some political pundits feel that very few people would waste their votes by casting them for McCarthy and that he would not receive a large enough vote to make any difference.

By offering himself as a conservative Republican of the McKinley school, however, McCarthy might appeal to one segment of the voters.

McCarthy was better known for what he said than what he did during his service as administration commissioner. He was the direct opposite of the present deputy Governor, Donald Dwight, who makes a lot less noise than did McCarthy but probably accomplishes a great deal more.

Regarded as a pop-off at the State House, McCarthy's statements embarrassed ex-Governor Volpe to the point where the Chatham man finally was eased out.

McCarthy's running mate as the Independent candidate for Lieutenant Governor will be Robert E. Bidwell of Dedham, an unsuccessful contender for the Democratic endorsement for Governor at the 1966 convention.

Mr. Bidwell was once an office boy for Tom Yawkey, owner of the Red Sox, and is a Town Meeting member in Dedham. Mr. McCarthy's advisors and strategy-planners, are seeking other persons to round out their state ticket. It will be interesting to see who, if anyone, they match against Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

The danger in McCarthy's candidacy from Governor Sargent's standpoint is that in order to win election he must get a nearly solid Republican vote, drawing from the GOP liberals, conservatives and middle-of-the-roads, and then pick up the support of a fairly substantial number of Democrats and Independents.

Sargent is a liberal and McCarthy a conservative Republican. While there aren't enough conservative Republicans in Massachusetts to elect anybody to anything, their loss would be a blow to the Governor.

While Governor Sargent is not the idol of the Republican conservatives in the Bay State, they presumably would vote for him rather than for Boston Mayor Kevin H. White or Senate President Maurice A. Donahue.

But when the conservatives have a chance to waste their votes by casting them for a real bonafide, genuine conservative of the stamp of John J. McCarthy of Chatham, they may seize upon the opportunity.

McCarthy, incidentally, believes that if the Republican party were reduced to ashes, there would be an opportunity to rebuild the party, give it a new image and offer the voters a choice.

The ashes on which he would rebuild the GOP, figuratively speaking, quite possibly would be those of Calvin Coolidge. The Republican party in Massachusetts will be in a truly bad way if it ever has to be rebuilt by John J. McCarthy of Chatham.

Wm. Baird's Brave Words
Now Have A Hollow Ring

A lot of people are very brave about going to jail — right up to the time they see the inside of a cell. Then all that courage ebbs away under the impact of the realization of what imprisonment — even for a short period — really means.

William R. Baird, the birth control advocate, was extremely anxious to precipitate a test case in Massachusetts even though it seemed obvious he was certain to lose.

Whether you agreed with Baird or disagreed with him, whatever you may have felt about the law he tested, the fact is that it was on the statute books and had to be obeyed as long as it was there and unless and until it was repealed or ruled unconstitutional.

Baird had no authority to repeal the law, declare it unconstitutional, rescind it, suspend it or ignore it. When he deliberately tested his right to disregard it, he was sent to jail.

Hardly had the heavy door of the Charles Street Jail closed behind him when appeals that he be pardoned or paroled were sounded by his family, his friends and his followers. How that would have tested the constitutionality of the law isn't clear to this observer.

Public officials joined in the clamor for his release. William Baird was not a criminal in any real sense although he had broken the law. He was not an enemy of society; indeed, he was a friend of it.

No public purpose was being served by keeping him in jail. But no public interest is being advanced by keeping a lot of other people in jail either, and if William Baird was to be pardoned or paroled, they also should be set free. That would only be fair.

They had two things in common with William Baird up to the time he was released on bail from Charles Street Jail pending his appeal. They had broken the law, and they would like to get out of jail. Maybe that's why District Attorney Garrett Byrne couldn't quite see his way to single out Baird and give him a pardon.

When Baird finally was freed on bail, he vowed that he would risk further imprisonment by continuing his fight to reform the Bay State's ancient birth control laws.

It was brave talk, but from where we sit, Mr. Baird lost some of his sheen and shine as a crusader during all the tumult and shouting about turning him loose from jail.

Secretary of State Davoren
Looms As Tough To Defeat

A number of politicians are eyeing the position in the State government held by Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren.

This is somewhat surprising because Davoren has been a good Secretary of State and shapes up as a candidate who will be hard to defeat in the September primary or the November election.

But Davoren has never made a state-wide run either in a primary or an election, and several politicians are planning to test his strength. They could be in for a shock.

Davoren is a former Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He succeeded the late John F. Thompson as presiding officer of the 240-member House.

Where Thompson ran the House in brass knuckle fashion like a dictator in his feudal domain, Davoren was quiet-mannered and gentlemanly, leaning over backwards to be fair to those who disagreed with him.

Thompson was blasted by observers for being too tough and ruthless. Davoren was criticized for not being tough and ruthless enough.

Davoren was appointed Secretary of State by the Supports Shea Bill

Editor,

The Graphic:

I found myself, along with many Newton citizens, this week in a strange position. We are represented in the General Court by the author of the Shea bill, seeking to provide relief for Commonwealth young men who are drafted to fight in an undeclared war. We are represented also by one of the six Senators who voted against this bill.

Since the Shea bill is a most important piece of legislation, one in which many of us have a vital interest, as parents as well as voters, it seems some explanation is in order.

But more disturbing than the vote itself is the experience I had by telephone with our Senator, Mr. David H. Locke, on Monday, March 23. About nine o'clock that morning I called Mr. Locke to express my support of the Shea bill and to ask how Mr. Locke intended to vote. Mr. Locke told me that he knew the bill was coming up for vote that day, that he had not yet decided how to vote, and that he had not yet studied the bill. When I expressed my amazement, he admitted that he had "seen" the bill when it was before the House.

Perhaps Mr. Locke misinformed me. If so, we deserve more honest answers from our legislators. If he, in fact, had not studied the bill, then we deserve more informed representation.

Paul Deats, Jr.

Against Shea Bill

Editor,

The Graphic:

The House bill, which challenges the authority of President Nixon as Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces, is bad legislation. It seems to me that this bill is merely an election year gimmick designed to embarrass Governor Sargent.

If this bill accomplishes nothing else it will help the Massachusetts public to forget the callous manner in which the legislators deprived the people of their right to vote on the constitutional amendment to reduce the size of the House.

It will also place a Republican governor on the spot with a Republican president, at a time when the Republican president has almost miraculously deescalated a war that began and was escalated under two preceding Democratic presidents.

If there were ever an instance when Congress surrendered its authority to a president, it had to be the Tonkin Gulf Resolution of 1964. The Congress was overwhelmingly Democratic, and the president was a Democrat. Where were the proponents of this legislation, at that time, or for the past 6 years? I suggest that this bill can only serve as a cruel hoax on the young man who sincerely believes that he can be relieved of his military obligation by embarking upon the course that this dubious legislation would chart.

Legislature after Kevin H. White resigned from that position to become Mayor of Boston. He has made a good record in the office.

There is little doubt that Davoren will be endorsed by the Democratic State Convention in June or that he will be nominated by the Democratic voters in September, but he may have some bruising fights along the way.

Reagan Has Political Dream,
Visions 1972 President Bid

One Republican leader, who expects and believes President Nixon's reelection prospects will go down the drain during the next two years, is California Governor Ronald Reagan, according to West Coast newsmen.

Reagan, they report, thinks Nixon will not even be renominated by the 1972 Republican national convention. Instead, he visualizes himself picking up the GOP banner and carrying it into the next Presidential campaign.

The glamor of being Governor of California has worn thin as far as Mr. Reagan is concerned, say the reporters who regularly cover him and his activities.

But Reagan, now 60 years old, is standing for a second term as Governor because he hopes it will lead to a Presidential run two years from now, according to the strange story—strange because it would be highly unusual if an incumbent President were denied renomination by his own party.

Reagan thinks that the '72 GOP national convention will dump Nixon and turn to him (Reagan) if we lose the war in Vietnam and the violence continues at home.

From this distance it would seem that Governor Reagan is living in some sort of political dream world.

Reagan hopes to defeat former Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, his prospective Democratic opponent, by an overwhelming margin, but there are increasing signs that he will do well to defeat Unruh at all, with the polls showing Reagan losing public support and Unruh gaining it although Reagan still has a fairly comfortable lead over Unruh.

Columnists and commentators hint that Governor Reagan has put shopworn Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty in the fight against Unruh for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Unruh so far has refused to be drawn into a clash with Yorty.

From Reagan's standpoint the whole thing sounds like a political fairy tale.

Birth Control Move Comes A Little Late For Bellotti

A television interviewer, with an obvious flare for getting to the heart of things, had a question for Francis X. Bellotti, former Lieutenant Governor and present unannounced candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

He asked Bellotti how he felt about the move to legalize certain birth control methods.

Bellotti, possibly with good reason, seemed a bit surprised by the question and pondered it.

"It comes a little late for me," replied Bellotti who is the father of 12 children.

his art work in a one-man show in Monterey, Mexico.

Block prints, pencil drawings, and still-life oil paintings join

Taylor, who teaches

English as well as art at Walnut Hill, has studied in England and at the University of Texas, the University of New Mexico and the University of Michigan.

He has taught in Spain,

Mexico and the United States.

He lives on the campus with his wife and two young daughters.

Nature is the source of subject for the oils, pen and ink drawings and pencil

sketches by Helen Ritchie

Hegnauer whose work has been on display at the Boston

Arts Festival, Jordan Marsh

art shows, and other regional

Her art has frequently been on exhibit with the

Cambridge Art Association of which she is a member.

Many of her artistic

surroundings are owned by private collectors.

Mrs. Hegnauer, who received her early training in art schools in London, has more recently studied in Boston with Carl Nelson at the YWCA Workshops. She is a graduate of Heatherley's, the Royal Academy of Art and the Central School of Arts and Crafts in London. Mrs.

Hegnauer and her husband reside in Newton Highlands.

Anyone wishing to view the works on display may do so

Pretty Home Wedding For Miss Creedman-Mr. Konsevic

The marriage of Miss Ellen Creedman to Michael Konsevic took place on Saturday, March 28, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Creedman of 61 Brush Hill road, Newton.

Two rings were exchanged at the 6:30 o'clock service at which Rabbi Albert S. Goldstein of Temple Ohabei Shalom, Brookline, officiated. A reception took place at the Marriott Motor Hotel.

The bride wore a full length ivory skirt topped with matching lace blouse.

She chose a mantilla made of identical lace and carried a bouquet of purple and white orchids.

Following a trip to the West Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Konsevic will make their home in Boston.

The bride is a graduate of Newton South High School and Harcum Junior College. Mr. Konsevic, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Konsevic of Teaneck, N. J., was graduated from the Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

The public is invited to attend services this Sunday at the First Church of Christ Scientist at 391 Walnut St., Newtonville at 10:45 a.m. The lesson-sermon this week is on effective ways to meet the problems of greed, injustice, intemperance and violence. The subject is "Unreality."

Many of the Bible citations are from Proverbs, contrasting the folly of destructive habits with the peace of spiritual understanding. "For the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold."

Examples of real and unreal pursuits are given from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer and founder of Christian Science. She states, "Take away wealth, fame, and social organizations, which weigh not one jot in the balance of God, and we get clearer views of Principle."

LOIS A. CATALDO

Dr Paul Dudley White Is Men's Group Speaker

Dr. Paul Dudley White, world famous heart specialist, will be speaker at the 36th anniversary meeting of the Men's Associates of Jewish Memorial Hospital at the Sidney Hill Country Club in Chestnut Hill on Sunday morning (April 12).

Several hundred members, friends and hospital officials will be present to hear Dr. White, Clinical Professor at Harvard University School of Medicine, on the subject "The Great Epidemic of the Twentieth Century — A Threat to Our Young Men."

Dr. White has received numerous honorary degrees from some of the world's leading universities as well as citations and awards from the foremost organizations.

There is tremendous interest in Dr. White's talk as heart disease ranks as one of the major killers in the U.S.

Participating in the program for the anniversary meeting will be Joseph M. Linsey, hospital president; Murray Fertel, executive director; Dr. Isadore Schwartz, president of medical staff and chief of surgery; and Rabbi David B. Albert, hospital chaplain.

Albert Yakus, president of Men's Associates, will preside, and George Roberts, hospital vice president, will serve as program chairman. Also guests at the head table will be Louis E. Hellman, Chestnut Hill; David Stern, Newton, honorary presidents of the hospital; David Kaplan, Chestnut Hill, honorary treasurer and Endowment Fund chairman; Samuel W. Poorvu, Newton, Hospital's Man of the Year; Gale L. Raphael, West Newton, advisor to the board;

Mrs. Abraham J. Klayman, Newton, recording secretary; Israel Grossman, Chestnut Hill, honorary president of Men's Associates; James Krigman, Chestnut Hill, hospital vice president; Herman Gilman, Newton, hospital vice president and building fund chairman; Arthur Basch and Robert Gold of Waban, Louis Goldman of Newton, and Stuart Stern, Newton Centre, all hospital vice presidents.

John Tapper Is Guest at 85th Birthday Party

An 85th birthday party surprise was given for John W. Tapper, 14 Aberdeen St., Newton Highlands, last Saturday (March 28) at the Saxon Terrace home of his sister, Mrs. Carlton Blanchard.

Honoring the forty-year resident of the Highlands were some forty relatives and friends, including his two daughters, Mrs. James L. Tyson of Pocasset and Mrs. Frank J. Naumann of Reading, Vt.; his son, Harry, of Hampton, N.H.; two sisters from New Hampshire, and Mr. Robert Blanchard of Quincy.

Others attending the celebration were Rev. and Mrs. John M. Balcom of the Highlands, A. B. Evans Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brockington, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pickett. As a highlight of the event, Mr. Pickett, who is musical director of Retired Men's Club of Newton, provided piano accompaniment for singing all "the good old songs."

Newton Senior Paulette Bowes On Television

Paulette Bowes of Newton Centre, appeared as concert mistress in "American Youth Performs" at Symphony Hall on Tuesday (March 24) which was televised on Thursday by WBZ-TV and which will be repeated by Channel 4 on Monday (April 6) at 5 p.m.

Miss Bowes will also play with the All-State Orchestra on April 4th at the Waltham High School. She was awarded the first clarinetist's chair as the result of state wide auditions.

As first clarinetist with the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra, she will tour Israel this summer. There will be a Symphony Hall benefit concert on April 19 at 3.00 p.m. to help defray the expenses of these gifted young musicians.

For the past three years Paulette has played with the Newton High School Band under the direction of Mr. Jerry Gardner, and has studied clarinet with Mr. William Wresien of the New England Conservatory. She plans to continue her studies at Indiana University.

Newtonite On Student Comm. At Harvard Coll.

Nell Jacobs of Newton, has been elected to the Committee on Students and Community Relations, newly created at Harvard College and composed of both students and faculty.

A freshman at Harvard College, he graduated from the Deerfield Academy where he was Editor of the Yearbook and on the staff of the Literary Magazine. A cum laude graduate of Deerfield, he received the Ashley History Award there.

He is a member of the Freshman Council at Harvard College.

The Committee on Students and Community Relations review subjects of student concern involving the relations of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences to the Community and government. It is a forum for discussion of ideas such as admissions, scholarship policy, government relations, the draft, student housing and the University's relations to the community.

Jacobs is the son of Stanley Jacobs of 65 Kenilworth Street in Newton.

Ben Faneuil Named To BU Fellows Board

Ben Faneuil, of Newton, a Boston industrialist and graduate of the Boston University College of Business Administration, has been named to the University's newly established Board of Fellows. Composed of alumni, parents of students and others interested in Boston University, the seven-member Board of Fellows will meet twice yearly with the Board of Trustees, and its members will serve on subcommittees of the Board.

The Fellows will consult with the university on matters of curriculum, public relations, planning, development, and community relations.

Simone, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tullio F. Simone of West Newton is a graduate of Newton High School and Boston University and is presently a teacher of science at Day Junior High School in Newtonville.

Mr. Simone will begin his year at Harvard University in the fall.

Several Breaks Reported Here Friday Night

Thieves looted a Newton theatre, three homes and a business office last Friday (March 27) according to the Newton police report.

Lewis Kenney of 487 Watertown St., manager of the Paramount Theatre, 299 Washington St., Newton, reported that $120 was missing from the candy counter register and $100 worth of popcorn boxes were taken.

A burglary at the home of Arthur H. Cooper, 45 Plainfield Rd., Waban, netted thieves a silver service, jewelry and a suitcase, he told police. Entrance was gained by breaking the glass in a front door between 6:15 p.m. and 10:23 p.m.

The home of Mrs. Josephine Gazzola, 37 Colonial Ave., Newtonville, was broken into and 30 bottles of wine, a box of 30-06 shells, a pellet gun and a box of black powder were taken.

Missing at the home of Dominic Veregato, 52 Washington Park, Newtonville, were household articles and clothing. He said the break occurred prior to March 9 and that a pane of glass in the front door had been smashed.

Herman G. Protz, 36 Jaconnet St., Newton Highlands, told police his consulting business was entered by breaking a rear window. It was not established what was missing.

Enroll Girls Now At YMCA Chickami Camp

The Newton YMCA's Chickami Day Camp will now accept girls in its camping program, according to an announcement by Richard Graham, Chairman of the Chickami Recreation Centre Committee.

The girls camp will utilize the Chickami Recreation Centre facilities in Wayland, have its own program and its own staff. This will not change the boys' camp or its programs. Age requirements are the same for girls as for the boys, namely, eight to twelve years old.

The twenty-five acre, wooded site contains an outdoor swimming pool, 75' x 30', baseball field, other athletic fields, tennis courts, and a large program building for rainy day events.

Activities for both boys and girls will include swimming instruction, free swims, crafts, sports, archery, camp events, and many special events.

Bus transportation is provided in all the Newtons, plus sections of Wayland and Weston.

Enrollments are limited for both camps. Further information may be obtained by calling the YMCA at 244-6050.

Character actor William Walker will celebrate his 50th year as a performer with a supporting role in "The Great White Hope."

Urge Police Move On Centre Street Speeders

The Newton Traffic Commission recommended Monday that the police crack down on alleged speeders on Centre St. near Crescent Ave.

The commission action was taken at the urging of the parish council of the Sacred Heart Church that petitioned for enforcement of speeding laws, erection of "Slow-School Zone" signs, creation of a one-way zone on Crescent Ave. at the school yard and the blocking off of Crescent Ave. during school hours.

The commission held the school zone item for further study but agreed to recommend that Centre St. be made one-way at all times.

In other action the commission:

— Agreed to a request from former Newton Fire Chief John E. Corcoran that parking be prohibited between the entrances and exits at the doughnut shop at Washington and Grove streets, Newton Lower Falls.

— Denied a request to place a "stop" sign at Jewett and Boyd streets, Newton Corner.

— Denied a request to place a "stop" sign at the Henshaw Place, Henshaw Street and Kilburn Rd., West Newton intersection.

— Recommended a "stop" sign at Watertown and Eddy streets, West Newton and at Watertown street and Eliot Ave., West Newton.

— Rejected requests for a pedestrian signal on Walnut street, either at the library or the junior college, and for a no parking ban at any time on both sides of Chesley Ave., Newtonville.

The commission noted, in response to a petition, that parking meters from 271 to 283 Auburn St., Auburndale, are not permissible because that is private property. The

Lee Loumos Says:
I have "the word" for you. Now that we have had our Spring snowstorms, you can all relax and look forward to pleasant weather. Dust off your golf clubs, tidy up the lawn and grounds, and take those storm windows off so that we can start installing your air conditioners. Let this be the year that you will anticipate your cooling needs and not wait until hot and humid weather hits us so hard that our air conditioning inventory is depleted as in previous years. As usual, you "early birds" will be further rewarded with substantial price savings if you buy now. Not only that, but think of your peace of mind knowing that you will be ready for the first hot spell, which is probably just around the corner. So call us now for fast installation and our lowest prices. AND YOU STILL GET THE BEST SERVICE & INSTALLATION

McLean To Be Speaker And Award Winner At Library

Impressions of the college press, including the fight over "The Heights," the now defunct B.C. campus newspaper, will be explored in an informal discussion of advocacy journalism by Robert A. McLean of the Boston Globe on Thursday evening (April 14) at 7 p.m. at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Bob McLean, presently the dynamic director of training at the Globe, and formerly Assistant City Editor and Suburban Editor, is known as a warm and witty speaker in journalistic circles, where he is also president of the professional journalism fraternity, New England chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

He has recently returned from the American Press Institute held at Columbia University, where for the first time in 24 years the Institute's recharger course for U.S. newsmen included McLean's 2-week seminar on suburban coverage.

A Braintree resident and father of four, McLean will be awarded an honorary life membership by the Friends of the Newton Free Library on the 14th of April for his consistently high-calibre reviews of fiction for the Sunday Globe book pages.

As an award recipient, McLean joins Newton young people receiving awards at the Main Library for their entries in the just concluded spring contest sponsored by the Newton Friends, "12 Books I'd Like to Own and Why."

Simple refreshments will be served by the Friends of the Newton Free Library, who invite the public to an evening of open discussion.

Beth Israel Nurses Host Alumnae Group

Mrs. Norman Berezin of Newton will be hostess for the evening at the "Block Meeting" for Alumnae Members of the Schools of Nursing of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, New England Baptist Hospital and the New England Deaconess Hospital next Tuesday evening (April 7) at 8:30. The Beth Israel Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association and its North Shore Chapter are arranging this meeting to convene in Sherman Auditorium at the Hospital.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Attorney Neil L. Chayet, legal medical expert, whose topic will be "The Legal Responsibility of the Nurse."

Mrs. Sy Rosen, President, has appointed Mrs. Richard Robbins, Chairman. Committee members include: Mrs. J. Gordon, R. Young, S. Fine, E. Brillard, N. Zuckerman, C. Feitel and S. Price.

Question and answer period will follow talk. Refreshments will be served in the North Dining Room.

Forest fires in Kentucky

There were 2,967 separate forest fires reported in Kentucky during 1968. They resulted in the destruction of 33,122 acres of forest land, according to state figures.

David Carmos To Direct New Course in Yoga

The Academy of Physical and Social Development, 792 Beacon Street, Newton Centre, under the directorship of Sumner Burg and Martin Karlin, proudly announces the appointment of David Carmos to direct a course in Yoga for women.

Mr. Carmos, currently on the faculty of Boston University, conducts a variety of courses from Beginners Methods to Corrective and Therapeutic Aspects of Yoga.

He brings an impressive background as a lecturer and author (his third book, recently published, "Vitality, Health, and Relaxation through Yoga") and host of the television series "Yoga for Living."

Demos to Honor Frankie Fontaine April 19 at Patriot's Day Dinner

The Middlesex County Democratic Club will honor star-entertainer Frankie Fontaine of Winchester at its annual Patriot's Day Dinner Dance on Sunday evening, April 19, at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

Fontaine is the Club's choice as the Outstanding Man of the Year in Middlesex County and marks his 50th birthday on April 19.

Among the many prominent friends who will be on hand for the "Happy Birthday" song will be Senator Ted Kennedy, the featured speaker of the evening.

Other top-ranking state and county Democrats are also expected at the head table.

The Club's directors voted to make the unusual, non-po-decreases in state aid, approximately a $16 jump over the 1969 Newton tax rate of $98.40 is anticipated. This would mean a 1970 tax rate of about $114.

In discussing the school budget, Alderman Eliot K. Cohen expressed the opinion that it could be reduced somewhat "without in the slightest cutting the quality of education."

"Despite our expression of concern, the school budget continues to go higher with no end in sight," Cohen declared.

Alderman Finance Committee Chairman Edward C. Uehlein said he felt the addition to the School Department of 32 people this year was "most unfortunate." "The taxpayers are at a point where they have had enough," Uehlein said.

Alderman Sidney T. Small declared that the aldermen and members of city government have been asking the School Committee to hold the line on expenses with "zero success."

"People want the best possible in teachers and schools, but there are many non-teaching personnel who get extravagant salaries which help push the budget up. Every other department in the city has problems getting and holding personnel because the people would rather work for the School Department where salaries are higher," Small said.

"Almost everyone says he would like to have the best in the School Department. Hardly anyone says he wants the most expensive School Department," Small continued. "We will be a city of rich people because that's all that will be able to live here and pay the taxes," the alderman asserted.

Some aldermen disagreed with the motion to "hold" the school budget. Alderman William Carmen noted that it was against the law. He also pointed out that "if the people in the community disapprove they can change membership of the School Committee every two years at election time."

Meeting on Drugs Apr. 13 at Weeks Jr. High School

Weeks Junior High School and the Beethoven Elementary School PTA organizations are co-sponsoring a Drug Education Meeting Monday, April 13th at 8 p.m. at the Meadowbrook Junior High School auditorium.

The panel of noted speakers includes Dr. David D. Lewis, Chairman of Drug Treatment and Drug Education Committee of the Boston United Community Services, Chief of the Out-Patient Department of Beth Israel Hospital and Assistant Professor of Medicine, Harvard Medical School; Attorney Robert Y. Murray, Chief of Drug Division and Assistant Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; Irwin Hoogheem, Counselor in the Division of Pupil Personnel Service, Newton Public Schools.

asserted that "if the city is at fault for not paying better wages, don't blame the School Department because their wages are better."

In referring to the new positions in the School Department this year, Barkin said "maybe they wanted more but felt the number they approved was the minimum needed."

Panel Of Experts to Take Part In Sunday Institute

A panel of experts on education and community organization will take part in an Institute to be conducted by the Commission on Law and Social Action of New Jewish Congress, in cooperation with the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston on Sunday, April 5, 2 to 10 p.m., at Northeastern Law School. The Institute theme is "Law-Related Issues in Education."

The Institute will deal with current issues involving educational curriculum innovations, Black studies, Racial Imbalance, neighborhood control of schools and suburban-urban cooperation.

Mark A. Michelson is chairman of the Commission on Law and Social Action, American Jewish Congress, with Joseph D. Steinfield as co-chairman and Lawrence D. Shubow as General Counsel. Sol Baker is president of the New England Region. Robert M. Segal is president of the Jewish Community Council. Mrs. Ruth Batson, Director of the Boston University Commonwealth of Mass. Community Mental Health Consultation and Education Program, will be the featured speaker at the dinner session.

At 3 p.m. there will be two concurrent panels with the following panelists: PUBLIC EDUCATION UNDER ATTACK: Paul Parks, Administrator of Model Cities Program, City of Boston; and Robert E. Segal, Executive Director of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston. NEW ISSUES WITHIN THE SCHOOLHOUSE: Calvin Hicks, Lecturer in Sociology, Brandeis University; Robert Keefe, Chairman of the English Dept., Ipswich High School; Steven Porter, a student at Newton South High School; and Dr. Raymond H. Shulman, Assistant Superintendent of the Boston Public Schools.

The 8 p.m. Evening Session on "New School-Community Relationships" will hear Rev. Edward B. Blackman, Director, Commissions on Housing and Education, United Church of Christ; Mrs. Naomi Levine, National Director of the Commission on Urban Affairs of AJCongress; and Bernice Miller, Associate Dean of Jackson College.

The chairmen of the various sessions, all members of the AJCongress Commission on Law and Social Action, will be Steven J. Cohen, Mark A. Michelson, Daniel D. Levenson and Herbert H. Hershfang.

Planning coordinators are Mrs. Ellen Feingold, Richard Hackel, Mrs. Ruth Budd and Jason A. Sokolov.

Woodland Is Out As Site For Complex

Statements from the presidents of the Woodland Golf Club and the Auburndale Community Association this week tended to eliminate any probability of the club site's use as a multi-million shopping center and office building complex.

George E. Slye, a partner in Spaulding & Slye Corp., has confirmed reports that the Woodland Golf Club and other locations in Greater Boston were being evaluated as sites for a complex similar to the Burlington Mall and the New England Executive Park.

John J. Mahoney, president of Woodland, said "our position is — we are not for sale. We are not soliciting any proposals. We have read none. We are satisfied as we are."

And, James E. Kennedy, president of Auburndale Community Association, stated that "Spaulding & Slye wouldn't have a chance of getting past the Board of Aldermen."

Mr. Kennedy said that concerned residents had telephoned him and that "they were up in arms" over the proposal. He said the more fact that a developer is interested in Woodland points up the need for the City of Newton to adopt "a green belt zone" which would protect existing green areas from hasty development.

Under the plan, the Board of Aldermen would be prohibited from re-zoning green belt land for two years once the re-zoning request had come before it.

Kennedy said a long period is necessary to give the people a chance to hear about the proposal, and a two-year period discourages a developer from making expensive investments in proposed plans.

It was recalled that Woodland previously had been suggested as a possible site for a stadium and the location of a hospital-clinic.

Mr. Mahoney said the only explanations he can give of why Woodland is so frequently sought after is because of its location at the junction of Route 128 and the Massachusetts Turnpike.

"We have received no proposals from anyone and we are not encouraging any," he commented.

Mr. Slye said his firm was evaluating Woodland "for many corporate clients." He called Woodland "a logical site for growth and development" because of its location. He said golf courses in metropolitan areas are attractive to developers because they are "underused."

He said he did not think neighborhood opposition would be deterrent, adding "every project we start has tremendous hurdles to overcome."

Newtonites Are Committee Members For 25th Reunion

Four Newton residents will be taking part in the big 25th anniversary reunion dinner program of the New England alumni of Union College, Ky., to be held at the Harvard Club, Boston, Friday, April 10.

They include the Rev. Paul G. Pitman, minister of the United Methodist Church of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Pitman; and Fred R. Stevens, and Mrs. Stevens of Town House Drive, Newtonville. All are graduates of Union College. Mr. Stevens is a co-chairman of the event.

The featured speaker will be Dr. Mahlon A. Miller, president of Union College. A reception will be tendered to the college head beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Co-chairmen of the big event are Dr. Arland A. Dirlam of Boston, prominent architect, and Fred R. Stevens of Newtonville, Vice-President of the Stone & Webster Corporation of Boston, both members of the college Board of Trustees.

The Master of Ceremonies will be William I. Maxwell of South Acton, a teacher and dramatics coach, and currently Chairman of the New England Chapter of the Alumni Association.

Union College, founded in 1879, has more than 10,000 alumni, including 127 in New England. The College is a senior liberal-arts institution dedicated to the philosophy of Christian higher education.

Justice -

Justice Flaschner, who will be cited by the Brotherhood for his years of public service, has served as a trustee of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital; Director of the Newton Conservatory; President of Newton World Affairs Council; President of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross.

He was awarded the "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" award by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1957.

General Chairman of the dinner will be Arnold Siegle of Newton.

Richard Cardinal Cushing was honored by the Temple Shalom Brotherhood in 1969.

Chance To Tell TV About Those Tots' Programs

Action for Children's Television (ACT) of Newton will sponsor a letter writing in New York at the Plaza Fountain, 59th St. and 5th Ave., Sunday (April 5) from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

ACT has asked the Federal Communications Commission to consider requiring stations to devote specific hours of each week's public service time to children's shows, to recognize the needs of differing age groups and to divorce these programs from commercials.

The FCC has invited responses from the public on this issue and will decide in April whether the proposals merit further study by the FCC itself.

Mrs. Peggy Charren of Newton, ACT committee member, said, "For the first time the FCC wants to hear from the public and to know what people's feelings are about children's TV. The broadcasters have lawyers and lobbyists ready all the time - the public should be aware that they too can have their say."

The public will have its say Sunday and messages will be sent to Dean Burch, FCC chairman.

Newton Women Aid to Speech Therapy Of Emerson Has Member Event

A new paper-back travel digest by Newton residents David Birnbaum and Rona Kowal will make its debut at a Sherry party by Louis Strymish at the offices of the New England Mobile Book Fair, 70 Needham St., Newton this Saturday (April 4).

"A Groovy Trip to Mexico City/Acapulco" from the presses of the Woodland Publishing Co. of Watertown, is a simplified, informative guide for the traveler who plans to head South. Interchangeable choices of cost and content are labeled the fat cats, the beautiful people, and the hip and broke. Included is the official map and photographs of the stations of the brand new METRO (subway) system of Mexico City.

Mrs. Birnbaum and Mrs. Kowal, who have made frequent trips to Mexico on fact-finding tours were delighted with the enthusiasm and response of the Mexican top brass who are arranging for the sale of the book in Mexico.

Their ability to speak Spanish made it possible to include off-beat shops, discotheques, restaurants, markets, museums, etc.

"A Groovy Trip to Mexico/Acapulco" is the first of a series by these Newton authors that will cover travel in Latin America using the same format.

Conn. College Spring Meeting Next Tuesday

Newton alumnae of Connecticut College along with their husbands and guests will enjoy a spring get-together at the Museum of Fine Arts next Tuesday evening, April 7.

Sherry will be served in the Trustee's room at 7 o'clock, after which William J. Young, head of the Museum's Research Department, will conduct a tour of the laboratory while explaining the work done there. Guided tours will also be conducted through the American Furniture and Silver Collections and the Centennial Exhibition.

Among those making arrangements for the evening is Mrs. Frank Foster of West Newton. Newton residents planning to attend include Jean F. Howard and Elizabeth Allen, both of West Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Shycon of Waban, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Wheelock, Jr. of West Newton.

Hadassah Of Oak Hill To Hold Meeting

"Passover Seminar," a demonstration of a model seder, by Mrs. Saul Margolis, education chairman of the Boston Chapter, will be featured at the Wednesday meeting of the Oak Hill Group. Mrs. Margolis will explain the tradition, meaning and ritual of the holiday.

Coffee will be served at 1 p.m. preceding the meeting which is called for 1:30. Mrs. Jack Rosemark and Mrs. Solomon Shulman serve as program chairmen and hostesses. The meeting will be shared by Mrs. Julius Goldstein, Mrs. Daniel Kaufman and Mrs. Martin Alpert.

Miss Malmad Elected

Miss Susan Malmad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Malmad of Newton, has been elected to Blue Key, the senior honor organization at Lasell Junior College.

Blue Key members are chosen by the students and administration of Lasell and serve as hostesses for freshmen during orientation week in the fall and as campus guides for the college throughout the year.

"Safari 70" Luncheon To Be Held At Boston Hotel

In a unique setting designed to simulate darkest Africa, the Brookline Hospital Women's Auxiliary will stage "Safari 70," its annual spring luncheon, on Tuesday, April 7, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Headed by Mrs. Marvin P. Kosow, of Chestnut Hill, the luncheon will help fulfill a quarter million dollar Auxiliary pledge to pay for the hospital's recently expanded laboratory and blood bank.

With this latest gift, the Auxiliary contributions of equipment and facilities to Brookline Hospital total half a million dollars.

Chairman of the Program Book, which will be distributed in conjunction with the luncheon, is Mrs. E. Pat Groper of Newton, former luncheon chairman and former president of the Auxiliary.

Program features of the luncheon will be a fashion show by Monet, Inc., of Chestnut Hill with music furnished by Harry Marshard. Another highlight will be the presentation of scholarships to deserving students at Northeastern University, College of Nursing.

Working with Mrs. Kosow, the chairman, is Mrs. Alden C. Aronson of Weston, the auxiliary president; also committee are Mrs. James V. Sidell, Mrs. Neil J. Schwartz, Mrs. C. Gerard Drucker, Mrs. Herbert Carver, Mrs. Nancy Yanofsky, Mrs. Frank Breznick, Mrs. Gerald Sack, Mrs. Jerold Mann and Mrs. Henry Goldberg all of Newton.

Also from Newton Mrs. Maurice Helfant, Mrs. Elliot L. Sagall, Mrs. Donald Jacobson, Mrs. George Glass, Mrs. R. Sheldon Stein, Mrs. Mitchell Zimble, and Mrs. Leon Markoff. From Brookline Mrs. Louis Spero, Mrs. William Glaser, Mrs. Max Siegle and Mrs. S. Seymour Horlick.

Representing Chestnut Hill are Mrs. Marvin M. Cyker, Mrs. Victor Elias, Mrs. Kenneth Barron, Mrs. Joel Garrellick, Mrs. Rubin Epstein, Mrs. Lawrence Kvitka and Mrs. Phillip Smith. Also Mrs. Laurence E. Levin of Belmont, Mrs. Louis H. Nason of Jamaica Plain, Mrs. Marvin Birger of Weston, Mrs. Morris Blinder of Cambridge, Mrs. Robert W. LeVine of Wellesley, and Mrs. Marvin Solit of Brighton.

More than 1000 clergy and lay delegates are expected at the two-day gathering which will be convened under the theme "Summoned to the Seventies." Holding annual meetings prior to the convention will be the Northern Baptist Education Society, the Massachusetts Baptist Charitable Society and the Mass. Conference of Baptist Ministers. Also gathering for special programs will be the American Baptist Women of Massachusetts and the American Baptist Men of Mass.

To Summer School

Ellyn Axelrod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Axelrod of 30 E. Quinobegun rd., Waban, and Nancy Bernstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rubin of 74 Stuart rd., Newton Centre, will attend the Sandhurst Summer School, senior campus at Naples, Maine during the summer. They will participate in the athletics program, music and art and the traditional water sports at Sandhurst.

I.O.O.F. Selects Youth Tonight For Pilgrimage

Home Lodge No. 162 of I.O.O.F. in Newton Highlands will select a young student from Newton High School or Newton South High School tonight (Thursday, April 2) to be a candidate in the 21st annual Odd Fellow's United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth.

The public is invited to this meeting which will begin at 8 p.m. to hear several of the candidates speak on "Why I would like to visit the United Nations."

Some 1000 students from all over the United States and Canada will visit the United Nations this year under the auspices of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and its companion organization, the Rebekahs.

The youths will observe the UN in action, tour the buildings, hear business conducted in the five official languages, listen to authoritative explanations of various departments and agencies, enjoy meals in the U.N. Delegates Dining Room and interview representatives of member nations.

They will also visit International House where graduate students from over 80 countries live under one roof. They will visit Radio City Music Hall, take a three-hour trip around Manhattan Island and visit the Empire State Building.

Home Lodge No. 162 is sponsoring a candidate this year in honor of the 50 years of active membership by Brother Edric B. Blakemore, P.G. Brother Blakemore was initiated into the lodge on October 30, 1919, and has served his subordinate lodge in many capacities and has also served on the Grand Lodge Board.

Newton Wing Is Top Scorer For Dartmouth Frosh

Dave Sullivan, native of Newton and wing on the Dartmouth College freshman hockey team, has completed the season with the Little Indians as Dartmouth's scoring leader.

Sullivan, a consistent factor all season in Dartmouth's surge to an 18-3 overall record, scored 24 goals and had 28 assists to lead all other scorers with 52 points. His 24 goals also marked a team high.

"Dave did a fine job for us this season," commented coach Grant Standbrook, "his line scored a total of 142 points through the season and demonstrated a tremendous amount of balance. We'll look forward to having Dave in our varsity program next season."

Producer-director William Wyler signed Frederick Kohner to write a screen adaptation to "Forty Carats" from the comedy stage hit for Columbia Pictures.

Phil Conway Of BU Faces End Of Top Track Career

By Lewis Freedman

One of the most distinguished track careers in Boston University history will come to an end this spring.

Senior Phil Conway, who has won fourteen major medals in the last two years representing BU, will graduate.

Conway is one of the luckiest breaks the Boston University track program has ever received, for it is pure chance that he came to spend four years in Boston.

As a high school senior in his home city of Dublin, Ireland, Phil wrote a letter to the American Embassy asking for a list of American colleges. Boston University was included on the list. After extensive correspondence Conway selected BU.

Three weeks ago Phil captured the most important medal of his career with a second in the IC4A shot-put. A week earlier he had annexed the New England shot-put crown with a personal best of 55'7-1/4", which is also the second best in BU history.

Conway was also fourth in the New England weight throw. Previously, during the indoor season he had capped the Greater Boston Intercollegiate shot-put title and scored fourth in the weight, notched a third in the K of C open shot and second in the BAA shot and fourth in the weight.

Last year he grabbed second and fourth in the Penn Relays (discus and shot), second and third in the outdoor New England (shot and discus), and two fourths in the outdoor Greater Boston (shot and discus).

Reflecting on his years at BU, Phil says: "I've enjoyed my four years in Boston and I think the school has a good athletic program. However, I feel that there must be some changes in athletic policies if BU athletics are to survive on a team basis. The school must make clear its athletic objectives and change its program accordingly."

Conway is a physical education major and plans to go to Australia to teach after graduation. This fall he studied at Newton South High School in the gym department.

Phil explains his choice of Australia: "Australia is a young country with good opportunities for young people. And it is making progress all the time. Also, if I stay there two years they will pay my transportation costs. Afterwards, I would like to return to the United States and get a masters degree and then return to Ireland."

In the last year Conway has added over twenty pounds to his present 6-2-1/2, 251-pound frame through weight training. When asked about the significance of the weight program with regard to his fantastic improvement of 52-7 to 59-2 in the weight throw, Phil said: "I attribute my improvement in the guidance and patience of Coach Charley Leverone (BU weight coach), my accumulation of knowledge in the event, and to the weight-lifting program I worked on. I also am grateful to John Lawlor (BU record-holder in the shot and weight and a former Olympian) for his advice and to Coach Billy Smith (BU head track coach)."

Phil Conway leaves Boston University with but one regret, "I've enjoyed everything these four years, but I'd really like to be coming back next year. There are so many potential stars on the freshman team. Next year's team will be the best in BU history, and I wish that I could be part of it."

Pairings For Golf Try-Outs Are Announced

Coach Edwin Little has announced the pairings for the Newton South High golf team try-outs to be held early in April.

The 24 candidates will compete in six groups of four.

Group 1: Peter Young, Don Cohen, Bob Wexler, Rich Edson.

Group 2: Jon Diamond, Mike Aron, Bill O'Brien, Howie Davine.

Group 3: Richard Books, Steve Cohen, John Corcoran, Leo Kaufman.

Group 4: Tom Ward, Rich Korisky, Lloyd Birenbaum, Roger Seletsky.

Group 5: Ron Weiss, Saul Chessler, Ken Cohen, Rich Shamban.

Group 6: Doug Richards, Phil Carpenter, Barry Bond, Bruce Kapstein.

Howie Terban, who last year played in the number one and number two slots will be the 25th candidate.

The team boasts plenty of experience as O'Brien, Books, Corcoran, Seletsky, Chessler, and Edson all saw some varsity action last spring.

The Newton Y.M.C.A. has moved its spring Executive Fitness Program from March 30 to April 22, due to scheduling difficulties. There are still twenty openings left in the Executive Fitness Program, which is a progressive jogging, walking, running, and calisthenics program.

The program itself meets three times a week on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 7:15, 12:15 and 5:30 p.m. The program will be preceded by a physical fitness testing clinic on April 18, to give each individual a fitness profile of himself. This profile will then be reevaluated at a clinic ten weeks after training. After completion of the first phase of exercise, members will advance to the high-gear program.

Interested parties should contact the Physical Education Department for class enrollment blanks. Call 244-6050 for details.

'Y' Soccer Sets Season Opener With Marlboro

The Newton Y.M.C.A.'s soccer team will open its season on April 12 against Marlboro. Due to new league rulings the "Y" team has lost several of its players who are ineligible because of age.

Mr. Donovan Sealy, coach of the "Y" team is accepting eight new applicants for the team. Practices are held on Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at the Y.M.C.A.'s outdoor field. The Y.M.C.A.'s team will play a ten-game schedule plus three games in championship play-offs.

Other teams in the league are: Boston, Ipswich, Needham, Hudson, Framingham, Medford, East Walpole, and Wellesley.

Boys between the ages of 14 and 17 are eligible. Seventeen year olds are only eligible if they turn 17 after June 30.

Contact Joseph A. White, Director of Physical Education, at the Newton Y.M.C.A., 244-6050.

Once of prevention: The March of Dimes reports that many physical and mental disabilities due to birth defects can now be completely corrected or reduced in severity if they are detected early and treated promptly.

22 Earn Honors At Rochester

Twenty-two names of students from the Newtons have been published on the Dean's List at the university of Rochester for scholastic excellence during the fall semester.

They are: Samuel Lazarus, 85 Alberta Rd., Chestnut Hill; Gordon Kaswell, 67 Paulson Rd., Waban; Paula Elliot, 479 Crafts St., and Mitchell Manin of 24 Pickwick Rd., both of West Newton; and from Newton Centre, Harold Lichtin of 195 Morton St.; Richard Miller of 25 Alderwood Rd.; Melvin Warshaw of 55 Oak Hill St. and Jane Woodley of 30 Lake Ave.

Also listed from Newton were Richard Bickelman of 11 Hamlin Rd.; Steven Black of 256 Woodcliff Rd.; Mitchell Bornstein of 57 Westgate Rd.; Judith Branzburg of 343 Cabot St.; Linda Cohen of 50 Wiswall Rd.; James Feldman of 105 Gordon Rd.; Richard Foster of 10 Baker Place; Gerald Gehr of 20 Marshfield Rd.; Dale Leventhal of 422 Chestnut St.; Scott Lunin of 25 Brandeis Rd.; Richard Slivkin of 91 Oak Hill St.; Marjorie Tack of 131 Wiswall Rd.; Roger Wyner of 15 Bound Brook Rd. and Timothy Byrnes of 22 Shornecliffe Rd.

The Newton Y.M.C.A. Division II Team with O'Brien, Jay Jasset and Mark Shuster, all of Newton and Jim Pendergast and Hal Moore of Watertown, placed second in a close duel against a Malden team for top honors.

The Candlepin Tournament for boys aged eight through 16 was hosted by the Newton YMCA.

O'Brien Wins High Single Bowling Prize

Sean O'Brien of Newton won the high single trophy with a high single bowling score of 106 in the New England Junior Boys Bowling Tournament held at Riverside Lanes in Watertown last month.

The Newton Y.M.C.A. Division II Team with O'Brien, Jay Jasset and Mark Shuster, all of Newton and Jim Pendergast and Hal Moore of Watertown, placed second in a close duel against a Malden team for top honors.

Schechter PTA Meeting To Be Held April 22

Parents interested in learning first-hand about the Solomon Schechter Day School will be guests of the PTA at a coffee hour Sunday, April 12 at 8 p.m. to be held at the home of one of the PTA members.

Invitations are being mailed to those who have already contacted the school. The PTA welcomes all other interested parents. Invitations will be sent to those who call Mrs. Richard Wurtman, 244-2749, or Mrs. Bernard Pucker, 277-0420.

The Solomon Schechter Day School offers an integrated program of general and Hebrew studies, from nursery school through grade six.

Affiliated with the Conservative United Synagogue of America, the school includes students from Orthodox, Conservative and Reform backgrounds as well as many from families with no formal affiliation. It is located at 385 Ward St., Newton Centre.

GBARC Coffee Meeting To Be Held April 9

Mrs. Mosello Schaechter of 855 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, will be hostess for the second morning coffee by the Newton Chapter of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children next Thursday morning (April 9) from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Those wishing to attend this meeting should contact Mrs. Harvey Chansky, chairman, at BI 4-7310 or Mrs. Schaechter at 969-5892 before Tuesday. A chance to become better acquainted with those who share mutual concerns and an opportunity for lively discussion is provided to all who are interested. A very enthusiastic response was generated by the first informal coffee held in late January.

Joining the group will be Mr. Donald M. Traustein of Newton, who is currently completing work for a Ph.D. Degree from the Florence Heller Graduate School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare of Brandeis University. His special interest and years of experience have been in the area of mental retardation, and he will lead the group in a discussion of how parents of the retarded view retardation, the problems of finding appropriate services for our children and/or ourselves in planning and providing for our handicapped children.

Time To Get "Cherry-Pink" Car Stickers

Now, what could be sweeter than "cherry-pink" stickers for auto windshields for the April spring inspection?

That's what we're going to have according to an official release. Maybe some of us will have to get new paint jobs on the old hack to harmonize with "cherry-pink." They tell us it doesn't "go" with everything.

But, "cherry-pink" or whatever, the sticker has to be adorning the front window of your car on May 15th, or your face may be "cherry-pink." The stickers are being given out now as official inspection time is underway — until that May 15th deadline.

Herring experiment

Ten Norwegian trawlers and the former whaling factory ship Thorshavet will sail for the Indian Ocean off the east coast of Africa in February, 1970, to catch herring on an experimental basis.

The herring caught by the trawlers will be processed into fish meal and oil aboard the factory ship in the open sea. A freighter will come to the factory ship's position at intervals to take aboard the production.

Italian road casualties

Every day 23 persons die and 585 are injured in accidents on Italian roads, government statisticians report. In the first seven months of 1969, 5,056 persons were killed and 124,231 injured in 178,101 accidents. But statisticians say this was a drop of 4.3 per cent from last year.

Rome was among the most dangerous places to drive. A total of 206 persons died and 13,703 were injured in 24,404 accidents in and around the city.

LETTERS

An Appreciation

Editor of The Graphic: The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association would like to express sincere thanks to you and the Newton Graphic staff for your support of our 1969-70 Christmas Seal Campaign.

Your newspaper has made it possible for us to once again "go over the top" by keeping the public aware of our program and campaign. We are deeply indebted to you for helping us tell the tuberculosis story. Your help has made tuberculosis control in Newton possible.

Thank you also for the opportunity of working with you.

Sincerely,
Helen G. Hope
Executive Director

To City Officials

The following is a letter sent to the Mayor and Board of Assessors which we would like printed in The Graphic.

To the Mayor and the Assessors of the City of Newton:

Dear Sirs: Land is a four letter word, and it is never mentioned or considered as a significant source of revenue. Instead every labor product and effort of man is saddled with all kinds of taxes to the detriment of society, and the taxpayers have been conditioned to accept this tax system.

The tax rate increase of $16.25 forecast for the current year boosting the rate to $114.25 is appalling and will force many people to give up their homes (for what?) or let them deteriorate in order to pay the taxes and avoid increased assessments.

The real estate tax is in fact two taxes, one on improvements which is a regressive tax and the other on land values which is a progressive tax. Improvements, being overassessed, carry the burden while land, being under assessed, is lightly taxed. The constantly rising tax rate and scarcity of housing are ample evidence of the results of such a pernicious system.

We, the undersigned, object to paying ever increasing taxes on our homes. We pay for schools, streets, services, transportation, police and fire protection, etc., all of which increase the value of land in Newton, but its assessment remains low and permits owners to hold desirable land out of use. There is still much vacant land in Newton from single lots to considerable acreage assessed for a small fraction of actual market value.

The increased taxes on our homes are making it possible for owners of such land to wait until they can get inflated profits that should be going back to the public treasury in annual taxes.

It would be far more beneficial to Newton if it were to increase assessments on land — improved and unimproved — and to decrease assessments on buildings (un-PLAN ORT SPRING MEETING — Committee members set up plans for the Spring Luncheon meeting of the Charles River Chapter of Women's American ORT, to be held April 13th at 12:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Austen Adeson of Newton. til such time as different rates may be set for land and for buildings). This would discourage land speculation and encourage property improvements and more housing.

In this way an increase in the tax rate will not only be unnecessary but the rate may actually be lowered when every property owner is paying a fairer share of city expenses. This procedure is now being recommended by leading tax economists. We urge you to follow their recommendations.

Hospital Guild Has Newton Women Founding Members

Fifteen Newton women are founding members of the newly established St. Elizabeth's Hospital Auxiliary.

They are: Mrs. William P. Brennan, Mrs. Thomas C. Cavanaugh, Mrs. Mandel Cohen, Mrs. James F. Conway, Mrs. Eugene A. Cronin, Mrs. Hugh C. Donahue, Mrs. Francis W. Drinan, Mrs. Stephen M. Frawley, Mrs. Stephen Healey, Mrs. Thomas Hinchey, Mrs. Peter Karp, Mrs. D. Joseph Mulhane, Mrs. Richard J. Roche, Mrs. Thomas Ryan and Mrs. Frederick Stohlman, Jr. Mrs. Stohlman is vice-president, pro-tem, of the group.

Several organizational meetings have been held, working committees designated, by-laws written, temporary officers elected and possible projects investigated. Sixty-five members have been enrolled to date in the four membership categories: active, honorary and life. Although the members come from throughout metropolitan Boston, they are mainly from the service area of the Hospital: Allston-Brighton, Arlington, Belmont, Brookline, Cambridge, Newton, Watertown, Waltham, Wellesley and other towns to the North and West.

"Membership is open to anyone interested in St. Elizabeth's Hospital," says Mrs. Francis J. Donovan of Watertown, "subject to formal application and approval by the Membership Committee."

The purpose of the Auxiliary, which is being organized according to recommendations of the Massachusetts Hospital Association is to advance the welfare of and render service to St. Elizabeth's in ways approved by the administration of the Hospital.

Projects under consideration by the group include a hairdressing service for women patients, art, book and activity carts for patients, holiday tray favors for patients, a nursery school service for staff nurses and others.

"The trustees and administration of the hospital are extremely pleased with the formation of the new auxiliary," says Edward P. Henry, executive director at St. E's. "The members are enthusiastic and are constructing the organization carefully so that it will be able to make a major and continuing contribution to the hospital and its patients."

The annual meeting of the Auxiliary will be held in May at which time the by-laws, which have been approved by the Executive Board, will be presented to the full membership, and permanent officers will be elected.

Philippine bank law

President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines, has signed a bill assuring greater protection to small bank depositors.

The law, prompted by a bank run last year, sets aside a fund of 15 million pesos ($2,500), to depositors who otherwise would not recover their money in banks closed by the Philippine Central Bank.

'Beloved Enemy' To Be Seen At Baptist Church

"Beloved Enemy", winner of the National Evangelical Film Foundation award as the best evangelistic film of the year, will be shown at Second Baptist Church, Newton Upper Falls, on Sunday April 5 at 7 p.m.

Sweeping from the slopes of Northern Michigan to guerrilla infested jungles of the tropics, "Beloved Enemy" tells the dramatic story of a young space-age scientist who is rejected by the girl he loves because of his unbelief. Embittered, he sets out to disprove the Deity of Christ through a careful and honest investigation of Jesus Christ.

Convinced of the truth of the Bible, Mark, played by Tony Moccus, follows Lynn, played by Flo Price, a well-known Christian musician, to the jungles of Latin America where both are trapped in a political upheaval. Their escape from a Communist concentration camp and a headlong flight to escape the bullets of the guerrillas provides many moments of excitement and suspense.

"Beloved Enemy," the tender and heart-warming story of young people in love, is a film for both teens and adults. Its scholarly defense of the Christian faith makes it a film everyone must see.

Traffic Commission Reports Recent Actions to Aldermen

The following order of business was completed by the Newton Traffic Commission at their regular meeting on the morning of Monday (March 23) in the office of the Director of Public Works and the report submitted to the Board of Aldermen:

Jewett and Boyd Streets, Newton Corner - Request of Carolyn and Joanne MacAuliffe for a STOP sign at this intersection. (Traffic Commission recommended denial.)

Pearl Street, Newton Corner - Request of Alderman William Carmen for the installation of parking meters in the municipal parking lot on Pearl Street - 3-hour limit. Traffic Commission recommended holding for study.)

271 to 283 Auburn Street, Auburndale - Petition of Mrs. Annie Wasserman of 271 Auburn Street requesting ONE HOUR parking meters be placed from numbers 271 to 283 Auburn Street. (Traffic Commission recommended this item to the Police Department who will enforce traffic regulations and curtail double parking in this area.) Since this is private property, no action can be taken on the installation of parking meters. If the frontage of the property were deeded to the City of Newton, parking meters could then be installed.

Greenlawn Avenue/Park Lane/Brentwood Avenue, Newton Centre - Request of Mrs. Ingeburg Parnas for a STOP sign to be located at the southwesterly side of Greenlawn Avenue at the intersection with Brentwood Avenue and Park Lane. (Traffic Commission recommended holding for study - traffic counts, sketches and accident records.)

Commonwealth Avenue and Walnut Street, Newton Centre - Petition of Robert L. Johnson requesting a warning sign at or before the intersection of Commonwealth Avenue and Walnut Street to prevent traffic from crossing the ONE WAY side of Commonwealth Avenue against the red signal. Traffic Commission recommended holding for study by the Police Department.)

Washington and Grove Streets, Newton Lower Falls - Request from John E. Corcoran (retired Newton Fire Chief) that parking between the entrance and exit from the Mr. Donut shop be prohibited. (Traffic Commission recommended "NO PARKING HERE TO CORNER" sign - No parking northerly side of Washington Street from Grove Street northeasterly 100'.)

Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Newton Lower Falls - Letter from William S. Brines, Administrative Vice-President of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, requesting directional guide signs be placed at major arteries to assist persons needing to reach the hospital. (Traffic Commission recommended study of locations by Public Works and Engineering Department.)

1257 Washington Street, West Newton - Request of Mrs. Malvina Ford dba Horadon's Lunch, to remove the parking ban (7-9 a.m. and 4-6 p.m.). Traffic Commission recommended the temporary removal of parking restrictions 7-9 a.m. on the north side - Davis Court to Watertown Street.)

Sacred Heart Parish Area - Newton Centre - Petition submitted by Mrs. Jane Murphy, Parish Council Secretary requesting (1) elimination of the speeding problem on Centre Street near Crescent Avenue; (2) erection of new "attention getting" signs on Centre Street - either side of Sacred Heart School - indicating "SLOW - SCHOOL ZONE"; (3) making Crescent Avenue, the distance of the school yard - one way all the time, not just during school hours; (4) temporary blocking off of Crescent Avenue from traffic during school hours. (Traffic Commission recommended (1) speed shall be enforced by police on Centre Street near Crescent Avenue; (2) orange reflector school signs to be installed by Public Works on Centre Street near Crescent Avenue; (3) the present ordinance 12.38 making Crescent Avenue one way from Centre Street to Norwood Avenue from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. be amended to delete the part 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. so that Crescent Avenue would be one way at all times; (4) this item be held for study by the Police Department.)

Recommendations of Chief of Police William F. Quinn. (Traffic Commission recommended approval of the following:

Add to Section 12.80 of the revised ordinances: Parking prohibited on the west side of Armory Street from Washington Street to opposite 25 Armory Street, West Newton. Parking prohibited on the east side of High Street from the easterly property line of number 34 High Street to the northerly property line of number 54 High Street, a distance of 375 feet.

Parking prohibited on the west side of Adams Street from Watertown Street to Lincoln Road, except Sundays and holidays; one hour parking on the east side of Adams Street from Middle Street to Watertown Street except Sundays and holidays.

Add to Section 12.38.2 of the revised ordinances the following intersections: Perkins Street onto Washington Street. (12.38.2 reads as follows: No person shall make a left turn with a vehicle at any of the following intersections:)

Other Items: STOP sign - Edward Road and Derby Street - denied by Mass. DPW. (Traffic Commission recommended denial.)

STOP sign - Henshaw Place / Henshaw Street/Kilburn Road - approved by Mass. DPW. (Traffic Commission recommended denial.)

STOP sign - Watertown Street at Eddy Street - approved by Mass. DPW. (Traffic Commission recommended approval.)

STOP sign - Watertown Street at Eliot Street - approved by Mass. DPW. (Traffic Commission recommended approval.)

Petition 422-69 Chesley Avenue - No parking any time both sides. (Traffic Commission recommended denial.)

All votes were unanimous unless otherwise noted: Those present: Edwin H. Wiest, Chairman; E. Michael Ferris, Planning Director; Police Chief William F. Quinn; U.M. Schiavone, City Engineer; Willard S. Pratt, Director of Public Works; Police Captain A. Charles Mascia; Assistant Fire Chief Murphy; John L. Simmons, Senior Planner; Police Sgt. William Veducchio.

School - (Continued from Page 1) proceedings Tuesday night. More than 100 school department officials, school committee members and citizens crowded the Aldermanic Chambers to hear the debate which lasted until well after midnight.

Public Buildings Committee Chairman Ernest Dietz, reporting the majority view of his committee, said those in favor felt "we should have a new school" and that it was the consensus of the Board 2 1/2 years ago that the alternatives of some rehabilitation and some new construction had not proved feasible. Lack of state aid for rehabilitation would bring the costs close to that of all new construction, Dietz maintained.

Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell, expressing the minority viewpoint, claimed the Board did not make a rational decision last April when it approved the $15.4 million bond issue. "That figure did not realistically relate to the kind of school being developed," McDonnell said.

He favored a public hearing to determine if the citizens really want the $19.5 million school. "This school is exceedingly in cost by only one other in Massachusetts," McDonnell asserted. He referred to one recently built in Winchester.

Most of the Aldermen who spoke in opposition to the new bond issue, said they favored a new high school but felt the educational specifications and the resulting high price tag were more than the taxpayers could afford in a year of a soaring tax rate.

Several of those who favored the new bond issue pointed out that the need for the new school has been given priority for nearly 20 years and has been planned for the last four years. Inflation is only going to force costs up further and the project should go ahead now, they argued.

Some alternate solutions were proposed but defeated. Alderman David Jackson suggested that a portion of the already approved $15.4 million bond issue be utilized to refurbish buildings two and three of the existing complex. He also recommended that building one be razed and a new structure that could include three or four of the houses at Newton High be constructed in its place.

Finance Committee Chairman Edward Uehlein pointed out that the new school will actually cost about $30 million when interest on the bonds is figured. Even after state aid amounting to 40 percent of the cost is received, the net cost to the city will still be $23 million, Uehlein said. It will mean an additional $5 on the tax rate for the first four

Mrs. Daly Has Exhibition Of Paintings Here

The paintings of Marguerite Eichorn Daily, Newton Art Association's 20th anniversary dinner chairman and a member of the Board of Governors of that group, are on display at the Newton Highlands Branch of the Newton Free Library, 20 Hartford Street, through April.

Mrs. Daly, who has had many one-man shows including an invitational show at Barrington College, Rhode Island, has won numerous awards and scholarships for her work.

A former student at the Boston School of the Museum of Fine Arts, at Boston University and at Washington University (M.O.), her paintings will go on view at the Fresh Pond Shopping Center Cinema during May. A member of the Copley Society and the Cambridge Art Association, Mrs. Daly says she really prefers not to title her paintings, but would like to leave that to the viewer.

A complementary selection of art books accompanies the exhibit.

years, with a gradually diminishing figure after that, he added.

Alderman William Carmen argued that Newton's school system is the city's main attraction and the principal reason for high real estate values.

Those opposed to the bond issue on the first vote were Aldermen Adelaide B. Ball, Richard Bullwinkle, Louis I. Egelson, David Jackson, Joseph M. McDonnell, Sidney T. Small, Arthur Sullivan and Andrew Magni.

Reasons for the $4 million in additional funds required as cited by Public Buildings Commissioner Charles Herbert were $1,647,500 to cover the increase in costs during the past year; $525,000 for air conditioning; $120,000 for wall to wall carpeting; $125,500 for space required for air conditioning equipment and $1,610,000 for equipment, site work and contingencies.

Landau in film Martin Landau, who quit "Mission: Impossible," has signed to co-star with Sidney Poitier in "They Call Me Mister Tibbs" for the Mirisch company.

'Shape of Seventies' Is Joint Conference Topic

"The Shape of the Seventies" will be examined during the annual "Careers in Industry and Business Conference" today on the campus of Lasell Junior College in Auburndale. Coffee and registration will be in Wolfe Hall from 9 to 9:30 a.m. followed by panel discussions.

This conference is under the joint sponsorship of the Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce with the Massachusetts Secondary School Principals Association, the Massachusetts Association of Women Deans and Counselors and the Massachusetts School Counselors Association.

Head table guests during the luncheon will be Mayor Monte G. Basbas of Newton and Victor A. Nicolazzo, President of the Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce.

Beal Is Named VP at Beacon Construction

Lifelong Newton resident Robert L. Beal has been appointed Vice President of Development of the Beacon Construction Company.

A graduate of Harvard and of Harvard Business School, Beal is a member of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board, the Building Owners and Managers Association and is an instructor and lecturer on real estate at Northeastern University.

He will coordinate the planning, financing, leasing and management of Beacon's ventures in addition to initiating new projects in his new position. A member of the company since 1965, he has been associated with all aspects of their projects including the $30 million Center Plaza office building in Boston's Govern-

Opening Soon For "Gateway Center"

The formal opening of building already have been completed. "Gateway Center," the $125-million first phase of the Newton Corner air rights complex, is expected to be announced within the next two or three weeks.

The complex over the Massachusetts Turnpike Extension between Washington St. and Centre Ave., will include a 12-story hotel, to be operated by the Dunfee Family, a Red Coach Grill, a bank and several specialty shops, all nearing completion.

A six-story garage for 650 cars and a nine-story office ment Center; Wellesley Office Park and Worcester Center financial and retail complex.

Developer Mark J. Walch said a date for the opening will be decided upon in a week or two.

Walch said a belfry from the Fire Station that was torn down by the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority will be part of the walkway connecting Centre Ave. on the library side of Newton Corner to Washington St. on the other side.

An authority spokesman said the belfry and the big copper bell, now set on a vacant spot in the middle of the busy intersection, have attracted as much attention as the development itself.

He said there have been many inquiries about the belfry, including one from a church that wanted to donate it to a mission in Africa.

The authority had used the fire station for maintenance purposes then sold it to the White & Walch Trust.

Sees Interrupted Peak Load In Summer Electric Service

In a letter to Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas dated March 19, 1970, Boston Edison Company warns that electric service to the community may have to be interrupted during the summer peak load period.

John L. Sullivan, Vice President of Boston Edison, blames inaction by the Sherborn Selectmen for the problem, and states: "It is now quite apparent that we shall be unable to build 2000 feet of line which was designed and intended to protect the continued supply of electricity to all of our customers."

Mr. Sullivan cites the following history leading to the present impasse. Ever since 1965 Boston Edison Company has been endeavoring to construct and operate a 230,000 volt overhead transmission line from Medway to Sudbury on an existing right of way which has been dedicated to transmission line use for many years. The proposed line is required to continue to meet the ever-growing electrical loads of our customers in your community and in neighboring communities. No one has ever seriously challenged the need for this line, an independent review has confirmed that it is necessary and construction has been completed from Medway to the Natick-Framingham town line.

However, opponents of the line have raised several legal questions and have been successful in obtaining a temporary court injunction against further construction. The Supreme Judicial Court has recently instructed the Company to obtain new street crossing permits from the seven towns involved for the necessary construction, as well as certain further administrative approvals by the Department of Public Utilities.

On three days in December of 1969, the Company met in the office of the Department of Public Utilities with representatives of four towns which had opposed the line. At these meetings the Company made substantial commitments. A further consequence of Sherborn's inaction is that the Company, where pertinent, plans to refuse to connect new electrical loads, and may find it necessary to ask large industrial customers to limit or curtail their operations until the line is built.

All of us at Boston Edison are deeply concerned over this situation and will continue to do everything possible to maintain continuity of electrical service to your community during this critical summer period. However, I would urge you to review your local procedures particularly with respect to essential municipal services.

If you desire any assistance in making emergency arrangements, please call our district manager.

Mayor Basbas has also received a letter, dated March 23, 1970, from the Sherborn Selectmen, responding to the Sullivan charges and presenting its own history of the long conflict with Boston Edison as follows:

This refers to a letter dated March 19, 1970 addressed to you by John L. Sullivan, Vice President of the Boston Edison Company, seeking to place upon the Town of Sherborn sole responsibility for Edison's delay in completing a 230,000 volt overhead transmission line, with possible adverse consequences in your community. That letter is inaccurate and unfair, and we feel obliged to set the record straight and place the responsibility where it belongs.

Some years ago Edison announced its intention of constructing this line from Medway to Sudbury on Eiffel type steel towers on a right of way owned by Edison and already occupied by various other transmission lines. The towns of Framingham, Sherborn, Sudbury and Wayland made known their objections in 1967. Three of these towns saved their rights by action before the Department of Public Utilities, but because the Town of Sherborn failed to do so Edison proceeded to construct the proposed line through the town and erected a total of 21 steel towers ranging from 120 to 162 feet in height, notwithstanding persistent assertions by the other towns that this construction was illegal unless a certificate of convenience and necessity was first obtained from the Department of Public Utilities, and unless street-crossing permits were obtained from the several towns.

The Edison Company, instead of complying with statutory requirements as the town said it should, chose to take a gamble that the court would not require such compliance. In 1969 court proceedings ensued in which all four towns participated, culminating in a decision by our Supreme Judicial Court that the towns were right and that Edison should have obtained a certificate of convenience and necessity and should have obtained street crossing permits before constructing the line. The statute makes it clear that until such street crossing permits have been obtained, the company may construct a transmission line but may not transmit energy through it. In fact, the Edison Company has been transmitting energy through the line in violation of this statute for many months.

As a result of this decision, Edison changed its proposal so that it would erect a single circuit line on wooded H-frames in the towns of Framingham, Wayland and Sudbury, rather than the highly objectionable steel lattice-type towers which had already been constructed in Sherborn. In addition, in order to obtain street crossing permits in these towns, Edison made substantial further concessions.

The company has made no commitment whatsoever in the Town of Sherborn other than to screen a portion of the highway so that certain of the towers would be less visible. Sherborn has asked Edison to remove not more than six of the towers and replace them with steel tapered poles, and has attempted to show, through a qualified expert, that this can reasonably be done. Edison has refused to remove even one of the existing towers and, until it was suggested by the Chairman of the DPU, refused to have its engineers even meet with Sherborn's consultant. Sherborn has made it plain to the Edison representatives that it is prepared to further negotiate its request, but Edison's only reply has been to threaten to write a letter to its customers placing the blame on Sherborn - a threat which it has now carried out.

The present situation is not fairly attributable to the Town of Sherborn. It is attributable to a series of basic mistakes made by the Edison Company and to a persistent refusal on the part of that company to negotiate even the most modest request made by the town which has suffered the most from those mistakes.

Prison Chaplain Speaker Here At April 7th Event

The women of St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, April 7 at 1 p.m.

The speaker for the afternoon program will be Rev. W. Burt, Protestant chaplain for the Walpole State Prison.

Rev. Burt will discuss, "The Church's Role in Penology." He has been chaplain for many years at the prison and will relate many incidents concerned with his work.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

As every pastry maker knows, egg whites and sugar have a natural affinity, and one of the happiest results of this combination is the meringue. Named after the town where they were first made in 1720, the little pastries soon became quite popular. Admirers have since discovered that the basic mixture is enhanced by numerous flavorings such as coffee, coconut, pink raspberry, date and nut, maple walnut or chocolate. Next time you make a meringue, be daring! Try a new flavoring!

The next time you want to eat out—discover for yourself the reason why more and more people every year dine at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Bring the family here on Sundays for dinner. We are open from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

HELPFUL HINT: A tablespoon of liquid coffee added to gravy will make it brown immediately without leaving taste of the coffee.

New Veterans Advised On Time Limit For Services

Carlton P. Merrill, Director of Veterans' Services for the City of Newton, this week issued a statement reminding veterans recently released from active military service that they should note the following time limitations by which they must act to receive veterans' services.

GOP Committees For 8 Wards To Meet Here Soon

Newton's eight Republican Ward Committees are now scheduled to meet within the first two weeks of April for the purpose of electing officers for two year terms, delegates to the Republican State Convention, and representatives to serve on the Nominating Committee of the Newton Republican City Committee. Julius L. Masow, Chairman of the City Committee today commended the Ward Chairmen for their programs, effectiveness and promptness.

Wards Two, Three, and Seven will meet Wednesday evening, April 8 at the Newton Community Center. After conducting individual ward business, the groups will assemble to hear State Senator John M. Quinlan, Ward Chairmen of these groups, Douglas Howard, Marshall D. Glen, and Melvin Norris, will participate in the program.

Ward One will meet Friday evening, April 10, at the home of its Chairman, Miss Adelaide B. Ball.

The meeting of Ward Six will take place Tuesday evening April 14 at the home of its Chairman, Michael Lipof.

Ward Five already met Monday evening, March 30 but will have to meet very soon again to complete its election of officers.

Added to crowded GOP calendar is the City Committee's Executive session of Thursday evening, April 9 at the home of Mrs. William A. Lincoln. This meeting will act on the latest report of the Newton GOP Issues Committee, according to Julius L. Masow, Chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee.

Brokers Appoint Joseph Simons Vice President

Hutchins, Mixer and Parkinson Inc., Boston stockbrokers, has appointed a Newton resident, Joseph A. Simons, as a vice president.

Simons, 42, was most recently an assistant vice president of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith in Boston, where he served since 1957. Prior to that he was president of a family concern, Simons Hide and Skin Corp., Boston.

Simons, who attended Dartmouth College and graduated from Boston University, has been active in civic and religious affairs.

He is a past president of the Cabot School PTA, and has been a volunteer chairman in the Newton United Fund campaign. He is a member of the executive board of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies, the Jewish Community Council of Greater Boston, and the executive board of the Boston Chapter of the American Jewish Committee.

For the past two years he has been a member of the United Jewish Appeal Mission to Israel.

Simons lives with his wife and three children at 34 Converse ave., Newton.

1. Ten days to inform their Selective Service Board of address.

2. Thirty days to register with the Selective Service Board if he did not register prior to entry into active military service.

3. Ninety days to apply to former employer for re-employment.

4. One hundred and twenty days to retain insurance protection by converting Serviceman's Group Life Insurance, without a physical examination, to an individual policy.

5. One year from the date the Veterans Administration grants a service connected disability rating to obtain government life insurance.

6. One year to receive unemployment compensation.

7. Eight years after discharge to complete GI education.

8. Ten years to obtain a GI loan. The eligibility formula is 10 years, plus one year for each additional 90 days of active service, not to exceed 20 years total.

Merrill stated that there is no time limit however, to file for compensation; file for a pension, obtain V.A. hospital care, convert term insurance or to apply for the state bonus.

Major Art Exhibit With More Than 100 Items To Open Here

More than 100 sculptures, paintings and drawings by many of New England's leading artists will be exhibited during the "Aries Art Festival," which starts tomorrow, Friday, April 3, and continues through April 19, at the First Unitarian Society in West Newton.

The two-week exhibition of New England contemporary art will be punctuated by a series of related gallery talks, musical and theatrical events.

On Sunday, April 5, at 4 p.m., there will be a performance by "Clearing," a group composed of poets, folksingers and musicians. Folk singers Joan Minkhoff and John Harper will give a performance on Friday, April 10, at 8 p.m.

Then on Sunday, April 12, at 3 p.m., there will be a gallery talk by Edward Movitz, a sculptor on the faculty of the Massachusetts College of Art. In a series of three evening performances, April 16, 17 and 18, at 8 p.m., the New England Players Theatre will present their newest production "Baachae."

The committee sponsoring the art festival is chaired by Arthur Hoener, professor of design at the Massachusetts College of Art, and includes Mrs. Arthur Hoener, the Rev. folksingers and musicians. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Friedman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Hagan, Mrs. Kenneth C. Matheson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mezger and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Yoffe.

The hours of exhibition are 1-6 p.m. Saturdays through Wednesdays and 1-9 p.m. Thursdays and Fridays. Admission is free, and the exhibits are open to the public.

2nd Discussion Series By Women Voters Apr. 8, 9, 10

On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, April 8, 9 and 10, the League of Women Voters of Newton will hold its second series of discussion units on public welfare in Massachusetts.

The focus of these discussions will be on the welfare department; its structure, personnel policies and procedures. The case of a typical welfare recipient will be followed from initial application through follow-up contact with the department.

The state takeover of the administration of the welfare system will be followed from original plans through subsequent controversy to the current situation. The laws in the book will be looked at to determine what has and has not been implemented or funded.

The proposed community service centers, regional finance centers, and personnel requirements will be examined.

At discussion units in early March of this year, the League of Women Voters of Newton focused on poverty, attitudes towards the poor, and the needs of the poor. Units this month will concentrate on the welfare system which is supposed to meet the needs of the poor.

Specific questions to be considered by League members are designed to determine how to make the welfare department more efficient, responsive, and fair; whether a simplified application procedure should be used for recipients, whether and in what cases work ought to be required, and how social services can be more effectively delivered to recipients.

Chestnut Hill Neighbors and B.C. Solve Dormitory Traffic Problems

Many residents of the Chestnut Hill area have been anxiously awaiting word of the outcome of the petition filed last fall by Boston College for permission to construct a new dormitory building on the site of its upper campus at Beacon Street and Tudor Road.

Alexander S. Beal, President of the Chestnut Hill Association, Inc., and on behalf of its Board of Directors, reported recently to residents and to the Newton citizenry in general about the history of the petition and the satisfactory handling of it by the Board of Aldermen.

The public hearing on the petition was held before the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen on September 15, 1969. The news of the proposed new dormitory, "together with the fact that it had very recently become public knowledge that the Boston Patriots were going to use the B.C.'s Alumni Stadium for their home football games, alarmed the residents of the area so greatly that an overflow of protesters attended the hearing," Mr. Beal reported.

Many neighbors of the College spoke up at the hearing, expressing irritation over the parking, traffic and noise situation near the College and expressing great concern over the added effect of a new dormitory. Others were concerned over other future plans of the College, such as whether or not there would be continued acquisitions of residential properties along Hammond and Beacon Streets and in other areas surrounding its upper and middle campus.

The Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen at that time was chaired by the recently appointed Judge Franklin N. Flaschner. Mr. Flaschner and his committee "wisely and very properly suggested" that representatives of the opponents of the petition and officials of the College enter into discussions to see if their differences could be reconciled, and then report back to the Aldermen.

This led to the formation of the Chestnut Hill Association, Inc., and to Mr. Beal's task of becoming its president. An open line of communications was established through Rev. Francis X. Shea, Executive Vice President of the College. Father Shea delegated certain responsibilities to Richard J. Olsen, his Executive Assistant, and to David Stockman, Director of Administrative Services. These officials, in turn, enlisted the aid and solicited the views of various College organizations such as the Boston College Parking Committee, the Resident Student Office and the Campus Security Office. The College generously offered its facilities for meetings and all troublesome matters were thoroughly aired between representatives of the College and the Association over a period of five months. Mr. Flaschner and members of the Land Use Committee kept in touch and attended one of more meetings.

The Chestnut Hill Association engaged the services of Atty. Daniel J. Bickford, of the firm of Ely, Bartlett, Brown & Proctor, and the College was represented by Atty. F. A. Boudreau, of Foley, Hoag & Elliot.

During these meetings there was expression on the part of the College that it, too, was jealous of maintaining the fine character of the neighborhood as it was the heaviest single investor therein, but Father Shea was very open in expressing the desire of Boston College to become a great university and indicating that this would involve physical expansion.

One of the first matters upon which assurance was given was that the Patriots would not be invited back for another year at Alumni Stadium. Encouraging dialogue was had on matters of parking and traffic. The College and the Association reported to the Land Use Committee the areas upon which they were in agreement and in addition each gave their respective further views upon matters with respect to which they had not reached full accord.

The matter was then finally resolved under the leadership of Alan S. Barkin, the new Chairman of the Land Use Committee, and with the guidance and cooperation of Mayor Monte Basbas, of William Quinn, Chief of the Newton Police Department, and of the Newton Traffic Commission. A permit for the new dormitory was issued by the Board of Aldermen under date of February 19, 1970, but with a number of specific conditions attached to it.

The conditions include the persons within their own communities, if possible, based on the belief that when people are sent elsewhere, the increased cost, plus the additional trauma of coping with strangeness, impersonality and loneliness, all too often retard progress, if it does not completely stifle it.

In addition, due to the easy accessibility of a variety of services within a limited geographic location, the same doctor, therapist, social worker or service agency can continue to treat and follow-up a patient's program wherever he may be, which continuity is so important in long-term therapy.

In compliance with the mandate of The Act, the State was geographically divided into 37 areas so that each area could serve 75,000 to 200,000 people under one comprehensive community mental health and retardation program. Each area has a citizen advisory board representing all the participating communities, of which the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Area Board is one.

Although the entire program to implement all the projected services specified under The Act is approximated to take 10 years, some agencies are already serving the three communities: Newton Mental Health Center and the Wellesley Human Relations Services for children; Newton - Wellesley Hospital Outpatient Adult Psychiatric Clinic for all three communities; Newton Court Clinic for adults and adolescents in the three communities; Newton Nursery School for retarded and emotionally disturbed children; Medfield State Hospital; Wrentham State School; and the Charles River Workshop for vocational evaluation and training of retarded adolescents and adults in the entire area.

Through greater citizen participation and pooling of resources among the communities within the Area Boards, increased and improved services can be offered to a larger proportion of the citizenry at a much lower cost and with a greater opportunity for recovery.

SENATE REJECTS CARSWELL NOMINATION TO SUPREME COURT

A BITTERLY DIVIDED Senate rejected the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell by a 51-45 vote Wednesday in a second stunning repudiation of President Nixon's efforts to restore "the kind of balance" he says the court needs. In resolving its anguish over party loyalties and doubts about Carswell's fitness for the high bench, five moderate Republican votes were decisive. But it was not until the roll call had neared the finish and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, Maine, softly uttered her "no" that the outcome was no longer in doubt. President Nixon said through a spokesman that he was "of course disappointed" and would name another "strict constructionist" to the court in due course, although he had no names in mind. In Tallahassee, Fla., Carswell said: "It's a relief." He said he wasn't bitter about the outcome even though "it's always disappointing not to win." Nixon spoke to Carswell by telephone shortly after the vote and gained his agreement to remain on the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

U.S. LAUNCHES FOUR NEW SATELLITES INTO ORBIT

AMERICA put four new satellites into orbit Wednesday — two to watch for violations of the nuclear test ban treaty, a new weather reporter that should improve long-range forecasting, and a mapping moon-let. The U.S. space agency launched a 1,366-pound Nimbus 4 weather satellite aboard a Thor-Agena rocket from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California to start the show, and the Air Force followed less than three hours later from Cape Kennedy, Fla., with a spectacular dawn launch of a Titan 3C carrying the Vela nuclear detection robot. Riding along as a hitchhiker with the weather satellite was a 40-pound satellite called Topo-A, the first of a series of satellites to be launched for the U.S. Army's Topographic Command.

SUBSTITUTE FOR ASTRONAUT MATINGLY CONSIDERED

SPACE AGENCY officials said Wednesday at Cape Kennedy they were considering a substitute backup astronaut for Thomas K. Mattingly whose susceptibility to the measles threatened a one-month delay in the Apollo moon-landing mission. Public Affairs officer Alfred Alibrando said backup command module pilot John L. Swigert was under consideration as a possible substitute for Saturday's launch. Swigert, he said, appears immune to the measles and "is fairly well prepared" for the mission. "Whether we go with him or not, that decision has not been reached," Alibrando said.

GAS BLAST KILLS AT LEAST 88 IN OSAKA, JAPAN

A THUNDEROUS EXPLOSION at the site of a gas main, followed by a series of lesser blasts, killed or injured more than 200 persons in a crowded residential and shopping district of Osaka, Japan Wednesday, and touched off a number of fires. At least 88 persons were killed and 154 others were injured, authorities said. Five hours after the fiery eruptions, Osaka police said they expected the toll of dead and injured to reach 300. The explosions occurred just after 5 p.m., during the evening rush hour in Oyodo in the eastern section of Osaka, Japan's major industrial city. Many of the victims were in a crowd of curious bystanders who had gathered at a subway construction site to watch a repair crew of the Osaka Gas Co. trying to fix a leak in a 20-inch pipe. They were felled in the first blast. At least 30 buildings were gutted by fire.

EGYPTIANS CLAIM 30 CHILDREN KILLED AS JETS RAID SCHOOL

THE EGYPTIAN government said 30 children were killed and 36 more injured Wednesday when Israeli Phantom jet fighter-bombers attacked a primary school in the Nile Delta province of Sharqiya. Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said the targets attacked were strictly military and "if the Egyptians installed classrooms inside a military installation, this in my opinion is highly irresponsible." Dayan spoke on Israeli state radio after Egypt announced that Israeli jets raided a school for young boys and girls in the province northeast of Cairo. The Egyptian government said that in addition to the casualties among the school children, one adult civilian was killed and 10 others wounded. Dayan excused the possibility that Israeli pilots might have made a mistake. The United States deplored the attack. Said State Dept. spokesman Robert J. McCloskey: "If these reports are confirmed, this tragic incident would be another deplorable and saddening consequence of the continuing disregard for the U.N. Security Council cease fire resolutions."

SUPREME COURT KEEPS LID ON KOPECHNE INQUEST PAPERS

THE MASSACHUSETTS Supreme Court Wednesday ordered a Superior Court Clerk not to release the transcript or judge's report of the secret inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne "until further orders." No reason was given for the order. The delay in the release of the papers, however, was apparently due to a dispute over who would distribute the 764-page transcript and the report of Edgartown District Court Judge James A. Boyle. Sidney R. Lipman, the court stenographer who recorded the inquest proceedings, appeared in the office of Superior Court Clerk Edward V. Keating earlier in the day to determine if he had any rights in the distribution of the papers. Normally, court stenographers are allowed to distribute, on a fee basis, usually about $1.35 per page, with lower amounts charged for succeeding copies. Keating said Lipman presented him with a letter concerning the appeal to produce and distribute the transcript and judge's report. He did not commit himself, the clerk said. Later in the day, the Supreme Court ordered Keating "not to release or publish the report or transcript until further orders of the Supreme Court," he said. "We hadn't finalized any plans as it was." Keating added, "That's what we spent most of the day trying to do." The release of the secret papers was expected soon after a Dukes County Grand Jury met for two days and returned no indictment in the case of Miss Kopechne, who died last summer in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car. District Attorney Edmund S. Dinis sent a letter to Keating earlier in the day certifying there would be no criminal proceedings initiated in Miss Kopechne's death.

Might Be Held With General Election

Seeking Special Election To Fill Aldermanic Post

The Newton Board of Aldermen voted 17 to 4 on Monday night to seek permission from the State Legislature to hold a special election to fill the vacant Ward 5 Alderman-at-large post created when Judge Franklin N. Flaschner resigned to accept his new position in the Newton district court.

The Board also voted 17 to 3 to ask the Legislature if the referendum that would amend the city charter to allow the special election and if the election itself could be held at the same time to save time and money.

In addition, the request to the General Court would seek permission to hold this special election at the same time as the general election — in this particular case that would be at the time either of the state primary in September or the regular state election in November.

The proposal for the special election had been made in a resolution submitted by Alderman William Wolf.

Another resolution filed by Aldermen Alan Barkin and Joseph M. McDonnell calling for a special advisory election in Ward 5 to guide the Board of Aldermen in filling the vacancy was held in the Legislation and Rules Committee until some sort of action is taken by the Legislature on Wolf's resolution.

According to the Home Rule Amendment, under which the special legislation to allow the election will be sought, the request must also be approved by the Mayor who is expected to go along with the Board's wishes.

Colella Made Asst. Chief In Fire Dept.

Louis A. Colella, a 28-year-veteran of the Newton Fire Department, has been appointed assistant fire chiefs by Chief Frederick A. Perkins.

Colella, a captain since 1937, succeeds Timothy D. Herlihy who retired last year. Colella is the fifth assistant chief along with Henry C. Murphy, Harvey D. Preble, Francis X. Dwyer, and Charles W. Cassidy.

The new assistant fire chief lives at 100 Westland ave., West Newton.

He began his service in 1942 as a military substitute and was given a permanent appointment Feb. 14, 1943.

He was promoted to lieutenant April 8, 1951 and attained the rank of captain on June 2, 1957.

Colella also will be the department drillmaster, working out of headquarters.

$1,000 Check Aids Foundation

Check for $1,000 is presented to Marc A. Slotnick, center, executive director of the Newton Community Development Foundation, by Alvin M. Glazerman, right, chairman of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights. Looking on is Matthew R. Sgan, treasurer of the fair housing organization.

Housing Group Lends A Hand

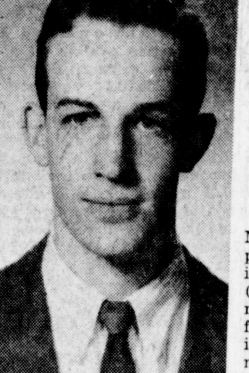

The Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights presented a check for $1,000 to the Newton Community Development Foundation (NCDF) this week.

The money will help the NCDF to reach its goal of $100,000 to acquire land and prepare plans for the construction of 50 units of low and moderate income housing.

Alvin M. Glazerman, chairman of the fair housing group, presented the check to Marc A. Slotnick, executive director of NCDF.

Glazerman said, "Our members recognized the importance of helping NCDF reach its goal quickly, and for that reason more than 75 families responded to our call."

The new assistant fire chief lives at 100 Westland ave., West Newton.

JOHN R. HALL

John Hall Is ROTC Tribune Award Winner

John Richard Hall, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hall of Plainfield st., Newton, has won the Chicago Tribune Silver Medal as a result of his outstanding performance in Naval ROTC while a student at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Hall, a graduate of Newton High School, entered the Engineering College at the University of Michigan in the fall of 1968 and has been active in Naval ROTC since that time.

During his freshman year he qualified to receive a four-year naval scholarship and was elected to the Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity, national scholastic honor society for male freshmen and sophomores.

The Tribune Silver Medal is given annually to the member of each class at the University who excels in military achievement, scholarship and character.

It is being presented to John this week in Rackham Auditorium during the annual Tri-Service Awards Ceremonies. His family has been invited to attend the ceremony.

The Permanent Charity Fund recently announced it will donate $25,000 to NCDF when it has raised $75,000. NCDF plans to construct town house and garden apartment dwellings on 10 small parcels of land.

Thus far, NCDF has raised more than $52,000 in cash and pledges from churches, temples, civic and business groups.

Alvin M. Glazerman, chairman of the fair housing group, presented the check to Marc A. Slotnick, executive director of NCDF.

Glazerman said, "Our members recognized the importance of helping NCDF reach its goal quickly, and for that reason more than 75 families responded to our call."

"After carefully reviewing NCDF's program, the directors concluded that NCDF's concept of scattered housing for families of modest means on three-acre sites in each of the Newtons was the best possible way in which to solve Newton's housing crisis."

"We have decided to give NCDF our wholehearted support and the Planning, Zoning and Redevelopment (PZR) Committee has been requested to make every effort to assure that the business community will be a major participant in this community-wide effort."

Keith G. Willoughby, chairman of the PZR Committee and vice president of the Newton Savings Bank, announced simultaneously that his committee is undertaking a massive effort to assure that the entire business community will be involved in the support and funding of NCDF and that every opportunity be given to our business leaders to bear more about NCDF's program.

Mr. Willoughby announced that letters will go out this week soliciting the financial support of business leaders for NCDF and inviting them to one of three meetings in the next two weeks to hear more about the program.

Drug Poll Due For 3,000 Pupils Here

The Newton School Department and the Mayor's Committee on Drugs will conduct a drug poll among 3,000 students in grades seven through 12, during April.

Asst. Supt. Edward Landy said questionnaires will be sent to a representative sampling of students the school system asking them what knowledge they have of drugs and their experience with them.

The questionnaires will be anonymous and will be turned over to the Committee on Drugs which was formed a year ago to determine if there is a drug problem in Newton and what could be done about it.

The School Department made a preliminary study to see if the questionnaire would be workable.

Landy said, "We wanted

Invitations Out For Annual Meeting of Newton Hospital

Blue invitations to the Newton - Wellesley Hospital Aid's 85th annual meeting were mailed well in advance of the day — Tuesday, April 14th, — so that the more than 1500 members would reserve this important date.

The members will gather in Allen - Riddle Hall at 9:45 for the always pleasant coffee hour which will be under the direction of the hospitality committee co-chairmen, Mrs. B. Garfield Rae Jr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Wellington both of West Newton.

Members of the executive committee will serve with them and they are Mrs. Jarvis Farley, Mrs. Clinton H. Shattuck, Mrs. Thomas E. Franks, Mrs. Edward Gilmour, Mrs. Claude F. Machen and Mrs. Howard E. Hansen, all of Wellesley. Also Mrs. Charles A. Higgins, Weston; Mrs. David L. Currier, Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Mrs. Chester E. Borden, Mrs. William E. Hopkins, Mrs. S. Page Cotton, Mrs. J. Marshall Leydon, Mrs. Harry J. Purple, Miss Katherine L. Tucker and Mrs. Winslow H. Adams, all of Newton.

The business meeting will be called to order by the retiring president, Mrs. Robert C. Casselman of Auburndale and greetings will be given by the Hospital president, Richard Axten and the executive vice-president, William S. Brines, both of Wellesley.

Of special interest is the program: "Drugs, Sex and the Younger Generation" which will be discussed by an expert, Dr. William E. Stone, Director of the Newton Mental Health Center. He will be introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Worthing L. West of Newton Center.

Reports of the Aid's activities will be given in composite form by the recording secretary, Mrs. Richard L. Kenney of Auburndale and the financial statement will be distributed by the treasurer, Mrs. Clinton H. Shattuck of Wellesley.

A slate of new officers and directors will be presented by the nominating committee: Mrs. Arthur H. Hausserman, Mrs. James A. Morton, Mrs. Walter Wegner all of Wellesley; Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron and Mrs. Ronald W. Adams, chairman, both of Newton.

Newton dog lovers are invited to the Weston Dog Training Club's annual K-9 Showcase at the Natick Armory, 93 Central St., Natick, at noon on Sunday (April 19). Many breeds will be represented illustrating that all dogs regardless of variety are trainable and can become a pleasure to both the family and community.

Qualified judges will be present and attractive prizes will be awarded. Home cooked food will be available at the snack bar.

"Buff," the top obedience dog in the country, and her handler Mrs. Phillip Robinson will be an added attraction. She will be participating in "Graduate Open" and "Graduate Utility."

Among other local participants will be Mrs. Thomas Pryor, Mrs. Glen Banister and Miss Nancy Banister, Mrs. Harold Tingley and Miss Helen Rooney.

Dr. Neiman To Speak At ORT Lunch Apr. 13

Dr. David Neiman, ordained Rabbi and first Jewish professor to be named a full-time member of the theological faculty of Boston College will be the guest speaker at the Spring Luncheon meeting of the Charles River Chapter of Women's American ORT.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Austen Adeson, Newton, on Monday, April 13.

Dr. Neiman of Newton will speak on the subject of the "Future of American Judaism" — encompassing "Jewish Youth and Their Future Today."

In the Spring of 1971 Dr. Neiman will begin to teach Jewish Literature contemporary with the New Testament at the Gregorian University in Rome. This is an unprecedented appointment as it will be the first time a Jewish theologian has been appointed as a visiting professor at the 400-year-old Roman Catholic Seminary.

Dr. Neiman, a man of many "firsts" is currently lecturing at All Saints Episcopal Church in Brookline on "Principals of Jewish Theology."

Dr. Neiman studied at City College of New York and at the University of Chicago and took his PhD at the Dropsie College for Hebrew and Cognate Learning in Philadelphia.

Robert C. Casselman, chairman of the board of NCDF, said, "The Foundation is most pleased and proud of this unprecedented commitment on the part of the Chamber of Commerce because it means that NCDF is now truly a community-wide effort and virtually assures that we will achieve our goal of providing 500 units of town house style housing for families of modest means."

It also means that the business community will play a major role in bridging the gap between the $52,000 we have already raised from churches, temples and civic groups, and the $75,000 we need to get the Permanent Charity Fund's $25,000 grant. (Recently the Permanent Charity Fund announced it would make available $25,000 grant when NCDF has raised $75,000.)

NCDF is a coalition of churches, temples, business and civic groups, and is currently developing a program for presentation to the Board of Aldermen for the construction of about 500 units of low and moderate income housing scattered on 10 sites in Newton.

Honors For 2 At Mt. Hermon

Thomas F. Hauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hauer of 99 McCarthy Rd., Newton, was one of 74 students named this week to the honor roll with "high honors" at Mount Hermon School, Mount Hermon.

Also named to the honor roll was Mark L. Houghton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Proctor Houghton of 152 Chestnut St., West Newton.

The honors recognition was granted for outstanding achievement for the winter term. Mount Hermon School has a total of 668 students and is an independent secondary school.

Rev. Parachini Is Freeport Director

A gathering for neighbors of the house at 361 Commonwealth Avenue in which Freeport intends to locate, held at the All-Newton Music School, was highlighted by the announcement that the Rev. David C. Parachini, Assistant Rector of the Grace Episcopal Church, has been named Executive Director of the Freeport organization.

Also that the Professional Advisory Committee will consist of Dr. Lester L. Havens, Dr. Paul G. Myerson, Dr. John F. Reichard, and Dr. William E. Stone.

In making these appointments, Freeport took two more steps towards establishing its cooperative home for high school students who are unable to live with their families, although its fate still rests with the Board of Aldermen, whose Land Use Committee will hold a public hearing on April 13th on the Freeport request for a year's permissive land use — not for change in zoning — of the Commonwealth Avenue property.

An Executive Director, Rev. Parachini will be responsible for implementing the decisions of the Board of Directors, carrying out all financial and operational decisions within the framework of the policies set by the Board of Directors; providing channels of communication between the house residents, members of the community, the Board of Directors, the House Committee, and the consulting professionals; and implementing educational programs.

The Professional Advisory Committee will advise and make recommendations to the Board of Directors of Freeport Foundation concerning the hiring of the psychiatrist, psychologist and program developer who will serve as consultant to the Freeport home, be available to the professional staff for consultation, and advise and make recommendations to the Board of Directors concerning any clinical programs and related research to be carried out at the Freeport home.

To it, each of its members brings distinguished qualifications: Dr. Havens is Associate Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, Dr. Meyerson is Chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at Tufts Medical School; Dr. Reichard is Chief of Psychiatry at Faulkner Hospital, and Dr. Stone is well-known as the Medical Director of Newton Mental Health Center.

The evening's program, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mintz, Dr. and Mrs. Reichard, and Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Bernstein, for the purpose of providing factual information and answering questions about the Freeport organization and its proposed operation, was moderated by Dr. Charles Brown, former Superintendent of Schools, who confirmed from his own experience the great need for a place such as Freeport, where a teenager can live temporarily — in a family setting — outside his home but inside his community, while resolving family problems.

Another supportive statement was made by Judge Joseph Mitchell, who praised the preventive nature of the program and called for community support.

Speaking for the Aldermen, David Jackson and Jason Sacks described neighborhood fears that granting permissive land use to Freeport would "open the floodgates" as unnecessary and groundless, since each application is considered by the Board of Aldermen entirely on its own merits and is not influenced by precedent.

Thus informed, several neighbors who had previously signed a petition opposing Freeport's locating at 361 Commonwealth Avenue voiced a change of heart and announced their support.

The Freeport concept, according to a recent report, is based on the belief that if an individual is going to cope with any kind of situation, be it family, school, or friends, he must have in himself an awareness of his own worth as a human being.

For parents, the report says, it is a chance to gain new perspective on their young adult child, and a way of helping the child learn that in all families people care about their needs.

The report states that: "During the time of adolescence, a time of great change and stress, it is easy for a person to stumble in searching for his role as an individual. Often times it seems easier to give up."

The family life of an individual has great effect on this change. If one does not receive support in his family, and as a result is being harmed by the constant friction between himself and his family, he may never obtain this "self awareness" so necessary to growth.

"The Freeport home is designed so that, first of all, there is a separation from the immediate stresses of home. This removes the helplessness all members of a family feel when they are forced to face each other day after day. Secondly, Freeport will not separate the individual from his school, friends, or community. He is then freer to concentrate on examining the relationship between himself and his family."

"Freeport is constructed so that the individual has a real voice in the operation of the house, along with the other residents and advisors. Freeport will give to an individual an opportunity to begin to take responsibility for his own life."

"The essential process at Freeport will begin at dinner table, as opposed to a clinic, or a psychiatrist's office, and continue while cleaning a kitchen or raking a lawn — keeping up and living in a house with other cooperatively."

"Freeport will give an individual the chance to see more clearly where his life fits in with others and where he can fit responsibly and constructively within his own family and community."

Aldermen Vote On Smoking But Puff At Recess

To smoke or not to smoke, that was the question which occupied the attention of the Board of Aldermen. They huffed and puffed over the question of allowing smoking at meetings, and although the majority was in favor, they rejected smoking on a technicality.

First, the Board on Monday night failed to suspend its rules to permit smoking; then they voted to reconsider, and this time the vote was 14 to 8, but it had to be two thirds since the vote was taken after a suspension of the rules.

The 20-minute debate was led by Alderman Harry L. Walen. But as the debate grew thicker, the membership grew smaller as Aldermen drifted out to adjoining anterooms to puff away at pipes, cigars and cigarette.

Murray School Informational Meeting Today

Murray Road School is holding its first informational meeting at the school on Thursday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m., in an effort to reach prospective students and parents.

At this first meeting faculty and students will discuss methods and goals of the school. At subsequent smaller, informal meetings on April 14 in the homes of present parents, specific questions will be discussed in detail.

Students who are presently in Newton High School sophomores are eligible for entry at Murray Road in September 1970. This means the school will consist of 120 juniors and seniors for the academic year 1970-1971.

Students and parents should telephone the school and leave their names to indicate their interest.

to see if the kids could handle it." He said about 200 students were involved in the preliminary study.

Dr. Joseph C. Sabbath, chairman of the Committee on Drugs, said he plans to have the committee's report ready for Mayor Monte G. Basbas "in the next few weeks."

Sabbath said that Basbas made it "very clear" he wanted the report to remain confidential. "He wants it to come to his desk first," the committee head said.

Meanwhile, an aldermen's committee has been established to study the problem.

Chairman William Carmen said he hopes to assemble all "concerned forces in the city to resolve this potentially disastrous situation."

School Supt. Aaron Fink, commenting on the drug situation said, people are "unduly alarmed." He said, "They think everybody is pushing drugs in the schools. Somebody ought to be asking the parents of drug users whether they are alarmed."

Fink added that no successful educational program for students has been found.

DeMolay Installation Will Be Open to Public Saturday

Newton Chapter Order of DeMolay will hold its semi-annual public installation of officers on Saturday April 11, 1970 at 8 p.m. at the Newton Masonic Hall, 460 Newtonville Ave. in Newtonville. Being installed that evening will be, James L. Nager-Master Councilor; Joseph L. DeLuca Jr. - Senior Councilor; and Carl L. Goodman - Junior Councilor.

Other officers being installed are, Mark Lenson - Senior Deacon; Howard Swartz - Junior Deacon; Robert Weiner - Senior Steward; Charles Malmad - Junior Steward; Paul Groipen - Orator; Robert Needle - Marshall; Alan Freed - Scribe; Robert Porter - Almoner; Edward Fishman - Standard Bearer; Robert Blanton - Chaplain; Peter Potter - Sentinel; and Preceptors - Marc Wine, Charles Laffin, Steven Beard, Steven Donnegan, Howard Frutkoff, Alan Goodman and David Hollis.

Evan R. Cohen will be the out going Master Councilor. Jim Nager is a senior at Boston Latin School and plans to attend college next fall. Joe DeLuca and Carl Goodman are Juniors at Newton High School. This installation is open to the public and is a good chance to see these young men, or our community, at work.

Some say: "I don't need God"

Maybe you don't... if you think of God as merely some distant person, or unknowable.

But, if you were to know God as Mind, the source of all ideas and intelligence, or as Life, the source of strength and health... wouldn't it make sense to know Him better?

You can... Practical ways of knowing God are discussed at the Christian Science Sunday School. Visit a class this Sunday at 10:45 A.M.

Belgium Trip Is Ahead For Newton Youth

Peter Z. Hermann, son of Dr. and Mrs. Howard T. Hermann of 34 Prospect Park, Newtonville, has been selected by The Experiment in International Living to live with a family in Belgium this summer.

Hermann is a junior at the Palfrey Street School, Watertown. Prior to his trip abroad, he will enroll in a special 17-day course in oral French.

During the language course Hermann will meet the 10 other members of his Experiment group. In Belgium, Peter and his fellow Experimenters will live with individual families for one month.

Part of his stay in Belgium will be devoted to extensive travel throughout the country.

The Experiment, a private, non-profit organization with U.S. headquarters in Putney, Vt., has been engaged in international educational exchange since 1932.

Annual Senior Citizen Lunch Set For May 7

The program for the Fourth Annual All Newton Senior Citizens Luncheon May 7th is currently being firmed up, according to Mrs. Edward Landy, luncheon chairman.

Tickets for the luncheon are available at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry Street in West Newton; Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge Street in Newton; the receptionist's desk, Newton City Hall; at each of the housing developments for the elderly through Mrs. Robert Toher of the Recreation Department and senior Consultant for the affair to be held at Aquinas Junior College, Newton.

The affair will be one of many activities held throughout Metropolitan Boston during the month of May which has traditionally been designated nationally as Senior Citizens Month by the President of the United States.

In commenting on the luncheon Mr. Anthony J. Bibbo, Newton Senior Citizens' Committee Chairman, expressed the hope that a large number of this city's elderly would be able to attend this annual event which has been established in their honor. He further explained that two buses will be provided to transport individuals to and from the luncheon.

Pickup points for the buses will include the Community Center, Pomroy House, the housing developments for the elderly at Parker House and Horace Mann, and possibly other locations to be designated at a later date.

Ticket sales are being coordinated by Mrs. James C. Callahan, and table decorations by Mrs. John Coleman. Mr. John Penney has taken responsibility for hosts and hostesses. Again this year Mayor Monte Basbas will serve as Headwaiter/Host.

The luncheon date is set for 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 7 at the Aquinas Junior College, Newton.

"Man of Year", Award Honors Sidney Small

More than 20 years of dedicated service was recognized today when Kiddie Kamp honored Newton Alderman Sidney T. Small as its Man of the Year at a breakfast attended by more than 500 at Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill.

In presenting the plaque to Small, Julius Stone, chairman of the Board at Kiddie Kamp, lauded Small "as one who is dedicated to helping the underprivileged."

"It is men like Sid Small, those who answer the call, that enable us to complete our mission."

Kiddie Kamp, located on a 300-acre tract in Sharon, has sent more than 30,000 underprivileged boys to summer camp since it was founded in 1938.

William H. Sullivan, president of the Boston Patriots, and the featured speaker, praised Small. "Sid has given every ounce of energy in his body and an extra ounce in helping the youth of our country."

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas congratulated Small as a Newton citizen and as an alderman. "Your work with our youth is something to behold," said Basbas.

National as well as state leaders joined in congratulating Small. Telegrams were received from Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Edward W. Brooke, Gov. Francis W. Sargent and Boston Mayor Kevin H. White.

Cong. Thomas P. O'Neill and State Sen. Beryl Cohen were in attendance, as well as Reps. H. James Shea of Newton and Seymour Epstein of Dorchester. Boston City Council member Fred Langone also attended.

Colleagues in Newton government also joined in paying tribute. Aldermen attending were President Wendell Bauckman, Adelaide Ball, Ernest Dietz, Matthew Jefferson, Robert Tennant.

Also, Chief of Police William Quinn and Recreation Commissioner John Penney. Stone, one of the founders of Kiddie Kamp, noted that Small was the first man honored who has risen from the ranks. "He started out as a volunteer, joined the board

Pupils Eager To Get Funds For May Trip

Forty-five students from F.A. Day Jr. High School in Newtonville are excitedly planning for a four day trip to Quebec City on May 6, 7, 8 and 9.

To raise money for this students are baby-sitting, shoveling snow, doing dishes and washing cars.

The school is also sponsoring a candy sale. Between April 8 and April 15 students will be selling one dollar boxes of candy in their neighborhoods. This will enable students who need or want to pay for the entire trip to do so.

Activities planned include visits to a Quebec School, an Indian Reservation, French Museums, an open-air art gallery and numerous side trips to places students want to see. Planning sessions for the trip include an introduction to Canadian History and conversational French.

The Drug Education meeting is co-sponsored by the PTA organizations of Beethoven Elementary School and Weeks Junior High. Program chairmen who organized the meeting are Mrs. Alvin Becker and Mrs. Leo Stolbach of Beethoven and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Korngold of Weeks.

Publicity was covered by Mrs. Carl Franzblau and Mrs. Morton Newman. Due to an expected large attendance Meadowbrook Junior High School auditorium is being used to accommodate all who want to learn more about drug education. The general public is invited and urged to attend on Monday night, April 13, at 8 p.m.

Ready or not...

Here they come!

All it takes is a few warm days and dandelions start popping up everywhere. Your best bet is to be ready with Scott's TURF BUILDER PLUS-2. Put it on when dandelions start to bloom. It penetrates deep down into the roots, and that's the only way to take care of dandelions. Digging or pulling won't help — their roots grow so deep, they'll just grow back again. PLUS-2 also clears out a couple dozen other non-grass weeds. It even fertilizes at the same time, so good grass can take over where the weeds once were. This year be ready for dandelions. Pick up your PLUS-2 now, while it's on sale.

An Honest Travesty

A great many Boston hockey fans are expressing their wrath over the unorthodox manner in which the Montreal Canadiens played a game, the outcome of which deprived our beloved Bruins of first place in the National Hockey League eastern race.

With five minutes to play in a game between the Canadiens and the Chicago Blackhawks, Montreal pulled out its goal tender and put six skaters on the ice in an attempt to score some goals.

Chicago, which was leading 5-2 at the time, went on to hammer five goals into the empty Montreal net and won the game 10-2, nosing out the Bruins for first place.

One woman called in to say that after listening to an account of this travesty by radio broadcasters she was opposed to the construction of a sports stadium. The connection between the two escapes me.

This was a travesty, but it was an honest and understandable travesty which happened to be unfair to the Bruins.

If the Canadiens had been able to score five goals in their game with the Blackhawks, they would have qualified for the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs, regardless of the number of goals rolled up by the Blackhawks.

So they concentrated on scoring goals, not on stopping them. As it turned out, the Canadiens scored only two goals and failed to qualify for the playoffs. What is needed is a change in the National Hockey League rules.

Penal Disparities

In a District Court in Greater Boston, a judge gave a 21-year-old out-of-state resident a total of 30 months in jail on charges of violating the narcotics laws. It seems that in a college fraternity house he occupied, the young defendant was manufacturing LSD.

The judge suspended the prison terms with the proviso that the accused would be obliged to serve the sentences if he got into trouble during the 30-month period.

In Dallas, Tex., another judge sentenced a man convicted of a felonious attack on a young woman to 1,001 years in prison. It seems that was some kind of a record for Texas. Previously, the highest prison sentence meted out in the state was 800 years imposed on a youth convicted of a similar offense and more recently a 1,000-year sentence given a culprit in a robbery case.

Of course, none of the Texas convicts will live long enough to serve out their sentences.

The disparity in the sentences are, to say the least, curious. The Massachusetts District Court judge, of course, was privy to the Probation Department's report on the drug-maker. Both the jurist and the probation officer undoubtedly felt there were grounds for leniency.

The average man-on-the-street can't be blamed if he expresses puzzlement.

Juries in the Bay State still return verdicts of first degree murder with no recommendation for mercy. They are fully knowledgeable of the fact that the electric chair, unused for 20 years, for all intents and purposes has been abolished by executive, if not by legislative, consent.

There will never be a day when true justice will be an exact science. Every case, every individual defendant presents a different problem and must be considered so. That is as it should be.

Yet, the wide disparity of punishments in both minor and major crimes leave much to be explained.

Where Are You?

The prophets of our age tell us that youth, nay even age, is passing through an identity crisis. People don't know where they are, still less where they are going, not even who they are.

A friend of ours sallied forth in his automobile the other day and lo and behold — he informed us — what the prophets of doom said is true; he didn't know where he was at and hence couldn't tell where he might be going. The crisis, he insisted, was not due in this instance to profound metaphysical causes but rather to quite banal ones.

There just plain were not enough street signs. Main streets, particularly, are atrociously marked in Boston and its suburbs. Investigation proved him correct. There are a lot of corners which lack posts telling you what intersection you are at. Check and see.

If you decide to avoid this danger of getting lost by taking the MBTA, you are in for a surprise if you have not ridden on the subway recently. In almost every station there is someplace, some indication of the station's name. They are fairly easy to find in all cases but the important one: when you are trying to find out whether you should get off a train. Try this one, too, particularly from a crowded train.

Our friend even accused us Greater Bostonians of being somewhat anti-social. He hinted that our subway system and streets are designed (if one can call chaos a design) to be used by people who know where they are going because they have been there every day since birth.

We told our friend that the slogan: "A street sign for every corner on every corner" would not be the rallying cry of the seventies. We urged him to devote his ire to the generation gap, inflation, unrest and the like.

But we decided we would point out to people how hard it is to know where you are at! Check and see.

"How Did He Do Today?"

Another baseball season is underway.

From the Pee-wees, just beginning to learn the game, to the highly-paid professionals, with minds set on more fame and fortune by the time the curtain rolls down next October after the World Series—there'll be times of joy and exultation, times of disappointment and defeat.

Perhaps, one of the most important levels of the game will be found among the Little Leagues where the neophytes are getting their first real taste of organized sports.

The rules are rigid. They apply to all—to the youngster from the home where income is no worry; to the lad whose parents know the sharp pinch of poverty; from the gifted star to the boy who must struggle to win a starting berth.

Baseball exerts its own kind of discipline. There is reason to deplore the lack of discipline so prevalent where youth is concerned today. The Little Leagues accept, regardless of his inner feelings, the dictums of

Quinlan shortly will throw down the gauntlet and announce that he will seek his party's endorsement for Lieutenant Governor despite Governor Sargent's support of Linsky.

That will set the stage for a fight within the Republican party in which Mr. Sargent to some extent will be hurt politically, whether he wins or loses. It would, of course, be a blow to his prestige if Quinlan should win which is possible but not probable.

The convention battle looming up between Messrs. Sargent and Quinlan probably will not be as one-sided as you might assume upon first glance.

Quinlan can and undoubtedly will cast himself in the role of underdog. He will be able to use some popular arguments against the Governor.

He will accuse Mr. Sargent of seeking to be a political dictator and of attempting to dictate the makeup of the Republican State ticket.

That is precisely what Governor Sargent is endeavoring to do, and it is what an effective Governor should do.

But Quinlan's argument will appeal to some delegates who don't like the idea of being told what to do, and there will be some conservative delegates who will go to the late-June convention at the Prudential Center looking for an opportunity to oppose Sargent.

This situation will add interest and draw increased attention to a Republican State Convention which promised to be cut and dried.

If Governor Sargent succeeds in swinging the convention endorsement to Representative Linsky, it will enhance his position as a strong Republican leader, and any feeling generated by his joust with Quinlan should be quickly forgotten.

But if Quinlan should get the convention nod, Sargent would be forced to run in tandem next November with a ticket mate he tried to defeat.

Linsky, incidentally, is an extremely capable young man who has all the qualifications necessary to be a good Lieutenant Governor. His vote-pulling ability, especially among Jewish people, should be a help to Mr. Sargent.

He also is a protege of former Attorney General and present Under Secretary of State Elliot L. Richardson, and a feeling exists that Richardson's potent political forces in the State will rally behind Linsky at the strategic time.

Some politically-minded persons have asked whether anything like this has happened before in the Republican party. The answer is that something like this occurred in 1962.

Former Representative Francis W. Perry of Duxbury was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

Shortly before the GOP State Convention at Worcester, the then Governor John A. Volpe tapped State Senator John Parker of Taunton as the man he wanted to be the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Volpe's move came as a surprise. He and Perry were friendly. Perry had committed himself and, as subsequent events showed, had lined up pledges of delegate support which Governor Volpe was unable to take away. Perry went on to win the convention endorsement.

A big difference between that situation and the existing one is that this year for the first time in Massachusetts the nominee for Governor and Lieutenant Governor will run as tickets, as do the candidate for President and Vice President.

White And Donahue Helped, Handicapped By Their Posts

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White and State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, the two top contenders for the Democratic nomination for Governor, both carry handicaps as they step up their campaigns and head for the convention in Amherst now only a little more than two months away.

Both are tied down by the positions they hold and are unable to spend as much time as they would wish buttonholing the delegates now being elected by Democratic ward and town committees across the Commonwealth.

White and Donahue can assign aides to talk to the delegates, but emissaries never are as effective as the candidates themselves, and there always is the danger and likelihood the candidates will get over-optimistic and misleading reports.

Yet, without the prominence given them by the offices they hold, neither White nor Donahue could be as strong a candidate for Governor as they are.

Some political observers believe White would have been in a better position to bid for the Governorship if he had remained as Secretary of State instead of shifting to the difficult job of Mayor of Boston with all the tough decisions that go with it.

There may be some basis for that opinion, but it's a two-sided argument, and White could not have achieved the prominence as Secretary of State that he has attained as Mayor of Boston when his name has been almost constantly before the people in this section of Massachusetts.

The outcome of the battle which will be waged at the Democratic State Convention to be held at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst the second weekend in June will be of tremendous importance to both White and Donahue.

At this time it's impossible to anticipate how the primary fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor will shape up next August or even to forecast who the candidates will be.

This writer, incidentally, is not one who believes that a primary contest would be disastrous to Demohis coach. For him the umpire is the personification of law.

Perhaps, the greatest thrill of his young life comes on the day he is issued his first uniform. For him those flannels offer a garb more important than the most ceremonious vestments of royalty.

He becomes a sort of kingpin in his own home. Family vacation plans are cancelled if they conflict with the team's schedule. There'll be nights when he'll cry himself to sleep because he felt he messed a double play. There'll be nights when he'll drop off to sleep still savoring the thrill of a hit which helped win a game.

Maybe, in this era of change we are divesting ourselves of too many standards which bore the stamp of "good" in another day.

It's reassuring to know, however, that sports goods manufacturers generally are reporting a strong demand for baseball equipment for the Little Leagues.

LETTERS

Against State Aid

Editor, The Graphic:
Your editorial of April 2 suggests that the state provide funds for textbooks and salaries for parochial, and, I assume, other private schools. This assumes that Massachusetts has sufficient funds to do this and still do justice to its public school systems. In fact, many municipalities in Massachusetts are in terrible financial straits, and the property taxes used to support their schools are already stretched to the limit.

A recent hearing before the State Education Committee demonstrated the pressing need of the regional schools in the state for further state aid, and no day goes by without reports of the desperate conditions in some of the urban schools.

It must be noted that the state of Pennsylvania recently passed the kind of legislation you propose, followed by a cut in funds to schools in Philadelphia because of lack of money.

Surely the first responsibility of the state is toward its public school systems — to provide more adequate funding to meet current needs, as well as to give the resources necessary to absorb whatever pupils may become necessary.

Ideal Choice For MBTA Job Would Be Ex-Mayor Collins

The man the MBTA directors should try to get to run the complicated affairs of their transit system is former Mayor John F. Collins, probably the best administrator Boston ever placed in charge of its municipal affairs.

Ex-Mayor Collins would be the ideal choice for this job, which is principally one of management and of working with governmental agencies, not of manipulating transportation schedules.

There is no need of going to New York, Washington or Chicago to import an out-of-state transit expert. Indeed, that probably would be a great mistake.

Collins knows every important phase associated with running the MBTA which, admittedly, is a tremendous job.

He is one of the best administrators in the United States. He knows the area the MBTA serves. He knows first-hand the problems involved in providing that service. And he has a faculty for getting a dollar's value for each dollar expended.

Former Mayor Collins probably possesses more of the qualities needed for the job of MBTA general manager than anyone else who could be mentioned.

Whether he would accept the position is another matter. He likes his post at M.I.T. and would not be easily persuaded to give it up. From where we sit, however, he would be so ideal a choice for an extremely important job that the MBTA directors should make him an offer he couldn't turn down.

If they want a man who could run their far-flung transit system as efficiently as is possible, they don't need to look beyond John F. Collins. They'd be fortunate to get him.

Strange Aftermath To Dem. Conclave In New York State

If the Democratic picture in Massachusetts is blurred, the aftermath of the Democratic Convention in New York State was so confusing it must have had political observers talking to themselves.

Former UN Ambassador and Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg won the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention for Governor, then repudiated the endorsement and the convention system which provided it, said he waived all the benefits which would come from it and announced he will file a bill to abolish the convention and substitute an open primary.

Theodore Sorensen, one-time advisor to the late John F. Kennedy, easily gained the convention nod for U.S. Senator and had some of his delegates vote for Paul O'Dwyer so Dwyer would poll 25 per cent of the delegate vote, enabling him to get his name on the June 23 primary ballot as a candidate against Sorensen

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

The Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, April 12, asks the question, "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

Answers are given from the Bible in accounts of the way Jesus healed a mentally deranged boy and a man unable to walk for 38 years. His injunction, "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils," is in the Bible readings.

The unreality of sin, disease, and death is explained in one of the citations from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, which reads: "Since God is All, there is no room for His unlikeness. God, Spirit, alone created all, and called it good. Therefore evil, being contrary to good, is unreal, and cannot be the product of God."

The public is welcome to attend services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut St., Newtonville, starting at 10:45 a.m.

Miss Mary Richard Becomes Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman Jr.

At an 11 o'clock nuptial mass in the Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale, on Saturday, April 4th, Miss Mary Ellen Richard became bride of Orvil F. Hagaman Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Richard of 14 Staniford street, Auburndale, and Mr. and Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman of 22 Florence street, Newtonville, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. James P. Byrne, who was the celebrant, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception took place at Holiday Inn, Auburndale.

The bride wore a traditional white full length gown made of silk organza and Venice lace. The fitted bodice had long sleeves and the sheath skirt was enhanced with cathedral length train.

Her shoulder length illusion veil was fastened to a matching lace headpiece. She carried a bouquet of Eucharis lilies with stephanotis.

Miss Diane Murray of Brookline was maid of honor.

Following a honeymoon in Nassau, the Hagamans will make their home in Waltham. The bride was graduated from Our Lady's High School and Aquinas Junior College. Mr. Hagaman, who was graduated from Harvard College, class of 1960, is associated with the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company as assistant auditor. He is also treasurer of the Newton Jaycees.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

JANICE E. KAPLAN

Environmental concern and impending dangers was the basis for the Earth Day teach-in held yesterday, April 8, at Newton South.

The last two blocks of the school day were cancelled for the special Ecology Action programs. The purpose of the teach-in was to create an awareness of the mounting environmental problems.

Ecology and the Individual was the title of the Teach-In. The focus of the day were two panel discussions and a film program.

Dr. James MacKenzie of MIT and The Committee on Environmental Pollution was the speaker at the first program. A panel moderated by Mr. Wayne Altree discussed Dr. MacKenzie's concerns.

Speaking at the other panel was Dr. William Drury. He is the director of research for the Massachusetts Audubon Society as well as a member of President Nixon's Science Advisory Committee Panel on Environment.

Mr. William D. Geer Jr. moderated this panel discussion. The major issue revolved around what one can do to help save his environment.

A dump-in at the Newton South parking lot followed the programs. Cans, bottles, and newspapers were left in the area to show the staggering amount of solid waste left in dumps. Newspapers and cans were recycled to demonstrate that this can be effectively done.

The Ecology Action Committee at Newton South was responsible for Earth Day. Miss Carol Bershad, faculty advisor, originated the idea with Eric Schwam and John Dean. The committee presently includes about thirty-five active members.

Miss Bershad explained that "the most important thing is education and awareness of what is happening to our environment." Next constructive action will be taken in finding solutions to local problems and hopefully encompassing other areas. Too often it takes a crisis to make people act.

Miss Bershad noted: "The ecology committee can attract everyone - you don't have to be radical. It has become a matter of survival that cuts through all political and economic boundaries."

Speaking on the Teach-In Miss Bershad explained: "A lot is up to the consumer. There are things the individual can and must do." A list of this information is available. It ranges from not warming up your car too long to checking pesticides and reusing household products.

A great deal of action is taking place within the school. A campaign is starting to end the usage of high sulphur content fuels in public buildings.

Paul Groipien has been confronted with the problem of local education. Paul has been going to the elementary schools to bring an awareness to students of what they will soon have to face.

A pollution free locomotion day is being planned to take place soon. Students will get to school in any way except internal combustion engines.

The Ecology Action Committee is accumulating a library of information which will be available for borrowing. The committee is currently working without funds. Everyone involved in the Teach-In donated their time. Ecology buttons will be on sale shortly.

The biology courses taught at Newton South next year will have greater stress on ecology. In addition, a new ecology seminar is being offered. The Y block seminar will meet once a week.

The ecological problem is finally being faced at Newton South High. Much time and effort are going into creating a student awareness which can be transformed into constructive actions.

Miss Bershad commented: "General attitude really has to change. You have to think how your life styles affects the environment. It might be easy to just throw things away, but everything has to go somewhere."

The Newton South Union has been accepted as the new form of student government. The student body approved the Union by a vote of 828 in favor to 304 opposed on April 1. This is approximately seventy three per cent for and twenty seven against the Union. Elections for new officers will take place April 15.

The student body vote came after several months of discussion on the Union. The Union was presented as an amendment to the current Student Activities Council constitution.

The Union replaces other forms of student government including the SAC.

Louis Miller, president of the SAC has endorsed the Union since it was first proposed. He urges seniors not to seek office as it will be the sophomores and juniors who will really have to make the Union work.

The sophomore class committee has planned a visit to a mental hospital. All sophomores are welcome to come and help clean and paint the hospital. Further details will be announced shortly.

Bye Bye Birdie, a Theatre Arts production, will be presented tomorrow night, April 10. The performance will be held one night only. The curtain goes up at eight o'clock.

Anita Louise Seeks Role In 'Love Machine'

By VERNON SCOTT

It doesn't make sense for a wealthy, happily married blonde beauty to choose to arise at 5 a.m. unless a Panzer division is rumbling toward Bel-Air at that ungodly hour.

Then, of course, she could be an actress.

This actress is Anita Louise, who began acting at age five to support her mother. Now the only need is to fulfill her love of performing.

To that end Anita played guest star roles in "Mannix" and "Mod Squad." In both instances she arose at 5 to report to the studio for make-up at 6:30 a.m.

She plays to type in both television shows - rich and aristocratic.

"I've never played a role against my appearance," she said "and I don't see much point in it. I don't think it would be believable casting."

"I've made more than 70 movies and I've always played a lady. Sometimes a very unpleasant one, but still a woman of breeding."

Even in her only television series, "My Friend Flicka," Anita portrayed a ranch wife with a feminine elan that gave high fashion to her simple wardrobe.

"I wouldn't be adverse to doing another series," she said, "but I'd like to see studio hours changed, say, from noon until 8 p.m. No female looks her best first thing in the morning."

"Because I worked with a boy in my first series, we could film him only during certain hours. So they saved my close-ups until the end of the day when my make-up was not fresh and my hairdo a little wilted."

"An actress must be aware of those things."

Anita isn't content, since her return from New York, to restrict her activities to being Hollywood's leading hostess and television guest shots. She also is eyeing movies.

"I'm campaigning for a role in a picture," she said, smiling, "something I've never done before."

"I'm determined to play the role of Judith in 'The Love Machine.' She's the wife of a network executive and an absolutely marvelous part."

In private life Anita, slender and witty, is the wife of Henry Berger, who moved to Hollywood from Manhattan to establish a movie production company. "I don't think Henry would mind if I found another series or worked regularly in movies," she said. "But not for our own company."

"It would be a mistake working for an organization in which I was a stockholder or official."

25 Mile Walk For Hunger Set Sunday Morning

A group of Newton residents are organizing a Walk for the Hungry 1970 to start at the Newton Centre Green this Sunday (April 12). Registration for the 25-mile hike will begin at 7:45 a.m., rain or shine.

The group has a two-fold purpose for the Walk:

"(1) To enhance public awareness of the existence of the concern for the problem of human hunger and malnutrition.

"And (2) to raise money to help fight the problem of hunger both within the United States and abroad. The projects we are supporting include self-help programs in India, Kenya, and on Indian reservations."

Anyone desiring of help or walk may call Marly Richmond at 244-6618. Rusty Phillips at 244-0195 or Lynne Greene at 969-6626.

Sr. Margretta Flanagan OSF, senior of 790 Centre st., Newton, and Janet A. Valente, Junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Valente of 320 Cherry st., W. Newton, were among the honored guests in the Haley Lounge of Cardinal Cushing College in Brookline at a recognition tea given honor students for the first semester there.

Young Local Musicians To Play In Concert April 19

Thirteen talented instrumentalists from the Newton area are Senior members of The Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra which will perform at the special GYBSO Benefit Concert at Symphony Hall on Sunday, April 19, at 3 p.m.

This is a fine opportunity for interested instrumentalists who will enter Grade 7-12 next September, to hear both the Junior and Senior orchestras. Tickets are available from the Symphony Hall Box Office.

Auditions for GYBSO membership for the 1970/71 school year will take place at Boston University on May 9 and 16, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Interested students require recommendations from their school's music director, from whom they can receive application forms and lists of required audition solo pieces.

The GYBSO organization runs two full symphony orchestras. The Senior orchestra is conducted by Walter Eisenberg, and plays a demanding repertoire of classical music, including the avant-garde, giving concerts in schools, in Symphony Hall, and last season in Switzerland.

This August, the 1969/70 Orchestra will travel to Israel to perform in Jerusalem, Caesarea, and Tel Aviv, sharing the program of the Israel Festival of Music and Drama with such notable artists as Pablo Casals, Isaac Stern, Zubin Mehta, Maureen Forrester, and the Juilliard String Quartet.

The Junior orchestra, conducted by Robert O. Corley, studies less difficult symphonic works, emphasizing the techniques of ensemble playing, and gives concerts in schools and concert halls in the Greater Boston area.

Applicants who audition successfully are assigned to a particular orchestra at the discretion of the Director. All are eligible to attend the GYBSO music camp in Maine for two weeks at the end of August.

Rehearsals are held September through May every Saturday morning, from 9 a.m. to noon, at Boston University, with optional chamber music sessions in the afternoon. The orchestras are often heard on radio and television.

Further information can be obtained from the GYBSO Office, 353-3348.

At the April 19th Benefit

Concert, the Senior group will play music by Brahms, Vivaldi, Shostakovich, Faure and Tchaikowski. The Junior Orchestra will perform works by Donizetti, Gluck, Rossini and Giannini.

Family Planning With Spray Gun

Animal science has developed an aerosol spray with the scent of boar to determine whether sows are in the mood for artificial insemination, according to the annual report of the Meat and Livestock Commission. The spray is squirted in the sow's face and her reaction tells farmers if artificial mating is worthwhile, the Commission said.

To Open In Fall At Temple

A new branch of the Brookline - Brighton Newton Jewish Community Center Nursery School will be opened in September of this year at Temple Beth Avodah, located on Puddingstone Lane in Newton.

The new branch will reflect the same educational policies and philosophies as the BBN Center Nursery School program which is designed to provide an educational experience that will enhance the give and take of group experiences and to strengthen a feeling of Jewish identification through Sabbath and holiday observances.

Under the guidance of trained nursery staff, the program is geared to meet the individual needs of each child.

The child is given an opportunity to express himself creatively, to develop ideas on his own, to accept routines and to gain an awareness of the world around him.

Mrs. Morton Nathan, director of the BBN Nursery School will supervise the Temple Beth Avodah program. Staff and equipment will be supplied by the BBN Center.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Nathan at RE 4-0800.

The Brookline - Brighton - Newton Jewish Community Center is an affiliate of the Associated Jewish Community Centers, a constituent agency of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

2 Week-end Showings Of "Harvey" At Auburndale

Stage veteran Peggy Bailey, of 53 Kingswood Road, Auburndale, is directing the Auburndale Players' production of "Harvey," scheduled for four performances, Friday and Saturday, April 10, 11 and 17, 18, at 8:30 p.m. at the Auburndale Club, 283 Melrose Street, Auburndale.

This is Peggy's third assignment of this kind with the Players, having previously directed "Ready When You Are, C.B." in 1968, and of its summer school for two summers and last fall became Assistant Headmaster of Stowe Preparatory School, Stowe, Vt.

"Barefoot In The Park" the following year.

Peggy did summer stock in Maine for seven years prior to coming to Massachusetts. The first Auburndale production in which she was involved was, coincidentally, "Harvey" in 1952, for which she served as set decorator. She's been the winner of seven "AUBURY" awards for her work with the Players. (That's the Auburndale equivalent of Broadway's "TONY.") In this production of "Harvey," she will be directing her husband, "D.J." who plays Elwood P. Dowd.

Key Democrats In State At Theatre Party Held in City

The Theatre Party held recently at Brandeis University by the Newton City Democratic City Committee provided an opportunity for local voters to meet one of the largest collection of Democratic office holders ever assembled in Newton.

After the play, Henry IV, starring Morris Carnovsky, the Democrats walked to the Rose Arts Museum where amid a display of modern graphic art and sculpture, they met their guests.

Three of the four candidates for governor were there, former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, Senate President Maurice Donahue, and Kevin White, Mayor of Boston.

Also attending were State Senator Beryl W. Cohen and State Representative Michael S. Dukakis, who are candidates for lieutenant governor.

Two candidates for U.S. Representative, State Representative, Charles O'Hanlon and Father Robert Drinan, S.J. attended.

Elected officials included Secretary of the Commonwealth John F. X. Davoren, Attorney General Robert H. Quinn, Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, Auditor Thaddeus

Buczek, Governor's Councilor Herbert L. Connolly, Speaker of the House, David M. Bartley, State Representatives Irving Fishman, Paul F. Malloy, and H. James Shea, Jr., and Former State Representative Joseph Bradley.

Party officials present included State Chairman David Harrison, State Committeeman Sanford Kowall, State Committeewoman Betty Taylor and Jean LeCompte, Chairman Robert K. Kraft, Vice Chairman Gordon Martin, and Harold Band, Treasurer Joseph Vacarro, and Secretaries Ethel Sheehan and Dorothy Sullivan, all of the City Committee.

Newton officials attending included ten Board of Aldermen, Richard J. Bullwinkle, William Carmen, Eliot K. Cohen, Thomas B. Concannon, Jr., Harry H. Crosby, Peter F. Harrington, Matthew Jefferson, Andrew J. Magni, Joseph M. McDonnell, and Sidney T. Small. School Committeemen Elinor Rosenblum and Herbert Regal also were present.

Others included Kay Stein and Arthur Obermayer, co-chairmen of the Newton Coalition for New Politics, and Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Korman, Dr. and Mrs. Leo Parnes, who are active in the Americans for Democratic Action.

At the reception Mr. Kraft thanked Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Ansin, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hiatt, Mr. Martin Kaplan, Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Kaplan, Mr.

Edward Kerzner, Mr. William Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Piser, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Teplitz, and Mr. and Mrs. David Weltman, for their support as patrons.

Their contributions brought to fifty the list of those who made major contributions for the support of the party. All others have previously been publicly announced.

Besides the elected officials and party officers, almost every one of the 260 members of the City Committee were in attendance, many of them having held house parties before the event.

City Chairman Robert Kraft has announced that the party will be held next year on Friday or Saturday to permit more time for the dinner parties which were a feature of this year's activity.

Co-chairmen William Carmen and Harry H. Crosby have expressed their appreciation to Ticket Chairman Gene Blumenreich and Ward Seven Chairman Ralph Zani, whose ward committee led in ticket sales.

Blind Woman Overcomes Triple Handicap

The Nixon Administration hopes to stimulate home building through a reverse "pump priming" strategy calling for the government to begin to pay off the national debt by spending less each year than it takes in.

The plan challenges many of the assumptions of political economics of the last 35 years and may face tough going in Congress where most lawmakers are reluctant to raise taxes without having programs to show for it.

The theory works like this: — If the government were to begin to repay the $278.5 billion it owes to private individuals, the action would free money for private investment.

— With more money available for investment, additional funds could be expected to go into housing.

— The laws of supply and demand would force down interest rates.

If the plan works, it would solve two of the most serious problems facing the depressed home building industry — high interest rates and a shortage of money at any price.

But Paul McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said the plan requires a larger federal surplus than the $13 billion the administration estimates for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

To generate a larger surplus in future fiscal years, the government must be strict spending or raise taxes. Either action is expected to be politically unpopular.

McCracken was asked if he believed the plan would win acceptance.

"I am a professor, not a politician," he said. "I think there is absolutely no chance at all until we begin to articulate the argument for it. The importance of a surplus doesn't derive from some musty canon of sound finance. It derives from the basic economic forces."

New budget idea
Ever since President Franklin D. Roosevelt used "pump-priming" government spending to help get the nation out of the depression of the 30s, the government budgets have been tailored more or less to current economic conditions. The theory was that the budget should be in surplus in times of inflation and in deficit in times of recession to help even up the economy.

But the Nixon administration is the first in many years to suggest the budget be kept in surplus year after year as an economic strategy.

Whether the budget can be kept in the black remains to be seen. The 1968-69 fiscal year ended with a $3.2 billion surplus. The surplus for the current fiscal year is now estimated at $1.5 billion, down from an earlier estimate of $5.9 billion. And the projected surplus for the 1970-71 year is just $1.3 billion.

Nixon decided to attempt to stimulate home building indirectly instead of pumping more federal money into direct housing subsidies.

"Personal freedom will be increased when there is more economy in government and less government in economy," he said in his annual economic message to Congress. "Economic domination, like any other domination, is dangerous to a free society, no matter how benevolent its aims. Freedom depends on our recognizing the line between domination and influence, between control and guidance."

Drugs, Burglary Charges Against Boston Resident

A 23-year-old Boston man was held for the grand jury after being arraigned in Newton District Court on charges of burglary and possession of heroin.

Bail for John F. Campbell was set at $20,000 at his arraignment April 1.

A charge of using a motor vehicle without authority was dismissed at the request of Police Capt. John N. McMullen, the prosecutor.

Police arrested Campbell Feb. 21 after being notified by a Newton man that there were noises coming from a vacant house next door. Police found a window on the back door had been smashed and entry had been made to the hall and cellar.

Later, a car was spotted around the corner at 130 Waban street, and Campbell was arrested near the house, police said.

They said a window at 130 Waban street was found open and a table stood under it.

Police said they found jewelry and a hypodermic syringe in the car and that Campbell had a small quantity of heroin in his possession.

Poetic Drama To Be Given Friday

"The Son of Man?" an original poetic drama by Richard D. Waters, will be performed in the sanctuary of the Newtonville United Methodist Church on Friday evening, April 10, at 8 p.m. by the Fisherman's Players, a professional theatre company on Cape Cod.

In this Dramatic Sermon, Richard D. Waters has Christ returned to confront a church guilty of apostasy. The question is how many churches and churchmen will see their faces and their church and their sins in the encounter. Mr. Waters dares to make the apostolic demands upon the church and upon those who would bear the name Christian.

The Fisherman's Players will present this most unusual and powerful drama in this community for one night only. They extend the invitation to all those people who would march to a different drummer, to come and experience the Christ who during his first appearance on earth was received first by the outcasts of His time.

Proceeds will go to the Newton Community Development Foundation, a private organization formed by the churches and temples of Newton to provide significant quantities of low and moderate income housing in Newton.

Aldermen Send School Parking Lot Fund Request To Fin. Com.

A request for a $20,000 appropriation to build a parking area at Newton High School for personnel was sent back for further study to its Finance Committee by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night.

The Aldermanic Finance Committee had recommended by a 4 to 1 vote a denial of the request for funds. The Public Buildings Committee which was also studying the matter had held the item for further consideration.

Members of the Board who spoke on the issue Monday night appeared to regard the request with disfavor. Alderman Louis I. Egelson expressed the opinion that the money could come from the $550,000 allotted for site development in the recently approved $3 million supplemental high school bond issue.

Alderman Robert Tennant said he was under the impression that the School Department was going to slice $1 million from the landscaping plans for the new high school in order to meet the $1 million cut from the requested bond issue by the aldermen last week.

"If they can cut $1 million from landscaping, they can find $20,000 for a parking lot," Tennant maintained.

Alderman Richard Bullwinkle declared that the Board had recently received a $21 million plus school operating budget and also recently approved a total of $18.4 million for a new high school. "This should go into one of these accounts," Bullwinkle said.

Election-

An amendment to the resolution offered by Alderman Ernest Dietz was returned to the Legislation and Rules Committee for further study.

This amendment declared that if the legislature does not act on the request for special legislation by June 1, the President of the Board of Aldermen Wendell R. Bauckman would appoint a committee in the traditional manner to interview candidates and recommend nominees for the consideration of the board to fill the vacancy.

Defeated by the board was an amendment to the resolution proposed by Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell asking that the special elections to fill any vacancies either for ward alderman or alderman-at-large be held within the ward. McDonnell maintained that this procedure would save time and money.

In giving the report of the Legislation and Rules Committee which recommended approval of the resolution calling for a special election, Chairman Elliot K. Cohen estimated that each such election would cost $18,750. For this reason permission to hold the election at the same time as the regular election was added to the proposal to be presented to the legislature.

Opposing the resolution were Aldermen Edward Uehlein, Harry Walen, Adelaide Ball and President Wendell R. Bauckman.

Bauckman declared that the problem is simple. There is a vacancy on the Board. The charter specifies the manner by which such vacancies should be filled. The Charter Commission is currently studying the matter of whether this method should be revised and they will shortly make recommendations which will go before the voters next year.

"In the meantime let us fill the vacancy and get on with our business. Let's find a good man and bring him in. More than one nomination can be brought in by the committee that would be appointed to make recommendations and nominations could also be made from the floor of the Board of Aldermen," Bauckman asserted.

Nonantum. Gifford sought to erect five attached dwellings on the site.

Finance Committee Chairman Edward C. Uehlein said his Committee turned down the offer for the land because the city might have some future use for the site and until that determination is made the committee felt the land should not be sold.

The Finance Committee held for further study offers by Gifford for additional portions of the Victory Field land.

Gifford offered $34,613 for 46,150 square feet with permissive use for 18 attached dwellings; $46,150 for part of the site with permissive use for 24 garden apartments and $57,688 for a parcel with permissive use for 30 garden apartments.

Local Profs Play Key Role in New Babson College

Three Newton residents, all professors at Babson College are key figures in an intensive 15-week, double-session institute for Nursing Home Administrators, which began March 2 at Babson.

They are James A. Boudreau of 503 Walnut street, Newtonville; Edgar T. Canty, Jr. of 808 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Center; and George F. Koller of 19 Richardson road, Newton.

The course is the third sponsored by the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes and the Massachusetts Health Facilities Foundation for Education and Research.

Mr. Boudreau, director of the Babson Library, was formerly director of the Bentley College Library for ten years and before that was associated with Simmons and Stonehill Colleges. He is a guest lecturer at Simmons.

Mr. Canty, director of Academic Computer Services, went to Babson from RCA Aerospace Division, where he was a senior member of the technical staff. Prior to that he was an IBM staff statistician at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and has taught at Purdue and Northeastern.

Mr. Koller was president of Koller Associates, Inc., before going to Babson and has been officer in charge of training at Watertown Arsenal and instructor at the IBM Lincoln Laboratories. He has also been an engineer for Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. and Shell Oil Co.

95th Birthday Coming For Church

The Newton Centre United Methodist Church will celebrate its 95th anniversary Sunday, May 17.

The congregation plans to join with community friends and former ministers in a worship service at 10:45 a.m. followed by a social gathering in the church parlor that will include a catered buffet.

Assistance will be welcomed from members and friends. A 95th Anniversary Fund has been established with Norman E. Ferguson as treasurer.

Members of the general committee are Mrs. Denton G. Nutter, chairman; The Rev. Seaton M. Woodley Jr., co-chairman, and Mrs. Seaton M. Woodley Jr., Miss Gail Tempelmyr, Miss Beth Henderson, Alan Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Ferguson, Mrs. Byrl Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pope, and Mrs. Ralph Emery.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renker, Albert Tempelmyr, Mrs. Peter MacKintosh, Alton Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Albert MacMillan, Miss Katherine Bacon, Miss Ruth Burns, Gordon Case, Mrs. George Harlan, Mrs. Mable L. Hallas, Mrs. Harold A. Bailey and Mrs. Roy Robinson.

Representation For D.C. Folks Women Voters' Aim

The League of Women Voters of Newton will participate in a nationwide drive to win congressional representation for the 800,000 residents of Washington, D.C.

The first step in the drive will be the collection of petition signatures calling for a constitutional amendment granting a congressional voice to Washington, D.C. residents. The petitions, to be collected from all over the country, will be formally presented to Congress during the League of Women Voters National Convention in Washington, D.C., May 4-8.

The fact that the 800,000 people who live in our nation's capital have no one to represent them in the Congress of the United States is a basic injustice which must and can be righted. Since Washington, D.C., is actually governed by the Congress, the lack of representation is a serious curtailment of an individual's right to participate in the affairs of government. Without elected spokesmen in Congress, residents of the District of Columbia have no one to represent their views on issues of national or foreign policy. In addition, Congress sets both federal and local taxes which D.C. residents must pay.

Two slogans, "Washington, D.C., The Last Colony" and

"Taxation Without Representation Is Wrong" will be used to highlight the lack of congressional voice or vote for District residents. The League of Women Voters of Newton will gather petition signatures April 16, 17 and 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Star Market, Newtonville and A&P, Newton Four Corners.

The drive to secure congressional representation for the District of Columbia is an important part of League of Women Voters activities during its 50th Anniversary year. The League has designated 1970 as The Year of the Voter and, in addition to the D.C. petition drive, will be placing emphasis on the importance of the franchise for all Americans.

Representation in Congress for the District of Columbia will require the passage of a constitutional amendment by a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the states.

Among the members of the League of Women Voters of Newton planning to help collect signatures at the Star Market are Mrs. Robert G. Barris, Mrs. Eugene Bronstein, Mrs. William A. Curby, Mrs. A. DerMarderosian, Mrs. David S. Dwyer, Mrs. Luis Fernandez, Mrs. Douglas E. Moran, Mrs. Jay Orlin, Mrs. Charles E. Pfund, Mrs. Lawrence G. Rubin, and Mrs. Thomas E. Wolf.

Mrs. Joseph A. Alexander, Mrs. Asgier Asgierson, Mrs. Samuel Beaser, Mrs. Julius Feldman, Mrs. Richard Goldman, Mrs. Donald S. Harry, Mrs. Leslie T. Little, Mrs. A. Arthur Lowenthal, and Mrs. Robert Worsey will be among those participating at the A&P.

Also collecting signatures will be Mrs. Joseph Apfelbaum, Mrs. Robert T. Capless, Mrs. David W. Jackson, Mrs. Arthur Johannsmeyer, Mrs. John D. Montgomery, Mrs. Robert L. Pyles, and Mrs. Robert H. Rediker. Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Edward Morrison, 527-5645.

Social Security Information

Medicare Beneficiaries

Medicare beneficiaries who had doctor bills in the last three months of 1969 that counted toward their $50 deductible may now count these same bills toward their deductible for this year, according to Gerald Silver, Social Security manager in Rosindale.

"If you did not have $50 worth of covered services under medical insurance before October 1, 1969," Silver told Medicare beneficiaries, "the doctor bills you had in October, November and December before meeting your $50 deductible for 1969 can also count toward your 1970 deductible."

Under the medical insurance part of Medicare, Silver explained, a beneficiary is responsible for the first $50 in a calendar year for covered services before Medicare starts paying 80 per cent of the rest of the bills. Beneficiaries should have their doctor bills and other bills for services covered by medical insurance until they reach $50.

A special rule applies for persons who do not have $50 worth of covered expenses in a year, or whose covered expenses do not reach $50 until the last three months of the year. In both situations, Silver said, any bills you had in the last three months of the year that counted toward part or all of your $50 deductible may be counted again for the next year's deductible.

"It is particularly important, then, for beneficiaries who received no payment under medical insurance in 1969 because they didn't meet their $50 deductible to save their bills for October, November, and December," Silver stressed. "If you have bills to show for the last three months, you may not have to pay all of the $50 deductible for this year."

Massachusetts firms are leaders in the development of fiber optics, a new technology enabling man to see into heretofore inaccessible areas such as the human heart, the inside of a missile fuel tank, or the engine of an aircraft in flight. Fiber optics involves the spinning of glass into tiny strands so small that it takes six million strands to make a bundle only one-half inch in diameter.

Oceanography Course Set At Murray School

Reaching out to understand the natural phenomena of the sea has opened new horizons for six students in the Murray Road oceanography course.

Dr. Ira Dyer, professor of a acoustic oceanographic at M.I.T., has designed an oceanography program for the high school level for work with the Murray Road students.

It is such a challenge to design an oceanography curriculum on even the undergraduate college level that only one institution, Miami Atlantic University, has done so. The difficulty in planning such a curriculum is that oceanography has deep roots in physics, chemistry and biology, and few students have such a background.

Dr. Dyer's students agree that his class has stimulated deeper interests in the beautiful complex and often violent phenomena of the sea.

The 2 - hour - a - week course covers oceanic wave structure, the dynamics of continental plate movement, current flow patterns and corals, sediments, ocean composition and terrain, and aspects of marine biology. Dr. Dyer has invited all of his students to spend a day on his boat during this summer so they can conduct experiments they have designed in the course.

Other schools have discussed with Dr. Dyer the feasibility of high school oceanography. His Murray Road experience makes him say yes. Murray Road oceanography will continue through this semester in evening sessions at Dr. Dyer's home.

- Greenblatt, the Newton Mental Health Association, the Newton PTA Council and other local organizations and individuals but has also met with opposition from a sizeable group of neighbors in the area of the proposed location. One a butler, Louis D. Aronson of 47 Nobscot rd., Newton Center, sent a letter to Mayor Monte G. Basbas stating that the "opposition will include court action if necessary."
- Aronson maintained that he is not opposed to Freeport but to any use of the building that would change the character of the single family neighborhood. "Freeport has noble goals which will benefit the community, but I want to keep my neighborhood as it was when I bought my house," Aronson declared.
- Aronson's letter argued that the houses in the area "have fair market values anywhere from $50,000 to $150,000," and his letter suggested Freeport locate its house in a less expensive section of Newton.
- Officers of Freeport responded by saying "the over 200 Newton residents dedicated to bringing Freeport into being are every bit as concerned about maintaining the character of the neighborhood as the neighbors are. Surely we have no intention of accepting more students than either the house, the house parents, the students themselves, the neighborhood, or the professional consultants feel can be comfortably handled within the concept of a family, albeit a large one."
- With reference to the "extensive neighborhood," Freeport's letter said: "Family and youth problems cut across all economic strata, and the benefits of Freeport will, therefore, extend equally to children from all parts of the city."
- The Freeport Foundation's plans call for a home to accommodate a small group of students from troubled home environment who wish to live in the house and who have received their parents' consent. A few young people from more stable environments would also live there.
- In addition, the students would be referred by the guidance counseling staff of the Newton High Schools and or by the Newton Mental Health Center or by a private therapist. They must also be adjudged by the group's consulting psychologist to be able to benefit from the experience.
- The house would be staffed by a house couple and also would have the services of a consultant psychologist.

Late Spring Bridal Planned by Miss Leahy-Mr. Mahar

Lt. Col. John T. Leahy, USA (ret.) and Mrs. Leahy of Chestnut Hill have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Sharon Leahy, to Robert L. Mahar. He is the son of Mrs. William J. Mahar of West Hampton, Long Island, N.Y. and the late Mr. Mahar.

Miss Leahy attended the College of the Sacred Heart, the bride-elect did graduate work at Boston College. She is a research statistician at William E. Hill and Company, New York City.

Mr. Mahar is a graduate of Manhattan College and New York University Law School, where he received his LL.M. degree in international law. He is now a partner in the admiralty law firm of Theodore F. Turner, New York City, and is a member of the West Hampton Country Club and the Down Town Athletic Club.

A late spring wedding is planned.

Women's Union Has Reception

A President's Reception was held at the Women's Educational and Industrial Union in Boston recently in honor of Miss Dorothy B. Secomb, the Union's new president.

Among the trustees and officers, many of whom braved the inclement weather to attend the affair, are Mrs. Rondall W. Rutherford, Newton Centre; Mrs. Thomas H. P. Whitney of Chestnut Hill; and the immediate past president Mrs. Frank M. Sawtell of Chestnut Hill who also has been elected President Emerita.

Young Women CJP's Final Campaign Event on Sunday

Mrs. Robert (Myra) Krafting, Co-chairman for this fund-raising campaign for the Mrs. I. Lewis Glazier (Renee) Young Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies for the year.

To date, two of the three major functions have been completed - the first an Advanced Gifts Luncheon held at the Chestnut Hill home of Mrs. N. Ronald Siberstein in conjunction with the 75th anniversary of the Greater Boston Combined Jewish Philanthropies, and the annual Telethon in mid-March.

The third and final campaign function this year is planned for this Sunday morning (April 12) at the Chestnut Hill Country Club. More than 300 people will assemble to enjoy music, flowing champagne and a traditional brunch in a spring garden set.

Committee chairmen for the Brunch are as follows: Brunch Co-chairmen: Mrs. I. Lewis Glazier, Mrs. Ronald Kaplan. Hostess Reservations: Mrs. Robert Krafting, Mrs. Peter Gens, Mrs. Milton Lewinger and Mrs. Martin Stockman.

Door Prizes Chairmen: Mrs. Richard Rubin, Mrs. Arthur Wolfson. Hospitality and Seating Arrangements Chairmen: Mrs. Louis Aronson, Mrs. Frederic Scharf.

Music Arrangement Chairmen: Mrs. Donald Weiss. Publicity Chairmen: Mrs. Edward Kopelman, Mrs. Milton Lewinger.

Special Guests Hospitality and Menu Chairmen: Mrs. Robert Krafting. Secretaries: Mrs. James Glassman and Mrs. Richard Phillips.

Standing six-foot one-inch tall and weighing 190 pounds, Michael Gleason looks exactly what he is - a sergeant major in the U.S. Marine Corps.

To see the 45-year-old man who's been in the Marines 27 1/2 years gently handling a baby's doll and smiling at the Vietnamese woman who stands barely as high as the Marine Corps tattoo on his left arm, is somewhat unreal.

But then for a Leatherneck in his third shooting war, Sgt. Maj. Gleason of Joliet, Ill., is unusual.

"Sgt. Maj. Mike" as he's known to thousands of Vietnamese in the northern provinces of South Vietnam is the field man for an organization known as Operation HOPE (help other people everywhere).

The operation based in St. Paul has an estimated 10,000 members in Minnesota and claims organized efforts in another 25 states. Its members work to keep people like Mike supplied with packages for distribution to the needy.

Gleason, sitting in his office at the 5th Communications Battalion on the shore of the South China Sea, fiddles with a plastic Humpty Dumpty and says he gets about 50,000 pounds of material a month from back home.

"You shouldn't be talking to me," he says. "It's those people so many laugh at as the little old women who are doing the work, making things, buying them, packaging them and mailing all at their own expense."

The sergeant major, who admits that all his life he's wanted to be a 30-year man in the Marines, tied in with Operation HOPE when he served with the Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment of St. Paul in 1966 after his first tour of duty in South Vietnam.

He made 396 speeches up and down the state, "Telling those who wanted to listen what they could do to help give the Vietnamese a chance to live a better life."

"When I got back the United States and Africa."

Selassie was asked what he would suggest now that the U.N. measures to end the South African apartheid policy and to curb the white minority government in Rhodesia have failed.

"The apartheid government of South Africa and the racist white minority regime of Rhodesia have not yet realized the nature of the willard determination of the African people," he said. "Yet, whether they do or not, the truth is that Africans will always continue to gain force both from within and from outside."

"We, therefore, believe that the time has come for both South Africa and Rhodesia to heed the Lusaka Manifesto, if reason is to prevail, lest they invite more disastrous consequences."

The Ousaka Manifesto was adopted in Zambia by the Roganization of African United in September.

Selassie said what he and other African leaders told Secretary of State William P. Rogers on Rogers' tour of Africa "will have useful results in promoting even stronger and friendlier relations between the United States and Africa."

Pretty Home Ceremony Unites Miss Seder-Mr. deRivera

The marriage of Miss Diane Leslie Seder to Miguel Lopez deRivera took place recently at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Seder of Waban.

Rabbi Philip Kieval of Jeffrey Devore of New York Temple Reyim, Newton City. Ushering were David M. Seder and James B. Seder, afternoon double ring service, both of Waban and brothers of A reception took place after the ceremony.

Mr. Seder gave his daughter away. Her white peau de sole dress was trimmed with lace. A becoming headpiece held in place her illusion veil. She carried her mother's Bible with a bouquet of spring flowers.

Miss Lauren Amy Seder of Waban was her sisters' honor maid, while Miss Melanie York City, was graduated from Cooper Union College in the other attendant. Serving as best man was artist.

Temple Reyim Setting For Meyer-Cogan Wedding

Miss Barbara Jo Cogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice W. Cogan of 121 Deborah road, Newton Centre, and James M. Meyer, son of Mrs. William Meyer of Great Neck, N.Y., were married recently at Temple Reyim.

Rabbi Philip Kieval officiated at the 12:30 o'clock single ring service. A reception followed at the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the brides' A-line English net gown was fashioned with a mandarin neckline and marked with jeweled re-embroidered appliques.

Her full length illusion veil, marked with similar lace appliques, was fastened with a becoming headpiece and she carried traditional flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer left for a honeymoon in Mexico. They plan to make their home at Forest Hills, Long Island, N.Y.

The bride and groom were both graduated from the University of Pennsylvania.

Jane Roberts And Mark Alpert Become Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Irving B. Roberts of Newton announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Jane Ellen Roberts, to Mark Davis Alpert. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. Robert Alpert of Newton.

Miss Roberts was graduated from Newton High School and is now a member of the class of 1970 at Skidmore College.

Mr. Alpert, a graduate of Newton High School, is a senior at Tufts University. He expects to attend Columbia Law School in the fall.

An August 2 wedding is planned.

MRS. JOSEPH L. BALZARINI

Miss Barbara Ann Swain Is Bride Of Joseph Balzarini

St. Susanna's Church, Dedham, was the setting for the recent wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Swain of 65 Stivaletta drive, Dedham, to Mr. Joseph Louis Balzarini of 58 Vogel street, West Roxbury.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Swain of Dedham and Marshfield. Mr. Balzarini is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Balzarini of West Roxbury.

Rev. John M. Toomey officiated at the three o'clock, double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass which followed.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Vido DeFelice, Jr., the bride wore a formal gown of dulcette satin. Pearl and crystal beaded peau d'ange lace trimmed the Victorian empire bodice and long tapered sleeves, and a deep border of the same type lace scalloped the hemline of the slim A-line skirt and separate chapel length train.

Her full veil of imported silk illusion was held by a Flemish cap of matching satin with beaded lace. She carried a Colonial pouff of white roses and traditional stephanotis accented with lace and seed pearls.

Mrs. Richard Balzarini of Dedham, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. She wore a moss green velvet empire jumper with a cream colored long-sleeved crepe blouse.

For their honeymoon trip, the newlyweds motored to Washington, D.C., and Florida. The bride's traveling costume was a navy and white knit dress and coat ensemble with navy accessories. Their future residence will be in Gulfport, Miss., where Mr. Balzarini is now serving with the United States Seabees.

The bride is a graduate of Dedham High School, Class of 1967, and also attended Carnegie Institute. She was employed by Hersey - Sparling in Dedham prior to her marriage.

Mr. Balzarini is a graduate of Roslindale High School, Class of 1965, and of Wentworth Institute. He was employed by Vappi Construction Company before entering the service.

Beauty Care Today

By Norman of RONALD COIFFEURS

Can undefined features and pale hair, pale complexion and pale eyes be accentuated?

Some women can define their features by combing the hair away from the face. For example, bangs can be pulled up and off the forehead. This can give more than width at the temples and expose more of the face. Its shape becomes more apparent.

It also makes the neck seem longer by increasing the distance between the hair line and collar bone.

For the pale complexion, a color-giving base, highlights and shading, and a rosy gleam on the cheeks are suggested.

False eyelashes and A-to-Z make-up emphasize the pale eyes. Brown brow pencil is best for blondes.

To fight chapped lips, a pale-skin problem, the use of lip gloss several times a day is recommended.

Come to a free Mini-Lesson We want to show you what a speed reading course is like

We want to show you how the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Course increases your reading speed. And we think the best way to do this is to give you a free sample of our product.

When you come to the Mini-Lesson, we'll increase your reading speed right on the spot.

This isn't much of a claim for us. Our average graduates read 47 times faster than when they started.

The Mini-Lesson will show you that we go further than just increasing your reading speed.

We show you how to remember more of what you've read. You'll see a documentary film showing a Wilmington High School class reading books at several thousand words per minute, or you will see members of a group of 64 college professors who increased their reading efficiency more than five times.

The Mini-Lessons will show you that speed reading isn't limited to novels. We'll show you the techniques for speed-reading magazines, newspapers, text books and technical data.

Then we'll devote time to questions and answers. We can say with experience: the Mini-Lesson will be one hour of your time that will lead to saving you hours a day.

Girl Scouts In Luncheon Event To Mark 'Week'

The Westdale Neighborhood of Bay Path Colonial Girl Scouts in Newton recently met at Winslow Hall, Lasell Jr. College, for a pot luck luncheon celebrating Girl Scout Week.

The theme for the annual observance was world friendship. Mrs. David Kendall spoke on the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund and its relationship to the girls. Mrs. Kendall will be going to Brazil with ten Senior Scouts from across the country this summer. The trip will be sponsored by the Fund. Each troop presented donations to the Fund.

Junior Troop No. 614 and Brownie Troop No. 804 were awarded the Neighborhood's new World Association flag to hold for a period of six months. These two troops donated the most money per girl in support of the Fund.

A special poem was read by Debbie Gart — land, as representatives from each troop pinned artificial carnation corsages on their leaders as a thank you for the time they devote to Scouting.

A program of entertainment was provided by the following troops: Troop No. 1014, Mrs. Susanna Peyser, Leader — a pantomime; Troop No. 607, Mrs. Robert Bartley — songs; Troop No. 614, Mrs. Harold Mahon — dance; Troop No. 620, Mrs. Wolfhard Kern — Lemee sticks; and Troop No. 696, Mrs. David Kendall — songs.

Cadetettes of Troop No. 596 acted as hostesses and game leaders for the event. They also participated in all of the pre-planning as part of the Challenge of Social Dependability.

A bright pink booklet especially designed to accompany the Library's Japanese book exhibits is being distributed in the Main Library and the Boys' and Girls' Library. Miss Jane Granstrom, Boys' and Girls' Librarian has sent a selection of children's books about Japan to the Main Library exhibit for circulation there.

Current information about trips to Expo in 1970 and Saadeh Travel and Japan Air Lines posters are available at the Main Library. The exhibit continues through mid-April.

Children's Museum Opens Fund Drive

Tucked between the Easter snow and the early April rain came a day of bright sunshine — fortunately selected by the Children's Museum as Kick-Off Day for their second annual spring drive.

At the party to launch the effort, amid balloons, puppets, and pink lemonade, Michael Spock, Museum director, and Mrs. Ralph Forbes, general drive chairman, greeted the volunteer workers and their children, gathered to set off an enthusiastic visitation-for-funds campaign.

In Boston and nine suburbs, areas will be covered by 14 chairmen and more than 100 solicitors. During the early weeks of April, some 600 friends and neighbors of the Museum will receive calls from these volunteers asking for thoughtful support of the Museum's services to the children, parents, and teachers of New England.

The Museum is a lively and exciting place these days; the services are many and varied, and the need for funds to continue the Museum's operations acute.

Capacity Audiences Present At Local Symphony Concerts

The Newton Symphony, under the direction of Michael Sasson, presented two youth concerts on Sunday. The auditorium of Meadowbrook Jr. High School was filled close to capacity at each of the two concerts which were individually programmed to excite and inspire the hundreds of Newton school children who attended.

Talented winners of the auditions held last month for young people in the Newton schools appeared as soloists with orchestral accomplishment.

At the first concert of the afternoon, Andrew Finch, pianist, a sophomore at Newton South High School, performed Mendelssohn's Capriccio Brillant.

Movements of Mozart concerti were performed by Kathy O'Donnell, flutist, a Newton High School sophomore and by Richard Perles, violinist, a seventh-grade student at the Weeks School.

At the second concert of the afternoon, David Dornbusch, cellist, a junior at Newton High School played the beautiful Bruch Kol Nidrie. Michele Morgan, violinist, a fifth grade student at Ward Elementary School, and the youngest of the soloists played a movement of Mozart's Third Concerto for violin. All of the soloists gave spirited performances executed with artistic aplomb and well-appreciated by their peers.

Additional concertos with Frank Epstein, percussionist orchestra were performed by other guest soloists to provide the young audience with variety of instrumentation.

The Newton Art Association holds its next meeting on Thursday evening, April 16, at 7:45 p.m. at the Beethoven School, Waban.

Roger Curtis of Gloucester, outstanding marine artist, will demonstrate a seascape in oil.

He is art director of the Concord Art Association and teaches at the Lexington Arts and Crafts.

Mr. Curtis is a member of the Lexington Art Association, the Concord Art Association, the Rockport Art Association, the past president and present treasurer of the North Shore Art Association, and is on the board of the Guild of Boston Artists. He is, in addition, a past vice-president of the Boston Chapter of the American Artists Professional League and a member of the Copley Society.

His exhibitions have been held all over the country and include the Welma Gallery, Chicago, the Eggleston Gallery, New York, and Doll and Richards, Boston. Mr. Curtis is listed in Who's Who in America.

Orchestra performed D. Milhaud's Concerto for Percussion and Orchestra. In utilizing no less than nineteen percussion instruments in its performance, Mr. Epstein displayed the great variations in mood which the dynamic range and arrangement of these instruments can achieve.

The audience had the added pleasure of hearing the final movement of the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto performed by Lynn Chang a young man who has already been recognized as an excellent violinist through his appearances at the Boston Pops Esplanade concerts as well as numerous violin recitals throughout New England.

Another highlight of the concert was Richard Fletcher's performance of a virtuosic Rondo movement for double bass from a concerto by Dragonetti.

To conclude each of the concerts the orchestra performed Leroy Anderson's The Typewriter much to the delight of all in the audience. Harver Mason was the well-applauded "typewriter soloist" in the performance of this fun piece. Both Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Mason are currently studying at the New England Conservatory of Music.

The concerts Sunday were the third fourth free youth concerts of the season given by the Newton Symphony.

Earlier concerts in December explored the dance form in symphonic music. Members of the symphony who freely donate their time and energy in this civic endeavor have been warmly recompensed by the genuine enthusiasm of the young audiences in attendance.

What is Christian Science?

It is a religion based on the words and works of Christ Jesus. It has helped many like you to prove in a measure the meaning of Christ Jesus' promise:

"He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also." It shows the scientific basis of Christianity and how to avail yourself of the laws of God in everyday life.

If you would like to learn more about Christian Science, you are welcome to come to our Reading Room and to read this week's Bible Lesson.

without obtaining the 10,000 valid signatures he otherwise would need. Never let it be said that chivalry is dead!

There were complaints from unsuccessful candidates and their supporters that Stephen Smith, brother-in-law of Senator Edward M. Kennedy, maneuvered the endorsements of Goldberg and Sorensen as well as that of Adam Walinsky, an aide to the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy, who was tapped for Attorney General.

Everything indicates that if Ted Kennedy should be a candidate for President in 1972, his brother-in-law, Mr. Smith, probably would be in a position to swing the big bloc of New York State votes to him.

An unsuccessful candidate for Governor remarked after the convention: "Our slate is composed of a candidate for Governor from Illinois, a Lieutenant Governor from Harlem, an Attorney General from Washington, a Senator from Nebraska and Arthur Levitt (candidate for Comptroller) from the ages."

While former Justice Goldberg will be opposed in the June primary, there is little doubt that he will emerge the winner and the Democratic nominee.

Goldberg's fight in November with Governor Nelson Rockefeller should be an extremely interesting one.

Sorensen — if he survives the June primary — will stand against Senator Charles E. Goodell, a Republican, who was appointed by Governor Rockefeller to fill the vacancy created by the murder of Bobby Kennedy in the 1968 fight for the the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Senator Brooke Not Likely To Change Party Enrollment

A political columnist in a Boston Sunday newspaper predicted this week Senator Edward W. Brooke will shift from the Republican to the Democratic party.

He said that Senator Brooke's philosophy is closer to that of the Democratic party than to the GOP. This latter statement, of course, is true of a number of prominent Republicans, among them Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York State and Mayor John Lindsay of New York City.

We suspect, however, that Senator Brooke will remain an independent-minded Republican.

Ed Brooke originally entered politics as a young Democrat and as a Democrat was defeated when he sought election to the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

As a Republican he has achieved election twice as Attorney General and once as a U.S. Senator.

Wayne Morse changed his party enrollment from Republican to Democrat while he was serving in the U.S. Senate. The guessing here is that Brooke will not do so even though his views and those of President Nixon are far apart on many matters.

Doubt Exists On Validity Of New Anti-Viet War Law

When Governor Sargent signed into law a bill designed to test the legal right of the federal government to send Massachusetts men overseas in an undeclared war, he made plain his own uncertainty as to whether the new law is valid and constitutional.

That doubt is shared by many noted attorneys. The hard fact is that some outstanding experts on the law believe this new act is unconstitutional and that it will be so declared when it is tested before the Supreme Court.

Young men being ordered to Vietnam should understand that this still untested law does not give them any right to disobey or disregard any military orders they receive.

A test case will be argued before the U.S. Supreme Court by Attorney General Robert Quinn in time, probably some time next autumn.

Until the Supreme Court makes its ruling in that case, nobody should assume that this new law does anything.

Newton South Hi Baseball Team Coach Is Facing New Difficulties

By LEWIS FREEDMAN
Last year Newton South had one of the most successful baseball teams in its history. The Lions went 13-6 and advanced to the quarter-finals of the Eastern Massachusetts Schoolboy baseball tournament.

Coach Neil McPhee was a rookie last spring and did an admirable job. This spring there are more difficulties facing him than he ran across in his initial season.

Gone from the 1969 Suburban League runners-up are stalwart pitchers Frank Hurvitz and Jim Gamble. These two set 124 enemy batters down on strikes in only 110 innings last season.

The 1969 captain Tom Rezzuti was an all-state centerfielder who was a terror on the bases and batted .361.

These three will be the most missed of South's departed diamond nine.

There are many key returnees, however, and these players are around whom McPhee will build his 1970 team.

Co-captain Emmons Levine was a starter at shortstop last season and saw occasional action on the mound. This year he will be pitching quite a bit more.

Slick fielding co-captain Bruce Gorton returns to man his second-base position and seems set for a big year.

John Bucavale should be the starting catcher, or he could split the job with Paul Arduino and see some action at first base. Jerry Berkowitz will be making an attempt to win the starting catcher's spot from Bucavale.

Neil Linsky and Steve Stockman are also battling for the first-base job, while Stockman will also see mound duty.

The third-base job is completely open with senior Steve Sacks a member of last year's team probably getting the nod from experience. Barry Freedman, Russ Small and Bob Davine will attempt to win the job from Sacks.

In the outfield Coach McPhee and Clem Virgilio, who batted .277 last year, and Rich Lerner, who has seen varsity action set in two spots. Ken Green, Larry Feldman and Ken Perlis will vie for the last starting spot.

The key to the Lions' fortunate this year as last will be the pitching. Paul Selby is back. Noah Young, Bill Corbier, Ken Laurie, Jeff Kramer, and Bob Levine, Emmons' brother, are all newcomers who could make South into a Suburban League contender again this year.

A big blow to South's chances came when two-year outfield starter Lou Miller injured his ankle. He will be lost for the season.

Newton South has a lot of question marks this season and only time will tell if Coach McPhee can replace his graduated stars.

The South baseball team opens on April 9 versus Rindge Tech.

Newton High Baseball Team Hit by Graduation

Last year the Newton High Baseball team went all the way to State Finals before losing to Springfield Tech in what was one of Coach Howard Ferguson's banner years as baseball coach. But from that team, eight of nine starters graduated.

So, "Fergie" will have to start over shifting, adjusting and experimenting to find the best combination. The regular season will commence today at Cambridge Latin.

Before then however some individual battles will have been settled to determine the starting lineup as at this writing there is no set order.

Probably the most crucial change will be at catcher where Bob Wargin, last year's starting center fielder will move to help take charge. Last year Jon Marcus was behind the plate and led the team in regular season action hitting with a .347 mark.

Wargin's experience has been limited to a few National Division league games last summer but with a strong arm and a strong willingness, Wargin should be able to switch smoothly.

Other catchers who could make the varsity are soph Tom King and juniors Mike DeJ Grosso and Steve Goldman.

The other half of the battery is also a mystery at the moment. Norm Westlund, Paul Britt, Colin Clapton and Jethro Mills were a big part of last year's success and a II but the last have graduated.

It will be up to Mills, the hard throwing junior to take up Westlund's number one mound spot while Steve Matloff, Len Gentile, Brian Keefe, Bob Chalmers, Bob Fabiano, Pete Melanson and Bill Josephson fight for the other positions.

First base, formerly owned by Holy Cross freshman Colin Clapton for the last two years is open with Mills, Jim Fay, Chalmers and Steve Matloff all possibilities.

On one side of the key stone combination will be junior Chuck Pendergast who saw some action as a sophomore on last year's team. Second or short then, are open to a multitude of candidates.

Paul Anronian, Bob Fay, Dana Goodchild, Rick Hayes, Bob Fabiano, Rick Bell and Paul Vershow are all in competition. Vershow struck the winning blow, a last inning single driving in Wargin in last Friday's first practice game versus Braintree.

In the outfield Mike Lally, another somewhat experienced senior returns. Frank DiReubis, Paul Flaherty, Russ D'Argento and Bob Doyle will all be looking to break into the regular lineup.

In school sports, where seniors usually dominate the varsities, particularly among good teams, most often next year's team give something away in the experience department.

Along with Marcus and Clapton, four others batted over .300 last year. Shortstop Ron Arcese hit .666 in tournament action and has left with Rich Echlov, centerfield speedster and Tom Chalmers, now at NYU past with over .300 marks.

Wargin, who hit .300 exactly is the lone returnee with that achievement.

Defense should be no real problem. Over the years if one thing has been true about Newton team it's been that they've been well drilled by Fergie and make few errors.

However, the difference between last year's team and the year before .500 team was hitting.

Along with pitching these will be the two big questions. If a steady mound combination is found and hitting supplied when needed NHS baseball should again be formidable.

Softball Season Soon Will Open For The Ladies

Attention: Ladies—

Are you wanting some exercise, fun, and competition this summer? Group your friends and fellow enthusiasts together and join Newton First Women's Softball League. All you need are the players, energy and a sponsor.

On Thursday (April 9) 7:30 p.m., there will be a meeting for those interested in a softball team and league at the Recreation Department located on 70 Crescent Street, Auburndale.

This league is for women who live or work in Newton. If you are interested contact Fran Towle at the Recreation Office 969-3171 and come to the meeting April 9.

Andrew Jackson, seventh president, seldom held cabinet meetings, but rather relied on a small group of advisors whom the newspaper dubbed the "Kitchen Cabinet."

Tone Up -- Trim Down, Invites Rec Department

Ladies — Do you want to stay trim and fit or perhaps you would like to win that young figure back you once had? Join the Toneastie class that will change your pace and start you on the road to physical fitness for this summer.

The Toneasties class, sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department, will start from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday (April 7). This session will be a six week course held on every Tuesday and Thursday at the Academy of Physical and Social Development, 792 Beacon Street, Newton Centre.

There will be a total of twelve (12) classes per session under the instruction of Mrs. Estelle Williams who is the exercise director of the Boston YWCA and Bonnie Francis Prudden Physical Fitness.

Registration for the session is now open and will be on a limited basis of twenty-five (25) per session. Therefore, please your applications in now. Call the Newton Recreation Department, 969-3171, Extension 24, renew your vigor and vim.

Newton Pins Hopes On Third State Golf Title

In a State where high school athletic competition is fierce you rarely see a school take two consecutive State titles. Not Class A or Eastern Mass. titles, but All State titles.

Catholic Memorial in basketball, Brookline in cross country and Everett in football have dominated their respective fields for periods at a time and now there is Newton High Golf which will open their season looking for a third consecutive State Championship.

The Secondary School Headmasters Trophy is presented to the winning school each year. The third cup of this type was started in 1967 with the provision that if any school won it three times it would get to retire it.

Melrose won in 1967 and NHS has triumphed since. Over the years Newton High has the most State Championships of any school in golf. The championship years have been 1940, '50, '60, '68 and '69. Melrose is second in total wins with three.

A repeat of the last two years success however, is possible but not probable according to Newton High Mentor, Jim Ronayne.

The main loss through graduation was the trio of Harry Karp, Paul Murphy and Brian Quigley. These three were tri-captains last year and key members of the previous championship team as well as three year varsity participants.

Coach Ronayne commented that, "you need four strong men to go anywhere. If you have one or two great golfers and then fall off drastically you're in trouble."

The leading returnee is senior Gerry Coleman. Last year Coleman was generally the third man but finished on top a few times during the regular season.

Coleman, a senior, who also has played on an eastern Mass. Champion football team and two Suburban League championship squads, could well take Murphy's spot up near the top of the State individually.

Steve Condon, last year's sixth man is the second leading returnee. Condon, a second team All Suburban League Golfer pick with less than two goals against per game, should be a very capable second man behind Coleman.

After these two the lineup is fairly unsure with players with only partial experience returning. Among the leading candidates are juniors Jim Coleman (Gerry's brother), Jim Curtis, and Rich Bove.

Senior Mike Walsh, winner of last fall's Intramural tournament is another possibility along with three year men Arnie Freedman, Ken Longmore.

Brad Young and Joe Arnold are other juniors while sophomores Jim Orent, Joe Yerradi and Paul Johnson are out for the first time.

Golf is one of the few sports not divided by classes in schoolboy play. There are approximately 210 schools competing in interscholastic golf.

As far as the Suburban League is concerned Weymouth will again be the toughest opposition. Other teams in the league include Brookline,

Newton High Tennis Prospects Excellent

By JEFF GROSSMAN

Last year the Newton High tennis team went all the way to the state semifinals before bowing to eventual state titlist New Bedford, with a lineup consisting of five out of seven underclassmen. Coach George Jessup's team should be near or at the top of the state this year as virtually all of last year's lineup returns.

The two seniors and four juniors who earned varsity letters are back with valuable tournament experience behind them and it should pay off. The only loss was the first doubles combination of John Berman and Paul Blazer but this gap should be plugged with the great amount of talent vying for the top seven playing spots.

Off last year's showing, Coach Jessup rates junior Richard Martin first on the team. Mr. Jessup emphasized, however, that all ratings are based on last spring showings and could change.

Ranked behind Martin are senior Marc Brass, juniors John Golub, Bob Scheper, senior Rick Farian and junior Bob Shapiro in that order. These six sweater winners will make up the nucleus of the squad.

Coach Jessup will keep a junior varsity and a sophomore squad. Twelve sophomores are out for the team and although Coach Jessup hasn't seen any of them play he feels that there are a few who could possibly break into the varsity.

In addition to the lettermen there are some strong entries vying for a position from last year's junior varsity team. At the moment Bob Burke, Art Greenberg, Ralph Locelle, Bob Shriver and Seth Robbin are possible varsity members.

Sophomores Tom Fenton, Ben Press, David Solomon and Richard Yonafsky are all highly touted spots.

Other juniors and seniors out are Paul Wenckler, Richard Rasnick, Louis King, Warren Jacobs, Robin Yuan, Richard Laronde and Andrew Sanderson. Sophomores reporting for the first time are Mark Goldman, Larry Rusham, John Segenthaler, Steven Kellett, David Jacobson and Mat Schriener.

The Suburban Tennis League has added four teams to make it a nine team loop but no squad should press the Newton contingent for league honors.

Behind Newton, Coach Jessup thinks the league will shape up as a battle between Newton South (depleted by graduation) and Brookline for second with Weymouth, Waltham, Arlington, Rindge and Cambridge following in about that order.

Besides their league Newton has scheduled outside meets versus some of the best teams in New England as the coach believes the tougher competition gets the team ready for their public school competition. St. Marks, Andover Academy, Phillips Exeter, and Belmont Hill are on the Newton schedule.

Outside competition from the Dual County and "Mid-Newton South and Waltham. The opening match is Thursday, April 23 versus Melrose and Marblehead in a tri match. All Newton home meets will be played at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Track Preview ...

Newton High Is Expected To Field All-Around Team

The Newton High Track Team began preparation for the outdoor campaign last week with practice being held in the Drill Shed with the sizable snow fall making running on the field impossible.

With the combining of both divisions of the Suburban Track League, Newton will compete in a much tougher ten team loop. Newton's side of the league for the last ten years included Newton South, Rindge Tech, New Bedford, Brockton and Brookline.

Coming over from the other section will be Weymouth, Arlington, Waltham and Cambridge Latin. Quincy and North Quincy, the other members of that league have joined the Greater Boston League.

As for the Newton team it again overflows with talent and returning veterans in every event except the long jump where there are some capable people with some experience.

Starting in the dashes Newton will as usual be able to run rampant over most teams in the 100 and 440. George Norcross, Paul Price and Ken Yanco are the 100 yard prospects.

Norcross stood out the winter finishing fifth in the BAA and State Meet 50. The quick starting football halfback should have little trouble adapting to the longer distance although the short dash, which relies more on quickness rather than speed is more to his liking.

Price showed promise early in the indoor season but pulled up at the end of the 50 versus Weymouth and was lost to the team for the remainder of the winter. Yanco was unable to run in indoor track because of knee problems which led to an operation.

While his effectiveness is still a question footballer Jim Doolin should be right in the race for one of the other dash spots. Despite standing 6'1" and weighing 180 pounds Doolin was among the fastest on the football team.

Next year's indoor captain, Alan Boyer will highlight the 220. Boyer churned the furlong in 22.1 last spring and if he avoids injury he should dominate the league and possible the State. Boyer was BAA 800 champion last winter and the 800 yards are quite to his liking.

Senior Mike Tymann will probably run next to Boyer in this event. Tymann is a strong driving runner should compete well at this distance.

The quarter mile is also well stocked with captain Steve Scrimshaw and John Frey. Scrimshaw was fourth in the State in the 600 last winter and holds the Newton standard in the event. Last spring he missed Bob Houghteling's 440 record of 2 seconds and he should have the 50.4 mark by the conclusion of the spring.

Actually, if Scrimshaw runs as expected he should crack the 50 barrier. Frey is another returning letterman and he will probably follow Scrimshaw across the finish line in second many times this spring.

Two standouts in the hurdles for NHS are Stan Birdwell and Skip Fawstin. Birdwell, indoor captain elect will compete in the high hurdles with Fawstin manning the low 180's.

Fawstin finished third in the State Meet in this event last year and he will be looking to improve on that this year.

Bob Womboldt, and Paul Fayer from indoor track and Jim Doolin are possibilities for the other hurdle spots.

Moving into the middle and long distance Newton looks to have a lot of talent and if they avoid injury they could represent extremely strong segment of the squad.

Definitely set in the 880 is sophomore David Douglas who finished third in the State Meet 1000 with a 2:20.6 clocking. Douglas is without a doubt the best middle distance runner in NHS history as he already holds the 1000 record. It is not outside the realm of possibility that he could have the half mile mark of 1:57 before the end of this year.

The rest of the runners will probably switch between mile and two mile although another half mile will be needed. If Steve Caggiano's ailing knee responds quickly he will probably run the half.

The other possibility is Doug Tomb who is the only distance runner who has real sprint speed which is needed for the half. Coach Boyle will probably be reluctant to have two of his best matched in the same event, however.

Experienced runners include Jay Sidman, Mike O'Brien, Dan Penser, Jim Boates, Dave Blake, Ken Garfinkle, Jeff Grossman and Ed Rielly. Sidman and O'Brien enjoyed fine cross country seasons but O'Brien fell victim to fatigue fracture while Sidman is returning from a bout with mononucleosis. With the great amounts of distance behind them both seem more comfortable in the 2 mile although they will probably occasionally switch into the mile.

Penser, at 155" and a mere 103 pounds is a coming two miler. "Dynamite" came on at the end of indoor to run 10:45 duce. Garfinkle is a promising sophomore who ran 4:55 in the mile this winter. Boates switched from the mile to the two mile.

Blake was out for indoor but was hurt while high jumping with the Fosbury flop method in practice and was lost to the team for the winter. Blake is not a high jumper by trade. Senior Chris Doolin is out for the first time and could surprise.

In the field as a whole Newton looks fairly experienced.

Triple jumpers Scrimshaw and Abe Oros return with experience in this event which was started only last year in high schools in this area. Scrimshaw holds the school record with a leap of just over 40'.

The pole vault has some fine natural talent but disinterest could hurt. Marc McLaughlin and Warren Lomax are both potentially fine vaulters and Coach Boyle is hoping that these two decide to turn their talents toward track this spring.

Senior Paul Gorfine has limited experience while gymnast Joe Marini will give the vault a shot for the first time.

The high jump is in excellent hands with three experienced juniors set and some new comers ready to push them. Dick O'Brien came out late for indoor track and was up to 5'7" by the end. Paul Pryor and Fran Murphy have also done a lot of jumping. Junior Rich Doherty will try to break into this experienced trio.

The long jump is the only place there is a notable lack of returning letterman. For the last two years Don McMillen (State Champion last year) and Joe DiSaglio (second the year before) did the bulk of the jumping for NHS.

Paul Price had some experience as a sophomore going over 18' and he seems to be the prime candidate for the top spot.

In the strenuous events, shot put, discus and javelin there is a notable amount of weight. Discus hurlers Marc Simon and Jay Wilton are experienced while Dennis Hannigan is the leading shot putter. Skip Fawstin, the other captain leads the javelin field.

Fawstin threw 190' last year and when he is on he should have trouble with very few schoolboys in Massachusetts. Steve Fox will also hurl the spear. Besides the experience mentioned there will be many football players out trying to secure spots in the field events. Hannigan spurted at the end of the indoor season throwing 47'11" in the shot.

Other possibilities in this event are Glenn Hoffman, Dan Borden, Jeff Dunn and Richard Goulden. Simon was closing in on the 130' mark near the end of last spring and he should be the leading thrower.

With the wealth of speed Newton has they should have a top relay team. Scrimshaw and Boyer are two sure performers while Norcross, Fawstin, Douglas and Tymann are others who could handle the stick.

Looking at the rest of the league South, Rindge, Weymouth (in the midst of a down year after four years near the top of the State) Cambridge and Brookline should be little problem.

Arlington looks strong on the track and in the weight events. In all probability they will be Newton's stiffest threat. The Spy Ponders finished second in the State Meet, one point astern of Lexington.

Brookline has a young team on the way up but seems to be a year or two away. New Bedford and Waltham have several strong individuals (Waltham's Duckworth ran an amazing 1:24.4 600 last winter. New Bedford two and one milers Steve Caton and Dave Sylvia were State Champions and fourth in the BAA respectively.) Overall, however, neither team should challenge Newton on a team basis.

The top individual in the league could well be sophomore Bill Durette of Cambridge. Eligible earlier this year because he transferred from Rindge Tech, Durette has already proven himself to be among the best in the State. He ran the mile in 4:31 last summer.

So, besides Arlington the league looks fairly easy from a Newton standpoint with Arlington being the only real stiff test. However, whether NHS can come through in the State Meet remains to be seen.

Many seasons have started with enthusiasm over experience (27 lettermen) and talent with key performers getting hurt, becoming disinterested or getting into academic trouble.

Two years ago Newton missed the Class A championship by a mere 1 1/2 points. There is certainly a much talent on this team as there was that one. If everyone stays clear of the above then Newton can go all the way. The question is will they?

Lacrosse Hopes High At N.H.S.

by JEFF GROSSMAN

With a new coach and a lot of returning talent, the Newton High lacrosse once again looks in good shape. Last year's team was 11 and 5 and this year could and should improve that record.

The new coach, replacing Robert Huribut, is Ross Parham who has a noteworthy lacrosse record behind him. His assistant coach is Gordon Grand.

Parham, currently a Harvard student was a high school All American Goalie in Washington, D.C., and then coached at West Point and Harvard where he produced some fine teams.

Grant played lacrosse for Harvard last year but passed up playing this year for the chance to work with his former coach.

As for Newton, their depth is with a top group of aggressive returnees.

In the attack position veteran scorer George Reynolds came back. Reynolds, a hockey standout last winter is co-captain and will be joined up front by John Murphy and Marc Jones on the starting team.

The top reserve at this spot will be Charlie Levin. Paul Gillis and Ken Daniels will also see action on the attack squad. Midfield will be manned ably with a mixture of experience and new men.

At the moment, defensive switch Rich Johnson, Steve McCarthy and Charlie MacGillavray will start in the midfield spots. However, Coach Parham will have depth here with aggressive soccer tri-captain Mark Volk, Rich Clark and Charlie Vitt quite capable.

Other midfielders include junior Dave Hallet, sophomores Brian McGell, and Mat Myerson, Don Kopans and Brian Maroney.

On defense co-captain John Myerson and George Gardner present a formidable duo to penetrate. The third member of the trio will be either Larry Rufo or Murray Solomon while Eric Nelson and big Steve Hunter will see playing time back there. Last year's JV goalie Bill Eger will be in the nets with O. J. Grecco in reserve.

Coach Parham is working on setting up a game with the Harvard or MIT freshman this week to help prepare the stickmen for their opener April 13 against Milton Academy.

With 13 games on the schedule at the moment there have been some changes made. In the past Newton played the junior varsities of Governor Dummer, Tabor and Exeter Academies.

Coach Parham feels that lacrosse has come along sufficiently at NHS for them to take on the varsities this year.

Although Exeter isn't on the schedule at the moment the Coach hopes to have them for the last game if the Tiger Stickmen come along as he hopes.

The biggest loss from last year's team was record scorer Dean Foster who accounted for 45 points and Joe Picarello who was second in scoring and strong on defense.

So, although Coach Parham has stressed defense thus far, there is somewhat of a question about the offense. If this question is answered sufficiently what Coach Parham calls a winning season, 14-0 that is, is not out of the range of possibility.

Judge Flaschner to Speak At Dinner of Community Council

Professor Albert R. Beisel, J.F., President of the Newton Community Council, Inc. and the Newton Community Chest, Inc. respectfully announces the combined Annual Dinner Meeting to be held Thursday, April 16, 1970 at the Church of the Messiah, 161 Auburn Street, Auburndale, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

A short business meeting of the two separate corporations will be held, after which the Honorable Franklin N. Flaschner, Presiding Justice, District Court of Newton, will speak on "Regional Citizenship — How Meaningful Today."

Judge Flaschner is a graduate of Yale University, Yale Law School, and the Harvard Littauer School of Public Administration. He is now President of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council, which includes over 100 communities with a total population of three and a half million people.

As a Special Assistant to the Attorney General under both Richardson and Attorney General Robert P. Quinn, he worked on the very successful Bridgewater Release Project.

Judge Flaschner was elected to seven successive terms on the Newton Board of Aldermen and resigned recently to become the Presiding Justice of the Newton District Court.

The Newton Community Council, through the Annual Meeting, is offering to the agencies an opportunity to hear Judge Flaschner and discuss the strength and weaknesses of regionalization. United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston has proposed a plan of regionalization which would result in regional and central planning. Newton is a part of Region V under the guidelines furnished by the State Reorganization Act, which includes 27 communities and over half a million people.

Members of public and private agencies, as well as friends of the Chest and Council, are invited to attend. Reservations may be made by calling the Council office — 527-5120.

Dr. Landy Testimonial To Be Held On May 14

A committee of Newton School personnel, parents, and citizens are planning a Testimonial dinner in honor of Dr. Edward Landy, Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Newton, who will retire at the close of this school year after 22 years of dedicated service.

Robert H. Mitchell, Guidance Director of the Newton Schools, is Chairman of the Testimonial committee, comprised of the following: Dr. Charles Brinton, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Chase, William D. Finan, Robert V. Frost, Ephrosyne Georgas, Mrs. Irving Helman, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Jones, Grace M. Kennedy, Mrs. A. W. Krebs, Jr., Frank Lambert, Emille B. Larson, Mrs. Helen Levy, Grace Mancini, Mary Jean Ogden, Professor Robert O'Hara, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph O. Osborne, Gerald F. Peterson, Helen R. Punch, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Rubin, and Mr. and Mrs. Murray E. Sholkin.

The dinner will be held at the Chestnut Hill Country Club in Newton on Thursday, May 14th. There will be a social hour from 6:30 p.m. till 7:30 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Landy is now Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Newton, where he heads the Division of Pupil Personnel Services and Special Education. He is a former fellow Professor of Education at Harvard University, a position he held jointly with his Newton position.

He is a former fellow of the American Psychological Association and the Mass. Psychological Association; a former member of the Board of Governors and Past President, American School Counselors Association and a member of the National Vocational Guidance Association and the National Educational Association.

Dr. Landy has long been active in the American Personnel and Guidance Associations and has been twice singled out for national recognition.

He served as co-director of a juvenile delinquency field demonstration and training project, sponsored by the Judge Baker Guidance Clinic and the Newton Public Schools and supported by the National Institute of Mental Health.

His career has been a long and distinguished one. He pioneered in establishing classes for emotionally disturbed children, and classes for the trainable mentally retarded. He introduced programs for pre-delinquent and delinquent boys at junior high level. Under his leadership, programs in school psychology, speech and hearing, and secondary school counseling have been greatly expanded.

Dr. Landy is a graduate of Boston Public Schools and Bridgewater State College. He holds both a Master's Degree and a Doctorate in the field of Guidance from Harvard University. His wife, the former Dorothy Tribou, is well known for her active participation in Newton Community affairs. The Landys have a son, Stephen, who is married and lives in Lexington.

Those interested in attending the Testimonial Dinner may send checks, payable to the "Edward Landy Testimonial", to Mr. Charles E. Smith, President, NEWTON NATIONAL BANK, 447 Centre Street, Newton Corner, Mass. 02158. Tickets, which include the dinner, the tip, the tax, and a contribution to the gift, are $8.50. Please be sure to include name and address to which tickets are to be sent. Those seeking further information may contact Mrs. Joseph Osbourne, 244-7178 or Mrs. Robert O'Hara, 244-6712.

This Week's Best Buys

Courtesy Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

The first native crop of the season — greenhouse grown, but spring's first crop — is beet greens, the richly nutritious vegetable for kids who don't like spinach. They're prepared in much the same way: drop in boiling water for two or three minutes, drain and serve with butter, olive oil or vinegar, and salt and pepper. They're showing up now on produce counters. Worth a try!

The coming week should see possible price reductions in native greenhouse cucumbers, this being the peak of the harvest. They're fresh, crisp and unaxed — and flavorful as any you'll find throughout the year.

Weather permitting, Massachusetts growers will now begin to harvest a crop that has wintered in the ground — spring-dug parsnips. They're left to sweeten under the snow, and dug for market when the frost is out of the ground. Spring-dug parsnips have many fans — look for them any day now.

Out in the Berkshires, where the snow is still two feet deep, the cry "sap is running" has already been heard. The maple syrup producers are collecting and evaporating as fast as they can, in the annual race to keep up with the trees. A number of producers welcome visitors to the "sugar bush," for information, contact the Berkshire Pioneer Maple Producers' Coop, Ashfield, Mass. 01330.

As the weather improves — it's hard to be sure, in early April — more and more roadside stands will be opening, with their wonderful displays of bedding plants, fertilizers, and gardening aids. When you begin to see them, you know it must be spring!

Today's Agri-Fact: Not very well known is the fact that Massachusetts produces some 800,000 ducklings annually for the table. Neither exotic nor expensive, duck is tender and delicious, and the recipes are almost endless. Makes an excellent change of pace in poultry. They're available in most supermarkets.

CRACKER QUACKERY — Graham crackers, delicious to serve with milk, were originally the brain-child of a food faddist. Invented in 1829 by Sylvester Graham, a Presbyterian minister and reformer from Connecticut, they were first prescribed, along with vegetables and fruits, as a cure for intemperance.

200 Church Belles Toil To Aid Newton Hospital

Over 200 belles from six Newton Centre churches happily toiled on Wednesday for their community teaching hospital.

The sixth annual Six Church Bells Day brought together women from First Baptist Church, First Church in Newton (Congregational), Lutheran Church of Newton, Newton Centre Methodist Church, Sacred Heart Church, and Trinity Church (Episcopal).

During a day-long work program, they sewed, rolled, and folded articles for the central supply department at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, the newest teaching affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine.

Women of the six churches assembled at 9:30 a.m. for an interdenominational worship service at the First Church in Newton (Congregational).

Bandage rolling and the preparation of dressing began at 10 a.m. in the Congregational Church. Luncheon at 12:30 p.m. was served at the Trinity Episcopal Church, followed by a play entitled "Land O' Goshen" by members of the First Church (Congregational) at 1:30 p.m.

Chairman of Six Bells Day was Mrs. E. Lake Jones, Newton Centre, and working with her as Co-Chairman was Mrs. Wilford C. Esty, also of Newton Centre.

Women organizing the work program from First Baptist Church included Chairman Mrs. Wilford C. Esty, Newton Centre with her committee, Mrs. Rodney Dakin, West Roxbury, Mrs. Giles Martin, Newton Highlands, Mrs. Wallace W. Morse and Mrs. John Young, both from Newton Centre.

Representing First Church in Newton was Chairman Mrs. Peter F. Coogan, Newton Centre, and her committee, Mrs. James Chase, Mrs. Everett B. Collins, Miss Virginia Gray, Mrs. John Lamos, and Mrs. George Pfannenstiel, all from Newton Centre, and Mrs. Walter H. Dietz, Sr., from Newton Highlands.

Lutheran Church in Newton was represented by Chairman Mrs. Alton Earle of Needham, and her committee consisting of Mrs. Glen Dokken and Mrs. Robert MacDonald of Newton Upper Falls, and Mrs. Ralph Hubley, of Needham.

From Newton Centre Methodist Church was Chairman Mrs. Byrl Leonard of Needham, and Mrs. Harold

A. Bailey, Newton Centre, Mrs. Duncan A. Brash, and Mrs. Harry H. Hallas of Needham, Mrs. George S. Harlan, Newton Upper Falls, and Mrs. Peter A. Macintosh of Newtonville.

The women from Sacred Heart Church included Mrs. John Quinn, Newton Highlands, Chairman; Mrs. Ray S. Jones, Mrs. Oscar Obert and Mrs. Alfred Rochette, all of Newton Centre, and Mrs. Robert J. Mullen, from Newton Highlands.

Trinity Church was represented by Chairman Mrs. Gardiner A. Smith of Newton Highlands, and serving with her are Mrs. David Dimore, Mrs. Jerome Frank, Mrs. John Grove, and Mrs. John Merrill, of Newton Centre, and Mrs. Helen Walsh of Waban.

The entertainment following the Six Bells Day luncheon at Trinity Church was a one act play presented by the W.B.S. Players of the First Church in Newton. It depicted one of the first meetings of the Women's Benevolent Society, held more than 150 years ago in the parlor of the pastor, Doctor Jonathan Homer, for whom Homer Street was named.

The cast included Fremont S. Sheldon as the Rev. Homer, Mrs. William S. Duncklee, Jr., as Anna Curtis Homer, his wife, and Mrs. Fremont S. Sheldon as Mary Bennett Jackson of the Jackson Homestead.

Other members of the cast were Mrs. Abner H. Bailey, Mrs. William F. Brown, Mrs. Gerald Krumm, and Miss Lillian Picken. The play was written by Mrs. Peter Coogan and directed by Mrs. Clarendon Southmayd. Costumes and properties were in charge of Mrs. Henry Brown.

PLAN SUCCESSFUL EVENT — Three of the key figures who planned the successful Spring Luncheon of the Boston Club of Newton College of the Sacred Heart are, left to right, Mrs. John King Jr., West Newton, Mrs. Paul W. O'Garra, of Boston, and Mrs. William Golden, of Newton, co-chairmen of the luncheon. Affair was held Saturday aboard the Peter Stuyvesant, Anthony's Pier 4.

Luncheon Bridge Aids Jr. College

The Women's Council of Newton Junior College sponsored a luncheon-bridge yesterday, Wednesday, at the Student Commons, College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville. This event was held for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund of the College.

The Women's Council has aided the College in many ways. Among these are the giving of furnishings for College Hall, funds for the graduates at Commencement Exercises, and sponsorship of the Annual Visiting Scholar Series.

The Council has also given scholarships for worthy and needy students. With the increasing need for these scholarships the Council now concentrates its efforts in that direction.

Chairman of the Women's Council is Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver. Mrs. George Brookhiser is past chairman and founder. Mrs. George Brewer and Mrs. J. Leslie Sweetnam are secretary and treasurer respectively.

Members include Mrs. Harry Abells, Mrs. Victor Baer, Mrs. William Bruce, Miss Ruth Burns, Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, Mrs. Spencer Deming, Mrs. Anton Fried, Mrs. Malcolm N. Jackson, Mrs. Norman Krim, Mrs. Alan Miller, Mrs. John B. G. Palen, and Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe.

Student Earns College Money By Magic, Music

A Newton High student, Jerry Prell of 190 Temple street, West Newton, has been making a name for himself in the entertainment field with both magic and music.

At the age of six, Prell was introduced to magic when a professional magician asked him to participate in an act.

He was so fascinated by the experience that he began to study prestidigitation and gave his first performance at the age of eight. After that he became a popular entertainer for children's parties.

Having reinvested his earnings in more sophisticated props, as well as building some himself, Prell has developed a professional style. He has magic acts geared to all age groups and incorporates audience participation in them.

In addition to his magic performances before many local groups, he recently formed a disc jockey partnership, known as "Jerry and Steve", with Steve Lesser of Nardell road, a Newton South High student.

They have already entertained at several teenage parties with the latest hits in their programs, as well as prizes for dance contests.

Sacred Heart College Club Has Lunch Event

The Boston Club of Newton College of the Sacred Heart held their annual Spring Luncheon on Saturday, April 4th aboard the Peter Stuyvesant, Anthony's Pier 4.

This year the luncheon featured a Children's Fashion Show by Miss Harriet's Shoppe of Waban and Wellesley. Mrs. John King, Jr. of West Newton, together with Mrs. Kevin Kelley of Waban was in charge of the fashion show. Mrs. Paul W. O'Garra of Boston and Mrs. William Golden of Newton were co-chairmen of the luncheon.

Some of the alumnae who attended include: Mrs. J. Jeffrey Donahue of Wayland, Arlington.

GOP Women Sponsor Art Show, Auction April 12th

Original oil paintings by leading European artists will be exhibited and auctioned at the spring event of the Newton Women's Republican Club, to be held Sunday afternoon, April 12, from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. at the Workshop, Columbus Street, Newton Highlands.

George L. Rogers, art dealer and auctioneer, whose Natick gallery is well known to many Newton collectors, will show a variety of paintings by potentially famous European artists. The sale starts at 4:00 p.m., and the bidding will open with prices ranging from small to moderate.

Every painting is sold with a lifetime exchange privilege; furthermore, every picture is framed with the added privilege of optional framing. The public is invited to attend this exhibit and take advantage of the opportunity to acquire outstanding paintings at moderate prices. A nominal admission fee will be charged.

Sherry will be served during the inspection period from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Giles Dawson and Mrs. Michael Lipof, co-chairmen of arrangements. Mrs. Edward C. Becherer, program chairman, has assisted in planning this event.

Also assisting are Mrs. Rene J. Marcou, president of the Newton Women's Republican Club, Mrs. William L. Bruce, Mrs. George L. Bent, Mrs. Marilyn Bard, Mrs. Harry Brenner, Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, Miss Ruth Burns, Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, Mrs. David Schulman, Mrs. Herman Smerling, Mrs. L. T. Reed, Mrs. Ralph Garrett, Mrs. Wendell Wilson, Miss Avis Walsh, Miss Charlotte Thornbury, Miss Augusta Hornblower, Mrs. Arthur J. Taylor and Mrs. Alvin Mandell.

Boys Town, Nebraska's leading tourist attraction, is visited by 250,000 to 300,000 persons annually.

Re-Marriage For Oldsters Shows Great Promise

By Patricia McCormack
Dan Cupid aims an arrow at a widow in her sixties. But when the widow and her nice gentlemanly companion show signs of heading for the Marriage License Bureau, grown children are apt to howl and try to block the late-blooming romance.

Dr. Walter C. McKain, who sketched that scene at the International Gerontological Congress in Washington, says such opposition will pass. By the year 2000 or sooner, he figures older persons may find remarriage an accepted, even an expected, social institution.

The professor of sociology at the University of Connecticut in Storrs traces some of the opposition from children to pecuniary self-interest. But more often the opposition is rooted in an Elderly parent as a functioning sexual person. The children aren't alone.

Somehow the general public similarly adheres to the belief that marriage is only for young persons and for propagation of the species.

A University of Connecticut study, cited in the newsletter "Geriatric Focus," showed that almost all of the marriages between older folks work out and 75 per cent were rated highly successful. The reasons:

—Most elderly widows and widowers who remarried had good first marriages. Those who didn't were less apt to risk it again.

Centre Woman's Club Meets, Elects Officers April 10th

The call to the Annual Meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Inc., was mailed to all members last week, accompanied by the new slate of officers to be voted upon on Friday, April 10. The Recording Secretary, Mrs. Miriam P. Nichols of Newton Centre, prepared the mailing.

At twelve noon President, Mrs. F. Earle Conn of Newton Centre will entertain members at a reception in the parlors before the Annual Luncheon at 12:30 to be held at the Clubhouse at 1280 Centre St.

The luncheon is to be catered so that reservations are necessary. For reservations and tickets, please call Mrs. Ross L. Trenholm or Mrs. Richard B. Oakes. The luncheon is for club members only, except for special guests of the day, our scholarship recipient and her mother, who will be announced and introduced by Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings, Chairman of Education.

Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe of Chestnut Hill is in charge of the luncheon arrangements with Mrs. Andrew F. Lane and Mrs. William F. McDonough, both of Newton Centre, on her committee.

Mrs. John A. Long of Ridge Ave. will be responsible for the flower decorations of the tables. Stage decorations in the auditorium will be done by Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings on the Garden Committee.

Mrs. F. Earle Conn, president, will conduct the Annual Meeting after the Monthly Business Meeting beginning at two p.m. All old business will be considered and the Committee Chairmen reports given. At the Annual Meeting elections will be most important.

At three p.m. Mrs. Rene J. Marcou, Program Chairman, will introduce Dr. John H. Lawton of Boston College and members of his debating team namely, Mr. William Newman, Mr. Paul Conlin, Mr. Jeffrey Dowling and Mr. Peter DiPaola. These gentlemen are all seniors in the Arts and Science Department, majoring in History and have been or are members of such group activities as the Big Brother Program, Ballantine, Finance Committee on Undergraduate Student Government, B. C. Social Action Agency, Spanish Club, Youth Tutoring, Young Socialist League, etc. The stimulating program will have as its theme for debate: "Is there a feasible substitute for the present welfare system?"

Local Tufts U. Faculty Members Address Alumni

Two Newton faculty members at Tufts University School of Dental Medicine presented clinics to the Annual Meeting of the Tufts University Dental Alumni Association at the Dental School, Wednesday, April 1. Dr. Irving Glickman of 24 Manor House Road, Newton Centre, spoke on "Occlusion - As It is Applied to Research and As It is Applied to Dental Practice." He is Professor and Chairman of the Department of Periodontology at Tufts and a 1938 graduate of the school.

Dr. William C. Less of 99 Littlefield rd., Newton Centre, is a Clinical Instructor in Periodontology at Tufts and a 1960 graduate of the school. He spoke on "Chairside Periodontics Gingival Autographs."

There are 80 small islands in the Aleutian chain.

Receptionists of the day will be members of the Chairman of Reception's Committee, Chairman Mrs. Cleo F. Jalliet, Mrs. Arthur J. Taylor of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Parker F. Pond of Newton Centre.

Students Send In More Than 650 Entries In Book Contest

"Exciting" and "touching" are some of the comments made by judges of the nearly 650 essays entered by the contest sponsored by Friends of the Newton Free Library on "Twelve Books I Would Like to Own and Why."

The contest judging committee members are Henry Bates, Head of the Newton Free Library, Miss Jane Granstrom, The Boys' and Girls' Librarian, and Mrs. Virginia Tashjian, Assistant Librarian and the author of "The College Press and Advocacy Journalism." Mr. Tollev and George Michaels, President of the Friends of the Newton Free Library.

Prizes to the fifteen winners of the essay contest will be awarded at a party at the Main Library on Tuesday evening, April 14, at seven points made by Mr. McLean.

Each receive ten dollars worth of books of their own choosing. Every Newton student who entered an essay will be given a package of bookplates, especially designed for the Friends by Mrs. Scott Paradise. Simple refreshments will be served at the award party.

The contestants and their families may stay after 8 p.m. to hear Mr. Robert McLean of the Boston Globe speak on "The College Press and Advocacy Journalism." Mr. McLean's informal talk will focus on the new breed of college journalists who are veering away from the traditional view that newspaper reporting should be purely factual. A display of some contemporary college newspapers will demonstrate evening, April 14, at seven points made by Mr. McLean.

who is Director of Training for the Boston Globe, and formerly Suburban Editor. The public is cordially invited to attend this event in honor of the winners and entrants of the Friends of the Newton Free Library essay contest.

Pianist Guest At DAR Meeting Here on Monday

Edith Temple Cook, Newton gram, "An Introduction to the American Composer, Edward A. McDowell," at the meeting of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR to be held in her home, Monday, April 13.

Mrs. Cook, who is presently piano teacher at Pomroy House, studied under the well-known piano artist Minnie Longley, a former pupil of McDowell's.

The meeting will begin with a dessert and social hour at one o'clock, followed by a business session at which reports of the March State Conference will be given. Mrs. W. A. Hurley, vice-regent, will then introduce Mrs. Cook, who is chapter registrar and pianist.

Special guests will be the chapter's 1970 "Good Citizen" girls and their mothers, Miss Mary Louise Kiley and Mrs. Edward J. Kiley, and Mrs. Toby J. Kamens and Mrs. Israel M. Kamens.

Both Miss Kiley, who is from Newton South High School, and Miss Kamens, who is from Chelsea High School, are active in extracurricular activities. Both hold or have held class and organization offices, the former being especially interested in physical education, and the latter in journalism.

Section B only. In case of rain on other outdoor trips or the Saturday raindate, substitute indoor activities will be offered.

All trips are for Elementary School Children, Kindergarten through Grade 6. NO younger children unless you are supervising and have obtained permission. Know your child, and do not enroll him if you feel the trip would be too exhausting. Groups will be subdivided according to grade level, but brothers and sisters may stay together if desired.

Please note: The Center regrets when cancellation by an industry or event forces change in schedule of the programs planned. If this occurs, every effort is made to provide a substitute program for the children. Parents are urged to MAKE SPECIAL NOTE OF THE TIME TO LEAVE THEIR CHILDREN AT THE CENTER (always 10-15 minutes before departure time) and THE TIME TO PICK THEM UP. Always park your car on the same side of the street as the Community Center, around the corner (on Webster St.), or in the Municipal lot one building away when dropping or picking up your children. ABSOLUTELY NO PICKUPS OR DELIVERIES FROM ACROSS THE STREET. An adult must claim the children if they are not walking home.

ALSO NOTE LUNCH ARRANGEMENTS AND SCHEDULE AND PROVIDE CHANGE (dimes and nickels) FOR PURCHASES FOR YOUR CHILD. The phone lines will not be open during the vacation period and the building will be officially closed. Please do not rely on the Center to call a taxi for your child. Buses leave and return on time! The Center cannot be responsible for children left after the scheduled trip is over.

IMPORTANT: PLEASE HAVE YOUR CHILD PRINT A NAME TAG (last name in capital letters) and pin it on the inside and outside of his clothes before he arrives at the Center for each trip. These trips are under the direction of Mrs. Murray Janover, a former Brookline School teacher and Director of Creative Art at the Center. Mrs. Paul Rosman, experienced social worker and teacher will assist her. The safety of the children is insured by the use of multiple supervisors drawn from the ranks of parents. Accordingly, if the quota of supervisors has not been met as the roster for each trip nears completion, only the children of those parents who are willing to act as supervisors will be accepted. For programs that are filled, a waiting list is established. The list will be used in consecutive order if cancellations occur prior to April 16th. If there are spaces on the day of the trip, the roster will be completed by drawing lots from among children who are at the Center and "standing by."

NOTE: There is no registration receipt sent. Your cancelled check is your confirmation. Your check and application will be returned only if the section is filled. Please fill out all the registration and permission slip below accurately. Checks must accompany applications. Clip and return to: Newton Community Services Centers, Inc., 429 Cherry St., West Newton, 02165. (969-5906)

SUN GODDESS — Talented young Miss Theresa A. Martin of Newton was a charming and graceful Sun Goddess, a role she skillfully portrayed in the recent Ice Chips 1970 show at the Boston Arena, sponsored by the Boston Skating Club.

Newton Miss Sparkles As Skating 'Goddess'

Charming and talented Miss Theresa A. Martin sparkled last weekend as the Sun Goddess in Ice Chips 1970 held at the Boston Arena on April 3, 4 and 5.

Theresa, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stuart B. Martin of 10 Doris Circle, is one of New England's up-and-coming young figure skaters.

She is 1970 New England Intermediate Ladies' runner-up and competed in the 1970 East Coast Championships held in Philadelphia last January.

Although only eleven years old, this was not Theresa's first Eastern event.

Theresa is a sixth grade honor student at the Cabot School. She is especially interested in science and gets up "with the birds" to be in school by seven in the morning to feed all the animals in the science labs.

With Ice Chips over, Theresa will now concentrate on the 4th Figure Test and will summer skate at the Skating Club of Boston.

Letters To The Graphic

Problem In Newton

Editor, The Graphic:

Recently I attended a Charter Commission meeting where members of the Newton School Committee discussed at-large vs. ward School Committee elections.

In December, at the Charter Commission's public hearing, I presented the proposal that the voters elect one School Committee member from each ward for the following reasons:

1. The population of Newton is approximately 92,000. This means that each School Committee member has a constituency of four times greater than that of each of our four state representatives. This is too large a constituency to represent realistically, given the time-consuming duties of the job itself.

2. Communication in Newton on a regular basis is difficult, because Newton has no daily newspaper of its own. Since the City is composed of 14 villages, whose populations and autonomous schools reflect the diversity of the city, this lack of communication poses a very real problem.

3. There is a lack of candidates running for School Committee. Over a 20 year period, the voter had no choice between candidates for School Committee approximately 61% of the time. In a comparison made with Ward Aldermen, approximately 54% of the time there was a choice, often among three or more people. One reason for the lack might be the rigors of city-wide campaigning and the need for ample funds. (In the last election, one candidate spent $3,000; in the previous election, one candidate spent $3,400.)

4. Under the present system, a School Committee member represents the city-at-large and, in addition, has the implied responsibility under the City Charter, to represent his ward of residence. But, he cannot be held accountable by the voters in his ward of residence, unless the voters of the entire city are mobilized. This is completely unrealistic. One incumbent has been defeated in approximately 30 years!

At the Commission meeting the School Committee argued against ward representation with the familiar clichés — "Parochialism," "provincialism," "ward heelers," "tremendous local pressures." Inferences were made that the Newton voter at the ward level hasn't the intelligence to elect a proper representative, certainly not of the caliber that serves on the Committee today — by virtue of being elected at-large.

I have heard these well-worn phrases before. However, what was really disconcerting was that to support their argument, some School Committee members referred to a recent meeting of the Committee held at the Davis School. It seems that 70 interested people came to hear about their gym, and then left, without listening to the rest of the agenda. This proved that citizens are just not concerned enough about overall education in Newton. They are limited in their scope to "only their immediate local concern" — so said some of the School Committee.

It is interesting to note that nobody asked the School Committee to report on citizens' attendance at their regularly scheduled meetings at School Committee headquarters twice monthly. In my years of attendance, about ten "regulars" (plus or minus) have come faithfully over the years to listen to the discussions of "broader" issues in education.

I believe it is encouraging when people respond at a local level on matters relating to their children's education. Is this the kind of ward pressure to which the School Committee alludes?

We can rest assured, though, that without a change in our current method of electing the School Committee, they will never have to face their constituency in too close proximity.

Mrs. Martin Saklad Newton Highlands.

Thanks For Uehlein

Editor, The Graphic:

Thanks are due Edward C. Uehlein, Chairman of the Aldermanic Finance Committee, for his statement on the 1970 Municipal Budget and to the Newton Graphic for its publication March 26.

It shows a firm grasp of the facts and tells the story clearly in terms most of us understand.

Uehlein, it should also be noted, deserves a salute for the part he played in breaking the recent High School bond issue impasse.

He and fellow members of his committee merit the community's warm thanks.

Sincerely,
NEWTON OBSERVER

Editor,
The Graphic:

An unfortunate incident has served to remind me of the goodness of mankind, a fact that most are beginning to believe a fiction.

Standing beside my car, with its flat tire, but hardly stranded, since I was across the street from a telephone, at 1 p.m. on a lovely day, I was happily surprised to see not one, but two other cars stop to assist me. The older gentleman, being reassured by the younger man that the latter would change my tire, drove off, and the younger man, a B.C. student, named Jim Mellinger, proceeded to help me out of my difficulties. His concern, help, and reassurance was appreciated beyond belief, and for all this the only reward he would take was my heartfelt thanks.

My admiration for Jim, and the other gentleman who stopped, is shared I'm sure by all who read this, and my belief in the coming of peace and brotherhood is strengthened by the knowledge that such people are traveling the road with us daily.

Mrs. Martin M. Phillips Waban, Mass.

Editor, The Graphic:

It was a privilege for me to be chairman of a group of concerned Newton citizens in the showing of the Martin Luther King film at the Paramount Theater in Newton. We had a complete sell-out and had to turn people away at the door. Naturally all of us were thrilled that we could be so successful in this venture.

It would be an impossible task to thank everyone personally who took part. Therefore I am using this means to contact as many people in Newton as possible to say thank you for one of the most delightful evenings of my life. The manager and staff of the theater extended to us all matters of courtesies.

All of Newton's religious institutions respond graciously to our pleas for publicity and the sale of tickets. Many persons worked many hours and over 900 people in Newton were at the theater party. To all I want to say thank you.

In reply to many inquiries, we are hoping that eventually we may be able to show the film at a reduced rate to all people, especially children and youth. I hope this will be possible in the early fall.

Sincerely,
Max M. Wexler

Recent Deaths

William C. Wood

Memorial funeral services were held on Tuesday (April 7) at the Church of the Messiah here following the recent death of William C. Wood, 21, formerly Bruce C. Wood, 321 Auburndale Ave., Auburndale. The Rev. Robert Goldedge officiated.
Born in Auburndale and a resident here during his life, he graduated from Newton High School with the Class of 1969. He was employed at La-sell Junior College prior to his death.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Barbara Wood Haverly and stepfather, Frank H. Haverly, a brother Bradley W., and a sister Pamela A. Wood, both of the home address.

Frances Niven Atwell

Memorial services will be held this Sunday (April 12) at 3 p.m. in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Newton Highlands for Frances Niven Atwell, a former resident here who died suddenly in San Antonio, Texas, on Sunday (April 5). The service will be conducted by the Rev. John M. Balcom of St. Paul's.

Born in Boston and for many years a resident in Newton where she attended school, she was graduated from Newton High School and from Boston University. During school years she was active in the Boston Children's Theatre. She was a member of St. Paul's Church here. Miss Atwell had moved recently to San Antonio from Baltimore, Md.

She leaves Mrs. Helen H. Atwell of 16 Lucille Place, Newton Upper Falls; three brothers, Eliot M. Sterling of Needham Heights; Charles R. Atwell of Melrose and Robert N. Atwell of Allston.

Anthony Antonellis

A resident of Newton for 60 years, Anthony Antonellis of 46 Court street, Newtonville, died at Newton-Wellesley Hospital on Thursday, April 2 after a short illness. He was 72, a native of Italy, and was employed in the restaurant business for 30 years.

Funeral services were held Monday with a solemn requiem Mass in Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton.

Mr. Antonellis was the husband of the late Jennie (Borghese) Antonellis. Surviving are three sons, Joseph Antonellis of Wayland; Anthony and James Antonellis, both of Newton; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Panaggio of Newton and Mrs. Gloria Madden of Burlington.

Also, 21 grandchildren; one great-grandchild; a brother, Carmen Antonellis of Watertown; three sisters, Mrs. Filomena Lanno of Brighton, Mrs. Carmella Leone and Mrs. Gerarda Salvucci, both of Newton.

Edmund F. Cheverie

A requiem high Mass was celebrated for Edmund F. Cheverie of 15 Buswell Park, Newton, on Tuesday in Our Lady Help of the Christians Church, Newton, with the funeral at the Martin E. Conroy Funeral Home, Newton.

Mr. Cheverie, born in Prince Edward Island, Canada, to the late Jerome and Lillian (Deagle) Cheverie, died Saturday (April 4).

Noted Pianist At Newton High On April 14th

The Music Club of Newton High School will present pianist, Clifford Boatner, at its next meeting on Tuesday, April 14, at 2 p.m. in the auditorium.

Through the efforts of Mr. Robert Giorgi of the Day Junior High Music Faculty, this program is being made possible. Mr. Henry Lasker, faculty advisor of the Music Club, has invited students and parents of Day, Lincoln-Eliot, Clafin and Cabot Schools, and the general public to attend.

Mr. Boatner, who is scheduled to present a program in Carnegie Recital Hall in New York, on April 25, will include pieces by Mozart, Beethoven, Ravel and Mendelssohn in his appearance at Newton High.

He is also a mathematics teacher, and author known for his fusion of mathematics with other subjects. He has appeared on television channels, 4, 5 and 7 as pianist and educator. Though his early music training starting at Roosevelt University, (Chicago Musical College in cooperation with the University of Chicago), he has had the privilege of studying with famous pianists Sidney Foster, Jorge Bolet, Clarence Adler in New York and Jesus Maria Sanroma in Puerto Rico.

Mr. Boatner is the author of a book "Introduction to Music Theory" which is being revised and republished by SEE (Selective Educational Equipment, Inc., Newton, Mass.)

A tour of this famous library will follow the talk. Pertinent to the times are the many manuscripts housed in the library. Not only does the Schlesinger Library contain valuable data pertaining to Black History, Women's Rights, the Massachusetts Suffrage Movement, Political Papers which belonged to Edith Nourse Rogers, but also a large collection of materials about Helen Keller, Letters and Journals of the Phelps Stokes sisters, "philanthropists noted for their interest in the welfare of Indians, Negroes, Southern poor whites, and New York City slum-dwellers."

A delightful Spring Tea will be held in the Irwin Room. Mrs. Manfred Klein, president of M.S.U.E.W., has indicated that pourers at the tea will be Miss Ruth Bean of Wellesley; Miss Eleanor Clifton of Simmons College, Boston; Mrs. F. Roy Carlson of Newton Centre, and Mrs. David Moriarty of Needham.

Area residents involved in the work of this organization are: Mrs. James Hobson of Newton Centre, Mrs. Raymond Eldridge of Newton Highlands, Mrs. Elmore I. MacPhie of West Newton, Mrs. Lawrence I. Phillips of Newton.

Also, Miss Mary Taylor of West Newton, Mrs. Shields Warren of West Newton, Miss Inez M. Atwater and Mrs. George Michaels of Auburndale, Mrs. Frank E. Barton and Mrs. Vernon E. Blagbrough of West Newton, Mrs. Harold H. Cramer of Newton Centre.

Also, Mrs. Maurice Crevo-shay and Miss Olive R. Gilchrist of Newton, Miss Ethel Ham and Miss Mildred Hood of Newtonville, Mrs. Clarence Howell and Mrs. C. A. Jordan of West Newton.

Also, Mrs. Gordon A. Joslin and Mrs. Edwin L. Kanitz of West Newton, Mrs. James A. Miller, Auburndale, Mrs. Richard G. Etelman of Wayland, Mrs. John E. Murphy of Newton Highlands, and Miss Ruth Paul of West Newton.

Mrs. Cheek's professional and civic affiliations more than qualify her to talk on "The Never-Ending Story of the Aspirations of American Women" as documented in the Schlesinger Library at Radcliffe College. During the course of the afternoon, guests and members will have the opportunity to meet Mrs. Elizabeth Schlesinger, whom Mrs. Cheek will introduce.

Newtonites Active In Pen Women's Meeting April 21

On Tuesday, April 21, the Massachusetts Society for the University Education of Women will hold its spring meeting in the Arthur and Elizabeth Schlesinger Library, 3 James Street, Cambridge, at 2 o'clock. Guests are welcome to attend.

Program Chairman Mrs. Raymond Moskow of Sherborn and her committee: Miss Barbara Clifford of Bedford, Mrs. Richard Conti of Arlington, Mrs. A. Stanley Gibson of Boston, and Miss Ruth Hall of Arlington will host the affair in the Fiske Room of the Library.

The Society, an organization which promotes and makes possible many scholarships and loans to selected women students in certain colleges and universities in Massachusetts, presents as its speaker of the afternoon, the well-known and gracious Mrs. Jeannette B. Cheek, who holds degrees from both Wellesley and Radcliffe Colleges. Mrs. Cheek also studied at Ecole des Sciences in Paris. She is now a Radcliffe Institute Scholar.

Area residents involved in the work of this organization are: Mrs. James Hobson of Newton Centre, Mrs. Raymond Eldridge of Newton Highlands, Mrs. Elmore I. MacPhie of West Newton, Mrs. Lawrence I. Phillips of Newton.

Also, Miss Mary Taylor of West Newton, Mrs. Shields Warren of West Newton, Miss Inez M. Atwater and Mrs. George Michaels of Auburndale, Mrs. Frank E. Barton and Mrs. Vernon E. Blagbrough of West Newton, Mrs. Harold H. Cramer of Newton Centre.

Also, Mrs. Maurice Crevo-shay and Miss Olive R. Gilchrist of Newton, Miss Ethel Ham and Miss Mildred Hood of Newtonville, Mrs. Clarence Howell and Mrs. C. A. Jordan of West Newton.

Also, Mrs. Gordon A. Joslin and Mrs. Edwin L. Kanitz of West Newton, Mrs. James A. Miller, Auburndale, Mrs. Richard G. Etelman of Wayland, Mrs. John E. Murphy of Newton Highlands, and Miss Ruth Paul of West Newton.

Mrs. Cheek's professional and civic affiliations more than qualify her to talk on "The Never-Ending Story of the Aspirations of American Women" as documented in the Schlesinger Library at Radcliffe College. During the course of the afternoon, guests and members will have the opportunity to meet Mrs. Elizabeth Schlesinger, whom Mrs. Cheek will introduce.

A tour of this famous library will follow the talk. Pertinent to the times are the many manuscripts housed in the library. 1968, from the Corporation of London for $2,460,000.

The bridge, dismantled stone by stone for shipment to the United States is to be replaced by a new structure over the Thames.

Not all of the stone from the original bridge will find its way to the Arizona desert, but much has and "London Bridge" in Arizona eventually will look virtually the same as the original to the casual observer.

There will be some changes between the old and the new. The bridge will not be as wide as the original because the pedestrian walks at the edge will not be needed here. And only the facing stones, decorative railing, balustrades and corbels will be used.

Whereas the entire bridge in London was built of quarried granite blocks, the new bridge will be of poured reinforced concrete, with the facing blocks fitted on the outside.

Carl Baker, who is directing the bridge construction project for McCulloch, said the target date for completion of the structure is May, 1971.

The McCulloch firm is counting heavily on the bridge as a tourist attraction for the new community.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC

Watercolors On Display At Library Starting April 12

according to Museum of Fine Arts teacher Kaji Aso, "is like trying to catch a fish in your hand."

The resulting catch of his Museum School class goes on view from April 12-May 1 in a group showing, Owl Show, at the Newton Free Library, Chaffin Hall, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Mr. Aso's students "do not think anything complicated in the class," he adds, "we are just enjoying the medium of beautiful watercolor."

Mr. Aso, former lecture professor in etching at Joshibi University, Tokyo, and now on the faculty of the Museum School, has had several one-man shows in Tokyo and has won a variety of awards for his work, including first prize from the All Japan Print Society in 1960.

Gretchen Mentzer of Newton, Diana Bickford of Weston, and Pat Monson of Chestnut Hill are local watercolorists represented in the show, which also includes students from Cambridge, Roxbury, Somerville, Boston, South Weymouth, Chelmsford, West Newbury and Medford.

Mrs. Mentzer, of 26 George Street, Newton, has coordinated the exhibit for the 20 class members and has been liaison between the group and the Library.

An informal reception with the artists, to which the public is invited, will take place at Chaffin Hall, Main Library, 1:30-3:30, on Sunday, April 12, as part of Newton's celebration of National Library Week.

A special art book display accompanies the exhibit.

On Dean's List At Trinity Coll. The following area students have been reported by the school as being on the Dean's List at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

Richard S. Beaser, freshman, 44 Chatham Rd., Newton; Bruce R. Miller, freshman, 90 Wayne Rd., Newton Centre; Jeffrey A. Brown, sophomore, 17 Stetson Way, Waban; and Eliot M. Weinstein, senior, 202 Russett Rd., Chestnut Hill.

Graceful shadows and violence have come out of corrugated cardboard at Murray Road in an attempt by Al Hurwitz, coordinator of arts in Newton Public School, to expand the art curriculum without expanding the budget.

He brought in to the school a few pieces of tri-wall corrugated board, and the students went to work doctoring and decorating the boards.

Students impregnated cornstarch, tinfoil, and other available materials in the cardboard. They exposed the corrugations on different levels, painted, assembled, reassembled, and manipulated the boards to bring out what they wished to portray in their geometric shadow art.

Al Hurwitz came to teach his course in art improvisations at Murray Road to expand and improve the art program. As coordinator of arts in Newton, he regularly communicates with Newton art teachers, and ideas that have grown from his Murray Road work quickly benefit Newton's entire art program.

At the close of the academic year, Mr. Hurwitz plans a display of Murray Road creations in the school administration building. Some projects will be as designed, and others, because of space limitations, will be on film.

Brotherhood Will Hear Soviet Expert Sunday

Soviet expert Leon Volkov of the Communist world since will be guest speaker at the 16th annual Jack Wilson Memorial Breakfast by the Brotherhood of Temple Mishkan Tefila this Sunday at 9:15 a.m. in the Temple Social Hall, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill. "United States-Soviet Confrontation in the Middle East" will be the subject of Mr. Volkov's address.

A member of the Newsweek magazine staff since 1953, he has been covering, interpreting and predicting the movements and complexities of the Communist world since that time. Born and raised in the Soviet Union, a graduate of the University of Moscow with a degree in history and literature, he served with the Soviet Air Force during World War II. He was granted asylum following his plane crash and his disappearance was covered by the report of no survivors of the crash.

Volkov lived in the U.S. under a pseudonym until Stalin's death in 1953. Congress legalized his entry into the U.S. and declared him a citizen in 1964. A series of Breakfast chairman is articles by him appeared in the Saturday Evening Post titled "Stalin Thinks I'm Dead" in this period. His record of predictions on the course of Soviet affairs has been phenomenal.

Herbert Lerman, Maurice Perlmutter is Brotherhood President. Reservations may be made through Temple Office 332-7770.

Economy In Government Nixon's Aim

A blind Lubbock Tex., woman and a Lorenzo, Tex., freshman coed at Texas Tech University are still benefitting from the summer they spent together this past year.

Vicki Liston, of Lorenzo, has a goal for the rest of her life after spending the three months as a companion and advisor to Barbee Thompson, a Lubbock woman born blind. Miss Liston enrolled at Texas Tech with a pocketful of dreams for a major in child development that will emphasize education of the blind.

"The time I spent during the summer with Miss Thompson has inspired me to attempt to make a contribution to the lives of other blind persons in the world," she said. "I was able to see through Barbee just what a need there was in this field."

Miss Thompson has overcome more than blindness, however. After being born blind, it was discovered at the age of three that she had suffered brain damage, which caused a tendency toward epilepsy.

Any of the three problems would have presented almost unquenchable barriers in itself. But with the help of her parents and an older brother, Miss Thompson has overcome all three.

Her father, Asher Thompson, has added to the lives of many blind persons. He is serving an unprecedented 11th term as chairman of the State Commission for the Blind, and also serves as a board member of the Light House for the Blind.

Miss Thompson is a strong-minded, talented young lady who plays the piano, sings and types on a braille typewriter. She can pull a record from her collection and call it by name, tell its artist and label—all without the help of braille notation.

At present she is back in New Mexico's School for the Visually Handicapped.

From their summer together, the two young women are moving ahead—both encouraged after playing away last summer, swimming, studying, bowling, weaving, swinging, skating and making candle sticks.

Each claims to have learned a lot from the other which will be meaningful for years to come.

ORT Luncheon Meeting To Be Held On Monday

The Charles River Chapter of Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) will hold their Spring Luncheon meeting on Monday, April 13 at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Austen Adeson, Newton.

The meeting chairmen, Mrs. Martin Braver and Mrs. Arthur Goldberg of Newton have announced that Dr. David Neiman, full time member of the theological faculty of Boston College will be the featured speaker of the afternoon.

Dr. Neiman has just received an unprecedented appointment as visiting professor in theology to the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome.

Dr. Neiman, who is an ordained Rabbi will assume his duties at the first Jewish theologian at the 400-year-old Roman Catholic Seminary in the Spring of 1971 and will teach Jewish Literature contemporary with the new testament.

Women's American ORT is one of the largest and most progressive women's organizations in the U.S. today, with a membership of 78,000 in 600 chapters. Its purpose is to advance the vital worldwide ORT program, whose aim is to build and rebuild Jewish lives through vocational education. ORT teaches 70 different trades in over 650 vocational installations in 22 countries on 5 continents.

Community Center Takes Registrations For Camp

Registration is underway for the Newton Community Service Centers summer camps for boys and girls from 3½ to 14 years of age.

The Senior Camp (for 13 and 14 year olds) and the Day Camp (for 8½ to 12 year olds) are located at the picturesque Robert Sever Hale Camping Reservation in Westwood, which is a wooded area including several hundred acres of nature trails, fishing areas, swimming locations, etc. The camp will operate for an eight-week period, June 29th through August 21 with enrollees required to register for a minimum of two weeks.

Children will meet each morning at Warren Junior High School and be taken to camp by bus. Generally, campers will plan their own activities with instructional swimming, athletics, fishing, cookouts, and periodic overnight camping included.

Kinder Kamp (for 3½ to 6 year olds) operates on the grounds of the Warren Junior High School. Enrollees at this camp are also required to register for at least two weeks. Children bring their lunch and are served milk, a morning snack of crackers and juice will also be provided. Transportation is available.

The varied activity includes supervised play, games, stories, trips to farms and other points of interest, cookouts and use of wading pools.

Additional information is available at the Newton Community Service Centers administrative offices located at the Community Center, 429 Cherry Street in West Newton, telephone 969-5906.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

The pecan which originated many thousands of years ago is probably one of the easiest nuts to crack. It also has a sweet, delicious flavor. These two factors have contributed to making the pecan the most popular and economically important nut in America. The pecan performs with infinite versatility in the kitchen. In addition to pralines, pecan pie has won undisputed prominence among classical American dishes and is one of the most memorable Southern contributions. The butter, eggs, corn syrup, sugar, and pecans combine to form a unique delicacy that is irresistible.

Memorable meals are an everyday occurrence at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Have you tried our dinner specials? Sundays thru Fridays we have two (2) boiled lobsters for $4.25 and Custom Sirloin Steak for $3.95. Plan to dine here this week.

HELPFUL HINT: A pinch of baking soda in coffee cream will prevent it from curdling in coffee, if you are not sure of its freshness.

Legislators In Move To Change Auto Insurance

The Governor and members of the State Legislature are working together to produce up-dated legislation to reduce the cost of automobile insurance at an early date, according to reports out of Beacon Hill.

One report lists Representative Theodore D. Mann as being among the group of legislators involved in this effort to bring relief to the motorists of Massachusetts. He is a member of the Legislative Committee on Insurance.

Listed with him are several others making important contributions to forthcoming legislative proposals. These are Rep. Edward L. Dever, Jr., House Chairman of the Legislative Committee and the Special Commission on Insurance; Rep. Michael S. Dukakis, and Senator Philbert L. Pellegri.

Representative Mann has long been concerned with the problem of increasing motor vehicle insurance costs and has given the subject high priority in his legislative program.

He is one of the principal sponsors of another major piece of insurance legislation, the so-called "FAIR PLAN" which is now providing Fair Access to Insurance Requirements, particularly for those in urban areas.

The first libel suit in the U. S. was brought against John Peter Zenger of the New York Weekly Journal. The case was fought on August 4, 1735 by Andrew Hamilton.

Irish Airlines Fashion Show At Meeting Friday

At Junior College April 14

"Newton's Environment" to Be Local Teach-In Subject

"Improving Newton's Environment" will be the subject of a Teach-In for Newton residents, to be held at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 14, at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville, on the campus of Newton Junior College.

The Newton Conservators, the Newton Citizens for Clean Air, and the Newton Junior College Adult Education Program will present an evening of talks to inform Newton residents of the status of its air, water, and land resources, and to suggest how an optimum environment may be attained.

One of the questions to be discussed is "How does water pollution affect the people of Newton?" Mrs. Rita Barron will present a slide lecture on the benefits of a proximate natural water body and the ill-effects of an abused stream system.

A resident of Newton, Mrs. Barron is a Board Member of Newton Conservators, Inc., and of the Charles River Watershed Association, and an active participant in the programs of the Water Resources Committee and the League of Women Voters.

Dr. John Heywood will speak on the question: "Does Newton have clean air?" In his talk, Dr. Heywood will answer the following questions: What are the causes and health hazards of air pollution in Metropolitan Boston? What additional regulations are required to improve the quality of Newton's air?

Dr. Heywood is Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Advisor to Newton Citizens for Clean Air.

Mr. E. Michael Ferris, Planning Director for Newton,

"S O S: Save Our Swamps" will be the fourth topic on the program. It will be concerned with a plea for flood plain, and watershed protection zoning with application to the possible elimination of the large red maple swamp, north of Hammond Pond.

This talk will be given by Mrs. Helen Heyn, Secretary to the Newton Conservation Commission and Board Member of the Newton Conservators, Inc., and of the Charles River Watershed Association.

Concern for Newton's environment has grown rapidly. Although the General Court of Massachusetts passed the Conservation Commission Act in 1957, the commission movement grew very slowly. At the present time 80 per cent of the cities and towns in Massachusetts have conservation commissions.

The first petition for a conservation commission for Newton was presented to the Board of Aldermen in 1963, and in 1967, this commission was approved by the Commonwealth.

Newton citizens are now being alerted to the dangers to their community, and all interested residents are cordially invited to attend this Teach-In to learn what the dangers are and how they may be controlled and eventually eradicated.

For further information, please call Newton Junior College, 969-9570.

Opposing Viewpoints For Election of School Board

Members of the Newton Charter Commission and the Newton School Committee held opposing views at a meeting last week over proposed changes in electing school committee members.

Summing up the commission point of view, Commr. Jerome Grossman said he favored electing school committee members by ward as opposed to the at-large with ward residency requirement now in vogue.

Grossman said it is rare for an incumbent to be defeated. He stated, "Most people don't understand the procedure for voting for school committee or alderman-at-large. The results in great confusion and blank votes and perpetuation of incumbencies."

He also said that most school committee members "represent the same general view" and that the cost of running for the committee is "very high" because a candidate must run citywide.

Grossman said this "deals out" low income persons and those who can't spend the time on a busy citywide campaign.

School Committee member Francis P. Frazier argued that the present method of election "culls the cream" of the candidates. Frazier said a ward system would elect candidates with "parochial views." He said their attitude would be "what can I do for my ward rather than what can I do for my city."

Frazier said the ward system would lead to wheeling and dealing and partisan politics.

Commr. Alvin Mandell, who also is a member of the school committee, also appeared to disagree with Grossman, stating, the philosophies of the committee members "are scattered all over different issues."

School Committee member Vincent P. Stanton said the Underwood School in Newton Corner is an example where a man's ward interest might run counter to the city's interest.

Stanton said that the Ward 8 committeeman, Mandell, is concerned not only with the Underwood School but the Cabot and Davis schools. He said the people have eight representatives on the committee whereas they'd have one under the ward system.

Commr. H. James Shea Jr., noted that problems still beset the Underwood School, adding, "The public interest might be better served by having more responsiveness to the Underwood School. That is one of the problems some of us sense here."

Shea continued, "It is interesting that you all (school committee members) came in with common views regarding length of term and method of election. This breadth of approach can be carried to the extreme."

Commr. Joseph G. Bradley criticized the at-large system saying it "has produced a rather sterile school committee as far as differences are concerned." Bradley said the present committee does not "truly represent the people of Newton. It would not be a disaster if a construction laborer were elected. That's pretty much impossible now. The school committee is a closed corporation."

Bradley said the at-large election produces candidates with the same background. He said ward elections would draw out six or seven candidates rather than one or two for each seat.

Mandell read a list of the occupations of the present committee members and some former members. All were professional people.

Change in Folk And Film Fest At Hyde School

The Folk and Film Fest at the Hyde School in Newton Highlands has announced that the programs for the last two Friday evenings of the series have been changed.

On Friday, April 10, the Quadrivium Consort and the Cambridge Mimmers will present their programs of music, dance, and drama.

The last Friday of the series will be southern mountain music performed by the Spark Gap Wonder Boys, on Friday, April 17.

There is a nominal charge with a family rate for these events.

Sacred Heart College To Open Arts Week Tonight

The Boston Ballet Company will perform at Newton (Mass.) College of the Sacred Heart on Wednesday evening, April 15th to bring to a fitting finale the week long Arts Festival of the 70's.

The program will include Valse Fantaisie choreographed by George Balanchine to music by Glinka. This selection is taken from the full ballet "Glinkiana" first performed at the Boston Ballet Society benefit at Symphony Hall in Boston.

The program will continue with Reflections original repertoire Workshop for television and restaged for the Boston Ballet's first appearance at the Loeb Drama Theatre in Cambridge.

The Newton College Program will conclude with the performance of Pas de Dix, chosen from Glasunov's "Raymonda."

In this arrangement, Balanchine has arranged a series of dances for 20th Century dancers exhibiting the elegance and bravura of those trained in the classical ballet tradition.

The Boston Ballet Company presentation is open to the public and will be performed at 8 p.m. in the Gymnasium of the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart next door to Newton College.

The program concludes the Sixth Annual Arts Festival at Newton College of the Sacred Heart. The Arts Week beginning today, Thursday, April 9th will include many other presentations of interest to the public.

Some of these are a lecture by Galt MacDermot, writer of the music for the Broadway hit Hair, tonight, Thursday, April 9th; the film "Shoot the Piano Player" directed by Francois Truffaut to be presented on Saturday, April 11th, and an organ concert by Anthony Newman on Tuesday, April 14th at the College Chapel.

An exhibition of works of Norman Laliberte, nationally known artist, will be open all week at the Putnam Art Center of Newton College, the four year liberal arts college conducted by the Religious of the Sacred Heart.

Secretary of the State John F. X. Davoren and Mayor Monte G. Basbas will be speakers at the annual "Old Timer's Night" by Legion Post 48 on Thursday, April 16, 1970.

There will be a Social Hour from 6-7 p.m., and a Roast Beef Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. at the Newton City Hall Cafeteria (catered by "Jean's of Milford"). This event is in honor of Lionel Sadler for his service and comradeship.

TROPICAL STORM VEERS TO AID ASTRONAUTS' SPLASHDOWN

ON EARTH, the fates seemed Wednesday to be smiling on the three astronauts aboard crippled Apollo 13 spacecraft in the wake of a crisis involving a change in trajectory. Officials had discovered that unless the spacecraft's trajectory could be changed, the spaceship would miss earth, dooming the pilots in space. Under average conditions the maneuver could be considered a normal one for the safe return of the astronauts, James A. Lovell, John L. Swigert and Fred W. Haise. But in their crippled spaceship, every maneuver was fraught with danger until the critical moment Wednesday night was passed. The oxygen, water and electrical supplies were holding up well. Flight director Milton Windler at the Space Center in Houston announced that the spacecraft would have to be turned around so that the descent engine on the lunar lander faced forward. The spacecraft had to be lined up at a very exact angle before the braking blast was fired. Officials were confident the descent engine would work, since it has on two previous and vital occasions—but if it didn't, the maneuver could still be made with smaller control rockets. The astronauts were due to splashdown at 1:04 p.m. EST Friday in the Pacific, about 600 miles southeast of Pago Pago. With a successful landing they could be back home in Houston Saturday.

VIET CONG SHELLS SAIGON WITH SOVIET-MADE ROCKETS

THE VIET CONG shelled Saigon with Soviet-made rockets early Thursday in the second such attack on the capital in 51 hours. Military spokesmen said at least two of the rockets hit inside the capital, one of them near the American USO in downtown Saigon. American military police said one of the long range 122mm rockets, which are the size of a man, landed between two houses, causing no casualties and only light damage. There were no reports of casualties or damage from the second rocket which was reported to have hit an area near the USO. Allied artillery batteries pounded suspected firing sites in marshland southeast of Saigon. In a similar attack Monday night, Communists fired four rockets into the central sector of Saigon, killing two Vietnamese civilians and wounding 41 others. It was the first time Saigon had been shelled this year.

ISRAELI JETS ATTACK EGYPTIAN MILITARY TARGETS

ISRAELI WARPLANES attacked Egyptian military targets on the Suez Canal and Gulf of Suez for one hour and 15 minutes Wednesday, a spokesman reported in Tel Aviv. He said Israeli troops exchanged gunfire with Arab guerrillas across the frontier with Jordan. In Amman, 12,000 persons attacked the U.S. Embassy and burned out the U.S. Information Service library to protest a visit by Joseph J. Sisco, U.S. Assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs. Sisco was in Jerusalem where he discussed the Middle East crisis separately with Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan during the day. He also planned to meet with Premier Golda Meir before going to Amman on Friday. He conferred with President Gamal Abdel Nasser and other Egyptian officials in Cairo earlier.

75,000 JAM BOSTON COMMON FOR ANTI-VIETNAM WAR RALLY

ABOUT 75,000 cheerful young people jammed Boston Common Wednesday afternoon for a "rites of spring" rally focused on opposition to the war in Vietnam. The dozen speakers at the "Not So Silent Spring" rally included Georgia State Rep. Julian Bond; Oregon State University Prof. John Froines, acquitted in the Chicago Seven conspiracy trial; and his co-defendant, Abbie Hoffman. The latter exhorted the crowd to revolt against "the insurance society" of Boston and was greeted with enthusiasm. Many spectators began leaving after his speech. There were no incidents during the rally, although a group of Students for a Democratic Society shouted through bullhorns until they were allowed their own speaker. Girls on roller skates, men listening to baseball games on transistor radios, and women carrying babies papoose-style, marched in long columns from the 14 gathering points to the Common where local rock and singing groups entertained before the speech-making began. A good time was had by all.

JUDGE DENIES MOTION TO DROP CHARGES AGAINST BRADY

A SUPERIOR COURT judge Wednesday denied one of two defense motions to drop conspiracy charges against George L. Brady, former chairman of the Massachusetts Parking Authority, accused in the disappearance of $749,468. Judge Edward F. Hennessey denied defense allegations Sen. Edward W. Brooke, when attorney general of Massachusetts in 1963, promised to drop all indictments against Brady, 64, if his wife assumed his guardianship. Brady is charged with conspiring to steal $405,000 from the funds used to build the Boston Common garage in 1961. He also faces trial on additional conspiracy and larceny charges in the disappearance of another $394,468. The three days of pretrial motion hearings included testimony from Brooke and from Lucy Brady, the defendant's wife. The senator repeatedly denied he ever suggested to anyone he might drop the indictments under any conditions. Brady was ill in 1963 and did not stand trial with five other men in the disappearance of the money. He vanished later in 1963 just prior to another competency hearing and was missing for six years. He was arrested last fall in New Jersey.

WAY CLEARED FOR FREEING OF KOPECHNE PAPERS

THE U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals cleared the way Wednesday to make the Mary Joe Kopechne secret inquest documents public immediately—possibly Friday. The court acted after legal unflinching—touched off by a freelance court stenographer—had delayed public distribution of the inquest testimony and the report of the judge who had presided over the inquest. The dispute had centered over who had the right—the stenographer or Suffolk Superior Court in Boston—to reproduce the inquest transcript and distribute copies for a fee to news media and others.

The aldermanic chambers at Newton City Hall were overflowing on Monday night when more than 500 people, a larger crowd than turned out even for the dog leash hearing, came to express themselves on a proposal to establish a home for alienated high school students.

Over 200 Newton residents stood in the chambers and in the halls outside for the four and a half hour public hearing on Freeport Foundation's petition for permissive zoning use of the premises at 361 Commonwealth Ave. in Newton Centre.

The hearing was held before the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen and the Planning Board. The Land Use Committee will conduct an open meeting tonight (Thursday) at which discussion of the petition is expected. If they vote on the matter, it may come before the full Board of Aldermen for action on Monday night.

Freeport, initiated by a group of students in a psychology class at Newton High School about a year and a half ago, seeks to set up a home for up to 16 teenagers whose home life has become so troubled that at least a temporary respite might be beneficial.

However, spokesmen for the group said they are immediately asking for a one year trial period during which only three students at the beginning and working up to six to eight before the year's end would live in the dwelling.

Newton Baptist Leaders

Taking part in annual two-day convention of the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts at the First United Baptist Church, Lowell, on Friday and Saturday, April 24-25, will be the Rev. Dr. A. Pateron Lee of Newton, pastor of the Tremont Temple Baptist Church in downtown Boston; and Mrs. Leland Maxfield of Newton, Clerk of the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts. About one thousand clergy and lay leaders will participate. Theme will be "Summoned to the 70's."

Add Directors To Jr. College List

The Board of Directors of Newton Junior College has announced the addition of a distinguished group of new members and the election of officers for the current 1970-1971 term.

In noting these developments, President of the College, Charles W. Dudley, affirms again the highly constructive and supportive role of the Board of Directors in the conduct of College affairs.

In his opinion, the Board is a singularly important force for providing wise and forward-looking counsel as the College faces a future of challenge and change.

Quinlan Could Win Battle But Lose the Election War

State Senator John M. Quinlan of Norwood may have overlooked one important fact in defying Governor Francis W. Sargent and launching his unusual drive for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

If Quinlan wins his fight for second place on the GOP State ticket but in the process hurts Mr. Sargent to the point where the latter is defeated for election next November, Senator Quinlan will go down the drain with the Governor.

508 Units To Be Built

Major Housing Plan Filed Here

The Newton Community Development Foundation (NCDF), a citizen-sponsored non-profit housing corporation, today filed petitions for rezoning on ten tracts of land scattered throughout the city for the construction of 508 units of housing for families of moderate and low income.

The Foundation had first declared its intention to build 500 units on 10 scattered sites almost a year ago, and today's filing marks the completion of those plans.

Though the original plan called for half of the land to be donated by the City to reduce land costs to within Federally-established cost ceiling, NCDF was able to buy nearly 60 per cent of the land it needed on the private market.

In all, 40.7 acres are involved on the 10 sites, of which 24.0 acres were privately owned, and 16.7

are in city ownership. Most of the City land is non-designated.

Only 1.26 acres of undeveloped, unused land are called for from land designated for the Recreation Department—one-half of 1 per cent of the total of 250.2 acres of such land.

Prior to this morning's filing and public announcement, the Foundation officers and architects held a marathon series of ten separate village meetings over the weekend to meet with the neighbors and discuss plans with them. All

5 Officers Promoted In Police Dept.

The Newton Police Department promoted five officers last Monday, April 13, at ceremonies held at Newton station and attended by about 150 persons.

Lt. Richard J. Nugent was promoted from sergeant, heading the training school class; Lt. Thomas M. Dargan was promoted from sergeant, remaining in the Community Services Department; Sgt. George F. Sorenson, Jr., was promoted from patrolman, heading a night relief force.

Sgt. Charles E. Feeley was promoted from patrolman, remaining in Community Services; and Sgt. Arthur M. Rooney was promoted from patrolman, remaining as dispatcher.

Police Chief William F. Quinn presented the men with their badges.

Mayor Monte G. Bashaas headed the dignitaries attending the ceremonies along with District Court Judge Franklin N. Flaschner, heads of the city departments, members of the promoted officers' families and their friends.

Jaycee Honor

William I. Cowin, 85 Country Club Road, Newton, was chosen as one of the "Ten Outstanding Young Men" of Greater Boston by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Cowin, 31 years old and currently Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Utilities, is former aide to Senator Edward W. Brooke and Mayor Kevin White.

Flexibility In Fashion

In the spring a young man's fancy should have little difficulty adjusting to hemlines. He can take his pick as is shown here by three attractive models from Lase Junior College. Left to right, Elizabeth C. Carlucci, Lyn Hertz, and Sharyn Ann Brown display fluctuating coat lengths. Yes, the "maxi" will be here in spring weight according to these Sears Roebuck styles.

New Headmistress Named For Country Day School

The Country Day School of the Sacred Heart in Newton announces the appointment of Sister Anne Higgins as Headmistress.

The college preparatory school is one of an international group of schools and colleges in thirty-two countries under the direction of the Religious of the Sacred Heart. The Society of the Sacred Heart was founded in Paris in 1800 and consecrated to the Christian education of girls and young women throughout the world.

Newton was founded in 1886 and first located in Boston before acquiring the property on which it now operates and which adjoins the campus of Newton College of the Sacred Heart. The student body consists of both day students from local communities and boarding students from other states and from foreign countries.

Sister Higgins is a native of North Scituate, Rhode Island, was graduated from Elmhurst Academy of the Sacred Heart in Providence, Rhode Island, and from Manhattanville College in Purchase, New York in 1960.

She was student president of the college and majored in history. She received her Master's degree in history from Manhattanville in 1963. She has also done graduate work at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

In 1968, she was appointed assistant headmistress at the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart and previous to that she was Director of Students at Eden Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Sister Frances O'Connor has been appointed assistant headmistress. She was graduated from Milton Academy in 1956 and from Manhattanville College in 1960 where she majored in mathematics. She received her Master's degree in Philosophy and Psychology from Manhattanville in 1966. Further graduate studies were done at Boston College and Catholic University in Washington, D.C.

Directors-

Authorized by and under the jurisdiction of the Newton School Committee, the Board is defined as a body of lay citizens organized to provide advisory, consultative, and policy-making services relating to managerial, developmental, and educational functions normally associated with a collegiate enterprise.

While recognizing the School Committee as the legal board of control of the College, the Board of Directors is more specifically and directly concerned with the particular problems and needs of Newton Junior College. In this respect it serves as an invaluable source of wisdom both to the School Committee and to the Administration of the College.

Over the years the Board has made notable contributions to the welfare of the College. Although fundraising is not considered as one of its major responsibilities, the Board was instrumental in procuring private monies for the purchase of a residential building which has since been used as the administrative headquarters of the College.

In more subtle, but nonetheless effective ways, the Board has served the College well as an instrument of community and public relations, lending the prestige of its endorsement to an institution which is still in need of public understanding and recognition.

Past members as individuals have given generously of their time and effort on behalf of the College in serious commitment to its pursuit of excellence. Among them are: Mr. Franklin D. Jerome, vice-president, Old Colony Trust Company; Mr. Fred C. Alexander, trustee, Jackson Homestead; Mr. Herbert N. McGill, president and treasurer, McGill Community Service; Mr. Irving W. Rabb, president, Stop and Shop, Inc.; and Mr. Timothy X. Cronin, president and treasurer, Cramer Electronics, Inc.; Mr. John B. C. Palen, vice-president and senior trust officer, Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company.

Mr. Jerome, the founding chairman, was succeeded by Mr. Norman Krim, who served as chairman for three years. The recently elected officers are: Mr. Bertram H. Lowenberg, chairman; Mr. Philip J. McNiff, vice-chairman; and Dr. Charles D. Merrill, secretary.

Mr. Lowenberg, a Newton resident, is a member of the Massachusetts Bar since 1937 and a partner in the law firm of Sherburne, Powers, and Needham in Boston. Author of various articles on corporation and tax law, he has lectured on corporation law at

Rep. Backman To Seek Seat In State Senate

Rep. Jack H. Backman, Brookline Democrat, has announced his candidacy for State Senator from the Norfolk-Suffolk District currently represented by Senator Beryl Cohen. The incumbent senator has announced he will not be a candidate for reelection. The district includes Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton.

Rep. Backman, a veteran legislator with six years of active experience in the House will campaign vigorously for more housing for the district, establishment of rent controls, greater benefits for the elderly and a stepped up drive for the curtailment and eventual elimination of drug abuse.

Rep. Backman, one of the hardest working members in the House with an admirable roll call voting record is ably equipped for the office of State Senator.

He is currently the vice-chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, House Chairman of the Massachusetts Drug Abuse Commission and a member of the Air Pollution Commission.

Boston University School of Law.

Mr. Lowenberg is currently a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank and has served as a trustee of the Boston State Hospital and director of the Newton Taxpayers Association.

Mr. McNiff, currently Director of the Boston Public Library, was formerly Archivist at Harvard University Libraries, member of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University, and Associate Librarian of the Harvard College Library.

Among his many publications are "Catalogues of the Lamont Library" and "A List of Book Dealers in Underdeveloped Countries."

Mr. McNiff holds positions of prominence in many professional organizations. He is currently President of the Association of College and Research Libraries of the American Library Association.

New members of the Board of Directors added this year to bring the membership up to the limits provided by the by-laws, are: Mr. Wigmore Pierson, assistant to the president, Pierson Industries, Inc.; Mrs. Eleanor Rosenblum, member of the Newton School Committee; Mrs. Florence Rubin, chairman of the Charter Commission of Newton and treasurer of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts; Mr. Paul Sweeney, president of the Student Council of Newton Junior College; Hon. Theodore D. Mann, State Representative; Mr. David Fitts, trust officer, Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company; Mr. Samuel Turner, principal of the Oak Hill School in Newton and alumnus of Newton Junior College; and Professor Melvin Howards, chairman of Reading Education, School of Education, Northeastern University.

Other members of the Board are: Mr. Michael J. Ambrosino, associate director of programming, WGBH-TV; Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Alderman, City of Newton; Mr. Edward L. Dashesky, vice-president and general manager, Microwave and Power Tube Division, Raytheon Company; Mr. Mario DiCarlo, director, DiCarlo Brothers, Inc., and chairman of the Newton Redevelopment Authority; Dr. Franklin P. Hawkes, executive director, Adult Education Association in Massachusetts; Mr. Edward V. Hickey, vice-president, New England Merchants National Bank; Mr. Norman B. Krim, management consultant; Mrs. Richard G. Mintz, a director of METCO and former member of Newton School Committee; Dr. James L. Tullis, Physician; and Dr. J. Wendell Yeo, former vice-president for Student Affairs, Boston University.

Members ex-officio are: Mr. Aaron Pink, superintendent, Newton Public Schools; Mr. Charles W. Dudley, president, Newton Junior College; and Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Dean of the College.

Rep. Backman is a graduate of Syracuse University with a Bachelor of Arts degree from its School of Government. He received his law degree from the Harvard Law School. A practicing attorney with law offices in Boston, he makes his home at 61 Arlington Road, Brookline with his wife Lillian. The couple has four children.

Clothes Depot For Drive Set At Church Here

Once again, the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, 1440 Washington St., West Newton, will be the Church World Service Collection Depot for the Spring Clothing Drive.

The dates will be April 16, 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. and April 17, 12:30 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. Depot chairman is Mrs. Norman Ross (332-7089).

Please note specific hours for receiving collections. Those who must have another time for delivery, call the depot chairman.

Please pack all gifts in Study Cartons and Tie Securely. Mark only packages containing new materials, yard goods, medical kits etc.

A poundage fee is expected for all material, gifts, and clothing. Ten cents a pound for clothing and blankets are 25¢ a piece. Your poundage contribution may be brought with your gift and given to the depot chairman or mailed directly to: CWS Clothing Appeal.

All checks should be made payable to: CWS Clothing Appeal and mailed to Box 220, Elkhart, Indiana, 46514. The depot chairman will give a receipt for all cash, checks, and gifts received.

There is not cut-back in the CWS Clothing Appeal, five million pounds of used clothing and 300,000 blankets are needed. More people are needed and using the material resources we have to share.

In 1969 Massachusetts contributed 126,000 pounds of clothing and used blankets, $2003.00 to purchase blankets and $9954.00 in processing funds. CWS counts on continuing support in this ministry of compassion. Needed are lightweight, clean and washable clothing for all ages. Two piece garments should be pinned together and buttons and zippers should work properly.

Newtonite Has Article on Law

The March 27th issue of the "Reconstructionist Magazine" has an article by Philip Perlmutter, of Waban, on vigilantism in our urban badlands.

Mr. Perlmutter argues that there is a danger that real community lawlessness and disorder might be ignored because of a distorted suspicion of "those who flex a few muscles, talk tough, and take a few military paces."

He urges that the poor in the urban ghettos should be listened and responded to with hope, promise and remedy, otherwise the helplessness, desperation and the militancy of the poor — black and white — will increase.

Mr. Perlmutter has written widely on community problems, human relations education, and Jewish life, and is the New England Director of the American Jewish Committee.

Waban Church Helps Auction For Camp Fund

The Union Church of Waban is cooperating in arrangements for an annual old-fashioned auction for the benefit of the Summer Camping Program of the Boston City Mission Society.

The auction will take place Saturday, May 2 at the Farrington Memorial property in Lincoln, located on Route 2 just one half mile West of Route 128.

Mrs. Thomas McCutcheon of Waban is in charge of the collection of articles for the auction in the Waban area.

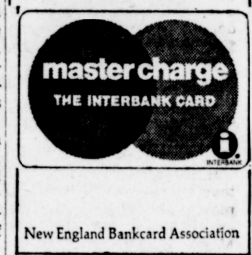

Among the varied items sought are antiques of all kinds, furniture, fireplace equipment, pottery, glassware, electrical appliances, musical instruments, bicycles, sports equipment, and garden tools.

The auction will be held rain or shine. In the event of rain, activities will be transferred to the big barn on the Farrington property. The Auctioneer will be Dick Fadden of Dracut.

Beckwith Letter Outlines Pay Raises For Teachers

School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith has sent a letter to Newton teachers outlining the pay raises which have been offered in the current negotiations.

The figures cited in the letter show an average increase in salary of 11 per cent for the individual teacher.

The minimum for a teacher with a Bachelor degree would be $7500 instead of the present $6875, while the minimum for a teacher with a Doctorate degree would be raised to $9300 from the present $8225.

The maximum for the Bachelor degree would rise from $11,650 to $12,350, while the maximum for the Doctorate degree would go from $13,875 to $15,000.

In addition, some 180 teachers would be a super-maximum which go as high as $16,525 in the case of a Master plus 1.

Added to the salary proposal are significant amounts of money for merit awards and sabbatical leaves, according to Beckwith's statement.

The statement begins by saying "The School Committee feels that its own perspective on the current negotiations should be known to you (the professional staff members). We regret that progress has been relatively slow. Two major factors in the delay are these:

(a) The NTA was late in bringing its salary proposals to the negotiations. Mr. Mandell met with Mr. Poock on September 16, 1969, and requested that salary proposals be ready by October 7. The School Committee did not receive the proposal until December 2.

(b) The initial requests from the NTA seemed to us to be extraordinarily high, and to make the bargaining road a lengthy one. The proposal given to the School Committee requested an average increase of 19.3 per cent in the individual teacher's salary, exclusive of the increase due to increments, 21.6 per cent if increments were included. Additional sums were requested for classified personnel and Newton Junior College teachers.

The NTA request arrived in the vicinity of a 10 per cent increase only on February 11, 1970, and realistic negotiations commenced at that point.

We feel that our present offer will yield good increases in salary. The offer creates an average increase in salary of 11 per cent for the individual teacher. Improvements in the schedule itself — 7.15 per cent; improvement in Blue Cross/Blue Shield and reduction in the teacher's cash outlay — 1.52 per cent; increments in the present schedule — 2.33 per cent.

The statement concludes: "The purpose of this bulletin is to complete information on the status of negotiations provided by representatives of the Newton Teachers Association. The intent is not to bypass NTA negotiators."

On Wednesday evening, while the negotiation meeting was being held at the School Administration office, Newton teachers participated in a "Silent Vigil" outside the building.

Mr. Robert Weiser, President of the Newton Teachers Association, announced the purpose of the Vigil on Tuesday (April 14).

He stated: "Newton teachers are participating in a 'Silent Vigil' on Wednesday night at the Newton School Administration office while our negotiating team is meeting with a sub-committee of the Newton School Committee.

The purpose of the Vigil is to demonstrate the support of the teachers for their negotiating team and to illustrate their rejection of the School Committee proposals."

The Vigil is not intended to harass anyone. There will be no placards or shouting. It is being held at an evening hour and will not affect the children. It is meant to be a dignified, quiet demonstration of support for their negotiators."

On the specific issue of the dispute itself, Mr. Weiser declined to comment other than to state: "Both sides agreed last fall not to give any press releases without first consulting the other side."

As to the present status of the negotiations, he commented: "I can only say that I feel we have been making progress slowly since last fall."

Scouts Courting Older "Drop-outs" for Program

At the recent Growth Committee meeting of the Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, Paul D. Slater, the Newton District Growth Committee Chairman, stated, "Boys like Scouting, and most boys want to be Scouts when they reach the right age. Parents recognize the values for their sons who are Scouts. But sometimes the boy and the Scout unit never get together."

Mr. Slater and his committee are very much concerned with the substantial number of dropouts from the Cub to Boy Scout level. According to Mr. Slater, "Newton in particular has an unusually high incidence of youngsters who, for one reason or another, do not continue their Scouting experience beyond the Webelos, or 10 year old stage."

Now, leaders of the Norumbega Council, BSA are making a concerted effort to recruit boys into their Boy Scout Troops in order to prepare them for spring and summer outdoor activities.

Mr. Slater stated that, "For the last couple of years, the Boy Scouts of America has featured the theme BOYPOWER - MANPOWER (America's Manpower begins with Boypower). Certainly, the experience and excitement of outdoor activities help build boys into men who are physically, mentally, and morally fit."

Scouting is a partner with 47 religious and community organizations in Newton that actually "own" the Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops, and Explorer Posts, and Scouting is recognized as a vital educational force in the lives of thousands of boys. "Special emphasis today is being placed on Scouting in congested urban areas, sparsely populated rural areas, and

Aldermen Hear Petitions On Rezoning Of Mill Area

A Board of Aldermen hearing on the rezoning of the Security Mills property in Newtonville was held last Monday (Apr. 13) as neighbors turned out to urge that the land be changed to residential.

Two petitions are before the board. One is from Alderman William H. Wolf, to rezone the land, now in a small manufacturing - classified district, to Business A, which allows professional-type offices.

The second petition, that of Aldermen Thomas B. Concanon and Peter F. Harrington, would re-zone the land Residence E, which allows garden-type apartments. The neighbors generally favor a Residence D district, which limits housing to single and double families without special permission.

Residents cited the "deteriorating" condition of the abandoned mills, traffic from vehicles coming into the mill, a nearby school and the "non-conforming" use of the mill as reasons for imposing a stricter zone.

The mill owners said a limiting zone would hurt them financially, that the nearby residences are actually "non-conforming" since the manufacturing district was there first, and that the mill has helped the neighbors financially since their assessments are lower.

Petitions with 270 signatures and 139 letters in opposition were submitted by Robert A. Romero, 99 Norwood Ave. He said the former mill, now partly used by the Telephone Co. to park trucks, is a blight to the area.

Romero stated that there is no open, green landscaping and the parking area is inadequate, while the mill is surrounded by residential area.

Alderman Wolf nodded his head in agreement when Romero quoted him as agreeing to withdraw his petition if the one of Concanon and Harrington is approved.

Atty. H. C. Friedman, spokesman for Security Mills, argued that the property has been used for 50 years for manufacturing and was there prior to the enactment of the zoning laws.

"All the residents," he said, "brought their property with the knowledge that those buildings were on the land."

He insisted there is no traffic hazard there, that the telephone trucks leave early and arrive late and do not turn during the day.

Mrs. William H. Webb, 11 Carter St., spoke against the rezoning. She said: "We don't have the traffic we would have if we had apartments."

Queen's Luncheon

Mrs. David Sandler of Newton was chairman of the Queen's Luncheon held yesterday by the Temple Mishkan Tefila Sisterhood. Featured was a fashion show by "Monet." Five door prizes valued at $200 each were donated by "Monet" herself.

Mrs. Sandler said the $20,000 estimate was "conservative."

Working on the march with Miss Green were Marcy Richmond and Russell Phillips. The hike extended from Newton to Weston and back.

Proceeds will be donated to the poverty stricken of Kenya, and to the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians.

According to Miss Green more than 1,000 persons walked part of the way and between 800 and 900 made the round trip. These included school Principal William D. Geer Jr., many teachers and "most of the kids."

Among those who were not able to complete the 25 mile trek was a courageous girl on crutches. She dropped out after going 21 miles along the route — her hands were blistered.

Of her Lynnie said, "She was terrific." She also had praise for the Red Cross and the police.

"Community involvement was phenomenal. All of the parents were there," Miss Green said.

"It was all tremendously exciting," she said.

Moon Prayers

Nearly eight years ago, in a 6-1 decision, the United States Supreme Court shocked countless thousands of Americans. It ruled that prayers in public schools, sanctioned by administrators of the schools, were unconstitutional.

Although the resulting furor raged for months, the ban stood and with very few exceptions school administrators and prosecutors accepted the ruling as the law of the land. Long after the public has forgotten many other findings of the so-called "Warren Court," the prayer decision will be remembered.

Mrs. Madalyn Murray, now Madalyn Murray O'Hair, accepted the high tribunal's ban as something of a personal victory. Perhaps, she had a right to do so since she had been the moving light in forcing the issue before the Supreme Court.

Nor did she rest on her laurels. Her devotion to her professed beliefs served to keep her name before the public. Several brushes with the law only seemed to heighten her desire for the spotlight.

While the nation, joined by most of the free world, hailed our astronauts' moon-landings, she popped into print with a demand that no mention of God be permitted from our men in space. She cited the conduct of one who had read from the Bible.

Again lower court rulings were against her. Again her appeal got as far as the Supreme Court. This time that court refused to review her case, permitting the adverse decision of a lower court to stand.

The fine points involved in interpretations of constitutional law are a bit beyond the average man-on-the-street. Most Americans know satisfaction, however, that Bible-reading from the moon is not verboten.

They're All Good

Some of the most important achievements of the 20th Century belong to the science of medicine.

At the turn of the century the life expectancy of Americans at birth was 49.2 years. Today that expectancy has risen above 70 years.

The 1920s brought the isolation of the hormone insulin for treatment of diabetes; in the 30s and 40s streptomycin, the discovery of the Rh factor and the use of corrective heart surgery to enable the survival of "blue babies" represented important advances.

The 50s and 60s recorded the development of a vaccine for the prevention of the killer polio; the introduction of cortisone, open-heart surgery and the initiation of surgery for human heart transplants.

Somewhere, some day, possibly from a researcher previously unknown to the world, will come the word that answers to cancer and ailments of the heart have been found. When the German Wilhelm Roentgen added the X-ray to the tools of science in 1895, neither he nor his fellow researchers could foresee the medical progress it would make possible during the first three-quarters of the 1900s.

Psychologists, psychiatrists and sociologists have been particularly bitter in their denouncement of Dr. Arnold Hutschnecker, who claims that through the medium of psychological tests the potential of 6, 7 and 8-year-olds to become criminals in later life, can be discovered.

In the face of the accomplishments of science against man's ills during the past 75 years, only the most foolhardy will question the advancement of new ideas.

However, Dr. Hutschnecker will be hard put to find many backers for his theories. Some one once said "No boy is really bad."

It's estimated that there are 12,600,000 boys in the 6-to-8 year bracket in the United States today. Not one of them is really bad now. Certainly, no boy is born bad.

Passover Message—1970-5730

The Price of Freedom

The Festival of Passover must oppose every source of enslavement and exploitation, every tyranny and oppression, until all men are truly free and embarked on their journey toward the Promised Land.

The Associated Synagogues of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Board of Rabbis and the Vaad Harabonim of Massachusetts, join together in extending their best wishes to their congregations and fellow Jews for a joyous festival season. May the coming Passover holiday answer our prayers for justice, freedom and peace for America, the community of Israel, and all mankind.

Protect Wetland

Editor, The Graphic:

The Oak Hill District Improvement Association, Inc., comprising Newton Centre, Oak Hill, Newton Highlands and Chestnut Hill, has historically expressed its opposition to any building whatsoever on the land located at Goddard and Christina Streets in Newton Highlands due to the fact that it is an acknowledged wetland.

We have reiterated our position on numerous occasions through the past years to the Board of Aldermen to insure that the ecological balance, so precarious in that vicinity, not be disturbed.

With the State-wide observance by schools, colleges, civic organizations, etc., of Environmental Day on April 22, 1970, it is particularly timely to call attention of all residents and to any organizations within the city proposing the disturbance of wetlands, that the environment must be the first concern of all human life — without it, we can have no human life existence whatsoever. The balance of nature must be maintained.

Freeport Opinion

Editor of The Graphic:

We have followed the news stories regarding the formation of Freeport Foundation in Newton for runaway teenagers with considerable interest. The Foundation's proposed use of a house on Commonwealth Avenue in Chestnut Hill as a supervised home for these hapless youngsters has aroused a furor and criticism from the surrounding residents on the grounds that the area is zoned only for single family residences.

We, too, are property owners and residents very near the house in question, but we wonder at the validity of much of the criticism. Zoning exceptions are made and surely each should be judged according to its own merits by the citizenry involved.

To make an exception in this case would not open the way for all and any use of the property in the area indiscriminately. Nor would 10 to 12 teenagers living in the ample house under the supervision of an adult couple be so much different from a large family residing there.

Indeed, the disproportionate number of physicians' and lawyers' offices attached to private homes within a two-block radius of the property in dispute would seem much more threatening to the spirit if not the letter of the zoning code, with their attendant disand all the people associated with it, may I extend our very sincere thanks for your wonderful cooperation over the past six to eight weeks in accepting and publishing our publicity. Many thanks.

erect billboards and parked cars.

All of the opposition leads us to question our suburban priorities if not our scale of values. Of course, no one in Newton openly opposes the concept of Freeport Foundation.

A Chestnut Hill area association of property owners in fact endorses the idea, but not, of course, in their own neighborhoods or backyards. We cannot help but wonder if such attitudes did not help drive some of these Newton youngsters from their comfortable well-established homes.

Symptomatically, the suburbs are full of socially committed persons motivated by many high ideals who come into the city to help solve the urban problems from which they have escaped. Now these same people have an opportunity to show in action what they so facetiously talk about or advise others to do.

Social problems are changing; witness the number of teenage runaways from middle class homes. It would seem our response to those problems requires a new flexibility and a rethinking of our commonplace solutions. We can no longer shuffle off all of society's ailments to the back streets or the back woods, in institutions conceived and built 50 to 100 years ago.

The Republican candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor will not be standing on their separate feet this year. One of them cannot be elected and the other defeated.

They will be running as a team, and either both will win or both will lose.

Whether Senator Quinlan savors the idea or not, he will be riding on Governor Sargent's coattails in the election campaign next autumn if he prevails over Representative Martin Linsky of Brookline at the Republican State Convention, as indications are he may.

Most of the people who vote for or against the Republican tandem for Governor and Lieutenant Governor next November will base their decision on how they feel about Francis W. Sargent.

A few might shape their vote on whether they liked or disliked the candidate for Lieutenant Governor, but the number would not be large.

How many people voted for President Nixon in 1968 because they liked Spiro Agnew better than Edmund Muskie? Some people in Maryland may have done so, but not many in the rest of the country.

So Senator Quinlan quite conceivably could win the battle and lose the war.

If Governor Sargent made a strategic mistake in tapping Representative Linsky as the running mate he wanted when and how he did, it was because he was pressured by Senator Quinlan into making a premature move.

The policy Mr. Sargent should have followed and undoubtedly would have preferred to pursue would have been to wait almost until the eve of the Republican State Convention before deciding on his choice of the GOP candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

This would have enabled him to consider the makeup of the ticket picked at the Democratic State Convention and to evaluate developments which will occur between now and then.

But by that time Senator Quinlan would have had the nomination for Lieutenant Governor sewed up, and it wouldn't have made much difference what Governor Sargent wanted or didn't want.

In fact, Quinlan already has so big a jump and so great a head start over Linsky that Governor Sargent may be unable to block his endorsement by the Republican State Convention in late June.

A majority of the delegates at the GOP conclave undoubtedly would side with Mr. Sargent in a fight between the Governor and Senator Quinlan. But once a delegate has promised to vote for a candidate, he is reluctant to break his word. Many are already committed.

It is well known on Beacon Hill that Governor Sargent did not and does not want Quinlan as his Lieutenant Governor running mate. Quinlan was informed of that feeling, but it did not discourage him from pressing forward in quest of pledges of support from Republican ward and town committee members.

The men and women who will serve as delegates to the convention are being elected by the committee members this month.

On the basis of the attitude of the delegates with whom the writer has talked since Governor Sargent announced he had picked Linsky to be his running mate, it would appear that the fight between Quinlan on one side and Governor Sargent and Linsky on the other will be a tough, tight, bruising one which will leave scars within the Republican party.

Many of the GOP ward and town committees are controlled and dominated by conservative Republicans who have little enthusiasm for the liberal Sargent and less for the even more liberal Linsky, who is a member of the Executive Board of the A.D.A.

Quinlan is by no means a conservative, but the conservatives in his party will vote for him over Linsky, and some of them are big Republicans.

Then there are delegates who believe that they — not Governor Sargent — should decide how their votes will be cast at the convention.

Senator Quinlan makes effective use of the argument that the convention should be free and open and that the Governor should not attempt to impose his will upon the delegates.

Mr. Sargent will be able to win over a sizeable bloc of delegates by the simple argument that his success or failure in his bid for the Governorship will be of tremendous consequence to the Republican party in Massachusetts and that his defeat could mean the virtual end of the two-party system in the State.

Governor Sargent's patronage power will overcome the vanity of some delegates desiring to demonstrate their independence. But there will be delegates who will stand against him, and there may be enough of them to give Quinlan a convention victory.

One thing which seems certain at this point is that the fight for the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor will provide unexpected excitement at the Republican State Convention.

But the battle which will be waged could lessen Francis Sargent's chances of winning a four-year-term as Governor if a blow is dealt to his prestige or the bitterness aroused causes some Republicans to sulk in their tents.

Martha Mitchell May Become Secret Weapon of Democrats

There is a tendency to dismiss Martha Mitchell as an eccentric and to suggest that she and Spiro Agnew would be a big success at Las Vegas as partners in a buck and wing dance act.

She drew a lot of good-natured comment last November when she told a television interviewer that a demonstration outside the Justice Department "looked like the Russian Revolution" and described violent demonstrators as the "very liberal Communists."

Cartoonists had a field day as they showed President Nixon tiptoeing up behind a speech-writer and asking him whether he was hammering out a blast "for Spiro or Mrs. Mitchell."

But Mrs. Mitchell's attack upon Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas for voting against the confirmation of Judge Carswell cast her in the unamusing role of fishmonger.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell apparently is the major architect of President Nixon's southern strategy.

Apart from that, he's an Attorney General with the courage to use the resources of the federal government in an all-out war upon organized crime.

But if Mr. Mitchell is not able to tell his wife to keep her political opinions to herself, she could prove to be the secret weapon of the Democratic party which right now is in dire need of secret weapons.

Whether Mrs. Mitchell requested the Little Rock, Arkansas, Gazette to "crucify" Senator Fulbright may be open to challenge.

But there is no doubt that she levelled a broadside of criticism at Fulbright when she would better have served the cause of her husband and President Nixon by doing the dishes in the kitchen or performing some other household chores.

Aside from Mrs. Mitchell's habit of allowing freedom of speech to get the better of her at times, President Nixon might do well to review the strategy which was followed in seeking confirmation of Judge Carswell.

He seemed on his way to victory in his fight until one Republican Senator made a speech declaring, in effect, that what we need on the U.S. Supreme Court are a few more dopes and a Senator in the deep south voiced a ringing defense of Judge Carswell which carried the kiss of political death.

Wm. Baird Now Makes Plea For Full Pardon From Sarge

William R. Baird, the birth control crusader, has a new message for the people who turn out to hear his lectures, but it doesn't have anything directly to do with birth control.

He appeals to his listeners to write to Governor Francis W. Sargent and urge him "to grant me an immediate pardon."

"If I were pardoned," declares Baird, "I wouldn't have to worry about going to prison again. And I really think I am worth more to you outside the prison than behind bars."

The surprising thing about that plea is that if the Governor did pardon Baird, it presumably would leave unanswered the question of whether the law under which Baird was sent to jail is unconstitutional which supposedly was what Baird wanted to determine when he forced the test case.

In case anyone still thinks Baird is a brave man, which is unlikely, he corrects any such notion, referring to himself as a frightened fighter and telling his listeners not to believe any reports that he is brave.

Baird, of course, was right in asserting that jail is not a pleasant place although it is difficult to believe that he was given food with bugs in it at the Charles Street Jail.

But the idea of drunks suffering noisily from the DTs and drug addicts going through their withdrawal from dope screaming at all hours of night is a very plausible one.

Mr. Baird apparently now feels there are easier ways of ascertaining the constitutionality of the birth control law than spending 34 days in jail. But he precipitated the test, and it obviously didn't work out the way he expected.

Is Third Flight To Moon Worth The Money And Risk?

A young boy has written in to ask what we will get to compensate for the billions of dollars we have spent on three different moon flights. He listed several specific questions but neglected to give his own address. We're using this space to reply to him.

Dear Paul: Your questions are all very thoughtful ones, but the science teacher in your school probably is much more qualified and competent to answer them than I am.

At the outset let me say I belong to the school of thought which believes that the first flight to the moon last July was a tremendous accomplishment but that the subsequent flights are not justified when the danger and expense involved are measured against the gains we realize from them.

The general answer to your question is that our compensation will be in the form of broadened scientific knowledge and increased prestige in the eyes of the rest of the world.

You ask if we might make the moon a colony of the United States, if we might grow or raise anything there and if we might mine valuable minerals or precious metals. The answer to all three questions is "No," in my judgment.

The lack of oxygen on the moon makes it impossible for anyone to live there or for anything to grow there. That would exclude animals as well as human beings. Vegetables could not grow there.

It is conceivable that astronauts or people taken to the moon by astronauts might mine a mineral such as uranium there, but the idea of taking workmen to the moon for that purpose, supplying them with oxygen during their stay on the moon and getting the uranium back to earth hardly seems feasible.

Small boys such as you should be encouraged to ask questions about things such as our moon flights and to try to find out whether the money we spend and the risks we take to send men to the moon are worthwhile, especially when we do it more than once.

Buckley Faces Hard Battle To Retain Post As Sheriff

Only a few years ago, John J. Buckley of Belmont was one of the bright young stars of the Republican party in Massachusetts.

Now that Governor Sargent has appointed him Sheriff of Middlesex County to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Howard Fitzpatrick, he will run for that office next fall.

Buckley, an excellent vote-getter, is probably as potent a candidate as the GOP could put up for that position, but there is doubt that even he can win in a county which year by year has grown more Democratic. He faces an uphill struggle.

Two-In-One
France and the Netherlands meet on a 37-square-mile island in the eastern Caribbean about 150 miles east of Puerto Rico.
It's the island of St. Martin (or Sint Maarten, if you prefer), which has two languages, two currencies and two citizenships. Twenty-one square miles belong to the French. The rest of the island is Dutch-owned. Despite these differences, there is no border as such between both sections (or everybody wanders back and forth at will).

Housing-

residents were shown complete architectural drawings, site development plans and the city-wide distribution of sites.

Commenting on the unusual neighborhood approach, Mr. Robert C. Casselman, President of the Foundation said: "The Board of Directors of NCDF long ago established a firm policy that before any public statements or official filings were made we would discuss our plans in each neighborhood, because we sincerely believe that those who live nearest the sites should hear the story first and hear it directly."

"Nearly 100 volunteers took on the task of setting up the meetings and personally inviting hundreds of residents to attend. The task proved most rewarding because at each of the meetings, not only were the residents' concerns expressed freely, but we discovered a real awareness on the part of the neighbors that this is a community wide effort of substantial merit."

"They gave genuine and serious consideration to the plan and many of the abutters expressed support for our plans right at the meeting."

"One of the reasons for that support, of course, is that this is good-looking housing. Another is that care was given to the preservation of open space. Not only did we avoid using active city parks and playgrounds, but we are actually creating new parks on some of our privately purchased land."

Mr. Casselman also revealed that a day prior to inviting the neighbors to the meeting a complete presentation of the plan was given to members of the Board of Aldermen and to the Mayor.

Earlier this year a special committee on housing was formed by the Board to work with NCDF, and this committee helped to guide the selection of city sites.

The housing has been designed by the PARD TEAM INC., a Boston-based architectural firm that has designed middle-income housing in several cities. None of the units are over two stories in height, and they are grouped in differing cluster patterns of 4 to 8 units, laid out to blend with contours, trees and individual neighborhood characteristics.

Roof lines and setbacks are varied for architectural interest. All units are wood-frame, wood-exterior houses to blend with the kind of homes that are predominant in Newton.

Densities are half what other garden apartments have been built at in Newton.

N-V Garden Club to Meet Next Thursday

The Newtonville Garden Club will meet next Thursday morning (April 23) at the Newtonville Library Hall at 10:15.

Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, president, will conduct the business meeting.

"Flower Gardens in One Year or More" is the topic to be presented by speaker Ronald Athanas, county extension agent of Melrose. An expert in ornamental horticulture for the Middlesex Extension Service in Concord, Mr. Athanas is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and of the University of Georgia. He conducts educational programs in ornamental horticulture and gives expert advice to home owners.

Following the meeting there will be a petite luncheon hosted by the President Mrs. Laffin; the Secretary, Mrs. Edmund Anthony; the treasurer Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman and the president's aides: Mrs. Walter B. Chase, Mrs. Harold H. Lounsbury and Mrs. Archie MacDonald.

NCDF's housing will average 3510 sq. ft. of land for each unit to be built.

The designs contain one, two, three and four-bedroom units, with the mix of units varying widely to match school facilities in each neighborhood and avoid overcrowding. All units have special play areas designed into them, and several of the sites have one-half to one-acre parks provided.

All units have covered entry-ways, entrance foyers, private patios or balconies, and utility rooms. The larger units have family-room areas adjoining the kitchens and an extra half bath.

Mr. Casselman stated that, in addition to the support expressed at the neighborhood meetings and by many City officials, "NCDF can count at least 600 families among the nearly 30 churches, temples, civic and business groups that have already pledged not just support but cash to bring this about. This is truly a city-wide effort, and it will succeed because Newton needs the housing and wants it done this way."

"Suburbs like Newton simply haven't enough housing anymore for people who work here, who grew up here, who want to stay here when they retire. But no suburb wants massive 'project' housing."

The Newton answer can be the answer for every suburb — low-density housing constructed simultaneously in volume, on scattered locations — good-looking housing, built and managed privately, with Federal interest subsidies to bring down the rents.

The Newton plan will be a national breakthrough, because it will show that the suburbs can solve a large part of the nation's housing crisis."

Tenants will pay 25 percent of their income for rent and further subsidies are available for low income families. It is expected that rentals will average in the $120-$170 range.

Tenants will be selected by neighborhood committees formed by the sponsoring churches and temples. The housing will pay taxes to the City, and will be managed by professional managers employed by the Foundation.

Hearings on the petition for rezoning and purchase of City land will be held in May and approvals are sought by July. Construction will take up to 18 months to complete all sites from receipt of F.H.A. mortgage approvals, for which action is already underway. Interim financing is under negotiation.

NCDF has spent approximately $48,000 since May 1969 when it began seeking private funding. It is presently nearly 80 per cent completed in a $100,000 fund drive to pay for site acquisition costs and design and engineering fees.

Most of the pledges and funds have come from church and civic groups, and a major matching grant of $25,000 has been made by the Permanent Charities Foundation because of the metropolitan and national significance of the Newton plan.

HERE'S HARVEY'S HAT — Say members of the Auburndale Club who examine the huge hare's headpiece. The last two performances of the famous play "Harvey" will be performed at the Auburndale Club, 283 Melrose st., tomorrow and Saturday nights (April 17 and 18) at 8:30 o'clock. Tickets are available through Mrs. Dodie Stone, 332-3196 or Mrs. Peg Mackenzie, 332-4605.

Newton Cotillions To End Season With Dance Friday

The Newton Cotillions Spring Dance will be on Friday, April 17 from 8:30 pm to midnight at the Chestnut Hill Country Club.

This final dance of the season will honor approximately 120 of Newton's graduating seniors who are Newton Cotillion Subscribers. A corsage will be presented to each senior girl and a boutonniere to each senior boy.

Highlighting the evening will be a Senior Recognition Dance, with music by The George Graham Orchestra. Intermission entertainment will be provided by the ever popular rock group, "London Fog."

Dress will be formal — long evening gowns for girls and tuxedos or dark suits for boys. Admission is by season subscription ticket. Special ticket arrangements for guests must be made in advance with either Mrs. Ernest E. Juillerat, Jr., general chairman, or Mrs. George Bent, Jr., Treasurer.

The receiving line congratulating the seniors and greeting the other young people will include Mayor and Mrs. Monte G. Bastas; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graham, dance chairman; and Miss Mary Anne Juillerat and Mr. Leonard Gentile, student co-chairmen.

Arrangements for the dance will be carried out by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Horton, ushers; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mannix and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hill, tickets; Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Lambert and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Moore.

Children's Fun Day at Sacred Heart Church

The Guild of St. Francis of Assisi, Sacred Heart Parish, Newton Centre is having a Children's Fun Day on Saturday, (April 25), from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. — Rain or Shine — in the Sacred Heart School Playground (or Parish Centre if it rains).

New and different games will be featured. Gay and colorful booths will display a White Elephant Selection, Homebaked Goodies and a Snack Bar serving hot dogs, cold drinks, ice cream and Cotton Candy.

Chairman of the event Mrs. Virginia Dobson, co-chairman Mrs. Helen Grimaldi. Bring the whole family to the Sacred Heart School Playground on Saturday, April 25.

Newton Library Players Will Present Tom Jones

Tom Jones, funniest of 18th century farces by Henry Fielding, will be presented in two free performances Saturday evening (April 18) at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon (April 19) at 3:30 at Meadowbrook Junior High School. This play will be performed by the Newton Library Players under the auspices of the Newton Recreation Commission and the Newton Free Library.

Directed by Dick and Carole Power of Needham, the Newton Library Players will celebrate their first anniversary in June, with 3 solid productions behind them. The 13- to 18-year-olds meet during the school year on Thursday nights at 7 p.m. and on Sunday afternoons at 3 p.m. at the Newtonville Branch Library Hall.

The Fielding play, dramatized by David Rogers and produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Company, features the largest cast of any previous production, with Stephen Bronk, Amy Tighe, Stephanie Lent, Pattie Donahue, Nicole Marcotte, Joseph DePasquale, Denise Ethier, Stephen Bronk, Phineas Smith, Mark Tighe, Amy Teixeira, Edie Hochberg, Eve Teixeira, Jon Oshima, Lillian Spatz, and Karen Bronk.

Also in the cast are David Bronk, Raymond Ethier, Stephen Bronk, Sandy Silver, Julie Wank, Tom Teixeira, Karen Vasil and Hal Bronk.

Stage crew for the production includes Judy Austin, Carol Brenner, Christine Brenahan, Carol Brenner, Donna Carleo, Diane Lent, Nancy Rose, Stacey Tighe, and Eileen Tosney, all working with Stage Manager Lisette Marcotte. Production coordinator for "Tom Jones" is Nancy Wolfe.

Jim Laning is handling lighting and special effects, as he has for all Library Players productions. Stephanie Lent and Carole Power are doing costumes. Nancy Rose as dresser, Cyndi Lacey as house manager, Nicole Marcotte and Patricia Donahue on makeup, and Donna Carleo as rehearsal stand - in complete the roster.

Casting will soon begin for the Players' summer production, "Up the Down Staircase," and Dick and Carole Power invite all Newton young people in the 13-18 age group to join their troupe.

Maybe you don't... if you think of God as merely some distant person, or unknowable.

But, if you were to know God as Mind, the source of all ideas and intelligence, or as Life, the source of strength and health... wouldn't it make sense to know Him better?

You can... Practical ways of knowing God are discussed at the Christian Science Sunday School. Visit a class this Sunday at 10:45 A.M.

Freeport-

Brown, several psychiatrists, officials of the Newton School Department, the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health and Newton District Court Judge Franklin N. Flaschner spoke of the need for the home.

"Substitute homes for adolescents are one of the greatest needs in the community. The generation gap is for real," Judge Flaschner declared.

He reported that in his two months service in the Newton District Court an average of one juvenile a week has been brought in by parents as a stubborn child.

In most cases the child has no prior record and has committed no crime, but parents are admitting a failure in communication and a loss of ability to cope with the child. Judge Flaschner said.

The only public place to which the child may now be referred is the Youth Service Board, Judge Flaschner noted. That detention center is a punishment place and the child has done nothing to deserve this kind of punishment, he went on.

According to Dr. Brown, the home is needed to provide options to families who need this kind of temporary assistance. In addition, he pointed out, Freeport represents a means by which young people and adults can speak to their concern for others and thus bridge the generation gap.

"All of us as individuals must find new ways to speak to the needs of mankind. Freeport is one small example of how young people and adults can speak actively of their concern for others. It is an expression of love," Dr. Brown said.

Dr. Joseph Massimo, chief psychologist for the Newton schools, estimated that about 40 of the 150 to 200 high school students referred to the Psychology Department could benefit from living at Freeport.

Axel Kaufmann, a neighborhood architect working with the Freeport group, reported that the Commonwealth Ave. house which contains 10 bedrooms and has an adjacent carriage house, is about the 40th piece of property that the Foundation inspected.

The criteria that had to be met were that the house be convenient to bus routes for both high schools, be in a safe residential neighborhood in a pleasant setting, be accessible to public transportation, and be large enough to meet the needs. This house was the only one considered to meet all of the criteria, Kaufmann said.

Rev. David Parachini of the Grace Episcopal Church in Newton is serving as the executive director of the Foundation. The house parents would be the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Blake, it was stated.

According to Rev. Parachini, no drugs or sexual promiscuity would be allowed in the home.

The home would have the services of a consulting psychiatrist and psychologist as well as social workers to work with the families of the students. In addition, a professional advisory board of three psychiatrists would be available.

The greatest point of contention concerning Freeport is the fact that a sizable group of residents in the neighborhood are opposed to the location.

At Monday night's hearing 13 property owners living within a four block radius of the property raised their hands as being in favor of the proposal and 50 expressed opposition.

When an expression of sentiment was requested from the total audience present at the hearing the great majority were in favor.

Alexander Beal, president of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Association, said the Board of Directors of that group voted their opposition to the Freeport proposal.

Beal said that the average selling price of homes in the area is $40,800 and that many parcels of property have sold recently for $60,000 to $70,000 plus.

He pointed out that many of the neighbors in the area had "a fear of the unknown."

"In the right location, one would have to be out of his mind to oppose the concept of Freeport," Beal said.

Atty. Robert Bonin, speaking in opposition to the proposal, maintained that the kind of student who would live in the house was not clearly defined. "We don't know whether this will be a fraternity house or a halfway house," he said.

He declared that the prime purpose of zoning is to protect and preserve the areas involved.

Bonin also stated that 12 of the 18 abutters who received notice of the hearing and were thus deemed those to be most affected were opposed. In addition, he presented a petition with 165 signatures in opposition.

Census Sets Up Interviews For Area Next Week

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a sample survey of employment and unemployment in the Boston area during the week of April 19, Mr. James W. Turbitt, Director of the Bureau's regional office in Boston announced today.

The households to be interviewed here are part of a scientifically designed sample of the entire U.S. population. The employment and unemployment statistics are collected monthly by the Census Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor to provide a continuing measurement of the economic health of the nation as a whole and of its major regions.

Questions similar to those in the survey also are included in the 1970 decennial census. Census Bureau officials point out, however, that the monthly survey is essential as the source of current national employment data that can be obtained quickly.

As in the decennial census, facts about the individual and the family collected in this survey are kept completely confidential and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

joining the Newton Free Library in promoting Environmental Teach-In Day on April 22, part of National Library Week activities throughout the U.S.A.

Newton will focus on activities at 1:30 at the Main Library and its branches, starting with a Pollution Dragnet at Newton Highlands Branch, where students will lead a tour of the square area.

Students will lead walks along the riverbanks near Nonantum and Upper Falls Branches; and at Newton Centre Branch, students will organize a simulation, "The Pollution Game," by special arrangement with Newton High School.

At the Main Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner, Tom Lehrer's "Pollution Song" and the song from "Hair," "Don't Drink the Water and Don't Breathe the Air," will echo through library halls all day long on the 22d.

At Newtonville Branch Library, a continuous slide-tape show prepared by John Huss Green of Waban, called "Pollution Paradox," will be on view beginning at 2 p.m.

At Auburndale, Lower Falls and Oak Hill Park, as well as at Boys' and Girls' Library, Waban Branch and West Newton Branch, special pollution exhibits assembled with the assistance of Mrs. William Kierstead, Newton Centre, chairman of Newton Citizens for Clean Air, will be displayed.

Newton Free Library will also distribute special lists spotlighting Environmental Teach-In Day activities.

Newton students involved in S.C.A.R.E. and Library-coordinated activities are chairman Len Goldberg with Dan Hellerstein, Larry Levy, Allen Weaver, Sara Goldstein, Ruth Davis, Julia Michaels, Stu Freudberg, John Green, Riva Speak, Sandy Horowitz, and Jeff Lamen, with advisers Steve Shuller and Elise Pechter.

Executive Director of National Library Week and the Environmental Teach-In for Massachusetts is Wellesley Librarian Stanley M. McDonald, Jr., whose committee includes James Ayers of the Boston Globe; Hugh Davis of the U. of Mass.; Charles H. W. Foster, former Commissioner of Natural Resources; James Graves of the New England Ecology Center; Mrs. Lawrence K. Miller, Board of Library Commissioners; Benjamin W. Nason, Mass. Forest and Parks Assn.; John Putnam of Boston Environment, Inc.; Ivan Sandrof, Book Editor of The Worcester Telegram; Dermot P. Shea of the Mass. Consumers Council; Lester B. Smith of Natick of the National Wildlife Federation; Jules P. Sussman, President of the Mass. Association of Conservation Commissions.

Assistant Executive Director Karen Dann of the Concord Free Library, 16 librarians from Williamstown to Falmouth, and Newton City Librarian Henry E. Bates, Jr., are also backing the Earth Day or Environmental Teach-In efforts.

Newton Librarian Henry E. Bates, Jr., invites citizens to gather at their local libraries at 1:30 on April 22 to participate in the area activities.

Mrs. Susan Callesman of 340 Commonwealth Ave. said she was speaking for the mothers in the area who are concerned about their young impressionable children and the influence Freeport and its inhabitants would have on them.

LETTERS

Letter to Aldermen

Editor of The Graphic: We would appreciate it if you would publish this letter, a copy of which has been sent to the Newton Board of Aldermen.

An open letter to the Board of Aldermen: As Newton residents and taxpayers, we beseech you, in the name of humanity, to support the Newton Community Development Foundation by changing whatever zoning codes necessary so that the Foundation may go ahead with the building of low and moderate income housing in Newton.

How easy it is to call ourselves philanthropists by writing a check or attending a donor's dinner. We now have the opportunity to see how shiny our halos really are by giving a little of ourselves to our fellow-man.

If the Foundation's work is impeded, we may never have a chance to prove ourselves as human beings.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Blair Oak Hill Park, Newton.

Girl Scout Thanks

Editor of The Graphic: We of Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council wish to commend all our friends and neighbors for their excellent support of our recent Girl Scout cookie sale. We're also grateful for the continuing coverage your paper gave us.

The Council's many activities are shared by more than 15,000 young girls in 29 Greater Boston Communities. United Fund contributes a portion of the funds for our programs, and it is our annual cookie sale income which extends these monies.

Troop treasuries benefited from the sale, too; and so the girls can expect to make many educational and historical type trips to nearby sites. They also will expand their service projects.

Sincerely,
Mrs. James Cox, Centre

In Appreciation

Editor, The Graphic: Recently when both my wife and I were ill and could not get to the Newton Library for some books which I needed for research, one of the librarians at the main branch phoned me that an arrangement could be made to bring these books (from the Newton collection and from other libraries) to my home and retrieve them.

I recall the inkhorn word supererogation. I think this is pretty neighborly to a comparative newcomer.

The thought comes to me that undoubtedly there are many shut-ins for whom such a service would mean much. Perhaps some way can be found to institute this.

Fortunately my wife and I are both recovered but we have not forgotten this most kindly gesture.

Camp Massasoit To Open June 29 Register Now

Hundreds of local boys and girls are looking forward to the opening of Camp Massasoit, action packed day camp at the Newton YMCA on Church st., Newton. For children from 6 to 14, the activities include swimming, archery, tennis, arts and crafts, softball, soccer and other field sports.

Special trips are always fun, and several are taken during the camp season. Last year campers traveled to George's Island in Boston Harbor and spent the day exploring the old abandoned fortress there. The New England Aquarium, a Red Sox game, and a visit to Franklin Zoo rounded out the trip schedule.

Additionally there is athletic and archery competition with Camp Chickama. Last year there were a few tennis matches and swim meets, as well as archery contests, all of which were topped off with watermelon for everybody.

Since the Y.M.C.A. facilities are used, there is the advantage of outdoor and indoor facilities, so that rain doesn't interfere with the program. The counselors are thoroughly experienced and trained personnel. Although all of them have a working knowledge of the program, specialists will be used in areas such as swimming and arts and crafts.

Space is limited. Openings exist in all camping periods, but will fill rapidly as the weather improves. Camp opens on June 29. Periods are two weeks in length. For further information and brochure phone 244-0050 about Camp Massasoit.

Certificate Awarded By Library To Newton Man

Edward J. Montana, Jr., of 11 Stearns Street, Newton Centre, Editor of the Eastern (Mass.) Region News, and Assistant to Regional Administrator A. William Kunkel of the Eastern Regional Public Library Systems, has been awarded a certificate of recognition as the Executive Director of the 1969 National Library Week in Massachusetts.

The citation, presented by Mrs. Eleanor Cooney of the Tufts Library, Weymouth, who is President of the Massachusetts Library Association, acknowledges Mr. Montana's contribution to the success of the 1969 National Library Week in Massachusetts.

Montana, who is also chairman of the Publications Committee of the Boston Public Library, started his career there as a pre-professional library assistant in the periodical and newspaper department, doing reference work.

New holder of the M.S. in library science from Simmons College as well as a B.S. and an M.A. from Boston College, where he was awarded a fellowship to complete his graduate work in modern European history, Ed visits public libraries in the Eastern Region, gathering information for use in his role as Editor of the Eastern Region News.

Ed, whose work for National Library Week was extremely effective in this state, performed perhaps his most valuable role by criticizing librarians and libraries for putting all their public relations eggs in one basket, National Library Week.

Ed sees the Week as a prime chance to push the theme that libraries are in business all year round, and to that end he is a member of the Library Public Relations Council of New York. He is also on the publications committee of the American Library Association, treasurer of the Charles River Library Club, on the public relations committee of the Mass. Library Association, and on the membership committee of the New England Library Association.

He is the author of articles in Library Journal, Wilson Library Bulletin, the Journal of the Hawaii Library Association, the Bay State Librarian, and the Catholic Library World, and is currently writing, with Betty Rice of Betty Rice Associates, a bibliography of materials on library public relations.

Brown, several psychiatrists, officials of the Newton School Department, the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health and Newton District Court Judge Franklin N. Flaschner spoke of the need for the home.

"Substitute homes for adolescents are one of the greatest needs in the community. The generation gap is for real," Judge Flaschner declared.

He reported that in his two months service in the Newton District Court an average of one juvenile a week has been brought in by parents as a stubborn child.

In most cases the child has no prior record and has committed no crime, but parents are admitting a failure in communication and a loss of ability to cope with the child, Judge Flaschner said.

The only public place to which the child may now be referred is the Youth Service Board, Judge Flaschner noted. That detention center is a punishment place and the child has done nothing to deserve this kind of punishment, he went on.

According to Dr. Brown, the home is needed to provide options to families who need this kind of temporary assistance. In addition, he pointed out, Freeport represents a means by which young people and adults can speak to their concern for others and thus bridge the generation gap.

"All of us as individuals must find new ways to speak to the needs of mankind. Freeport is one small example of how young people and adults can speak actively of their concern for others. It is an expression of love," Dr. Brown said.

Dr. Joseph Massimo, chief psychologist for the Newton schools, estimated that about 40 of the 150 to 200 high school students referred to the Psychology Department could benefit from living at Freeport.

Axel Kaufmann, a neighborhood architect working with the Freeport group, reported that the Commonwealth Ave. house which contains 10 bedrooms and has an adjacent carriage house, is about the 40th piece of property that the Foundation inspected.

The criteria that had to be met were that the house be convenient to bus routes for both high schools, be in a safe residential neighborhood in a pleasant setting, be accessible to public transportation, and be large enough to meet the needs. This house was the only one considered to meet all of the criteria, Kaufmann said.

Rev. David Parachini of the Grace Episcopal Church in Newton is serving as the executive director of the Foundation. The house parents would be the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Blake, it was stated.

According to Rev. Parachini, no drugs or sexual promiscuity would be allowed in the home.

The home would have the services of a consulting psychiatrist and psychologist as well as social workers to work with the families of the students. In addition, a professional advisory board of three psychiatrists would be available.

The greatest point of contention concerning Freeport is the fact that a sizable group of residents in the neighborhood are opposed to the location.

At Monday night's hearing 13 property owners living within a four block radius of the property raised their hands as being in favor of the proposal and 50 expressed opposition.

When an expression of sentiment was requested from the total audience present at the hearing the great majority were in favor.

Alexander Beal, president of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Association, said the Board of Directors of that group voted their opposition to the Freeport proposal.

Beal said that the average selling price of homes in the area is $40,800 and that many parcels of property have sold recently for $60,000 to $70,000 plus.

He pointed out that many of the neighbors in the area had "a fear of the unknown."

"In the right location, one would have to be out of his mind to oppose the concept of Freeport," Beal said.

Atty. Robert Bonin, speaking in opposition to the proposal, maintained that the kind of student who would live in the house was not clearly defined. "We don't know whether this will be a fraternity house or a halfway house," he said.

He declared that the prime purpose of zoning is to protect and preserve the areas involved.

Newtonite Talks

Dr. Morris Simon, Radiologist-in-Chief at Beth Israel Hospital and Associate Clinical Professor of Radiology at the Harvard Medical School, spoke last week in Philadelphia.

As a Visiting Professor at Temple University, April 7th-10th, Dr. Simon's topic was "The Radiology of Pulmonary Embolic Disease." While in Philadelphia, he spoke before the Roentgen Ray Society on "The Routine Chest Film. A Bridge to the Pulmonary Circulation."

Upon returning to Boston on April 10th, he lectured at the New England Medical Center on "Cardiopulmonary Hemodynamics and the Radiologist."

Dr. Simon joined the staff of Beth Israel Hospital in 1958 and was appointed radiologist-in-chief in 1963. He currently resides in Newton.

Third Seder by Workmen's Circle

The Workmen's Circle Brookline I.L. Peretz School is sponsoring (April 29) at the Chateau Garod.

The program will consist of entertainment appropriate to the season by a local entertainer and program presented by the students at the school.

The children of the school are being prepared by Miss Cynthia Marsh and accompanied by Ted Schneider. Teachers who are assisting are Mrs. Lillian Fleischman, David Roskies, Abraham Igelfeld and Mrs. Vera Gurevitch, music instructor.

The committee in charge of the Third Seder are Mildred Cardis, Jack Rottenberg, Dr. Ed Gutoff and Mary Levin Wechsler.

For further information, please call Workmen's Circle office, 566-6281.

The evening's entertainment will be highlighted by Jeannette Coran, lyric soprano. Miss Coran is guest soloist with the Boston Civic Symphony and many choral societies.

Much time and effort has been put into the plans for this evening to make it most enjoyable. A special gift will be given to each guest. Donor Dinner Chairman, Mrs. Arthur Sandberg and co-chairman in charge of reservations, Mrs. Leonard Small extend a most cordial invitation to all members and friends and urge all to make reservations early.

Newtonite Is Chairman For Bowdoin Event

"The Mentally Retarded... They Can Be Trained. They Can Be Educated", a symposium on contemporary approaches toward mental retardation, will be held at Bowdoin College Friday (April 17).

Sponsored by the Bowdoin Jewish Association, the symposium will be presented at 8 p.m. in Smith Auditorium, Sills Hall. The public is cordially invited to attend. Lawrence C. Kaplan '72 of Newton Centre, the association's program chairman, said the speakers will be Albert Anderson, Jr., Ph.D., Director of Research and Program Development at Pineland Hospital and Training Center in Pownal, Me.; and Bruce P. Liddy, Ed.M., Director of Training and Director of the Bliss Vocational Rehabilitation Center at Pineland.

Kaplan said the topics will include an evaluation of present methods of caring for and educating the profoundly retarded, and the training and teaching of the higher intellectual retarded. The symposium,

Math Teacher At Murray Hill School Tries New Technique

Mathematics, a word few students like; a problem few math teachers can solve. The thought process of math is real math.

Memorizing mathematical procedures or algorithms that produce answers has as much to do with math as an ignition key has to do with a car. Lose the key and you are at a dead end.

which will include audio-visual presentations, will also deal with the development of programs designed to involve greater community action with training centers and clinics.

A coffee break will follow the main presentations and will precede a question and answer period.

Dr. Anderson is a former Assistant Professor of Psychology at the University of Maine and a former Clinical Psychologist at Bangor State Hospital. Mr. Libby is a teacher in the Continuing Education Department of the University of Maine in Portland.

Murray Road math teacher Ronald Barndt asked his students questions related to the basic theme of the math work the students had done at Newton High the year before.

He found that students had "lost the key" over the summer and now had no method of reassembling the information except for aid from textbooks or a teacher, and few students were motivated to do more than produce the answer to please the teacher.

This marks a deficiency in the traditional teaching techniques; Ronald Barndt tried a new approach.

In his courses this year he presents several questions to his class of mixed mathematical ability. Students work at home and bring to class their ideas of how to attack the problem.

Students start to put their ideas on the blackboard, and often in a short time find the answer and an algorithm (a method which will solve any problem of that type).

Mr. Barndt is often fascinated by the methods

Myrtle Baptist Backs Officer In Court Appeal

Myrtle Baptist Church members are backing Patrolman Walter B. Haywood in his appeal of a recent court decision, upholding the Mayor and Chief of Police of Newton, in the form of a resolution.

The court had served Haywood with 200 hours without pay as a punishment for his alleged falling asleep while on duty.

His appeal was scheduled for Tuesday of this week at Middlesex Superior Court, East Cambridge.

The resolution came as a public affirmation of faith in Haywood from Newton's black community.

that students use to arrive at their answers. The methods may be unusual or unorthodox, but mathematically sound.

Students become so involved in this process that the class maintains itself. Mr. Barndt rarely speaks except when students ask him to explain something or when he proposes new problems, to lead the class from their new knowledge to other material they should cover.

Rather than memorizing an algorithm they quickly forget, students come to understand the process involved in mathematical thinking.

If a student can find the answer by developing his own process now, later when he may have forgotten the algorithm, there is no reason why he can't figure it out again.

Many of Ronald Barndt's students formerly hated math and thought they could not do any math. Now many find they can do math, and they enjoy it.

One disadvantage is that you cover less material than in a traditional course. Or do you? Have you covered material if you can't use it four months later?

Highland Glee Club Presents Louise G. Cash

Noted mezzo-soprano Louise Gadsbois Cash, chairman of the department of music at Emmanuel College in Boston, is to be the featured soloist at the Highland Glee Club concert on Tuesday (April 28) at the Meadowbrook Junior High School, Newton Centre. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Cash, a graduate of Radcliffe with a master's degree in Voice and Music Theatre from the Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts is involved in many dimensions of her art.

A talented performer, she has appeared with the Boston University Opera Theatre, WBGH-TV opera, the Cambridge Opera Company and touring company of the New England Regional Opera Company and will be featured with the Associate Artists Opera in May of this year. She is soprano soloist at the Belmont United Methodist Church in Belmont.

Murray School Is Commended By Author Holt

"If there must be schools, this is the best kind," said author John Holt at the conclusion of experience-writing class at Murray Road.

John Holt, probably best known for his book "How Children Fail," discovered Murray Road School during its first year of operation when several Newton students went into his education class at Harvard to explain the Murray Road program.

Students feel at Murray Road that producing a human being does not mean loss of academic quality. Many educators have lost sight of the nature of education and have focused on producing a fine academic machine rather than a person who can function in society.

Traveling, lecturing and writing books to present insight into the intricacies of education are Holt's present activities, in an effort to achieve significant and appropriate change in the structure of our social-industrial system to prepare people for living. Murray Road is an encouraging sign for people trying to arrive at better educational techniques.

Suburban, Eastern Crowns Defense Opens For Newton

By JEFF GROSSMAN

The Newton High baseball team finished their brief exhibition season with a loss to Lexington and then won their opener and first Suburban League squabble last week as they began defense of their Suburban and Eastern Mass. crowns.

The Newton aggregate eked out a 2-1 win over Medford in the opener and then hammered Cambridge Latin 9 to 1 in a rain shortened contest. The Lexington game was dropped by a 6 to 4 count.

With the game tied at four, Lexington's Jim Kutrubes' seventh inning single broke the tie which dropped the Tigers. Jethro Mills drove across two runs with a fourth inning pinch double and Frank DeReubis and Chuck Pendergast accounted for the other runs.

Despite an error filled game, three by Medford and five by Newton the Tigers looked alright for an early season outing. Solid pitching was provided by Len Gentile, Steve Matloff and Jethro Mills.

Gentile gave up the lone Mustang run in the third but looked sharp overall in his first varsity mound assignment. Steve Matloff, also in his first varsity twirling assignment, fared well hurling two scoreless frames. Matloff picked up the win.

Jethro Mills, the only returning moundman from last spring concluded the contest for Newton on the hill and looked sharp. The three pitchers allowed only four safeties. Gentile and Mills fanned three while Matloff struck out one.

Meanwhile, Medford threw three lefties at Newton who allowed only three hits. Willard Basler retired five on strikes and was quite impressive. Dave Cantazo and Fred Berns were the other Medford throwers.

Medford opened the scoring in the third with two down. Tom Griffin smacked a single and went to second on a throwing error by catcher and co-captain Bob Wargin. Art Santos got a free pass and football and track standout John Aquino doubled to left to score Griffin.

Newton scored their two runs in the fifth. Chuck Pendergast and Bob Wargin drew passes but Paul Vershow and Bob Fabiano popped to first. A Jethro Mills grounder went through second sacker Art Santos' legs to score Pendergast and push Wargin to third.

Mike Lally, who whiffed three times hit when necessary however, as he slapped a liner to right to score the winner.

Chuck Pendergast, three sport star who plays second base made the fielding play of the day on Tom Coughlin. Coughlin spanked the ball up the middle and Pendergast dove, made the stop, got up and threw Coughlin out.

The losing hurler for the Mustangs, a Greater Boston League entry was Catanzo. A six run fifth inning broke open a previously tight contest as the Tigers bombed Cambridge Latin last Thursday at Dickinson Stadium.

Len Gentile went the route for the home team winners allowing one run on three hits and three bases on balls. He struck out six Cambridge batters.

In the fifth with NHS leading 3 to 1 CL hurler Larry Pierce began to weaken. Dan striking out Pendergast Wargin singled and the scoring parade began. Four batters walked with Bob Fabiano reaching on an error in-between.

Sergio Hernandez replaced Pierce and proceeded to walk the next three batters and then the game was called on account of darkness.

Hitting was provided for Newton by co-captains Jethro Mills and Bob Wargin. Mills collected two runs batted in with a sacrifice fly in the opening frame and a triple in the third. Wargin singled and doubled one starting a rally and another keeping one alive.

For Cambridge Latin's coach Charlie Killilea, it was a disappointing opening appearance as coach. Coach Killilea felt his team played well until the fifth when the pitching "fell to pieces."

Pendergast played the other side of the keystone combination against the Cantab and went one for two while scoring twice. Other rbi contributors were Frank DiReubis, Mills, Dana Goodchild, Paul Aronian and Gentile.

Ron Keating drove in Cambridge's lone run on a sacrifice fly to center scoring Bob Johnson who advanced on catcher Bob Wargin's throwing errors. Wargin is this spring's great experiment for Coach Ferguson.

Before this spring the senior had seen little action behind the plate but with no experience there Coach Ferguson decided to use him because he wanted a take charge, holler guy behind the plate.

So far Wargin has had some trouble, mostly throwing errors but he is definitely improving and it would seem that the faster he improves the better Newton will fare.

This week the Newton nine has three engagements. Monday they were at Rindge, yesterday they were home versus Brockton and tomorrow they are scheduled to visit Weymouth.

Co-Captains Selected For So. Hockey

Defenseman Clem Virgilio and goalie Paul Modern have been elected co-captains of the 1970-71 Newton South High hockey team.

Virgilio, a hustling, tough-checking defender, served as an assistant captain for the Lions this winter. He also plays the outfield for the South diamond nine.

Modern, a two-year starter, was a second-team Dual County League all-star selection from his goalie position, this year, and recorded three shut-outs. Modern also plays center for the football team and protects the nets for the South lacrosse team.

4 Local Cagers Named To "All" Honorable Team

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Newton South High captain Emmons Levine was one of four Newton High School cagers named on the honorable mention all-scholastic team.

Levine averaged 14.2 points per game for the Lions this winter and was their leading rebounder as well, for the second year running. He was the seventh leading scorer in the Suburban League.

Forward Lenny Gentile and guard Chuck Pendergast were the two Newton High ball-players named, along with Bob Connolly, the Catholic All-Suburban center of Our Lady's.

Patriots Invited To Reyim Men's Sports Night

Two star players of the Boston Patriots, Larry Eisenhauer, All-Star defensive end and Jon Morris, All-Star center, will be special guests of the Temple Reyim Brotherhood at its annual Family Sports Night dinner on Tuesday, May 5.

The affair will be held at the temple's Ordis Social Hall starting at 6 p.m.

Reservations and further information may be obtained from Dinner Chairman Marty Goldenberg at LA 7-6010 and Allen Post at 969-1543.

Other committeemen include Bob Garber, Leon Landman, Phil Marsh, Nathan Seltzer and Lou Tobin.

Late Bloomers Lead League

The Newton Volleyball League for Women wound up its play last week with the Late Bloomers breaking their tie with the Early Bloomers. Both teams went into competition with a four win, no loss record, but the Late Bloomers grabbed hold of first place with 15-7 and 15-11 wins over the Early Bloomers.

In the lower bracket of the league, the Burr Voleys were secure in third place, but a tie existed among the Independents, Carr Chicken Fats and Carr Babies. A playoff left the Carr Chicken Fats in fourth place, with a chance to compete in this week's championships at the Carr Elementary School.

South High Golf Team Lineup Set

Coach Ed Little announced the Newton South High golf roster for 1970, last week.

Fourteen players were kept on the squad, though only six will play as regulars. Eight are seniors, three juniors and three sophomores.

Captain Howie Terban will be number one man. Last spring he fluctuated between the number one and two spots. Terban shoots in the low 70's. Bill O'Brien should be second man and is expected to shoot in the middle 70's.

Other returnees with some varsity experience are Roger Seletsky, Lloyd Birenbaum, Peter Young and John Corcoran.

Mike Arnow, Doug Richards, Ron Weiss, John Diamond, and Howie Devine round out the squad.

Coach Ed Little is optimistic about the upcoming Suburban League season. "This could be our best year because of the depth on the squad. I'm really optimistic about the play of Terban and O'Brien. Both have looked especially sharp."

The golfers open their season April 27 versus Brookline.

South High Lacrosse Squad Is Building Up

Newton South lacrosse coach Tom Steeves is pleased with the way his team is shaping up this spring.

The Lions are undergoing a rebuilding program or perhaps just a building program. Lacrosse was introduced to South two years ago and was played on a club basis. Last spring it became a varsity sport and the team compiled a 1-8 mark. Much of that team is gone and Steeves is starting all over once more.

But the team does have youth and although they suffer from inexperience Steeves is not counting his charges out.

The Lions will be led by Co-Captains Eric Schwam and Ira Rosenberg the only two seniors on the roster.

Paul Modern, Bob Kraft, Mark Priest, Bob Staulo, Mike Myers, Herb Auerbach, Jim Cutler, Andy Cutler, and Dave Smith all saw some action last spring so the Lions are not as bad off as some might think.

Other juniors out for the first time are Jim Prelack, Dan McDonald, Gary Zaftron, and Dan Barkin.

Newcomers to the sport are sophomores John Bell, Jerry Moore, Gary Ross, Roy Linn, Stu Newtow, Bob Ronayne and Mark Dixie.

The lacrosse team faces La Salle of Providence, Rhode Island and Concord, this week in its first games of the season.

College News

Martha Radlo, daughter of Mrs. Lester B. Radlo of 383 Langley rd. in Newton, has been elected to the Committee on Students and Community Relations composed of students and faculty of both Harvard and Radcliffe.

Miss Radlo, a graduate of Newton South High, is a member of the Freshman Council and the Harvard-Radcliffe Chorus.

Jonna M. Amicangioli of 24 Charles st., Auburndale, has been named to the dean's list of Lowell State College for the fall semester. Miss Amicangioli is a senior majoring in music.

Judith Billage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice D. Billage of 113 Woodcliff rd., Newton, will perform in a concert with this combined Goucher College Glee Club, the Johns Hopkins University Glee Club, the Goucher Chapel Choir and the Goucher-Hopkins Symphony, at the college on April 25th.

A graduate of Newton South High, Miss Billage is a junior majoring in political science and sociology at Goucher.

Sue Coffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. T. Coffin Jr. and Sue Ellen Collinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Collinson Jr. of 100 Hillside Ave., both of West Newton, were named to the honor roll at Walnut Hill School in Natick during the third quarter at the girl's preparatory school.

Maurice Gordon of 29 Prentice, Newton Centre, a mechanical engineering student in his senior year at Case Western Reserve University Freidman (2), Gorton, Selby and Levine scored the runs. Centerfielder Gary Fratto had the lone base-hit off Levine.

South's opening day line-up consisted of four seniors and five underclassmen with Levine at Pitcher, Gorton, 2b, Ken Green, shortstop, and Selby, 1b, the seniors. Friedman, 3b, Virgilio, CF, Izen, LF, Lerner, C, and Ken Perlis, RF, rounded out the line-up.

Earlier in the week, South topped Newburyport twice, 5-4 and 7-2 and fell to Needham, in three practice games.

Levine was the big news in the first Newburyport victory, cracking two hits in two at-bats and fanning 12 enemy batters in four innings. Virgilio, too, wielded a big bat with a perfect three-for-three against Arlington, Weymouth, day and two RBIs.

Needham High erupted for three runs in the seventh inning to overtake Newton South, 4-3.

The game-winner came on a two-run single by catcher Ron Merouski after South had managed three runs on only four hits.

South enters its Suburban League schedule in full stride this week with three games against Arlington, Weymouth, and Brookline.

Miss Asquith-Mr. Rand Wed; To Live In New Haven

The marriage of Miss Susan Joan Asquith to Alan David Rand took place recently at Temple Ohabei Shalom in Brookline.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Asquith of 26 Fox Hill road, Newton Centre. Dr. and Mrs. Harry Rand of 199 Temple street, West Newton, are the groom's parents.

Cantor Alex Zimmer officiated at the four o'clock afternoon single ring ceremony. A reception took place at the home of the groom's parents.

Mr. Donald Asquith of Newton Centre gave his sister away. She wore a smartly styled pink suit and her flowers, pink roses and white stephanotis, were arranged in a nosegay.

Miss Lisa Nada Asquith of Newton Centre was honor maid, while Miss Lisa Nada Asquith of Newton Centre was the other attendant.

The best man was Donald Robert Asquith of Newton Centre, brother of the bride.

Following a trip to Puerto Rico, Mr. and Mrs. Rand will live in New Haven.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from Brandeis University. Mr. Rand is now attending Yale University.

Miss Kunz, Newton Teacher, Plans Marriage

The engagement of Miss Kathleen Marie Kunz to Robert William McQueeney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. McQueeney of Dorchester, is made known by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kunz of Roslindale.

Miss Kunz was graduated from Emmanuel College and received her master's degree in French from Laval University, Quebec. She is now teaching in the Newton schools.

Mr. McQueeney, a graduate of Boston College, is attending the Massachusetts College of Optometry. He served as a lieutenant in the Air Force and is associated with the Carney Hospital. (Photo by Sharon's Studio)

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ, Scientist

The First Church of Christ, Scientist at 391 Walnut st., Newtonville, welcomes all visitors to their services this Sunday to begin at 10:45 a.m.

The "oneness" of mankind that insures peace can be found in man's "at-one-ment" with God. This spiritual relationship is explained in the Lesson-Sermon on "Doctrine of Atonement" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, April 19.

The Lesson-Sermon begins with a Golden Text from John: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

One of the readings from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Gray of 38 Waban street, Newton. The groom is the son of Mrs. Wallace McKay of Seattle, Washington and the late Mr. McKay.

The Rev. James H. Coffey officiated at the three o'clock afternoon ceremony. The Marriot Motor Hotel in Newton was the scene of the reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's traditional white gown, worn previously by her mother, was fashioned of Alencon lace. The molded bodice had long wedding point sleeves and the smartly styled skirt was enhanced with a cathedral length train.

A matching lace cap held in place her full length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of gardenias with violets.

Miss Virginia Gray of Brussels, Belgium, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a Victorian gown of deep violet styled with a long sleeved bodice made of white crepe. Her flowers were white roses and violets.

John McKay of Chicago, Ill., served as his brother's best man. The ushers were two cousins of the bride, Theodore White and Christopher White, both of Wayland.

Mrs. Gray, the bride's mother, chose a grey lace ensemble, while Mrs. McKay wore a lavender ensemble for her son's wedding.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose an aqua suit with beige accessories.

Mr. McKay and his bride will live in Seattle, Washington.

The bride was graduated from Ursuline Academy, Dedham, Newton College of the Sacred Heart and Washington University. She served for two years as a volunteer with the Peace Corps in El Salvador, Central America and is a member of the Ace of Clubs.

Mr. McKay is a graduate of Seattle Prep and Seattle University. He is now a hospital relations representative. (photo by Bradford Bachrach)

Beauty Care Today

By Norman of RONALD COIFFEURS

Can a straight and simple hair-do travel in style?

It can, and with a minimum of equipment.

Part it on the side, and set it in rag curls. Then sleep on it. In the morning

let down a tumble of loose curls and brush for smoothness.

A late-day or evening style begins by brushing the hair back into a ponytail. Tie it with pin-on curls that fall lightly over the back of the head. Cover the seam with a ribbon of hair. Using a good setting gel, pin curl the side of the hair toward the back. At the last minute, remove the pins, and let this hair fall gently down.

For an off-the-neck evening style, start at the ponytail, and pin on a crest of curls. Then artfully arrange these curls over the top of the head. Secure with hair pins, invisibly placed.

Voice of Women Protest the War

The Voice of Women, Media Committee, 811 Washington St. in Newtonville is appealing to local citizens for funds to put up billboards and buy other forms of advertising for their anti-war message.

For the first time in New England a commercial billboard has been used for anti-war protest, erected in Park Square in Boston by the Voice of Women. Every day for a week past a small group of Women members have been passing out literature and talking to people at Boylston and Charles sts. calling into question the use of tax money to fight undeclared wars in Laos and Vietnam or to threaten the future with ABM and MIRV.

Returns After Two Weeks Air Reserve Duties

Aircrew Survival Equipmentman, Steven A. Graber of Waban, returned this week from two weeks of active duty with the Naval Air Reserve at Naval Air Station, Quonset Point, Rhode Island.

Mr. Graber is a member of Antisubmarine Helicopter Reserve Unit 6622, and along with the other men in his unit, represent part of a reserve unit which drills one weekend a month and performs active service two weeks a year.

A member of the reserves for three years, Mr. Graber is also a Skydiver Instructor and a full-time student. He resides at 1272 Beacon St., Waban.

Mount Ida Opens Doors to Parents This Weekend

Mrs. Stanley Robinson of 46 Lafayette road, Newton Lower Falls, Head of the English Department of Mount Ida Junior College, Newton, will be chairman of Parents' Weekend at the college, this Friday through Sunday (April 17-19).

The weekend festivities will include a dance and cabaret on Friday and a gymkana in the riding arena, a student music recital, a "gyn-agination" in Alumnae Hall, meetings with administrators and faculty, and a terrace luncheon on Saturday.

Saturday night the students will present "The King and I."

Throughout the weekend a student art exhibit will be set up at Halliden Library.

There will be open house in the dormitories all weekend so that parents may visit their daughters' rooms and view the everyday life of the campus.

Buy Film Rights

Producers Charles Schner and Sam Wanamaker have bought the film rights to Marshall Pugh's "The Last Place Left" for production late this year.

Dinner-Dance For Benefit of Leukemia Fund

Mrs. Benjamin Baker of Newton is chairman this year for the 18th Annual Leukemia Dinner Dance by the Boston Alumni Chapter of Rho Phi Phi International Pharmaceutical Fraternity and its Ladies Auxiliary. The dance will be held at the Chateau de Ville, Route 1, Saugus on Saturday evening (May 2).

Each year thousands of dollars are raised by this group to help combat the dread disease leukemia. The money is turned over to the Blood Research Laboratory of the New England Medical Centre, Department of Hematology, under the leadership of Dr. William H. Crosby.

Every contribution helps to expand efforts in bringing leukemia under control, and raises hopes of eventual control of this disease.

Research into the prevention of, and finding the cure for Leukemia is very expensive. There are no paid workers. Community support is a weapon that will some day wipe out the misery of the unfortunate sufferers of this disease.

Oklahoma produced 122,383,000 bushels of winter wheat in 1968.

Temple Mishkan Tefila Forum To Hold Dance

A swingin' Western Square Dance with a Ranch Style late supper is being planned by the Temple Tefila Forum for Saturday, May 2nd, at 8 p.m. "Regular" dances will be amply interspersed amongst the squares, which will be called by Stanley Cibel. Mr. Cibel is well known in his field.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pretzker are chairing the event, with the assistance of the following committee:

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sandler - Publicity; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Birnbaum - Refreshments; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Nyman, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Krantz - Arrangements; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grasfield - Decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Popkin, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Silberstein - Tickets; Mrs. Irwin Brilliant - Posters; Mrs. Bernard Gitlin - Invitation Design.

Duran E. Tillett Is Army Gunner in Viet

A Newton Army man, Specialist 4 Duran E. Tillett, was recently assigned as an assistant gunner with the American Division in Vietnam.

He is the 20-year-old son of Mrs. Hazel Hillett of 48 High street, Newton.

Firemen Injured, Rescue Sisters, In Morning Fire

Two young sisters were rescued over ladders and two firefighters suffered injuries as an early fire swept a three-story dwelling at 349 Linwood Ave., Newtonville, Saturday (April 11).

Rescued from a third floor window were Patricia MacNeil, 11, and her sister, Deborah, 9. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacNeil.

The MacNeils and the occupants of the first floor, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ellorin, fled to safety over stairways.

Fire officials said the two-alarm blaze caused heavy damage to the home which is owned by MacNeil, a supervisor at Garland Junior College, Boston.

Injured were firefighters Joseph Muzi and Anthony Leone. Muzi suffered smoke inhalation and was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and released. Leone was treated for smoke inhalation at the scene.

The fire was reported by an occupant of the house at 2 a.m. It apparently started on the side porch and spread into the second and third floors that a occupied by the MacNeils.

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. called for an investigation of the blaze that gutted the home.

Gala Party For Support Of Crittenton's Hastings House

Members and friends of the Newton Circle of the Florence Crittenton League have received invitations to a gala evening in the charming and unique barn at the home of E. and Mrs. Edmund F. Finnerty of Waban, which will be held on Friday evening (April 24).

Cocktails and Hors d'oeuvres will be served by Mrs. Charles L. Bryson, Mrs. Leon G. Tuck, and her committee: Mrs. Victor D. Baer, Mrs. George S. Bissell, Mrs. Lawrence V. Eaton, Mrs. Allan Q. Mowett and Mrs. David W. Skinner.

Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver of Weston, is in charge of reservations, and those already planning to attend are: Mr. and Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Brookhiser, Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Brown, Miss Ruth Burns, Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, Mrs. Richard Campobello, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dacey, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin W. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer F. Denning and Mrs. Thomas S. Derr.

Also Mr. and Mrs. William B. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hawkridge, Mr. and Mrs. George Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Loumos, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. MacNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, Mrs. E.M. Orr,

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. William Sanderson, Dr. and Mrs. Richard C. Schofield, Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Vandam, Mr. and Mrs. G. Parker Wan, Mrs. Avis C. Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver.

The event will go toward helping to support the Crittenton Hastings House - a home for unwed mothers.

Parents-To-Be Classes Start Next Thursday

The spring series of five free classes for parents expecting a blessed event gets underway at Newton - Wellesley Hospital next Thursday evening, April 23.

Open to any couple, regardless of the hospital they will use, the classes meet on consecutive Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. in the hospital's Usen Auditorium.

The programs cover prenatal care of mother and infant, birth of a baby, and the care and development of an infant through its first year. Classes are conducted by Mrs. Genevieve Fitzpatrick. Joining with her are the hospital's chief of obstetrics and gynecology, R. Leonard White, M.D., of Westron and nursing personnel from the hospital's maternity suite.

Bathing and diapering demonstrations, instructions about infant feeding, and films and discussions are included in the program. Refreshments and door prizes are presented at each session. Diplomas are awarded during the fifth and final class to mothers - and fathers - to-be.

Information about classes may be obtained by telephoning the hospital at 244-2800.

Newton - Wellesley Hospital and the Dy - Dee Service Company have presented the course to more than 1,000 expectant parents during the past 3-1/2 years. Enrollment in the series of classes, held three times annually, averages nearly 200 future parents.

Newton Men At Human Relations Conference

Three Newton educators are serving as consultants for a special two-day conference on Human Relations in the Schools today and Friday (April 16, 17) at the Colonial Hilton Inn, Lynnfield.

They are Frederick Andelman, education and program director of the American Jewish Committee; Herbert Hoffman of the Florence Heller School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare, Brandeis University, and Charles F. Smith, Department of Teacher Education, Boston College.

The conference is being sponsored by the Massachusetts Committee of Education and Human Relations, a new organization charged with improving and bringing about better understanding in human relation through the schools.

Neil Sullivan, Commissioner of Education, will be the featured speaker at the conference, which is bringing together educators and community leaders from more than 100 cities and towns in the state.

Purpose of the gathering is to assess the human relations needs of the schools and to develop new approaches to human relations education in the areas of teacher training, minority relations and student unrest in the schools.

The committee has voiced its intentions to establish teacher education workshops in human relations education throughout the state in the next two years.

These workshops, conducted within the normal inservice training process of many school systems, would train a cadre of teacher specialists in each community responsible for developing new curricula and programs in human relations education.

Newtonite Will Be May Speaker

Sidney Croll of Newton Highlands, will be one of the speakers at the two-day 21st annual convention of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Hyannis, May 13-14. Several hundred will attend the convention.

The event comes during the state-wide observance of the fifth annual Nursing Home Week celebration. Croll is an official of the Federation.

Gardening Without Poisons To Be Club Meeting Theme

Gardening Without Poisons is a subject of increasing interest to Garden Clubs and to almost everyone concerned with conservation. And so when the Newton Centre Garden Club members and their invited guests meet on Tuesday, April 21 for their last regular meeting of the season, they will hear an expert, Mrs. Beatrice Trum Hunter, discuss this matter.

Mrs. Hunter is no stranger to Garden Clubs as she has worked diligently to show how natural protections against insect plagues and pestilence work, and how we can make these forces help us if we understand them. In the months since the publication of Silent Spring by the late Rachel Carson, millions of Americans have become aware of the dangers stemming from the indiscriminate use of lethal chemicals to control insect and plant diseases. Why Mrs. Hunter will also stress is how natural controls developed by modern science can, in the long run, be much safer and more effective than the deadly chemicals with which we are now poisoning our own environment.

The business meeting at 10 o'clock will be conducted by the president, Miss Esther Winslow of Newton Centre and will follow the coffee at 9:30.

Hostesses are Mrs. Francis E. McDonough of West Newton and Mrs. Evelyn K. Mentzer of Newton Center. Pourers are Mrs. Philip A. Ingwersen of Waban and Mrs. Robert S. Mullen of Newton Highlands.

Plans for the forthcoming annual meeting on May 19 at Brae Burn Country Club will be revealed, the slate of new officers will be read by the nominating committee with Mrs. John D. Fox of Wayland chairman, as well as announcements of those who will participate in providing decorations for the Open House at the Jackson I. mestead on Sunday, May 3rd.

The first commercial manufacturer of cowbells was the Barton Bell Co., founded in 1793 at East Hampton, Conn.

FUND-RAISERS — Publicity chairmen of Women's Scholarship Association's 63rd Luncheon are, left to right: Mrs. David Zoll and Mrs. Harold Parritz, both of Newton. The fund-raising event, headed by Mrs. George Adams, also of Newton, will be held Wednesday, May 6th at the Sidney Hill Country Club. A Summer Fashions Show will highlight the afternoon. Mrs. Morton Kliman of Newton is president of the Association.

Eleanor Boylan Will Appear In Hub Puppet Show

On Saturday, April 25, popular Newton puppeteer, Eleanor Boylan, will have a chance to perform with "OSCAR, THE GROUCH," a humorous character on "Sesame Street" who will visit Boston for one day.

"Sesame Street," the much-acclaimed children's educational television program, has many comic puppet characters, and one of the most delightful is "Oscar" who lives in a trash can and has a cynical outlook on everything.

"Oscar," whose creator is Carroll Spinney, formerly "Mr. Lion" of the Bozo show in Boston, has been allowed by the directors of Sesame Street to pay a one day visit to Boston as the guest star of "A Day of Puppetry" to be held at John Hancock Hall, (Dorothy Quincy Suite) on Saturday, April 25.

The day will feature many other puppeteers as well. Eleanor Boylan, creator of "Gloryanna, the Witch," will be present, as will other gifted New England puppeteers with shows, demonstrations, exhibits, and "how to" displays all involving puppets and puppeteers.

Dr. M. Platt In Corporate Move With Fabric Co.

Dr. Milton M. Platt of 5 Byfield rd., Waban, Vice President at Fabric Research Laboratories, Inc. of Dedham has been elected Treasurer and a member of FRL's Board of Directors.

In 1961 Dr. Platt received the first Fiber Society Award for "distinguished achievement in basic and applied fiber science" and was cited for his outstanding contributions in the field of applied mechanics of textile structures. He holds a membership in the Society of Sigma Xi, the Society of Rheology, the Textile Research Institute, is a Fellow of the Textile Institute, has an honorary life membership in the Lowell Technological Institute Engineering Society, is a member of the Governing Council of the Fiber Society, and is a Registered Professional Engineer.

Dr. Platt is the current President of The Fiber Society and, in 1967, he was named the Harold DeWitt Smith Medalist of the American Society for Testing and Materials. In recent years at Fabric Research Laboratories, Dr. Platt has devoted much of his interest to the mechanical uses for textile structures, such as parachutes, inflated structures and tire cord systems. Related to this, he has particular interest in a unique area which he terms "life textiles," the uses of textile structures for the maintenance, support, and saving of human life.

Two Escape $10,000 Fire In Highlands

An early Sunday morning fire nearly consumed a Dedham street home in Newton Highlands doing upwards of $10,000 damage.

The fire, reported as a brushfire at 12:13 a.m., caused heavy damage to the dining room, kitchen and upstairs bedroom and smoke damage to the rest of the two and a half story home of Thomas R. Crowder, 95 Dedham street.

Mr. Crowder and his son escaped injury after having been awakened by the smell of smoke in the bedroom and were outside when the firefighters arrived on the scene.

The kitchen was almost totally destroyed by the time the firefighters entered the home, and fire spread to the adjoining dining room, as well as an upstairs bedroom and bathroom.

Origin of the fire, which was extinguished by 2:53 a.m., is believed to have been a short circuit in the kitchen.

Temple Garden Club Members Award Winners

The New England Spring Flower Show which was held at Suffolk Downs from March 15th through the 22nd had as its theme this year "The Light of Color Excites the Senses" — See, Hear, Taste, Smell and Touch.

The chairman of Flower Arrangement Section of the Flower Show was Mrs. Leo E. Wolf of Temple Shalom Garden Club of West Newton. The schedule was written by Mrs. Ezra Sherman and the staging of the show done by Mrs. Joseph Sabbath, both also of the Temple Shalom Garden Club.

For many years the Temple Shalom Garden Club has actively participated in the Annual Spring Flower Show and once again two of their members received awards for their arrangements.

Mrs. S. Monroe Glick was awarded a Blue Ribbon, first prize, for a modern arrangement using only black and white dried and fresh flowers, and also the "Creativity" award which is given for the most outstanding arrangement of the day.

Mrs. Joseph Sabbath was awarded a Blue Ribbon, first prize, for "a culinary still life composed of flowers and or fruits and or vegetables and objects."

Temple Shalom Garden Club of West Newton is a member of the Massachusetts Federation of Garden Clubs.

Edward Rutledge, 26, a Charleston, S.C. lawyer, was the youngest signer of the Declaration of Independence.

English 'Live-In' Plans Set For Newton Students

A new program has been family activities and local visits.

At the close of the homestay the American group will have a week to visit another part of England including several days in London, an overnight in Brussels, then return to the United States on August 7th.

The British students will then come here August 12th to visit until September 1st or 2nd.

The total fee for this program is only $490 which includes all travel expenses as well as lodgings in London and Brussels. They also hope to have a scholarship available for a student who will be selected through his or her high school. The objectives of this program are to provide students from Great Britain and the United States the opportunity of meeting and becoming friends and to become members of families in each others lands as well as to awaken and develop an appreciation for the culture, politics, economics and society of each other's country.

Any student from the age of 15 to 18, who would like to join this program, please call Mrs. Scheff at 332-5406 or 969-1442.

Reception For Newton Residents By Combined JP

Dr. and Mrs. David Kaufman will host a reception for Newton residents on Sunday (April 19) at their home, 46 Rachel Road, Newton Centre, when Dr. Roland W. Moskowitz of Cleveland, Ohio, will speak on behalf of the 1970 Appeal and Israel Emergency Fund of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

A member of the national Young Leadership Cabinet of the United Jewish Appeal, Dr. Moskowitz was a member of the July 1967 fact-finding mission to Israel. His breadth of interest in Jewish communal affairs includes service on the Committee on College Youth of the Jewish Welfare Federation of Cleveland and on the Board of Trustees of the Jewish Family Service Association and the College of Jewish Studies. Dr. Moskowitz is a graduate of Temple University School of Medicine.

Currently observing its 75th Anniversary Year as the nation's first voluntary welfare federation, the Combined Jewish Philanthropies is the central fund raising, budgeting and planning body of Greater Boston's Jewish community.

Funds raised by CJP are allocated to some 75 local, national and overseas agencies furnishing health, educational, cultural, recreational, and social services. The entire amount raised by the Emergency Fund is forwarded directly through the United Jewish Appeal to help finance vital humanitarian services in Israel. In addition, the largest single allocation from the regular campaign is earmarked for use in Israel and for maintaining life supporting programs abroad.

Chaplain Ross In Unit Cited For Top Honor

Chaplain (Captain) Robert J. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ross, 213 Derby St., West Newton, is a member of a unit that has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

The 437th Military Airlift Wing at Charleston AFB, S.C., was cited for meritorious service from July 1968 to July 1969 for its support of military operations. This marks the fourth time in five years the wing has been honored as an outstanding unit.

Chaplain Ross, who serves in the 437th, will wear the distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit.

The organization is a part of the Military Airlift Command which provides global airlift for U.S. military forces.

The chaplain, a 1947 graduate of Sacred Heart High School in Newton Centre, received his B.A. degree in 1957 from Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., and his M.S. degree in 1963 from Canisius College, Buffalo.

List Services For Lutherans

The Rev. Robert L. Griesse will conduct Sunday worship services at 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Holy Communion is celebrated each Sunday at the early service and at both services the last Sunday of each month.

Sunday School meets at 10:30 a.m., and a nursery is provided for pre-schoolers. A coffee hour takes place in the parish hall after the late service.

On Wednesday nights at 8:00 p.m. a Religious Education Night is held. The subject to be studied during this spring semester is Marriage Enrichment. The discussion leader is Pastor Charles Mueller, family counselor of the Lutheran Association for Works of Mercy.

Three Newton men represented the United Cerebral Palsy of Boston at the National Organization's 1970 annual meeting which took place from April 9 to April 11 in Cincinnati, Ohio. They include Herbert L. Connolly of 80 Claremont St., Nuncio Perregrino of 18 Shamrock St., and Martin Reiss, president of Alarmtronics, Inc. of Newton. The three were among cerebral palsy leaders from 304 State and local affiliates throughout the country who convene for three days of meetings to plan ways of furnishing more and better services for the cerebral palsied.

Britain Faces Mass "Push" By Immigrants

By Joseph W. Grigg

When diminutive Ranjan Vaid, 19, finally made it through British immigration, she has earned the unenviable nickname of "the flying shuttlecock." For more than a week Miss Vaid, an Asian from Kenya, had shuttled back and forth by plane between Nairobi, London, Frankfurt and Johannesburg, clocking more than 17,000 miles in the air, without finding a country that would let her in.

The day after Britain rejected and opened its gates to Miss Vaid, three young Asian men from Kenya landed at the Zurich airport from Nairobi and settled down to two weeks of waiting in transit lounges and aliens' hotels before British immigration finally relented and agreed to let them in for three months while they sorted out their situation. Most Britons assume they will not be tossed back again into a life in airport transit lounges when their three months are up.

British officials estimate there still are some 50 homeless East African Asians starting glumly through windows of airport transit lounges in various European cities — hoping Britain will relent and let them in.

Miss Vaid and the other homeless Asians have one thing in common — British passports. There are an estimated 130,000 such Asians from East and Central Africa — Kenya, Uganda, Tanzania, Malawi and Zambia.

When Britain granted independence to her African colonies in the 1960s, she promised British citizenship to all their residents who did not decide to take up citizenship of the new nations. It was a gesture Britain has lived to regret, for the governments of the new states have adopted "Africanization" policies designed gradually to squeeze out of business and employment any residents who did not take up their citizenship.

The problem first became critical two years ago and in March, 1968, the British Parliament, afraid this country was about to be swamped by a tidal wave of 1.5 to 2 million holders of British nationality in Africa and Asia, slammed the doors to further general immigration.

Legislative Quotas
It rushed through legislation providing that only 1,500 heads of families and their dependents — probably not more than 7,000 all told — would be permitted to enter Britain each year in the future.

A recent new speedup of "Africanization," particularly in Kenya and Uganda, has made the problem of Asian holders of British passports acute again. British officials estimate that within the next six months at least 50,000 Asians from Africa will be clamoring to get into Britain.

Some Asians have talked of chartering airliners and landing in Britain in a mass "invasion" it would be impossible for Britain to repel. Although most African Asians or their parents came originally from India and Pakistan, neither of these countries wants them. It's a desperate human problem because Britain doesn't want them either, at least not en masse.

Recent Deaths

Alexander Shannon

A veteran of World War I, Alexander Shannon of 44 Tardion Road, Newton Centre, died Wednesday, April 8, at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Bedford. He was a native of Brunswick, Me.

He was employed for 43 years by Western Union and had been a commercial representative.

Mr. Shannon leaves his widow, Mrs. Helen (Haak) Shannon; two daughters, Mrs. John C. Whitehead of Essex, B. J., and Mrs. Richard L. Deagan of Westfield, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Mackay Funeral Home, 465 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Catherine T. McCarthy

Mrs. Catherine T. McCarthy of 22 Byrd Avenue, West Newton, mother of Newton police Sgt. James J. McCarthy Jr., died at Newton-Wellesley Hospital at the age of 79 on Monday, April 13. She was stricken unexpectedly at home.

She was born in Waterford, Ireland, resided in Newton for over 50 years, and was the widow of James J. McCarthy. Besides Sgt. McCarthy she leaves one other son, Col. James F. McCarthy of Waltham; three daughters, Miss Catherine T. McCarthy of West Newton, Mrs. Claire J. Shannon of Newton and Mrs. Theresa M. Kenney of Newton Highlands, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning with a solemn requiem high Mass in St. Bernard's Church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Maria Gentile

A solemn requiem Mass was offered Monday morning in Our Lady's Help of Christians Church, Newton, for Mrs. Maria (Gentile) Gentile, a resident of Newton for 30 years before moving to Watertown. She died Thursday, April 9, in Waltham Hospital after a brief illness.

Mrs. Gentile, widow of Loreto Gentile, was 73 and a native of San Donato, Italy. She had been a member of Our Lady's Rosary Society, and the Flori D'Italia Lodge of Newton Sons of Italy.

Surviving are a son, Donato Gentile of Newton; a daughter, Miss Josephine Gentile of Watertown; six grandchildren, and a brother, Donato Gentile of Italy.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Fashions and Flowers In Antique Setting Thursday

Artistic flower arrangements, antiques and smart modern fashions will combine to make a delightful afternoon for members and friends of the Auburndale and West Newton Garden Clubs on Thursday (May 21).

The occasion will be an afternoon of elegance in a setting of charm and beauty at The Vale in Waltham. This is the fine old mansion designed in 1793 by Samuel McIntyre for Theodore Lyman, eminent Boston merchant. Five generations of Lyman made The Vale their home for over one hundred and fifty years. It has been deeded by the family to the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities.

Appropriate flower arrangements will be displayed by club members to enhance the distinctive architectural features and the antiques in various rooms. A fashion show of smart summer styles will take place under a large pink tent and May Wine and petits gateaux will be served on the broad verandah. Guests may enjoy a stroll through the mansion and spacious grounds and visit the famous greenhouses. One of these is reputed to be the earliest of its kind in New England. Another contains the Hamburg grapevines, grown from a clipping brought from Hampton Court in England about 1870.

Proceeds of this festive occasion will benefit the restoration of gardens at The Jackson Homestead, Newton's Historical Museum.

Mrs. A. G. Asaff of the Auburndale Garden Club and Mrs. Richard A. Winslow of the West Newton Garden Club are co-chairmen.

Members of both clubs are on their committee including the club presidents Mrs. John B. G. Palen of Auburndale and Mrs. Daniel S. Ellis of Lincoln. Also Mrs. Charles A. Higgins, Mrs. Raymond P. Atwood, Mrs. S. Page Cotton, Mrs. Champe A. Fisher, Mrs. Fabian Bachrach, Mrs. Nelson O. Johnson, Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Mrs. Frank C.

Country Players Prepare For Season's Third Show

The third production of the Newton Country Players this season will be "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" by Robert Anderson. This comedy which includes four one-act plays, will be produced by Shirley Vitello who has been a member of the Country Players since the spring of 1968.

In her two years with the group, Shirley's backstage activities have included Wardrobe Mistress and Costume Design for "Bells Are Ringing," and Properties Chairman for "Ten Little Indians."

In the fall of 1968, she was co-chairman of the Barbecue and shortly thereafter was elected to the board of directors.

During the 1969 season, Shirley served as chairman for the Fall Barbecue and Ticket Chairman for the 1969 spring presentation "A Group of One-Act Plays." Shirley is now a Vice President of the Newton Country Players and this year launched her acting career in a cameo role in the winter production of Jean Genet's "The Balcony."

To Show Photos Of Darwin Trek By R. A. Firger

Photographs taken by a Newton resident, while retracing Charles Darwin's travels in the Galapagos Islands, will be exhibited at the Boston Museum of Science through June 21.

The display contains 27 large color photographs taken by Robert A. Firger of Newton, a psychology major at Brandeis University.

Entitled "Journey to Beginnings" the photographs were made by Firger as a member of a 1968 Harvard expedition to the "enchanted isles" of the Galapagos.

The Harvard expedition was able to cover in one summer the route it took Darwin aboard the "Beagle" nearly five years to complete. Firger's pictures demonstrate graphically the natural beauty of the region.

Among the photographs on display in the Museum's Westburn Gallery is one of a direct descendant of the Yaghan Indians Darwin found in Tierra del Firger. Firger's subject bears a striking resemblance to natives sketched more than 100 years ago by the "Beagle's" captain, Robert Fitzroy.

AJC Conference To Be May 2, 3

Louis Milender of Newton Centre will be the Moderator of a symposium of young people reflecting diverse viewpoints on his subject of "Confrontation: Jewish Youth Challenges the Jewish Community" at the Eight Annual Regional Board Meeting and Leadership Conference at the Sheraton Tropicana Valley Inn, Windsor, Ct. in early May sponsored by the New England Region of the American Jewish Committee.

The sessions of the two-day conference set for May 2 and 3 will be in the form of Symposium on issues of vital concern to the AMC and its constituency. Reservations may be made for all or part of the Conference by contacting the offices of the American Jewish Committee at 72 Franklin St., Boston.

MARSHALL

Judge Frankland W. L. Miles of Chestnut Hill will be the Chief Marshall of the parade of laymen attending the 20th annual Greater Boston Protestant Laymen's Communion Breakfast on Sunday, May 3, in the Stetson Hill ballroom. Attendance is limited to 1900. Communion services will be held in six Copley square churches at 7 A.M., followed by parade with three bands to the hotel.

Women Voter Air Views On Low Income Housing

The League of Women Voters of the United States had a national consensus to support equality of opportunity for education, employment, and housing. The consensus on fair housing has been interpreted to mean that the League is in favor of increasing the supply of housing for low and moderate income families.

To know how the members of the League of Women Voters of Newton felt this consensus should be implemented at the local level, members were asked, "What methods and/or measures does the League support to increase the supply of housing for low and moderate families?"

Members of the League of Women Voters of Newton agreed that they supported an increase in the supply of housing in Newton for low and moderate income families with consideration given to the following measures: housing for low and moderate income families should be scattered throughout the city.

New housing developments should be planned to accommodate a mixed socioeconomic group; the Newton Housing Authority should continue to expand its leased housing program; private, non-profit, cooperative or limited dividend corporations should construct new housing for low and moderate income families.

The density of housing should be as low as economically feasible; the City of Newton should make available city-owned sites suitable for the construction of low-moderate income housing, taking into consideration recommendations of the Planning Department in determining what sites are suitable for housing; a policy of leasing a certain percentage of the units to the Newton Housing Authority prior to the Board's granting site plan approval subject to reevaluation when and if a large number of units for low-moderate income families are built in Newton; and non-profit organizations, banking, and real estate organizations should work together to promote opportunities for low and moderate income families to buy their own homes.

To further determine the manner in which this National consensus should be implemented, members of the League of Women Voters of Newton discussed the Newton Housing Authority and agreed to support measures to implement their goals to provide adequate housing for people of low income and an authority which reflects a diversity of backgrounds and the concerns of the tenants; residency requirements for housing where no consensus was reached due to the double responsibility felt by members to Newton residents and the Metropolitan area; and what kinds of state legislation are necessary to increase the supply of housing for low and moderate income families where members generally felt that the state should assume a larger role. Specifically, members felt that the state should require housing taken by public action to be replaced prior to displacement; require all communities to have housing authorities and to construct public housing for families as well as for the elderly; permit the formation of regional housing authorities in areas where a community is too small to realistically support an authority alone; and to eliminate the residency requirement by the State.

Members supported state appropriation of adequate funds to improve the present stock of public housing and generally disagreed concerning the state building more housing.

Agreement was reached concerning the increase of subsidies for existing state housing projects, the provisions of funds to housing projects, the provision of funds to modernize state housing projects, and the increase of debt limits by the Massachusetts Housing Finance Administration.

Support was generally given to the legislation requiring statewide standardization of administrative procedure of local housing authorities in regard to such matters as tenant selection, evictions, and determination of tenants' rent.

Considering concentrated code enforcement, specifically related to the Newton Upper Falls project which has been carried on during the past three years, support was given to the enforcement of all aspects of the city code in a uniform manner.

Members of the committee include Mrs. Blair Shick, Chairman, Mrs. Charles Bates, Vice-Chairman, Mrs. John Bliss, Unit Chairman, Mrs. Frederick Cardini, Mrs. William Curby, Mrs. Alan Edmonds, Mrs. Richard Estes, Mrs. T. Arnold Ferguson, Mrs. Irwin Heinstadt, Mrs. Raymond Locke, Mrs. Gordon Martin, Mrs. Robert Starbuck, Mrs. William Strong, and Mrs. Charles Willis.

Tribute Paid At Service To Dr. Rubenovitz

In tribute to the memory of Dr. Herman H. Rubenovitz who served with distinction and dedication as Rabbi of Temple Mishkan Tefila of Newton from 1910-1946 and as Rabbi Emeritus until his passing on April 8, 1966, the congregation has established an annual lecture in his name.

The lecture this year took place at the Sabbath morning service on April 11, and was delivered by Dr. Nahum N. Glatzer, Michael Tuch Professor of Jewish History and former Chairman of the Department of Near Eastern and Judaic Studies at Brandeis University. The subject of the lecture was "Martin Buber: His Life and Thought."

Dr. Glatzer is a noted scholar in the field of Jewish history and literature. After receiving his Ph.D. degree from the University of Frankfurt in Germany in 1931, he served on the university's faculty, succeeding Martin Buber in the Chair of Jewish Religious History and Ethics.

Before coming to Brandeis in 1950, he was Professor of History at Yeshiva University and chief editor of Schocken Books. He was a Guggenheim Fellow in 1959-60, and in 1967, Professor of History at the University of California at Los Angeles.

He is the author of many books in the field of Jewish intellectual history including "Time and Eternity, Life and Thought of Franz Rosenzweig, Texts in the Judaic Tradition and the Dimensions of Job. Dr. Glatzer is a contributing editor of Judaism, a Hebrew monthly Bittaron, a contributor to the Encyclopedia Britannica, and is the author of many essays and articles.

The Service was followed by a Kiddush and reception.

Whitmore Heads New Bureau Of Solid Wastes

Former Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., of Newton, recently was named head of the new Bureau of Solid Waste in the State Department of Public Works.

The Bureau was created last year by the Legislature to develop regional solutions to problems of solid waste disposal throughout the state.

Mr. Whitmore was Commissioner of the Metropolitan District Commission from 1965 until January, 1970, when his term expired. Gov. Francis W. Sargent named John W. Sears to the position.

Mr. Whitmore was born in Newton and has served as Alderman-at-Large and was Representative from the Fifth Middlesex District in the Legislature from 1947 to 1953. He served as Mayor of Newton from 1954 to 1959.

Journalism enrollment in the nation's colleges increased 19 per cent in 1969, says the Newspaper Fund, Inc.

REVIEWING CAMP PROGRAM PLANS—Shown as they discussed and reviewed plans for this year's Newton Community Service Centers summer camp programs are, left to right, Anthony J. Bibbo, executive director; Miss Edith A. Babkey, Kinder Kamp director; Miss Bonnie Algeri, Kinder Kamp program director; and G. Michael Gardner, Day Camp director.

It's Summer Camp Sign-Up Time At Community Center

The distribution of brochures announcing plans for this year's Newton Community Service Center's exciting Day Camp activity resulted in an immediate wide response relative to registrations.

Brochures which include information on the Day Camp and Kinder Kamp Programs were distributed to every elementary school in the City of Newton. Each child enrolled in kindergarten through sixth grade should have received the information through his school.

In commenting on the camps, Anthony J. Bibbo, N.C.S.C. executive director, stated that Newton is most fortunate in that the leadership in the two camp programs are veterans of extensive camping experience and bring to the activity enthusiasm and dedication that can only result in a positive and happy experience for youngsters enrolled.

At-Large Basis Is Studied . . .

Consider Alternate Plans To Electing School Board

The Newton Charter Commission is considering two alternate proposals to the present method of electing school committee members on an at-large basis.

One of the proposals, supported by Commr. H. James Shea Jr., would have four members elected at-large and four elected on a district level.

The other, proposed by Commr. Jerome Grossman, calls for all committee members to be elected by wards.

Tentative votes were taken on all three methods of election, but none got the required majority vote that would send a proposal to the voters for action.

The present system was backed by some members of the charter group who contended that a ward election would make school committee members parochial in outlook and subject them to pressures from neighborhood groups.

Arguments against the at-large election include the allegation that school committee members seldom face opposition for re-election, are not held accountable by the voters and that citywide elections are too expensive.

Counsel for the charter commission told the members that a post election run-off would be illegal under the state constitution.

This was in response to a tentative vote by the commission approving the post-election or run-off election if no candidate received a majority of the votes for mayor in the first election.

A report also was submitted by Gilbert Friedell and Mrs. L. Tillman McDaniel, co-chairmen of the school building committee of the Newton Council of PTAs. The report called for an increase in the powers of the school committee in connection with upkeep of schools and authorization of new school construction.

Reappointed As Notary Public

Leo Foster of 4 Ashford Rd., Newton, has been reappointed as a Notary Public by Governor Sargent. Confirmation of the appointment was made by the Executive Council. Foster's term as notary public lasts until 1977.

Key staff are Miss Edith A. Babkey, Kinder Kamp director; Miss Bonnie Algeri, Kinder Kamp program director; G. Michael Gardner, Day Camp director; Miss Judith Freed, administrative assistant to Day Camp, and Anthony Quintiliani, Sr., consultant for the program.

Both camps are set up to provide enjoyable group experiences to the age groups which each serves. Imaginative and interesting programs in a pleasant and friendly atmosphere tend to encourage eager participation in activities, in the planning of which the boys and girls have themselves shared.

The program is planned so that each individual has the opportunity to grow within the group. The guiding purpose behind such a program rests upon the common assumptions of a democratic society, namely, the opportunity for each individual to fulfill his capacities in freedom, and to respect and appreciate others.

According to the interests and needs of each camper, staff members assist each to gain from the group experience the satisfactions provided by program activities, the enjoyment and personal growth available through social relations, and the opportunity to participate as a responsible member of the group.

The eight-week camp season runs from June 29 through Aug. 21. Further information can be obtained at the Newton Community Service Centers administrative offices located at 429 Cherry Street in West Newton or by calling 969-5906.

Student Council At Jr. College Names McCormick

At the elections of officers of the Student Government at Newton Junior College, held recently, David McCormick of Newton was elected president for the academic year 1970-1971. Mr. McCormick, a resident of Newton, is a major in Liberal Arts.

James T. Marquis of Newton was elected Treasurer, and Joseph Raculuto of Newton and Frederick Suggolletta were elected Sophomore Representatives.

With the increased student involvement in College affairs, students will henceforth be represented on the Curriculum Committee of the Faculty. The following have been elected to that committee: Wayne Gallant of Newton, Dennis Brooks and Fred Suffoletta.

These newly elected officers and representatives will assume their new responsibilities before this academic year is over in order to become oriented to their positions under the guidance of Mr. Paul Sweeney, current President of the Student Council.

SERVICE AWARD — Ralph R. Pearlman, right, of Newton, receives plaque in recognition of his special service as a member of the board of directors of Morgan Memorial, from Richard D. Driscoll, president, at the recent 75th annual luncheon program. Mr. Pearlman has also served on the public relations committee of Morgan Memorial.

MBTA Advisory Board Has Fate Of Railway Service

Whether the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co., which serves Newton, ceases operations 75 days from today depends entirely on what action is taken by the MBTA Advisory Board.

The board can either reverse a proposed $10 million budget cut, which includes a $300,000 subsidy for the M&B, or cut the services for which the money was earmarked.

That, says John J. McCarthy of Wakefield, is the choice left as a result of Gov. Sargent's rejection of the MBTA's request for more financial state aid.

The board said last fall that more state aid would be needed this year or reductions in service totaling $10 million would have to be made.

This included the M&B subsidy. The M&B has stated it cannot operate without the subsidy that expires June 30.

Sargent told the Advisory Board in a letter last week that he recognized the increasing operating costs as a "very serious problem." He added that "while some direct financial assistance from the state would afford a degree of relief this year, a piecemeal approach of this nature is not the solution."

The governor said that expanded state financial aid for the MBTA is being considered in a study of the state's tax policy.

It has been estimated that without the $10 million budget cut the authority deficit would exceed $45 million. The deficit last year was $29.5 million.

When the budget cut and threatened curtailment of services was announced, some observers believed it was a move designed to put pressure on the state to increase its financial assistance to the MBTA. It now appears this move has failed.

There was a note of optimism sounded for the M&B when the Advisory Board on March 26 approved a resolution calling upon the general manager and the board of directors to enter into negotiations with the M&B on a one-year extension of the subsidy.

Asst. Newton City Solicitor Charles H. Morang said then, that the resolution did not mean the Advisory Board would vote the money to keep the M&B operating but that it was a "step in the right direction."

Another bright spot in the M&B picture is that under the law establishing the MBTA is a provision that the area served by the railway company be provided with "minimum" bus service. Studies have indicated that it would cost the MBTA twice the amount to provide the same service now provided by the M&B.

Local Support For Anti-Pollution Bill

The Newton Citizens for Clean Air and state Rep. H. James Shea Jr. are supporting an anti-pollution bill that would allow individuals to seek damages against companies that violate the minimum control standards of the Massachusetts pollution laws.

The bill, drawn by Harvard Law School student Jeffrey Zucker, is waiting action by the Legislature.

It would permit a citizen to recover damages if he could prove that a company polluting the air could have taken steps to prevent the pollution.

The bill is part of a project of the Harvard Law School Environmental Law Society, written by Zucker and others, and filed by state Sen. Beryl W. Cohen (D-Brookline).

At a recent committee meeting Sen. President Maurice A. Donahue called the bill "an effective workable technique for achieving constructive remedial action."

Donahue said the bill "would establish by statute a requirement that has already been adopted by judicial decision in Oregon and Pennsylvania."

Under the bill, if a defendant were found guilty he would be required to abate the pollution unless the cost were prohibitive. A citizen also would be able to seek an injunction against an alleged polluter and the court must grant the injunction unless the public would suffer.

A plaintiff could seek damages upon proof that a polluter's air contaminant had injured him.

The injured party also would be entitled to collection of lawyer's fees and court costs if the defendant were found guilty.

Zucker said involvement of the public "would insure much more widespread control of pollution than is possible when the power to act is limited to a few agencies, often understaffed."

Youth Volunteers Active In Local Red Cross Work

Newton Chapter American Red Cross, reports that its Red Cross Youth has been exceptionally active. It has assisted volunteers and staff with clerical work.

Thirty of these young people from three junior high schools and one from the senior high have given over 500 hours of service, making weekly visits to three nursing homes in the city. They have arranged to give special parties and entertainment and to assist the social directors in many ways.

Some of these young volunteers have spent and will be spending their school vacations visiting with the patients.

There are also groups of students from two junior high schools who are actively engaged as volunteer teacher-aides in two local nursery schools. This is being done Monday through Thursday each week. They are excused from regular classes to participate in this program.

One of these nurseries is a "cooperative" venture and partially funded by Title I, Office of Economic Opportunities.

Representatives from the junior and senior high schools are at present taking into consideration the possibility of presenting a full year's scholarship to a "Head Start" child at a local nursery in the OEO program for next year.

They are also involved in the planning of the Massachusetts - Rhode Island Combined Red Cross Youth Leadership Development Conference for 1970, to be held in August at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

The Junior - Senior Council, one Girl Scout Troop and one Camp Fire Girl Troop, made 35 Christmas centerpieces for the patients at the Boston VA Hospital. 2 Girl Scout Troops contributed 2 birthday cakes each week for 3 months to be sent to the West Roxbury VA Hospital. Over 1600 "nut cups" were made by the elementary school children for the patients.

Franklin Elementary School children filled and decorated 52 shoe boxes for the patients at the Bedford VA Hospital for Christmas. The children earned their own money for this project.

The total enrollment of youth in the Red Cross program amounts to $937.93, and the total membership is 3,447.

The August conference of Red Cross Youth from Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held for the purpose of providing youth members with inspiration, knowledge and understanding of the program.

Applications for two members from Newton will be submitted to Junior Staff Members as well as applications for a total of 4 delegates. There will be an opportunity for interested adults from each Chapter to attend a one-day session of this conference.

Mrs. Phyllis S. Julien, R.N., an instructor from the Mass. Blood Center is now working directly from Newton on the Chapter, and has instructed the young people in the work of a Blood Program Aide.

These people so trained will be assisting staff the new leader there.

Red Cross Youth are very much aware of the drug problem and they have expressed a desire to be of assistance. They have attended school sponsored seminars on the subject.

Selections for their Pine Manor appearance will include: Gerard Benson's "Monologue in a Foreign Bar," Berthold Brecht's "Concerning the Infanticide" to the tune of Parker's "Scissor Hone Cramp," and Dylan Thomas's "Do Not Go Gentle Into The Night." The group includes four speakers, Heather Black, Cicely Smith, William Bealy-Wright, and Gerard Benson, and two musicians, Susan Baker and Jim Parker.

Although there will be no charge for the coming event, admission will be by ticket only. To secure tickets, please send a written request to the Ellsworth Hall Box Office, Pine Manor Junior College, 400 Heath Street, Chestnut Hill, Mass. 02167.

If you don't think clean air is important, remember that you inhale air twenty-two thousand times every day. What are you doing to stop air pollution, asks the Massachusetts Medical Society?

Cross Youth assist with the swimming program for physically and mentally handicapped children.

Robert V. Frost, principal of Bigelow Junior High will be a speaker at the N.E. Territory Red Cross Youth Conference in April at Warrensburg, N.Y. Barbara Kelley Home Ec. teacher at Bigelow will be a discussion leader there.

Red Cross Youth are very much aware of the drug problem and they have expressed a desire to be of assistance. They have attended school sponsored seminars on the subject.

BRITISH TROOPS, U.S. WARSHIPS ARRIVE AT TRINIDAD

BRITISH COMMONWEALTH troops from Jamaica and Guyana landed in Trinidad Wednesday to help the government put down a black power army mutiny, and the United States sent six warships with 2,000 Marines aboard to stand by in case it becomes necessary to evacuate the approximately 1,000 U.S. resident nationals and an unknown number of American tourists from the Caribbean island. In London, the British defense ministry said it had alerted two guided missile frigates in the Caribbean for possible emergency duty in Trinidad. They carry some 500 officers and men. A government spokesman said that commonwealth troops already had landed on the Chaguanas Peninsula to aid loyal government forces in ousting an estimated 200 army mutineers holding the military base there. A spokesman at the office of the prime minister said five persons have died since the mutiny broke out in the army ranks Tuesday when about 200 military dissidents seized an arsenal to supply a black power movement seeking a larger voice in the island government.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE KILL AT LEAST 671 COMMUNISTS

SOUTH VIETNAMESE troops have wiped out the equivalent of a North Vietnamese army battalion and captured enough supplies to equip two more battalions in five strikes across the border into Cambodia, military sources in Saigon said Wednesday. The sources said at least 671 Communists were killed and 75 captured since April 13 in thrusts into Communist sanctuaries in the Parrot's Beak area, 55 miles west of Saigon, and the rich delta rice land southwest of the beak. In other war action, Communist anti-aircraft shot down four U.S. helicopters in South Vietnam and four war planes over Laos, heaviest one day toll of the war. One American airman was killed, four wounded and three others missing.

CAMBODIA TROOPS FAIL TO DISLodge COMMUNIST FORCE

CAMBODIAN ARMY troops surrounded and pressed to within 150 yards of the strategic Bassac River city of Saang on Wednesday, but were unable to dislodge a force of Vietnamese Communists holding it against artillery, aerial and ground assaults. Brig. Gen. Suthene Fernandes, field commander of the 4,000-man Cambodian army force in the region, said at least 50 of his troops had been killed or wounded in the three-day-old battle to recapture Saang, 20 miles southwest of the capital of Phnom Penh.

3 AMERICAN WOMEN AMONG 16 WOUNDED IN BOMBING OF BUS

THREE AMERICAN WOMEN were among 16 persons wounded Wednesday in an Arab terrorist hand grenade attack on a tourist bus in the main square of Nablus on the occupied west bank of Jordan, an Israeli spokesman reported. On the Suez Canal front, Israeli warplanes flew night raids against Egyptian artillery positions. A spokesman said the air attacks followed continued shelling across the canal. Four other foreign tourists were injured in the grenade explosion in Nablus as were nine passersby — four of them Israelis and five Arabs, according to a spokesman. Nablus, with a population of nearly 45,000, is 32 miles north of Jerusalem.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF AMERICANS OBSERVE EARTH DAY

AMERICANS, hundreds of thousands of them, took part Wednesday in demonstrations for a cause affecting their lives — keeping the earth livable. It was Earth Day, an occasion for all Americans of all shades of belief to unite in a determination to stop the spreading pollution of the earth, waters, and atmosphere which, some scientists have warned, threatens the very existence of life on this planet. Congress was closed down while senators and representatives spread across the country to address mass rallies. Thousands of colleges, universities and high schools took an active part, with the gas-burning automobile a major target of attack on many campuses. Students blocked the four main gates of Syracuse University and manned barricades at Iowa State University to keep cars out. New York led the nation's cities in demonstrating mounting concern over the threat of pollution. The city's Union Square was made spotless by about 300 persons, aged 8 to 80, who showed up at dawn. Then an estimated 250,000 persons converged on the square to listen to speeches, watch a stage show, and stroll on nearby 14th Street, which was closed to traffic.

FOOD PRICES SLOWED, BUT INFLATION ROLLS UNCHECKED

ROCKETING food prices slowed in March, but sharp jumps in home ownership and medical care costs kept the worst inflation in 20 years rolling along unchecked, the government reported Wednesday. Despite all the federal anti-inflation programs, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported the cost of living went up five tenths of 1 per cent last month, trimming almost another half penny off the purchasing power of the dollar bill. The increase equalled the February advance, boosted the cost of living 6.1 per cent higher than it was a year earlier, and nudged the index to 133.2 per cent of the 1957-59 base period.

U.S. DROPS CHARGES AGAINST COFFIN AND GOODMAN

THE GOVERNMENT closed its book on the famed Dr. Spock draft conspiracy trial Wednesday when it dropped indictments against the two defendants. U.S. District Judge Arthur W. Garrity Jr. went along with a government request to dismiss the charges against the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, Yale University chaplain, and author Mitchell Goodman of New York. The chaplain and Goodman had been convicted in June 1968 with baby doctor Benjamin Spock and Michael Ferber, a Harvard graduate student from Buffalo, N.Y., of conspiring to counsel youths to evade the draft. Spock and Ferber had their convictions overturned by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston, which ordered new trials for the Rev. Coffin and Goodman. Wednesday's action seemingly ended the case, which marked the first time anyone had been prosecuted for allegedly counseling about draft evasion. All had been given two-year prison terms and fined.

Charter Group Meets Tonight

The Newton Charter Commission will meet in informal session tonight (Thursday), April 23 at 8 p.m., Newton City Hall, Room 202.

The agenda will be devoted to interviews and discussion with representatives of several community organizations. The public is invited to attend all meetings of the Commission.

Guests will include members from: The League of Women Voters; Newton Citizens for Education; Newton Taxpayers Association, Inc.; West Newton Voters Association; Newton Council of P.T.A.'s; Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Teen Girls Help Hospital

Four Newton teens are participating in a Tri-School Project providing them with the valuable learning experience of working as volunteers at the New England Deaconess Hospital.

All ninth graders from Weeks Junior High School in Newton, the four girls serve as volunteers in the Coffee Shop during school hours, and then report back to school.

Joan Disick volunteers on Tuesday from 10:30 a.m. to 12. She is an avid sportswoman with interests in skiing and baseball. A member of her Temple Youth Group, she has little idle time between babysitting, sports, and writing poetry on the side.

Music is Barbara Cain's main interest. In addition to playing the guitar, piano, recorder, clarinet, and singing, she was also the producer of the school opera Faust. She enjoys tennis and swimming.

Don't be surprised if you find Barbara Joanasson volunteering in the Coffee Shop five times a week. She still has time for all sports, especially baseball, drawing, and babysitting.

Opposition Boils In Some Areas Over Housing Plans

The announcement by the Newton Community Development Foundation last week of the selection of 10 sites for the construction of 508 units of low and moderate income housing has aroused neighborhood opposition in some sections of the city.

Some residents appear to fear that the new units will draw many "outsiders" as residents.

However, according to Marc Slotnick, executive director of NCDF, selection of occupants will be made by a group composed of representatives of the various churches, temples and civic organizations which have sponsored the Foundation. The only federal stipulation will be that those displaced by government action be given priority.

"There is nothing in the Federal regulations that would prevent the selection committee, if it so desired, from putting in a residence requirement as long as it didn't reflect discrimination within the community," Slotnick said.

Three areas where opposition has been noted are Oak Hill, Auburndale and Newton Highlands. The opposition in Oak Hill to a project slated for the Esty's Farm property on Dedham St. appears to be the most controversial.

In addition, Slotnick reported the PTA's at Beethoven and Bowen elementary schools have expressed concern that the schools may become overcrowded as a result of the

"Happy 100th" Was Party Theme

Mrs. Catherine Green, recent celebrant of her 100th birthday, is shown being congratulated by Rev. John A. Saunders, left, and the Monsignor John L. Parsons, pastor of St. Philip Neri Church, at her birthday party.

Confirmation At St. John's Sunday

On Sunday afternoon, April 26, at 4 p.m., The Right Reverend Anson P. Stokes, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, will be at St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, for Confirmation.

At that time he will also preach the sermon.

A reception for the Bishop, the confirmands and their families, under the direction of Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman and her committee will take place in the Loring Room following the service.

Local Woman Feted On 100th Birthday

Mrs. Catherine Green recently celebrated her 100th birthday at a party held at the Braeburn Nursing Home, Waban where she now resides.

Mrs. Green is the widow of George Green who was a well known Newtonville businessman.

Born in County Sligo, Ireland in 1870, Mrs. Green came to Newton in 1885.

Before moving to Waban she lived for many years in West Newton and attended St. Bernard's Church.

Monsignor John L. Parsons, pastor at St. Philip Neri, Waban celebrated Mass assisted by the Reverend John A. Saunders in the new chapel at the home. Sister Dorcas, a niece, and students from St. Clements High School, Somerville, formed the choir.

Forty-five friends and relatives attended the Mass and the party that followed. The greetings of the city were extended personally by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

Apparent Heart Attack Is Seen As Cause of Accident

William Singer, 68, of 5 Richfield rd., West Newton, suffered an apparent heart attack Sunday evening (April 19) while driving on Grove Hill ave. in Newtonville and died at the wheel. His car struck a pole, bounced off a cement wall and then careened across the street into some bushes.

Mr. Singer, a businessman, was pronounced dead on arrival at Newton Wellesley Hospital. His daughter, Mrs. Mary Kramer, was with him at the time.

She stated that they were driving southerly on Grove Hill ave. when her father failed to take a left on Prospect ave. as expected. She noticed he was ill and attempted to grab the steering wheel.

In the attempt, the car went out of control, struck a utility pole at 35 Grove Hill ave. and a nearby wall, then crossed to the other side of the street and onto the lawn. Mrs. Kramer was not hurt.

Three persons sustained minor injuries in other pole-car accidents in Newton over last weekend. Hidelica K. Hanaki, 22, of 137 Pine Ridge rd., Waban, suffered multiple contusions and a sprained ankle.

She was driving a car which struck a utility pole Saturday (April 18) at 1:50 a.m. at Chestnut and Oak sts., Newton Upper Falls. The pole was knocked to the ground.

Francis Lloyd, 41, of 415 Parker st., Newton Centre, received a fractured nose and lacerations when the car in which he was a passenger hit a pole at Adams and California sts., Newtonville, at midnight Monday.

The driver of the car, Richard Olsick, 44, of 19 Melrose ave., Auburndale, was heading northerly on Adams st. when he swerved to avoid a car which came out of California st.

Frances C. Michaelson, 62, of 11 Trinity ter., Newton Centre, was the driver when her car collided Monday at 2:45 p.m. at Gibbs and Summer sts., Newton Centre. She was treated for multiple contusions.

Driver of the other car was listed as William J. Corcoran, 21, of Cambridge.

Ruggles Street Church Elects Local Officers

Six residents of Newton recently were elected officers of the Ruggles Street Baptist Church in Boston.

They are: Edwin Hancock of Fisher Ave., Newton Highlands, elected deacon; Harland Bradley, Summer st., Newton Centre, Relocation Committee; Dr. Paul Woodward, Hickory Cliff Rd., Newton Upper Falls, deacon; Mrs. Julia Witschi, Paul St., Newton Centre, Board of Christian Education; Mrs. Marion Woodward, Hickory Cliff Rd., Newton Upper Falls, Board of Christian Education and Ernest Witschi, Paul St., Newton Centre, assistant treasurer.

In 1893 the Ruggles Street Baptist Church founded the hospital now known as the New England Baptist Hospital.

They will soon be moving to their new sanctuary located on Beacon St., and Park Drive in Boston.

Catherine Diamond, organist at St. Demetrios was the contralto soloist; Muriel Drakeford of Framingham, the soprano soloist; Michael Brown tenor, and Larry Brault, baritone, are both from the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester. Mrs. Virginia Brault of Hopkinton was the accompanist.

Father George Gallos, is pastor of St. Demetrios.

The lovely "Troparion Tis Kassianis" was sung first, as it has been sung every Holy Tuesday, by the Church Choir of St. Demetrios and was followed by the Haydn Cantata.

Quote of the Week

Law and order is not an argument of a party or an ideology. It is the first requirement of a civilized society.

James Reston

Lee Loumos Says:

The whole world seems to be more and more mixed up — even as to the weather which gave us St. Patrick's Day. Extremism is still the order of the day. But you can insulate yourself from extreme sultry weather by getting your air-conditioner NOW. Take advantage of our April special — a 6000 B.T.U. air conditioner which will take care of the average bedroom — at our special price of $169.95. At that price it isn't worth fittly sweating in the hot, humid nights that are ahead of us. Call us now, before April ends, for that special value, and we will deliver and install it in your standard window at no extra cost.

Walkers Asked To Turn In All Cards and Money

All participants in the "Walk for the Hungry" campaign should turn in their walk cards and money as soon as possible to the "Walk for the Hungry" account at the Newton Centre Branch of the Newton Savings Bank.

This urgent appeal has been issued by the Walk coordinators who state: "Let's collect the compensation for our blisters and put it to use promptly."

The "Church in the Heart of the Highlands" was founded in 1872 and has been occupying its present edifice since 1906. Mr. Breeze will be filling the position left vacant when the former minister, Rev. Paul G. Pitman resigned in October.

Mr. Breeze was born in Belmont, Mass., and attended the public schools of that town. After being graduated from Belmont High School in 1956, he went on to Tufts University in Medford from which he was graduated in 1960 with a B.A. degree.

In 1963 he obtained a B.D. degree from Union Theological Seminary. His first pastorate was in Cleveland, Ohio, where he served from 1963 to 1969 as Associate Minister.

Since then he has been pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Pittsfield, where he has been the moving force behind the Covenant Ministry, a cooperative venture involving five United Churches of Christ.

Mr. Breeze also served as chairman of a group called ENABLE (Education and Neighborhood Action for Better Living Environment). This group helped start three community centers. He has been a leader in finding low income housing for those in need in Pittsfield.

Cabot Students Hear Expert Report-

The initial approval also restricts to nine, the number of students (boys and girls) allowed to live in the house in the first six months, and does not permit them to have automobiles.

The conditions also call for a "substitute" family of mother, father and children, plus several "straight" high school students to live in the house, and for the formation of a Freeport-neighborhood committee to deal with any problems that may arise in the Chestnut Hill area.

There have been indications that a majority of persons in the neighborhood are opposed to Freeport.

Lipof said he will cite in his minority report that "90 per cent of the abutters and their abutters are vehemently opposed to the zoning change of highly dissimilar use."

Lipof also said he has learned that the owners of several large homes in the area "are being hounded to sell to Boston College for conversion of their homes to use as dormitories or office space."

He said they have refused to sell "to keep the integrity and character of the residential area the same."

Lipof said now "they have said if Freeport goes through they feel they have no further obligation to their neighbors and will sell to Boston College."

He added that, "Many professional people have doubts about the outcome of this experiment."

Freeport was initiated by students at a Newton High School psychology class as a home for up to 16 teenagers with a troubled home life who might be helped by a temporary separation from their families.

The concept has received backing from top officials in the state Department of Mental Health, Newton school officials, District Court Judge Franklin N. Flaschner and Dr. Joseph Massimo, Chief Psychologist for the Newton schools, among others.

Final action will come May 4 when the Board of Aldermen vote on the recommendation.

Girl Scouts Hold Gala Father-Daughter Night

Recently Junior Girl Scout Troop 614 (Burr School) Auburndale, Bay Path Colonial Council, held a father-daughter famous sweethearts dance at the Centenary Methodist Church.

The Scouts, who are working for the Dancer Badge, chose the central theme for the dance and planned the entire evening.

Mrs. David Kendall, Junior Consultant, called four American folk dances and four folk dances from foreign countries where there are Girl Scouts or Girl Guides.

Miss Dorothy Douglass of the Scott and Douglass School of Dance in Waltham taught the fathers and daughters to do the fox-trot and the cha-cha.

Linda Hatch, chairman of decorating committee, chose a red and white sweetheart motif. Each girl in the troop made a poster expressing what love is.

Mrs. Harold Mahon, Leader, made a silhouette of each girl to be given as a souvenir to each father. Mr. Mahon took a picture of each father and daughter.

Susan Antonellis, chairman of the refreshment committee, served pink and white cupcakes, coffee and fruit punch. She was assisted by Paula Drakos, Lydia Dephoure, and Sue Stone. Ann Mahon was chairman of the clean-up committee.

The cover design of the souvenir dance program was made by Brenda Staley.

Some of the famous sweetheart couples attending the dance were Anthony and Cleopatra, William Tell and his son, Jack and Jill, Lewis (of the Lewis and Clark Expedition) and his Indian Girl Guide, the King and Queen of Hearts, and Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin.

11-Year-Old Boy From Newton To Have Opera Role

William Bradford Wright, age 11, of 10 Hineckley Road, Waban and a sixth grade student at Hyde School, is singing the boy soprano part in Benjamin Britten's opera "Curlew River" given by the Leverett House Opera Society of Harvard University.

This opera will be given along with "Play of Daniel" by Noel Greenberg on Friday, April 24, Sunday, April 26, Thursday, April 30, Friday, May 1st and Saturday, May 2nd, at 8:30. Tickets may be obtained at the Harvard Coop. The performances will take place at the Busch-Reisinger Museum.

"Curlew River" was originally suggested to Benjamin Britten when he saw a Japanese No-Play with a similar story. He changed it from a Japanese tale to an English medieval drama.

There are many parallels to the Japanese play: a simple austere setting, no conductor, a small number of musicians, and an all-male cast with one female character, The Madwoman, sung by the tenor and wearing an exquisite mask.

The two operas are directed by a junior at Harvard, Martin Kessler.

Some say:
"I don't need God"

Maybe you don't... if you think of God as merely some distant person, or unknowable.

But, if you were to know God as Mind, the source of all ideas and intelligence, or as Life, the source of strength and health... wouldn't it make sense to know Him better?

You can... Practical ways of knowing God are discussed at the Christian Science Sunday School. Visit a class this Sunday at 10:45 A.M.

Watercolors On Display Now At Branch Library

The watercolors of teacher Peter P. Nyren of 10 Williams Street, Newton Upper Falls, are on view this month at the Highlands Branch of the Newton Free Library.

"I enjoy the spontaneity of watercolor," he says, and I admire the work of any sincere artist or craftsman." Mr. Nyren, a Newton High graduate, earned his B.S. at Mass. College of Art and his M.A.T. in Fine Arts at Assumption College. He currently teaches drawing and painting at Waltham High School.

His works have been hung in one-man shows at the Mass. College of Art, at the Concord Public Library, at the Norwich Free Academy (Conn.), and at the Hoxie School of Art, Mystic, Connecticut.

A member of the Rockport Art Association as well as the New Hampshire Art Association and the Mystic (Conn.) Art Association, Mr. Nyren's work has consistently won awards in East Coast shows. An author and a painter, too, he has completed the manuscripts for an elementary art program guide which has been in use in the Groton, Conn., public schools since 1959.

Auburndale Ballet Is Hit At Peirce School Showing

Students of the School of by a classmate, Donna Ballet Repertory in collaboration with the young Auburndale, Marjorie E. Medland, Dir., presented a superbly paced display of ballet training on Sat., April 11, at the Peirce School in West Newton.

A demonstration of the basic exercises performed by dancers the world over opened the program. Simple dances for first appearances of the younger students led into excerpts from traditional classic repertoire, highlighted by the Waltz in C sharp minor de deux from "Les Sylphides" danced by Ida Kate Codington of West Newton and Carl Topcliffe of Wellesley.

The Grand Pas de Deux from "Nutcracker" with Sally Ann Fitzgerald of Waltham and Carl Topcliffe climaxed the semi-professional section of the program, with young Daniel Pasmann of Auburndale dancing the male solo.

The music - composition talent of Dana Kaufman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kaufman of Auburndale and music student of Mrs. Elizabeth Lawry, was shown in the miniature theatre piece "Gypsy Holiday" choreographed by Miss Medland. Another winning work from the school's Composers' Contest was Mrs. Charlotte B. Modest's "Music to Dance By" set as a Degas-inspired scene by former professional dancer Claire Rollins.

The three top Student Choreography Contest winners, Ida Kate Codington, age 14; Joanne Buell, age 11; Sally Ann Fitzgerald, age 14, danced their ideas in costume, displaying creative ability as well as dance talent. The music for Joanne Buell's entry was composed by Mrs. Irma Kellner, Director of Volunteers at the Deaconess, Ext. 335, between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Taxpayers and Riots

Few institutions of higher learning have escaped the scourge of a modern-day disease which some call "student unrest" and others diagnose as violent defiance of authority.

Few of the colleges and universities have reacted with distinction in the face of the problems unceremoniously dumped in their laps most often by a minority of enrolled students. Some have even sought refuge in compromise with groups and leaders better associated with hoodlums than youths earnestly seeking an education.

Haverford College, since 1833 one of Pennsylvania's outstanding conservative colleges and the alma mater of many distinguished Americans, is one of the latest to capitulate to the authors of campus disorder.

Last year the Pennsylvania Legislature expressed its concern that taxpayers were actually underwriting the stay of some of the hoodlums in colleges. It passed a measure stipulating that the creators of mass violence be denied state aid in their pursuit of education. The new law required that colleges and universities report to the state the names of those involved in violent demonstrations.

Haverford, which receives $50,000 annually for student scholarship aid from the state, has announced it will not obey the legal injunction that it turn over the names of State-aided students involved in disturbances to the state.

It reserves to itself the matter of discipline.

Its justification for defying the law is a matter for Haverford to live with. However, its own record and that of too many other colleges in the exercise of effective discipline is wide open to question.

What the Pennsylvania Legislature had in mind when it adopted the law was that taxpayers should not be obliged to supply cash for the aid of those bent on the destruction not only of the colleges but the fabric of a nation as well.

What's The Number?

One of the prime arguments for the acceptance of the 21st Amendment was the assurance of Anti-Prohibition leaders that one of the top benefits the country would know would be the end of organized crime.

There was no question but that the 18th Amendment and its supporting Volstead Act had helped to build a gargantuan monster called gangsterism. The syndicates which the gangs built survived the never-ending harassment of law-enforcing agencies.

Names of vicious killers like Al Capone and Legs Diamond became household words. Gangsters who met sudden death at the hands of other gangsters were tended funerals once reserved for members of the royalty.

The 21st Amendment ended prohibition. It didn't end organized crime. New beyond-the-law syndicates, including the notorious Mafia, thrived. Its financial muscles were supplied by a holdover from prohibition—the so-called numbers game. The number of patrons or "players" grew and whether they "invested" a dime or hundreds of dollars their daily play kept the treasures of the so-called "big shots" bulging.

It's paradoxical that of the $158 million Mayor John Lindsay hopes to raise to aid New York City out of its financial crisis, $80 to $90 million will come from the numbers game or an adaptation of the game. The average "player" paying a dime or even more each day won't be concerned with the morals involved as long as he gets the promise of a "big hit."

Because proponents are unable to guarantee that beano can't be kept beyond the reach of organized crime, the game regularly meets legal defeat in Massachusetts.

No doubt, Lindsay will have to travel a tough road before his numbers game wins a final legal blessing. If and when that blessing is won and the idea goes over big, maybe he can put the city's army of present bookies to work as legitimate employees of his city.

A Just Peace

"The decision I have announced tonight means that we finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking."

So declared President Nixon Monday night in his coast-to-coast, radio-television address in which he informed the people of the United States of his intention to withdraw 150,000 additional troops from Vietnam in the next year.

A great many people sincerely and devoutly wish they could see the just peace coming which Mr. Nixon asserts "we finally have in sight." To some of us, perhaps with less keen vision, that "just peace" seems as far away as ever.

We hope that President Nixon was dealing in facts, not false optimism.

Arbor Day

Governor Sargent has proclaimed this Friday (April 24) as Arbor and Bird Day. Arbor Day was popular a few decades ago. Maybe it will again become widely celebrated, proving that not all the old is being rejected but rather in some cases revived.

Arbor Day seems an appropriate commemoration in these times of ecological interest and or concern for air pollution. We are told that trees and other plants produce oxygen. Also they are more attractive than any man-made decoration.

So plant a tree or a bush this Friday. You will be glad if it as time goes by.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Modify Board

Mrs. Florence Rubin, Chairman,
Newton Charter Commission,
1504 Center Street,
Newton Center, Mass.

Dear Mrs. Rubin:
Published reports, letters, rumors and back-fence conversations indicate widespread concern over the Newton School Committee as a democratic institution.

I have noted with interest various proposals to modify the privileged position of this powerful body and to make it more responsive to the public pulse.

The current move to reduce the size of the Great and General Court to the contrary notwithstanding, I have observed in recent years the rise of 'participatory democracy' in nearly every aspect of our governmental lives — except the School Committee.

Such participation in governmental decisions has proliferated through the medium of numerous 'Committees For' and 'Committees Against.'

Our own Board of Aldermen was increased in size not too long ago — presumably to give better representation to our 90,000 citizens.

Yet the Board (and the Mayor) are responsible for less than one-half the City's budget left by the School Committee — and certainly their actions have less long-lasting effects on the public welfare of the future than do the efforts of our eight (8) man School Committee.

I respectfully request, therefore, that your Commission give thought to increasing the size of that Committee to seventeen members — in the following manner, which seems consistent with the elective make-up of the Board of Aldermen:

a. Eight (8) members to be elected at large;
b. Eight (8) members to be elected from each of the wards (1 each);
c. The Mayor to be the seventeenth member, with full voting rights. Such a change, it seems to me, would have the following benefits:

1. It would give broader representation;
2. There would be a wider spectrum of opinion;
3. Local points of view could have a better voice;
4. With a larger number of Committeemen, there would be less chance for enthusiasm to overcome common sense.

In view of your timetable — and because this idea has not had wide distribution — I am taking the liberty of making this an open letter — with copies to all media serving Newton.

Sincerely yours,
BENJAMIN F. SHATTUCK

Defends Leary

Editor, The Graphic:
Your recent editorial "Dr. Leary and the Law" is typical of opinions of the man of those unacquainted with him and the complicated situation leading to his dismissal from Harvard.

If the psychedelic drugs ever achieve the importance that I think they will — and I have given nine years of careful study and research to the problem — then Leary will some day be looked back upon as one of the notable scientific and spiritual pioneers of our day.

Scientist, poet, mystic, and humanitarian, his chief misfortune lies in his being ahead of his time. Few know that, through the conversion of several of the State's hardcore criminals, directly or indirectly he has saved the Commonwealth perhaps a million dollars through reduced recidivism.

It is not necessary for one to agree with everything he has done, but few who know him well, as I do, doubt that in pursuit of what he sees as the benefit of society he has shown remarkable energy, perseverance, and integrity.

It is ironic that many who have been convicted of murder have gotten off with lighter sentences than he.

Sincerely yours,
Walter Houston Clark
Author, Chemical Ecstasy

On "Peace" Rally

Editor of The Graphic:
State Rep. H. James Shea, Jr., of Newton can be proud of his role in the recent "peace" rally on Boston Common where he joined those who urged the attack on the government.

He should have been made to stand in Harvard Square that same night when fellow "peace" demonstrators smashed every window in sight, set fires to stores and buildings, harassed firefighters and created a general riot that placed the National Guard on standby alert.

Too bad he was not there with his family right in the middle of it to see it and know what he had helped set off.

A.N. Morton

Opposes Housing

Editor,
The Graphic:
I just want you to know that my husband and I are opposed to the "multi-unit housing" being built on any site in Newton and are very concerned about the Newton Highlands site located at Christina and Goddard streets.

This is a small site and a "Bird and Wildlife Sanctuary" (at least to us) also a "wet land." This site is surrounded by single family homes.

In the years that I've lived here, I've watched the raccoons, rabbits, woodchuck, chipmunk, skunk, morning doves, wild canary, cardinal, red wing black bird, oriole, pheasant and many other birds that I don't know the names of. As I drove home today, the ducks were swimming on the water.

You can understand why we don't want to see this land sacrificed!

Raps Rep. Shea

Editor of The Graphic:

Mr. Herman J. Shea must have been quite at home with his radical friends on the platform at Boston Common on April 15. I hope his ulcers weren't giving him trouble. The famous author of the Massachusetts Vietnam Anti War Bill has had quite an exciting year. He introduced his bill into the Massachusetts Legislature and they all climbed on his bandwagon.

The legality of the bill was of no importance to any of them; all they wanted was to get as much political mileage to help them in their coming elections. All I hope is that the people of Newton and the people of this State will realize that some representatives are not interested in what is good for the Commonwealth but what will give some representatives more votes in November.

The Legislature had a popular bill for the people not for the Legislature, to cut their own size. This bill failed to pass by one vote.

Representative H. J. Shea campaigned in favor of a cut in the Legislature; when his vote was needed, he voted against the cut.

I recognize that in Politics there is give and take but these politicians that are standing on the graves of 40,000 American War Dead to further their political fortunes, that I cannot take. I hope the people of this Country wake up to what is happening and use their franchise in November for the good of this Country and not to further some power hungry politician. The Vietnam question will be settled on a Federal Level and not in some State Legislature. There is plenty of work needed to be done in Massachusetts but I think they are looking for publicity.

Thanks For Help

Editor of The Graphic:
Newton's initial "Walk for the Hungry" is over, and it has exceeded our expectations.

We have been overwhelmed by the cooperation of the entire community, and wish to express our appreciation to all who participated — the over 1300 walkers, the sponsors and particularly our co-workers who planned and carried out the arrangements.

Nor can we forget the parents and the many adults who manned our check points, drove the cars and performed numerous other functions. In listing individuals and/or organizations who aided, we must inadvertently commit errors of omission for which we apologize.

Nonetheless, we acknowledge with heartfelt thanks the noteworthy contributions made by those in this partial list:

Newton Police; Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross; and Executive Director Julian; Newton Savings Bank; Sherman Division of St. Regis Paper; Mayor Monte Basbas; Jack Lichtenstein; Richard Lee; Alan Tichnor; Eugene Cohen; Harold Garber; Leon Blum of Care; William Geer, Mr. and Mrs. James McLaren, Mr. Robert Franke and the Faculty of Newton South High School.

We will publish a list of our fellow students in an early issue of Denebola.

Gratefully,
THE CO-ORDINATORS:
Lynnie Greene
Rusty Phillips
Marcy Richmond
P.S. And thank you and the Graphic!

Law Disparity

Editor of The Graphic:
I read with great interest recently, your editorial entitled "Penal Disparities" — especially with regard to the first paragraph.

Inasmuch as I represented a defendant in the case just before the case to which you referred, your editorial points up the disparity of punishments — and these two successive cases are typical of such wide disparity.

My client was charged with drunkenness — and although he had a record of drunkenness, the Judge sentenced him to 30 days in jail; and then the very next case — a case where a man made 5000 LSD pills, in violation of the narcotic laws — his sentence was suspended.

How does one explain this to the man in the street?

Applauds Marchers

Editor,
The Graphic:
We need not worry about the future of the country if it is to be in the hands of the youngsters who organized and carried out the beautiful March Against Hunger on Sunday (April 12).

They are to be congratulated on their concern and their accomplishments, as are the many adults who worked with them and marched with them.

TWO STRIKES!

Political Highlights

O'Donnell will bypass the Democratic State Convention, but he insists he can win the Democratic primary in September, and he backs up that claim with a number of arguments.

He points out that he polled 270,000 votes in his 1966 Democratic primary fight with former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, and he voices the conviction that he is a stronger candidate today than he was four years ago.

"I've been running ever since the 1966 election," asserts O'Donnell, "and I have spoken in practically every community in the Commonwealth."

The only time O'Donnell has been out of Massachusetts in four years, it develops, was to help in Robert Kennedy's Democratic Presidential Primary campaign which ended when Bobby was fatally wounded in a Los Angeles hotel.

What does O'Donnell talk about in the speeches he makes daily and nightly? He talks about his years in the White House under John F. Kennedy. He advocates an immediate unilateral withdrawal of our forces from Vietnam.

Since 1965 O'Donnell has been declaring that we are fighting the wrong war in the wrong place at the wrong time, and he has been maintaining that we should get out of Vietnam, not tomorrow or the next day, but today.

"I have been a dove since '65," he asserts.

O'Donnell does not believe his position on Vietnam reflects in any way on the patriotism, the valor or the fighting ability of our young men in that war-ravaged country.

In fact, his oldest son, Ken O'Donnell, Jr., 20, is serving as an infantry man in Vietnam.

There is no communications gap between O'Donnell and the younger generation.

He has 19-year-old twins, a son and daughter, the son a student at Boston University, the daughter a student at the University of Massachusetts, where O'Donnell does not plan to attend the Democratic convention.

In addition, he has a 12-year-old son at the Agassiz School in Jamaica Plain and an eight-year-old daughter at the Mary E. Curley School in Jamaica Plain.

O'Donnell resides with his family in Jamaica Plain, not far from the home of former Boston Mayor John F. Collins.

The one-time White House aide does not believe his plan to remain away from the Democratic State Convention will injure his chances in the Democratic primary next September.

He also disputes the belief by political writers that the candidate endorsed by the Democratic State Convention usually carries the small towns in the primary.

O'Donnell quotes figures to show that he carried a majority of the communities across Massachusetts in his 1966 primary fight with former Attorney General McCormack.

The trouble was, he says, that McCormack captured big cities such as Boston, Fall River and New Bedford, and the pluralities McCormack rolled up in them wiped out O'Donnell's advantages in a lot of little towns.

"I'll carry Boston, Fall River and New Bedford this time," insists O'Donnell.

From the present indications O'Donnell could make a much more respectable showing at this year's Democratic State Convention than he did at the 1966 conclave. But he could not win.

He has a bill pending in the Legislature, which probably will not be acted upon before the Democratic conclave at UMass in mid-June, which would wipe out the convention system of endorsing candidates for state-wide offices.

His measure, incidentally, provides that the primaries be held in the late spring and be followed by conventions called to adopt platforms and for other purposes.

"I believe it is in the finest tradition of our party to ensure that the people solely have the authority and responsibility to select the candidates for high office," says O'Donnell. "This was the philosophy of John F.

Kennedy, Paul A. Dever and other Democrats in the Commonwealth, and it is mine."

Because he will bypass the convention, O'Donnell will be obliged to obtain the valid signatures of 10,000 Democratic voters in order to have his name placed on the primary ballot. But he declares that will be no problem, asserting that he collected more than 60,000 signatures in 1966 and that he has greater support this time.

Indeed, O'Donnell believes it will be helpful to his cause to have his supporters canvassing various sections of the Commonwealth in quest of signatures in his behalf.

Ken O'Donnell was captain of the 1948 Harvard football team. He played football for four years because in the years immediately following World War II freshmen were allowed to play varsity football at Harvard, many of them returning from service in Europe and the South Pacific. Bobby Kennedy was on the Crimson gridiron squad with him three of those four years.

"The people realize I can beat Frank Sargent," says O'Donnell. "That's one reason I'm so confident of winning in the September primary."

Taxpayers Unwilling To Pay Part of Cost for Colleges

On the basis of the telephone calls reaching this desk, which usually are a fairly reliable barometer of public thinking, the people are totally unenthusiastic about the idea of picking up any part of the bill for running Boston College or any other privately operated university.

The students at University Heights could not have picked a worse time for their strike than the week containing the deadline for paying the state and federal taxes due on last year's earnings.

People calling in said they were willing to dig down into their pockets to pay part of the cost of operating parochial schools and high schools.

They said they realized they would have to dig even more deeply to establish additional public schools if the parochial schools were to close down because of the lack of funds.

But they declared they were unwilling to have any of their taxes used to subsidize the operation of private colleges and universities. They also expressed the conviction that tuition charges should be increased at state-operated universities to lighten the burden which must be carried by the taxpayers.

It was only a few years ago that the average person was uncomplaining when his tax bill went up to provide better education. But the so-called dissenting students have aroused public ill-will with their sit-ins and demonstrations and that, unfortunately, has rubbed off on the universities themselves.

Taxpayers also are feeling the weight of the heavy tax burden they have ever been asked to carry. When they get through paying their state and federal income taxes, their real estate taxes and motor excise taxes, their sales taxes and other minor taxes, they have parted with a substantial part of their earnings.

Students carrying picket signs demanding public funds for private institutions may have stiffened public opposition to such a move instead of gaining support for their proposal.

The demonstration at Boston College was an orderly and thoughtful one. Unfortunately, some persons don't distinguish any more between student demonstration.

The problem of allocating public funds to private universities—if it were constitutional—would be a tremendously complicated and difficult one.

A number of persons for some reason called this desk to suggest that students would be better able to pay their tuition bills if they devoted more time to part-time jobs and less to sit-ins and take-overs.

That, of course, applies to only a small minority of students, but it reflects the mood of the people who pay the bills.

Armenian Memorial Rites Will Be Held On Sunday

Upon the initiative of Stephen P. Mugar, noted community leader and philanthropist, the United Armenian Memorial Observance Committee of Greater Boston will present a special Martyrs Day program on Sunday evening, April 26, at John Hancock Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The memorial services are being held in reverence for some two million Armenians who perished during this century's first genocide . . . and further, as a timely reminder of man's continuing inhumanity to man. The main speaker will be a nationally known figure.

The program will include choral selections directed by noted composer/director Ruben Krikorian and a film dealing with the massacres.

Stephen Mugar, honorary chairman of the committee is noted for his distinguished educational and civic leadership and his important contributions to humanity and brotherhood . . . to all men regardless of nationality, ethnic or religious background.

His outstanding career as founder and now honorary Chairman of the Board of Star Market Co. has been further enhanced by his participation and support of higher education.

Serving on the committee also are: Dr. John Manouelian and Manoog S. Young of Newton as executive co-chairmen; Haig H. Toumayan, also of Newton, treasurer; and the Rev. Vartan Hartunian, secretary.

Pamela L. Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Green of 1411 Beacon St., Waban and Ellen Laskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Laskey of 3 Hiram Rd., Hyannis, are on the honor list at Pine Manor Junior College, Chestnut Hill where they are both seniors. To make Honour, a student must have an average of 3.0 or better.

Safety Awards Won By Newton Co. Employees

The Franchi Construction Company of Newton will hold their first quarterly safety banquet next Thursday evening (April 30) at the Aquarium Restaurant on Boston's waterfront at which three local foremen will be honored.

Cash awards will be made by company president Pasquale Franchi to supervisory personnel who have operated their projects with no lost time accidents. Bernardo Di Paolo, 107 Pearl Street, Newton, and George Sementelli, 24 Clinton Street, Newton, both labor foremen, and Julio Coppola, 90 Lowell Avenue, Newtonville, a bricklayer foreman will be among those to receive awards.

The construction safety color film "Men of Iron" will be shown, after which a panel discussion will be held, led by Charles Kimball, Milton Jones and James Murphy of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, according to an announcement released today by Nathan I. Greene, Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Driscoll was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from 1955 to 1960. In 1961, he was elected Treasurer and Receiver-General of the Commonwealth, a position he held until assuming the Chairmanship of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority in 1964.

He is a director of both the Massachusetts Bay United Fund and the Massachusetts Safety Council. He is serving as a trustee of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton and of the Associated Catholic Hospitals, Inc. He is also a member of the Governor's Advisory Council on Transportation.

LETTER

Letter to Mayor

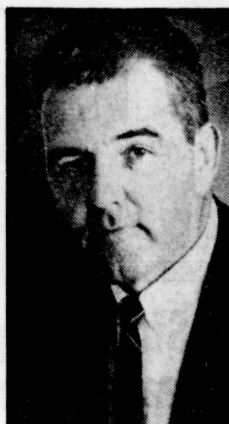

"Open letter to the Mayor of 'Garden City'."

Dear Sir:

This week is devoted to the problems of our environment and Wednesday is declared Earth Day. We, unfortunate residents of Newtonville living only two blocks from you have a special "celebration." The trash which was supposed to be collected on Friday was left on our streets for FOUR days. The area involved is Oakwood Rd. Upland Rd., Whitney Rd., and Woodside Rd. With the strong wind the trash was blown all over the streets creating health hazard especially to our children.

I assume that there are compelling reasons why the trash was not collected, but in the age of modern communications I am sure that there are means to notify the residents in advance and ask them not to take out the trash to the street.

When everybody is trying harder to improve our environment the residents of

Driscoll Is New Director Of Bank Here

John T. Driscoll, chairman of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority, has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, according to an announcement released today by Nathan I. Greene, Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Driscoll was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from 1955 to 1960. In 1961, he was elected Treasurer and Receiver-General of the Commonwealth, a position he held until assuming the Chairmanship of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority in 1964.

He is a director of both the Massachusetts Bay United Fund and the Massachusetts Safety Council. He is serving as a trustee of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton and of the Associated Catholic Hospitals, Inc. He is also a member of the Governor's Advisory Council on Transportation.

As a legislator, he sponsored the payroll withholding tax system for Massachusetts which resulted in approximately $35,000,000 of additional revenue for the State.

In 1961, he was chosen one of the "Ten Outstanding Young Men of Greater Boston" by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Driscoll and his wife reside with their seven children at 20 Cary Avenue in Milton.

Charter Group Eyes Change For Local City Government

A tentative vote to recommend to the electorate of Newton some sweeping changes in its local government has been reached by the Charter Commissioners in its five months in office.

For example, a four-year term for mayor was passed on a 5 to 3 vote. The majority expressed dissatisfaction with the present two-year term because a mayor just gets installed in office when he must start running again.

The present mayor, Monte G. Basbas, spoke against a four-year term, citing that it would separate the chief executive from the public. But the majority, emphasizing the word "efficiency", prevailed.

The commissioners also favor strengthening the mayor form of government, suggesting that the mayor's powers of appointment should not be subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen.

Also passed by the commissioners: A primary election system. If more than two candidates run for any office then a final election would be conducted as is done in Waltham. Vacancies in all elected offices would be filled by special elections.

The commissioners left undecided the size of the Board of Aldermen which is one of the most important aspects of the city charter. From the beginning of deliberations, much mind-switching has occurred and the commission is now divided.

Those who want a cut cite the need for "efficiency", while those opposed cite the need for greater rather than less representation. Those most familiar with the board — present and past members — oppose a cut.

Feelings about the School Committee are also divided. One idea is to make some of the members subject to election by ward. At present, all eight committeemen are elected at-large with a requirement that one be elected from each ward.

The commission meets informally tonight at 8 o'clock in the City Hall, for interviews and discussions with representatives of the League of Women Voters, Newton Citizens for Education, Newton Taxpayers Associations, West Newton Voters Association, Newton Council of PTAs and Newton Chamber of Commerce.

All meetings are open to the public.

CARIBBEAN CRUISE — Newton couple Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Barker have recently completed a three-week cruise to the Caribbean and South America's Pacific Coast. They sailed via the Panama Canal and visited ports in Panama, Colombia and Ecuador.

A long handled hinged or basket grill makes camp cooking of small or fragile foods, such as fish or burgers, much easier on the cook. It allows you to turn all the food at once without breaking it up. If the fire blazes up unexpectedly, all the food can be removed quickly and at one time so the flames can be reduced. Hot dogs and other foods that require frequently turning also are easier to handle in these grills.

Newton Girl On TV College Bowl Team

Glenda Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Starr of 28 Brandeis road, Newton Centre, a senior majoring in economics at Wellesley College, is one of the four team members representing the school in the GE College Bowl seen on Channel 4 at 3 p.m. and on Channel 10 at 6:30 p.m. Sundays.

In two close matches Wellesley defeated teams from the University of Wyoming and Middlebury College in Vermont and have won $7,000 so far which is earmarked for scholarships.

Glenda received Freshman Honors and was named a Wellesley College Scholar and is coordinator for Friends of Economics. She plans to continue in economics next year in graduate school.

She was chosen to be one of the four team members for Wellesley from among some 50 applicants. Her teammates are Ellen A. Bass, captain of Bryant, Ark., a political science major; Sandra Ferrari, an Italian major from San Clemente, Calif., and Trudy Hammer, a U.S. Studies major of Massena, N.Y. George J. Stambolian, assistant professor of French at Wellesley is the team coach.

Buddy Ebsen, Sailing Buff, Builds Boats

The final affront to British indignation at no longer ruling the waves came at the hands of one Buddy Ebsen, a television rube who is also a master sailor.

Jed Clampett in "The Beverly Hillbillies" is something else again under sail in one of his swift catamarans.

Last summer he entered the ancient (beginning in 1851) and honorable round the Isle race — the Isle of Wight — and whipped all the other 450 boats, including one belonging to Prince Phillip.

Back in Hollywood, Ebsen has a silver cup to prove it. "I live down on Balboa Island," Ebsen said in his dressing room during a break in his television series.

"There's something about boats and water that really gets to me. In fact, I've gone into the boat-building business."

The actor reached across to a stack of brochures.

"My company is Polynesian Concept, Inc.," he explained.

"We made a catamaran by that name — two hulls, 37 feet long and a real bargain for buyers."

Ebsen's concept of a bargain differs considerably from that of most landlubbers.

You can steal one of his boats for a measly $31,000. He was reminded that the price seemed a bit out of reach.

"Look at it this way," he

Thursday, April 23, 1970

drawled. "The average boat sells for $1,000 a foot. So the Polynesian Concept is the greatest bargain for racing-cruising boats."

"Well, we began the company a year and a half ago, and so far we've sold three," Ebsen said.

"We have orders for a lot more. When the company is running along at full pace we expect to sell about a dozen boats a year. That'll keep us in the black."

America's first air meet was held in Los Angeles in 1910.

MRS. RICHARD S. MILESKY

Hawaiian Honeymoon for Mr. And Mrs. Richard Milesky

A wedding trip to California and Hawaii followed the recent marriage of Miss Marcie Nadine Gulden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Gulden of 26 Charlotte road, Newton Centre, to Mr. Richard Stephen Milesky, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milesky of 25 Milo street, West Newton.

Rabbi Philip Kieval officiated at the ceremony held in Temple Reyim on Sunday evening (March 22) and a reception followed at the Temple.

For her wedding, the bride chose an A-line gown of off-white silk worsted re-embroidered with beaded motifs, long sleeves, high neckline and attached train. The beaded camelot headpiece held her illusion veil and she carried her mother's prayer book covered with a cascade of orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Harris Sandler, her sister, and Mrs. Michael Verduin, both of Framingham, were matrons of honor and were dressed in aqua sleeveless, A-line gowns with high beaded necklines and trim. Their headpieces were of gathered tulle and they carried aqua and white cascades.

Similarly dressed were bridesmaids Miss Beverly Stern of Newton Centre and Miss Susan Haverson of Boston, while Miss Jill Evans of Alabama, cousin of the bride, and Miss Beth Sandler of Framingham, her niece, a junior bridesmaid, wore aqua midi dresses, trimmed in lace with lime green sashes.

Serving his brother as best man was Mr. Lawrence Milesky of West Newton and ushers were Mr. David Lappen of Waban, Mr. Stephen Thompson of West Newton, Mr. Richard Gulden of Newton Centre and Mr. Malcolm Gulden of Framingham, both brothers of the bride.

The newlyweds will be in residence in Columbus, Ohio, where the groom will continue his studies at Ohio State University. He is a graduate of Newton High School and Boston University, C. B.S., and has completed his military service with the U.S. Army.

Mrs. Milesky is also a graduate of Newton High School and of Lesley College and is presently an elementary school teacher. (Photo by Boris of Boston)

MRS. DANA P. MARSHALL

Miss Gordinier Is Bride Of Dana Philip Marshall

Miss Virginia M. Gordinier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Gordinier of Somerville, and Dana Philip Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Marshall of 97 Eldredge St., Newton, were married last Saturday afternoon (April 18) at St. Clement's Church in Somerville.

Monsignor John G. Hogan celebrated the Nuptial Mass at the double ring ceremony, and a reception followed at the Chestnut Hill Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie beaded with pearls, its empire-line skirt swept back to a chapel train. Her headpiece was a pearly Juliet cap with full-length veil and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Michele Parziale of Somerville was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss D'Arlyn Buckley of Reading. Miss Patricia Foley of Peabody and Miss Rosemary DiSisto of Somerville. Miss Rosemary Macero of Somerville was junior bridesmaid, and the flower girl was Miss Patricia Louise Macero.

Serving as best man for his brother was Mr. George F. Marshall of Newton. The ushers were Mr. Donald Ainslie of Dover, Mr. James Fiore of Dorchester and Mr. Stephen Johnson of Walpole.

After a wedding trip to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, the couple will make their home in Reading.

The bride is a teacher and drama coach at Somerville High School, and the groom is an engineer with Honeywell. (Photo by Ellis Field)

California's Heart Transplant Is Doing Fine

When Ralph Trout III plays "You Gotta Have Heart" on the organ down at the Captain's Galley pizza parlor he really means it.

Trout is a heart transplant patient, the world's 130th and the 14th at Stanford University Medical Center.

The 34-year-old Atherton, received his transplanted heart last May, plays at the Captain's Galley two nights a week and also at a San Francisco Bay area restaurant. He also rides a motorcycle, skis and rides horseback - "all in moderation."

"I really feel great," he says. "If somebody had said to me five years ago that I would have a transplant, I wouldn't have laughed. Now I don't."

A year ago, Trout didn't know whether he'd be celebrating his 34th birthday Feb. 6. "But here I am, healthy as ever," he grinned.

Now Trout, who is a self-taught professional organist and gives private lessons is about to cut a few records in the near future. "It'll be a one-man show. I guess I'm just too much of a ham," he said.

Trout was admitted into Stanford Medical Center in 1965 following a series of heart attacks. He was 29 then.

"Since '65, I suffered seven attacks," Trout said. "The doctors told me then that I had progressive heart deterioration and that I should strongly consider a heart transplant."

He admits he was a bit nervous, but he was thoroughly confident of success. "I never gave it a second thought. I knew I'd come out 100 per cent healthier," he says.

The former retail salesman tries to live a normal life as possible. "I work, I eat, I sleep, but people still give me that inquisitive look when they find out I'm a heart transplant."

Since Trout's operation, there have been six other heart transplants at Stanford. Of the total of 20 operations performed at the medical center there are eight survivors, seven of whom have been discharged from the hospital.

"I'm very impressed with what medical science has been able to do with heart problem patients," Trout said. "I'm sure that in time we will see other organs being transplanted successfully."

And what are Trout's future plans? He thought for a moment. "I'm not sure yet," he said. "Now I've got plenty of time to think about it."

Officers To Be Named By Newton GOP

The Newton Republican City Committee will meet Wednesday evening, April 29, at the Work Shop on Columbus Street, it was announced today by Julius L. Masow, chairman of the GOP group.

Notices of the meeting have already been mailed to the more than three hundred men and women who comprise the membership of the city's eight Republican Ward Committees.

They will elect officers to head up the City Committee for the next two years.

The Nominating Committee which will present its slate was recently elected by the wards and is made up of Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Ward One; George Hicks, Ward Two; Stanley Miller, Ward Three; Louis I. Egelson, Jr., Ward Four; Edward C. Uehlein, Ward Five; Mrs. William L. Bruce, Ward Six; Melvin Norris, Ward Seven; and Edward A. Caredis, Ward Eight.

Edward C. Uehlein was designated chairman pro tem for the purpose of convening the Committee which will elect its own Chairman.

Among items on the agenda is a proposed Policy Statement prepared by the Issues Committee of the Newton GOP and which was approved by the Executive Committee April 15th.

Rep. Shea Files Youth Environment Corps Bill

Rep. H. James Shea, Jr. (D-Newton) today announced that he is submitting late filed legislation to establish a YOUTH FOR ENVIRONMENTAL SURVIVAL CORPS (YES).

The corps will be a youth oriented commission which "shall deal with the areas of air, water, noise, land, open space, shore line and ocean floor environmental preservation." It will be charged with evolving "programs in community action, community organization, education, research, and observation of environmental abuses and of the capacity and efficacy of existing enforcement agencies to deal with these abuses."

Three of the seven members of its governing commission will by law have to be under the age of 26, half of its twelve member advisory council under 26, and its associate director below the age of 30 at the time of appointment.

Shea expressed hope that the legislature would act promptly on this bill to provide public support for youthful involvement in pollution abatement programs.

He stressed that YES would in no way interfere with or substitute for the growing private youthful concern for environmental protection.

The census of the city of Los Angeles reached 100,000 in the year 1900.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

The public is invited to the services beginning at 10:45 a.m. on Sunday at the First Church of Christ Scientist, 391 Walnut st., Newtonville.

The self - destroying effects of moral weakness and the regenerating effects of spiritual thinking are illustrated in the Lesson - Sermon on "Probation After Death" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday (April 26).

One of the Bible citations is from Romans: "For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." The account in Luke of the multitude that gathered to hear Jesus preach and to be healed of diseases and "unclean spirits" also will be read. Beauty experts suggest shampooing the hair at least once a week. The under-the-shower technique is a favorite way, since it's easy, quick, and provides an ideal means of rinsing. Work up two rich lathers, rinsing between and massage the scalp vigorously with fingertips or knuckles.

Lions Make Debut In New Suburban Track Contests

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Newton South High makes its first and only sojourn into the newly revamped Suburban Track League, this spring. The Lions compete against nine teams this spring in the combined divisions of the league instead of the traditional five. The tracksters will meet Newton, Weymouth, Waltham, New Bedford, Arlington, Brookline, Cambridge Latin, Rindge Tech and Brockton. In 1971 Newton South will be in the Dual County League, so this spring will be its only test in the new alignment.

Spring track has not been one of Newton South's strong points in recent years. Last season, the Lions compiled a respectable 2-3 mark, but from that team many important point-scorers have graduated.

Traditionally plagued by a lack of depth the trackmen will not find this season very different from the past. Only 20-plus candidates are attempting to fill sixteen events, including the relay.

Coach Donald Sutherland, who returned to the track wars this winter after a three-year absence and pulled the team out of its last place doldrums in the Met League, will again be head coach. And he certainly has no easy job facing him. There is talent on the team, but not enough bodies. Sutherland's finest talent as a coach, however, is his ability to juggle the material he has and get the most possible from it. For that reason it is uncertain who will be competing in what event when the team opens on April 23 against defending league champ Newton, but the lineup will probably resemble something like the following:

120-yard high hurdles, 180-yard low hurdles — Junior Dave Peters could blossom into a real star in the highs. Last spring Dave sped to 10.8 in the 100 and a 23.5 200, and he could also see service in these events. Indoors he was timed in 6.1 for the 45-yard hurdles. Footballer Howie Haines, a Newton Junior High sprint champ last spring could be very strong in the low hurdles, but has a leg injury which may prevent him from hurdling. In that case, he will run the 100. Paul Nissen will shift back and forth between the highs and lows and Mike McKinney will give the lows a try.

100-220 — Sophomores Elliot Weisman and Al Watine seem to be the top two in the sprints along with Peters and Haines. Weisman was an occasional winner in the 50 indoors and clocked a 6.0 in that event.

440 — John Seeler could burst into stardom this year after a 52.7 as a sophomore last year. Scott Lampert will provide solid back-up and will also compete in the 220. Bob Sherman, a senior out for track for the first time is another candidate. Steve Sahl, who participated in five different events this winter, will most likely be shuffled around equally as much this season, spreading his talents among the 220, 440, 880, and perhaps the mile.

880 — Ron Schneider has a 2:06.5 to his credit and should improve upon that. Dave Glaser owns a 2:38 1000 and will be a very solid back-up man. With Sahl in the picture this could be the Lion's strongest event.

Mile, 2 mile — Junior Chuck Pottey owns the school indoor 2-mile standard of 10:41.8 and has logged a 4:52.8 mile, making him South's top distance performer. Dick Dickinson has bests of 4:55 and 10:55 and will run what Pottey does not. Glaser and Schneider could see some work in the mile, each having run 4:59. Sophomores Matt Williams and Dave Riss will also compete in the mile.

Junior Mike LeBlanc, a regular 2-miler, may be switched to the hurdles.

Seeler, Sahl, Weisman, Watine, Haines, Peters and Schneider are all candidates for the 880 relay team. Regardless of who does make it appears that it will not be as strong as last year's squad which finished third in the Suburban League meet and sixth in the Class A relays.

The field team is equally as uncertain.

Pole Vault — Junior Nissen cleared the 9-foot barrier as a sophomore and should improve with age. Watine is also experimenting with the vault.

Long Jump (officially changed from its namesake the "broad jump", probably in deference to Women's Liberation) — Peters and Lampert are both over 18 feet and a year set.

Triple Jump — Schneider is the school record-holder in the event, introduced in regular competition last year, and should improve upon his 38-6 standard. He has done over 40 feet in practice. Sahl is trying the TJ for the first time and its up to 35-plus.

High Jump — Captain Rich Kates gives the Lions more than adequate strength in this event. Kates topped the 5-10 1/2 mark this winter and earned a fourth-place medal in the Class B championships. He should definitely be over 6 feet this spring. Sophomore McKinney, over 5-2 indoors, has good potential. Schneider has also leaped 5-7 and he may see some action here. Kates has also broad-jumped, excuse me WL, I mean long-jumped over 18 feet and there is a slight chance he will compete there on occasions.

Shot, Discus — South has two superb shot-putters in sophomore Roger Cooper, 43-10 1/2 and junior Joe DeLuca, 42-7 1/2, but no experienced thrower in the discus. Therefore, unless newcomer Lenny Adelman can handle the chores, one will certainly have to move.

Javelin — Glaser has experience in this event and has improved. He may be near 140 feet this year. Aremam Kojoyan will also throw and may try the discus. Bruce Brown a sophomore has showed well this far.

There are very few certainities facing the Lion trackmen this spring. The only thing that seems really sure is that most of the teams in the league have too much depth and balance for South. The tracksters will need top performances from what they have in every event if they are to have any hope of beating anybody.

The famous Boston marathon is now history and thousands of people lined the streets from Hopkinton to Boston to watch these distance runners show their wares. Most people watch the front runners but one of the biggest stories of this year's Boston Marathon can rest in the 5 ft. 10-155 pound frame of 62 year old Walter Frederick of Pico Rivera, California who finished his second Boston marathon in a row despite the cold and rain.

Walter Frederick is one of the runners who come from all over the world to compete in the Boston race and many other marathons, but his story is a lot different.

Frederick is staying at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Frank and Edith Olney of Saxon terrace in Newton. And to get in his last preparations for the Marathon, Walter could be found running around Crystal Lake behind the Olney residence almost every morning last week.

Most runners who are in the Marathon or any long distance events have run most of their lives, but not so with Walter Frederick.

It was just a short three years ago when Walter awoke one morning and realized that he was getting up there in age (59), and his weight was 195 and there was a little fat, and Frederick said to himself, "I've got to do something to take care of this weight problem and have got to feel better."

He had never ran in his life before and didn't even play any sports in high school.

Since that morning Walter Frederick has run over 3,000 miles and has competed in 95 running events. He has won nine of them, most against much younger competition.

When he first went out to do road work he was 195 pounds, and those first days there was plenty of huffing and puffing. "Many times I thought I wouldn't make it, but as I got used to the pace I got to enjoy it more and more," said Walter.

What does Walter Frederick do for a living?

He is the supervisor of maintenance and operations of a school district in Pico Rivera, California.

The usual work hour is 8 a.m. till 4 p.m., but for Frederick it is kind of a different schedule than most of us.

Eight Miles A Day

Walt doesn't get up with that lazy "I want ten minutes more sleep" attitude, and doesn't toss the old pillow at the Mrs. for waking him up too early.

Six morning a week Walt is up at 4 a.m. and does four miles of running. After work at 4 p.m. it's four more miles of running.

Eight miles a day, six days a week, for 52 weeks a year, and you have got a dedicated runner.

His latest heroics came in the 14 and 1/2 mile Hawaiian Gardens race in California where the 62 year old competitor won the first prize for handicap time.

His trophy room in Pico Rivera is decorated with hundreds of trophies and some 14 prized medals.

Climbs Two

Perhaps one of the most humorous and heartwarming stories about Walt occurred this past year at his job at one of the schools in Pico Rivera.

Now he says he won't do any this year. He says Oregon has to decide just how many more tourists it can handle. "We're not going to spend money advertising for them," the governor said, "but we're not going to insult the tourists, either."

Levine In Shut-Out 5-0; Captain Has Total of 14

Captain Emmons Levine fired a three-hitter and extended his shut-out to 14 as Newton South downed Weymouth, 5-0, to highlight last week's Lion baseball action.

Levine fanned six and cracked two of the four South hits to aid his own cause. First single scored the first two Newton runs.

The Lions capitalized on five walks, a single, an error and a passed ball to produce their first four runs in the second inning.

Bruce Gorton and Clem Birgilio each collected a single to account for the other Newton hits.

In a weird turn of events Newton South was no-hit by Brookline High's Larry Walsh, and still "walked" away with a 5-2 triumph.

The Lions put together five walks, three errors, five sacrifice hits and three stolen bases to come up with their five runs.

Southpaw Paul Selby twirled a five-hitter, but walked 10 enemy batsmen to constantly keep himself in hot water. On occasion he was brilliant and fanned 10 Brookline batters, and he was good enough to win.

South absorbed its only loss of the season to date earlier in the week, 5-3, to Arlington.

Rich Izen misjudged a Spy Ponder fly ball, which fell untouched and scored two runs and wound up being scored as a double.

Gordon cracked three of the five Lion safeties with Virgilio and Ken Green each stroking a single.

Selby, who was erratic, permitted nine base on balls with five k's in suffering his first loss.

passed ball with soph Eric Bell up for the first run. Bell fanned but Gentile and soccer star Paul Aronian walked.

Centerfielder Bob Doyle hit a dribbler up the middle which second baseman Rick Cerce bobbled, but Gentile rounded third too wide and was caught in a pickle.

Brocton receiver Paul Doherty obliged by dropping the relay however, and Gentile scored.

The pitching chores were handled by Gentile for the first five and Jethro Mills who came in and put out the fire when Brockton challenged in the sixth.

Cerce walked to start the sixth and Gentile went to 2-0 on three sport star Barry Tucker. Coach Howard Ferguson went quickly to Mills, the stopper on the staff who compiled a 5-1 mark last year.

The portside with the deceptive move to first proceeded to pick Cerce off and fan five of the final six batters to save Gentile's win despite allowing a run in the seventh.

Brockton pitcher, Mike Gordon, already a three star sport varsity man as a sophomore gave up only two safeties and whiffed eight.

Last Friday Newton whipped Weymouth's Maroon by 7-0 count. It was a fine win for Newton baseball followers as two of last year's four losses inflicted on the club were by Weymouth.

Once again the mound staff, this time Jethro Mills, provided the excitement by no hitting the Maroons until the final inning. Mills also picked up a pair of hits along with Jim Fay and Bob Fabiano.

As in the past few games NHS bats were ringing in the opening innings. With one down in the first Pendergast singled and Wargin doubled to score the basketball captain elect.

Mills bingled to left and Fabiano stroked a homer over the rightfielder's head for two more runs.

The three run third saw Fabiano single, and Mike Lally walk. Coach Ferguson, as usual in control of the ball game, had them work the double steal. Jim Fay made the move look even better by singling them both in.

Fay moved to third when a pickoff throw went astray and sophomore Eric Bell sacrificed to centerfield.

Mills had the no hitter broken in the last of the seventh when the keystone and brother combination of Frank and Rich Niles tagged Mills for singles to break up the hitless game.

Most people watch the front runners but one of the biggest stories of this year's Boston Marathon can rest in the 5 ft. 10-155 pound frame of 62 year old Walter Frederick of Pico Rivera, California who finished his second Boston marathon in a row despite the cold and rain.

Walter Frederick is one of the runners who come from all over the world to compete in the Boston race and many other marathons, but his story is a lot different.

Frederick is staying at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Frank and Edith Olney of Saxon terrace in Newton. And to get in his last preparations for the Marathon, Walter could be found running around Crystal Lake behind the Olney residence almost every morning last week.

Most runners who are in the Marathon or any long distance events have run most of their lives, but not so with Walter Frederick.

It was just a short three years ago when Walter awoke one morning and realized that he was getting up there in age (59), and his weight was 195 and there was a little fat, and Frederick said to himself, "I've got to do something to take care of this weight problem and have got to feel better."

He had never ran in his life before and didn't even play any sports in high school.

Since that morning Walter Frederick has run over 3,000 miles and has competed in 95 running events. He has won nine of them, most against much younger competition.

When he first went out to do road work he was 195 pounds, and those first days there was plenty of huffing and puffing. "Many times I thought I wouldn't make it, but as I got used to the pace I got to enjoy it more and more," said Walter.

What does Walter Frederick do for a living?

He is the supervisor of maintenance and operations of a school district in Pico Rivera, California.

The usual work hour is 8 a.m. till 4 p.m., but for Frederick it is kind of a different schedule than most of us.

Eight Miles A Day

Walt doesn't get up with that lazy "I want ten minutes more sleep" attitude, and doesn't toss the old pillow at the Mrs. for waking him up too early.

Six morning a week Walt is up at 4 a.m. and does four miles of running. After work at 4 p.m. it's four more miles of running.

Eight miles a day, six days a week, for 52 weeks a year, and you have got a dedicated runner.

His latest heroics came in the 14 and 1/2 mile Hawaiian Gardens race in California where the 62 year old competitor won the first prize for handicap time.

His trophy room in Pico Rivera is decorated with hundreds of trophies and some 14 prized medals.

Climbs Two

Perhaps one of the most humorous and heartwarming stories about Walt occurred this past year at his job at one of the schools in Pico Rivera.

Now he says he won't do any this year. He says Oregon has to decide just how many more tourists it can handle. "We're not going to spend money advertising for them," the governor said, "but we're not going to insult the tourists, either."

Applying for Social Security benefits can be as easy as picking up your phone and saying: "Hello, I'd like to apply for my Social Security benefits." Everybody knows people can borrow money, dial for the weather or say a prayer and order a chicken dinner by telephone.

But now even Social Security benefits can be applied for by telephone, according to Gerald Silver, manager of the Roslindale Social Security office. Remember the number is 323-0850.

People who are eligible to sign up for old age or survivors benefits or Medicare coverage can telephone the Roslindale office and take care of most or all of the formalities by telephone.

"We believe this new approach to service will save time and money for us and for the people who have benefited from their years of contributions to the Social

Seems that among the schools he cares for there are many flagpoles in front of the buildings. One morning Frederick came to school and found vads had cut the rope of the flagpole and Old Glory had tumbled to the ground.

Fifteen minutes later, 62 year old Walter Frederick had his flagpole climbing gear on and hoisted himself to the top of the 90 foot pole and fastened the rope. The amazing part of this story is that on the way down the pole he had a paint brush and pail with him, and proceeded to dab a healthy coat of white stuff on the pole. Seems quite a fantastic story, but Frederick has actual photos of the feat taken with a Polaroid camera. He is quite a physical specimen.

Looking at his 150 pound frame, one can't spot an ounce of fat. He is up at 4 a.m. every morning and in bed at 9 sharp every night.

Trained Hard

"One may ask the question, how can a man 62 years old compete in and finish a marathon? The big answer is training."

Preparing for the Boston Marathon, Fred has done a little more than his usual eight miles a day.

He has been doing 100 miles a week. Last week he "cooled it" 94 miles, and since his arrival in Boston on April 15th he has tapered off to seven miles a day to get ready for last Monday's big test.

To prove that he was in shape, he didn't get a blister in Monday's race. The big reason is the constant training.

"I felt sorry for some of the youngsters whom I passed on the route, especially after those Wellesley Hills. A lot of them were exhausted by the wayside and they have to realize that one can't just train a week or two and expect to finish a race such as this."

Last year Walter finished the race he was in the locker room changing clothes feeling spry as a teenager, and across the way on the next bench was a youngster lying there with his feet clotted with blood, but there was a Frederick ready to do a twist. A remarkable feat for a 62 year old man.

During the running of a Marathon race such as this, Walter carries a plastic flask of honey with him on the route. In the morning before the race it's a full teaspoon full of warm germ oil and a multi-vitamin capsule, and then it's off for the big running.

He has a diet of mostly high proteins and carbohydrates for staying power. Usually a runner in an event like this will lose somewhere between 5 and 8 pounds. Walt reminds us that most of this is just water from perspiring.

He likes a cooler day for running to stop the perspiring, and just keeps on going.

This Week's Best Buys

Courtesy Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

As eggs become somewhat more plentiful in the market, prices are down this week as much as 10 cents a dozen, according to the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture. When prices between sizes differ by seven cents or more, buy the larger size, says Guy Paris, Market News Reporter - you'll get more for your money. There are no chicken sale prices in evidence, he says, and suggests that turkey may be a better buy for the same portions.

Look for price reductions in native greenhouse cukes this week; warmer weather has brought a surplus to market.

A limited quantity of Massachusetts greenhouse tomatoes is appearing in selected markets as the new crop matures. Our native tomatoes are bright red - not pink - with the green stem on top.

We have a countryman's note from Nat Tilden, the MDA's Director of Markets: "Saturday afternoon I saw a woodchuck run from the garden to a hole in the wall. He didn't look as if his winter hibernation had caused any loss of weight. He was enormous."

"For 300 years, people in New England have tried to exterminate woodchucks. I am confident there are more here now than in Colonial days, as food is easier for them to get. The threat of the death penalty has been no deterrent to the devastation they can accomplish. My town, Scituate, used to pay a bounty of 50c for each woodchuck killed.

"Woodchuck bombs placed in the holes with the entrance sealed off is an effective method of control. If in walls, hope for help from the neighbor's dog. Fencing the garden is also effective, but expensive if the area is large."

Convenience Food Stores Doubling By 1975

Convenience food stores - neighborhood markets which stay open long hours - should double in number by 1975, according to the president of the nation's second-largest chain, Jackson-Atlantic, Inc.

"Fifteen years ago, there were only 500 convenience food stores in the United States," Dillard Munford reports. "Today, there are about 10,000. At the current growth rate, there should be approximately 20,000 in another five years."

He predicted that convenience store sales, currently approaching the $15 billion mark annually, will be near $4 billion in 1975.

Clean-up Campaign By Auburndale Garden Club

The Auburndale Garden Club is sponsoring an Auburndale Clean-up Campaign during the week of April 27, culminating in a "Keep Auburndale Beautiful" week, beginning May 3. The Auburndale Community Association is giving full support to this venture which is being held in conjunction with the proclamation signed on February 3, by Governor Francis W. Sargent proclaiming May as "Keep Massachusetts Beautiful" month.

Each home owner is urged to clear his premises of debris and to maintain his property litter-free. President Richard M. Nixon, in his first State of the Union address, said, "Each of us must resolve that EACH DAY he will leave his home, his property, and the public places of his city or town a little cleaner, a little better, a little more pleasant for himself and those around him."

In a letter from Mrs. Irving W. Mack, President of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, Inc., she states "It cost the Massachusetts State Department of Public Works three-quarters (¾) of a million dollars - YOUR tax dollars - to pick up the litter on our state highways last year; this did NOT include the cost for pick-up by the cities and towns."

The City of Newton has pledged its support to the anti-litter campaign of the Auburndale Garden Club by greater concentration in Auburndale of street cleaners and sweepers during the week of April 27.

The MBTA has been alerted to give greater emphasis to the cleanliness of the Riverside terminal parking lot. The Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts of Auburndale are cooperating in this move to fight pollution. Members of the Garden Club are giving talks to the students of the Williams and Burr Elementary Schools and are enlisting their cooperation in this venture. Students at the Murray Road - Newton High School and Lasell Junior College are also cooperating.

The members of the business community of Auburndale are also being asked to put forth greater efforts toward anti-litter during these two particular weeks.

Mrs. Howard N. Atwood, Jr., anti-litter chairman, Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Beautification chairman, Mrs. Robert G. Fisher, Publicity chairman, Mrs. R. Emerson Sylvester, Vice-president and Mrs. John B. G. Pallen, President, are the Auburndale Garden Club members planning the clean-up campaign next week preparatory to KEEP AUBURNDALE BEAUTIFUL week of May 3.

Recreation Dept. Plaques Are Awarded For Services

David M. Gordon, executive director of the Sidney Hill Country Club and Volunteer students from Mount Ida Junior College, Pine Manor Junior College, Newton North High School and Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, were honored at an award presentation recently at the Sidney Hill Country Club by the Newton Recreation Department.

John B. Penney, Recreation Commissioner, presented a plaque to Mr. Gordon, who accepted the award on behalf of the Sidney Hill Country Club for its outstanding contribution of making its swimming pool available, free of charge, for the past eight (8) years to the Handicapped and Retarded Swim Program which was held at the Club three afternoons per week for most of the school year.

"Special Class children from the Newton North High School, Meadowbrook Junior High School, Countryside, Hamilton, Oak Hill and Peabody Schools enjoyed this swimming program from October to April. Each child enjoyed eighteen swimming sessions and the transportation was provided by the Development Foundation, a non-profit corporation, has been working on its plans to build the scattered site housing for nearly a year.

In all, 40.7 acres are involved on the 10 sites, of which 24 acres are privately owned, and 16.7 are owned by the city.

The housing has been designed by the PARK TEAM, INC., a Boston based architectural firm that has designed middle-income housing in several cities.

None of the units will be over two stories in height, and they are grouped in differing cluster patterns of four to eight units. The designs contain one, two, three and four bedroom units.

According to Robert Casselman, president of the Foundation, "Suburbs like Newton simply haven't enough housing anymore for people who work here, who grew up here, who want to stay here when they retire. But no suburb wants massive 'project' housing."

"The Newton answer can be the answer for every suburb - low density housing - constructed simultaneously in volume, on scattered locations - low density housing, good looking housing, built and managed privately, with Federal interest subsidies to bring down the rents. The Newton plan will be a national breakthrough, because it will show that the suburbs can solve a large part of the nation's housing crisis."

The rezoning petitions of the Newton Community Development Foundation will require public hearings before the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen and will then Planning Board and will then need approval by the full Board of Aldermen.

Recreation Department.

All volunteers received certificates of award by the Recreation Department. Commissioner Penney stressed that the volunteers, who have assisted now for eight years, were instrumental in the success of this swimming program.

Volunteers receiving certificates were: Sue Barr, Connie Irving, Barbara Lawless, Patricia Daley and Lyn Brewer from Mount Ida Junior College; Mary Greene, Merry Andrews, Freddie Cranoff, Sarah Breidel, Page Victor, Sarah Shephard and Carol Hedblom from Pine Manor Junior College; Roberto Kaitz, Amy Schwartz, Maureen Mannix and Edward Riley of Newton North High School; Angela Capore and Paul Tocci from the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart.

Mr. Gilbert Champagne, Safety Officer of the Newton Police Department and Chairman of the Safety Services of the Newton Red Cross, was the instructor and was assisted by Bob Vedduccio, Recreation Leader. Mrs. Samuel Kaitz, Special Clar. P.T.A. Recreation Chairman, was co-ordinator for her group who assisted with the program.

Mrs. Charlotte Frank of the Sidney Hill Country Club was of great assistance. The program was under the general supervision of Robert E. Doherty, Recreation Supervisor.

Fashion Sewing Circle Teaches Use of Machine

There are in excess of ten million sewing machines in the U.S. that are unused, not to mention the untold millions that are being used incorrectly.

This is one of the major reasons that Duncan McLean has founded the Fashion Sewing Circle, a school that teaches all phases of pleasure sewing.

Located at 40 Washington street in Wellesley Hills, the Fashion Sewing Circle is the first of a planned chain.

"For the first time," said Mr. McLean there is a school devoted to the art of making your own fashions, without having anything to sell but instruction.

Mr. McLean who has spent many years in the home sewing industry, in marketing and creating fabrics, is joined in the Fashion Sewing Circle by Mrs. Flora Vercollone of Winchester who is well known in New England from her many lectures and demonstrations at local department stores.

Mrs. Vercollone stated that in the new school students will go much deeper than merely lectures.

There is the newest of equipment on the premises and students will learn by "doing", aided by a professional staff, all of whom are home economists.

Lady Volleyball Champs Crowned In Newton Finals

The ladies walked off with all the trophies as Newton's first city-wide volleyball league, sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department, ended a successful season.

A man didn't stand a chance of winning because this was the Newton Volleyball League Tournament for Women.

Four teams participated in the runoff for the championship title, which was won by the Late Bloomers.

The other contestants were the Early Bloomers, Chicken Fats and Burr Volleys.

In the semi-finals the Burr Volleys were trounced three games to two by the Early Bloomers. The Late Bloomers, meanwhile, slipped past the Chicken Fats two games straight.

In the first game of the finale the Early Bloomers blanketed the Late Bloomers. However, the latter, living up to their name, came back to overpower their rivals by scores of 15-12 and 15-9 to capture the league title.

In the consolation game, the Burr Volleys took two out of three to down the Chicken Fats.

The teams were presented individual trophies for the championship and runner-up titles by League Co-ordinator Fran Towle.

Newton Temple Group To Hold Roxbury Rites

The senior youth group, The Bayle, from Temple Beth Aodah in Newton will conduct Sabbath services in Roxbury on April 25.

The Bayle will lead a congregation of about thirty to forty elderly people who have no Temple to go to in regular Saturday morning services at 10:00 a.m.

The Bayle is affiliated with the Nefti organization which forms the youth groups from all reformed Temples.

Infant Saviour Junior Guild Gala Masqued Ball Due May 2

Avocado invitations adorned with Venus de Milo have been received by members of The Junior Guild of the Infant Saviour to herald "One Touch of Venus." A Masqued Ball to be held on Saturday evening, May 2nd, in the main ballroom of the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

This is the highlight of the season for the Guild and like all of its other activities benefits the Catholic Charitable Bureau of Boston, Inc.

Guests will dance to the music of Guy Ormandy in a setting that can only be described as celestial. Large posters bordered in flowers portraying each sign of the Zodiac will grace the ballroom and those attending will receive appropriate colorful Zodiac masks with individual horoscopes which artistic members of the committee have created.

Many ladies will of course design their own for this special evening. Wicker baskets filled with bright hued anemones will decorate the tables and a large statue of Venus herself will oversee the festivities and invite all to partake.

The elegant climax of the evening will be a showing of glamorous Robert Fur Fashions by Roberts Furs, Tremont on the Common presented by members of the Guild.

Co-Chairmen of this delightful evening are Mrs.

John F. Donovan, J.R. of Chelsea and Mrs. John A. Kaneb of Lynnfield.

Early sponsors are: Attorney General and Mrs. Robert H. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. William F. DiPesa, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Flatley, Mr. and Mrs. Francis X. Cuddy, Mr. David Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Luster Delaney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Jannatta, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hourihan, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donovan.

Top Insurance Honors Won By H. P. Karoff

H. Peter Karoff of West Newton, an associate of the Boston general agency of National Life Insurance Company of Vermont, has been honored by a top life insurance publication for his company's recognition of his sales record in 1969.

The April issue of The Insurance Salesman cites him in its 48th All-Star Honor Roll as his firm's leading agent for the year just past. He sold insurance totaling more than $7,000,000 on 36 lives.

The associate of the Howard K. Holladay/Boston - eastern Massachusetts agency also is noted in the Indianapolis-based magazine as a life and repeating qualifying member of the Million Dollar Round Table, comprised of life agents with annual sales of $1,000,000 and more, and a member of his company's President's Club each of the six times he has been eligible. He is in the "Top 50" of the current club.

The 33-year-old Karoff joined the Montpelier, Vt., life firm in June, 1962, after three years with another life company where he also won sales honors. He also holds the life industry's National Quality Award, for excellence of service to clients, and was a charter winner in 1966 of the industry's National Sales Achievement Award, for sales production and number of lives protected.

He is both a speaker and a writer on life insurance subjects and for a while conducted a home and business financial planning radio program (over WNTN, Newton). In addition, Karoff is active in small-company development and is treasurer of Tropical Electronics Limited.

His community activities include village chairman, West Newton 1969 United Fund Campaign; board of investment, First Unitarian Society in Newton; board of advisors, Freeport Foundation, and a director, Newton Youth Foundation.

He is also founding vice president and now a director, Fund for Urban Negro Development (FUND); president, Roxbury Development Corporation, and a director, Pregnancy Counseling Service.

Karoff is a 1959 graduate of Brandeis University and has been active in its Greater Boston Alumni Association Chapter.

He is married to the former Miss Martha Conant, of Keene, N.H. They have three daughters — Deborah, 13 years old, and Lorinda and Rebecca, ten-year-old twins — and one son — Thomas, eight.

Ephraim Martin Retires On April 30th To Close Career

Ephraim Martin of Belmont, Regional Director for the Post Office Department in New England, today announced his retirement effective April 30. At that time he will bring to a close a distinguished career of over 30 years in public life.

Mr. Martin, who had been Postmaster of Boston from 1958 until his appointment last July as Regional Director, was described by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount as "an outstanding public servant, and his mandatory age retirement this month represents a great loss for the postal service."

"As a highly experienced postal manager, Mr. Martin has made a great contribution to the development of meaningful regional postal management in the New England States," Mr. Blount commented.

Mr. William F. Bolger, a career official who has served formerly as Director of Postal Services at the Boston Region, has been named to be Acting Regional Director following Mr. Martin's retirement.

Mr. Martin also received commendation for "outstanding" direction of the Boston Region, as well as the Post Office Department's Meritorious Service Award.

from Frank J. Nunlist, Assistant Postmaster General, Bureau of Operations, Washington, D.C.

As Boston Regional Director, Mr. Martin has been responsible for management of postal activities in 1,846 post offices.

Mr. Martin was one of the first new Regional Directors appointed under a program launched by Mr. Blount last year for "modernization of management" in post offices under "a top team of 15 Directors to make postal services more efficient and responsive to public needs."

Among his numerous honors was his selection as "Postmaster of the Year" in 1966.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Martin, 70, is a graduate of Boston University's School of Law, has been a member of the bar since 1922 and was the senior member of the law firm of Martin, Magnuson, McCarthy, and Kenney.

Mr. Martin was a lecturer at the faculty member at Boston University for approximately

Small Italian Town Mourns Padre's Passing

When Padre Pio of Pietrelcina died, so did the boom times in a parched, poor town on the spur of the Italian boot.

The shy, 81-year-old Capuchin monk revered by many as a living saint, was the town's only asset. Without him, San Giovanni Rotondo is withering.

The town's biggest hotel is shut. Restaurants and souvenir shops are closed. Only two taxis in a once-prosperous fleet of 15 remain. Townspeople are drifting away to find work.

Residents believe the only way to save their town is an immediate proclamation by Pope Paul VI of sainthood for Pio. The town newspaper, Lo Sperone The Spur, recently suggested a 171-mile march to the Vatican to dramatize the campaign for sainthood.

But the Vatican has made it clear several times it will follow normal canonization procedure in deciding the matter. This could take many years, even centuries. Meanwhile, San Giovanni Rotondo is feeling the pinch. Not even a special widely publicized program to mark the first anniversary of Pio's death was successful.

Until Pio died 16 months ago, the town thrived on the money left by tourists and pilgrims seeking to see or hear him. Many believed he was the first man since St. Francis of Assisi in the 13th century to bear the same wounds inflicted on Christ when nails were driven into his hands and feet and a Roman spear pierced his side.

Car Wash And Paper Drive Due On May 9

A car wash and paper drive will once again be held at the Rivers Country Day School, 333 Winter Street in Weston on Saturday, May 9th from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The event will raise money to send underprivileged children to summer day camp.

People with paper who are unable to come to the Rivers campus may call 235-9300 in advance for paper pick-up.

The events are being organized by Operation: Camp E, a charitable group made up of Rivers students. Although it raises money principally through a series of fund-raising programs and events, donations are accepted.

This year the goal is $1500 or enough to send 17 children to camp this summer. Such things as a poster auction, a raffle and teacher auction were held earlier in the year and raised much money towards the goal.

This is the second year that a car wash and paper drive have been held and is the last fund-raising event of this year.

Murray Road Students In Special Computer Studies

We must salute the computer for saving the lives of the Apollo 13 crew. Without a computer, it would have taken years to calculate the new pattern that brought the ship back safely to earth. We depend on computers to do everything from calculating flight paths to doing accounting work.

It is obviously worthwhile to start instructing students in the simple, logical use and application of computers, because we will surely become more and more dependent on them.

At Murray Road, several students organized a computer concentration week between first and second semester. Concentration week at Murray Road is when all the students put their regular classes aside for a week so they can engage in intensive study of one interest field.

Mr. Tom Wolf, an English teacher, sponsored this concentration-week activity, and was himself taught by 2 computer-oriented students how to operate the computer facility at the Museum of Science, Boston.

Such intense interest was generated by the concentration week that several students joined Mr. Ronald Barndt, Murray Road's math teacher, in his 3-year effort to get a computer at Murray Road.

After talking with innumerable computer firms, students found a willing Waltham company, Programs Analysis Corporation; President Ben Blumberg, Jr., made all arrangements with student

Field Service Meeting To Be Held April 29

The Newton Chapter of the American Field Service announces its next meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 29 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1135 Walnut Street, Newton Highlands.

Program feature of the evening will be a slide lecture on her native land by Elizabeth Richter of Switzerland. Elizabeth has been spending this school year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shor of Newton Centre. An added attraction for the meeting will be the appearance of Mee Sen Loong, a former AFS student from Malaysia, now a junior at Wellesley College.

During the evening the following chapter officers will be installed for the coming year: Henry Shor, president; Mrs. Joseph deBettencourt, secretary; George Rautenberg, treasurer. Refreshments will be served and the public is welcome.

leaders Len Goldberg and Jim Miller for Murray Road School to get free computer time.

The terminal was installed a month ago, and students have been using it all day every day ever since. The computer itself can teach the students a basic knowledge of computer programming with its 22 lessons.

The 2 students teaching the computer course Miller and Goldberg, are working closely with the technical consultants of Systems Analysis Corporation, with teacher Ronald Barndt, and with reference books.

Slide Program Of Swiss Alps Set For May 7

Librarian Dorothy O'Connor of West Newton branch, New Free Library, is sending out a yodel for her May 7 program, slides of the Swiss Alps plus views of Salzburg, Florence and Amsterdam, presented by Miss Mildred Widber.

Miss Widber, who is chairman of the Second Church Adventures in Reading group, took the slides on a 2-month European tour last year.

The afternoon slide program, with simple refreshments, will begin at 2:30 p.m., and is free and open to the public.

A special book display will also be on view.

Can Judge John McCarthy on Record as Deputy Governor

When Francis W. Sargent seeks election next November to a full four-year term in the Governorship, he will stand on the record he made for 22 months as head of the state government.

If Mayor Kevin H. White is Mr. Sargent's Democratic adversary, he will offer his record as Boston's chief municipal executive for a little less than three years.

Maurice A. Donahue, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor or for the Governorship itself, would be judged on what he has accomplished as president of the State Senate, on the bills he sponsored and the principles he supported.

Kenneth O'Donnell and Francis X. Bellotti would be graded in much the same manner, O'Donnell on his work as a White House aide to the late President John F. Kennedy, Bellotti on his service as Lieutenant Governor.

The same thing is true of John J. McCarthy of Chatham, the efficiency expert who may run as an independent candidate for Governor.

Mr. McCarthy must produce 61,236 valid signatures of registered voters in Massachusetts in order to have his name placed on the November election ballot. He has said he will not spend any of his own time or money getting the signatures and that this job must be done by those who want him to get into the gubernatorial fight.

If they do obtain the signatures and Mr. McCarthy does step into the contest, he has a public record on which his merit as a candidate for the Governorship can be estimated.

It would be only fair in such a turn of events to measure his pronouncements of what he would do as Governor against the record of what he did do during his two years as Deputy Governor under John A. Volpe.

Okay For Judge Blackmun, No Impeachment Of Douglas

Word from Washington is that Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas will not be impeached and that President Nixon's nomination of Judge Harry A. Blackmun for a place on the nation's highest tribunal will be approved within a relatively short period of time.

The fact that Judge Blackmun is personally opposed to the death penalty may arouse some opposition to his appointment, but not enough to keep him off the Supreme Court.

His statement that he would not be surprised if capital punishment is ruled unconstitutional soon caused some eyebrow-lifting, but that is the judgment of many legal experts.

It's possible that Judge Blackmun one day may cast the vote which will rule out the death penalty as barbaric and inhuman. Of course, some of the actions which cause death sentences also are cruel and barbaric, but so, too, is the principle of an eye for an eye.

Republican leaders hope to force hearings on Justice Douglas and spread out some dirty linen, but well informed Washington officials know of no evidence which would warrant his impeachment.

Rep. Linsky Seen Gaining In Fight With Sen. Quinlan

Spot checks made by the writer indicate that Representative Martin Linsky of Brookline is closing the gap between himself and State Senator John M. Quinlan of Norwood in their fight for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

Quinlan still appears to be leading Linsky, but not by as much as when the Norwood Solon declared his defiance of Governor Sargent and announced he would seek second place on the GOP State ticket.

A feeling seems to be growing within the Republican party that under the circumstances which will prevail this year Governor Sargent has the right to handpick the candidate who will run with him as a tandem.

If it were still possible to elect a Governor of one party and a Lieutenant Governor of another, Quinlan probably would prevail over Linsky despite the Governor's endorsement of the Brookline legislator.

But as the realization grows that the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor will run as tickets and will be elected or rejected as tickets, so improves Representative Linsky's chances of gaining the endorsement Governor Sargent would like to see given him by the Republican State Convention.

Ron Burton GOP Candidate For Secretary of State

Ron Burton of Framingham, former great half-back of the Boston Patriots, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State. He apparently will be the black member of the GOP State Ticket Governor Sargent is putting together.

Any notion that a Black cannot win state-wide

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

By JANICE E. KAPLAN

A new form of student government at Newton South High School will go into effect immediately after spring vacation. The student body voted its approval to the amendment to the Student Activities Council constitution which creates a Student Union.

Union officers were elected on April 17. No nomination papers were needed. The students elected Rusty Phillips as the first Union president. Rusty is optimistic about the union, and he is ready to work towards its success. Danny Bluestone was elected vice-president. Also elected were Mark Tighe, treasurer; and Janet Schreiber, secretary.

Everyone in the school community belongs to the Union Assembly, the meeting body of the Union. Projects and resolutions will be initiated through the Assembly.

The success of the Union will be determined very soon. The 1969-70 DENEbola, Newton South's newspaper, received a First Place Award for high school newspapers all over the country. The honor was extended at the forty-sixth Annual Convention of the Columbia Press Association. This is the first time that DENEbola has won a First Place Award.

CSPA rates high school newspapers according to layout, content, photography, and overall excellence. The scale is from zero to one thousand. A newspaper must obtain over 850 points to be eligible for a First Place standing.

David Cohen, editor of the 1969-70 DENEbola, accepted the award. He was pleased that Newton South received the honor.

The Student Faculty Forum passed the Proposal to Change the Final Exam Policy. However, Principal William D. Geer Jr., announced it would be impractical to accept the proposal this year, Mr. Geer plans to modify the proposal before accepting it. This year individual departments will experiment with new forms of final exams. Mr. Geer feels that a way must be found to make finals an educational process rather than just a long test.

Mr. Geer announced that there will be "piecemeal experimentation this year." He will issue a final exam policy for this year next week.

The Theatre Arts department presented an exciting showing of "Bye Bye Birdie" recently to a full house. The one night production came after only six weeks of preparation. Billy Miller and Debby Goldberg produced and directed the show. The production was planned and performed entirely by students.

Gerald Shrair led the cast. He was excellent as Albert Peterson. His secretary, Rosie Alvarez, was portrayed very well by Gail Van de Woven.

Gail Shrair held the title role of Conrad Birdie. Kathy Falk was Kim Macafee, the fifteen year old from Sweet Apple, Ohio. Her father, Mr. Macafee, was Richie Levine. Richie was fantastic in the part.

Sheila Schneider was excellent in the character of Mae Peterson. The large cast and musical numbers were superb. "Bye Bye Birdie" was another success for the very active Theatre Arts department.

Jim Smith and Stefanie Schwam were elected as chairman and co-chairman of the Newton Educational Workshop for the coming year.

N.E.W. consists of forty Newton South students who teach fourth through sixth grade students on Saturday mornings. Supplementary courses as well as electives are taught in a wide range of subjects.

Tentatively, next year there will be one theme carried through all of the courses. Themes such as Man and His election in Massachusetts should be dispelled since Senator Edward W. Brooke has done it three times.

Burton is a graduate of Northwestern University where he won All America football honors and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business and Education.

Employed by John Hancock Life Insurance Company, he has been prominent in community and youth activities in Framingham. He has twice won election to the Framingham Park Commission.

Environment are being considered. Plans for the May Arts Festival are now being formulated. The activities planned include concerts, exhibitions, and plays.

Four student written plays have been selected for production. They include David Henry's melodrama "Black Milk," and a comedy by Paul Buxton, "The Sty's In Love." Also chosen was a play by Charlotte Crowder, "Araby," set at a fair; and "Someone's Hiding In The Rain" by Steve Porter.

The majorette squad for the 1970-1971 season was recently chosen. Those chosen are: Debbie Budd, Leslie Zimmerman, Rhonda Lushan, Linda Celli, and Judy Freeman.

Fog - Feline With Claws

Fog, Carl Sandburg said, comes on little cat feet. Sits looking over the harbor and city on silent haunches. And then moves on.

Sometimes, though, the cat feels really dig in their claws. Fog can be a dangerous feline because it can convert the harmful gases in polluted air into even more harmful acids.

In fact, the presence of both fog and sulfur dioxide has been a major factor in all the famous air pollution disasters.

Ways to dispel fog are being explored. At Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, New York, scientists are seeding fogs with a kind of ordinary table salt. And they found just the right size particles to do the job.

After several years of preliminary testing in a fog chamber, last year the scientists loaded a plane with 700 pounds of salt and seeded a fog over Elmira, New York. A hole a quarter-mile wide and a half-mile long was opened for 15 minutes.

There are problems, however. Seeding from the top of a fog is effective or shallow fogs, but it does not work as well for drying out deep fogs. New chemicals are being tested for that.

Fog is not the real problem, of course. Polluted air is. Pollution is harmful to everyone's lungs but particularly damaging to those people who already have respiratory disease. A recent study shows death rates from chronic respiratory disease are double in areas where pollution is most concentrated.

For more information about air pollution and how you can join the fight against it, contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association.

New Book By Dr. Margolin Has Urban Theme For Teens

"The War on Poverty" is the title of a new book written by Newton resident Dr. Reuben J. Margolin. The book will be distributed nationally as part of a paperback series called "Urban America."

The series was created specifically to give junior high and senior high school age students an opportunity to better understand urban problems.

Dr. Margolin, who resides at 28 Halcyon Road, Newton Center, was invited to author the book by the series publishers, Academic Paperbacks.

The publishers contacted 10 social scientists from different parts of the country and asked them to detail their first hand experiences.

Dr. Margolin is director of the Department of Rehabilitation and Special Education at Northeastern University and has been a pioneer in the field of rehabilitation. He also heads the New England Rehabilitation Research Institute at Northeastern University. The institute is funded by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Rehabilitation Services Administration.

Dr. Margolin's book "looks at the shocking conditions of the lives of 35 to 50 million people who merely exist in the midst of our affluent society."

said the book's publishers. "He illustrates the hazards of sub-standard education and inadequate health services."

According to the publisher, "Until now, the task of acquainting our children with the massive problems of urban decay has been baffling and frustrating."

The Newton resident's book talks directly to students, in their own language. It defines what is wrong, who suffers a lot why, and what can be done about it.

As head of the New England Rehabilitation Research Institute at Northeastern, Dr. Margolin distributes yearly close to 20,000 booklets and reprints about programs for rehabilitating the physically, mentally and socially handicapped. Requests even come from behind the Iron Curtain - from Russia, Czechoslovakia and Poland. The largest foreign distribution is in Israel.

Dr. Margolin has had two other publications during the past year: "Maintenance Therapy for Geriatric Patients," a book about rehabilitation for aging patients with multiple health conditions, and a five volume series entitled "Rehabilitation Medicine."

A native of Italy, she had been a resident of Newton for 35 years.

Wife of the late Michael D'Angelo, she leaves two brothers, Ugo and Giuseppe Lanni and a sister, Tetina Lanni, all of Italy; three nieces, Mrs. Nina Taylor, Mrs. Mary Preziosi and Mrs. Josephine Sullivan, all of Newton. She was also the sister of the late Angelo Lanni and Cesare Lanni of Newton.

Concetta Lupo

Funeral services are being held this morning for Mrs. Concetta (Bibbo) Lupo, 70, of 190 Adams St., Newton, from the Valenta Funeral Home, 697 Washington St., Newtonville. A Solemn Requiem Mass is at 10 a.m. in Our Lady's Church.

Wife of the late Nicolas Lupo, she was born in Benevento, Italy, and had been a resident of Newton for 50 years. She leaves one son, Anthony of Newton; a daughter, Mrs. Dolorata Mazzilli of Newton. Interment is in the Newton Cemetery.

Elizabeth Shaughnessy

The funeral of Miss Elizabeth F. Shaughnessy, 72, of 4 Brookside Ave., Newtonville, was held yesterday morning (April 22) at the W. H. Thomas Funeral Home, 73 Galen St., Watertown, followed by a Solemn Requiem Mass in the Church of Our Lady, Newton, at 9.

Miss Shaughnessy died Monday in Newton - Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness. She was born in Newton, daughter of the late William and Mary (Lippay) Shaughnessy, and had resided there all her life. For many years she was clerk at the E.J. Dooley Drug Store in Newtonville Sq.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mildred Doherty and Mrs. Margaret Naughton, both of Newtonville, and several nieces and nephews. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

W. G. Strathern

Wallace G. Strathern, 67, of 460 Quinobequin Rd., Woban, died Monday (April 20) at Pompano Beach, Fla., after a brief illness. He was an executive at Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates.

A native of Laconia, N.H., Mr. Strathern was captain of an undefeated football team in 1918, and he attended the University of New Hampshire. In 1929, he became a salesman for the New England Coke Co., a subsidiary of Eastern. From director of sales training, he was promoted in 1948 to the position he held until his retirement, that of director of training for Eastern Gas. He also wrote several sales training manuals.

He leaves his wife, Alberta; two sons, Wallace G., Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, and James G. of Wellesley Hills; two brothers, Arthur W. of Laconia, N.H., and George F. of Hanson; and a sister, Mrs. Olivia Osgood of Durham, N.H.

Engine Care For Gasoline Powered Items Saves Cash

Owners of gasoline powered lawnmowers, snowblowers, on board motors, chain saws and other equipment generally learn by experience that their equipment is only as good as the care it receives.

Power equipment has a way of developing problems during extended periods of inactivity such as intermittent in-season use, standby service or off-season storage. Fuel problems are particularly common. . . and very annoying.

The most common fuel problem is known as "gasoline gumming" or "stale gas". Gasoline which ages in engines for periods of weeks or months tends to form gummy or varnish-like deposits in carburetors, fuel lines, fuel intake valves and the screens or fuel pick-up tubes. This process is caused by the combined influences of time, heat, air and some fuel system metals. Winter used equipment (snowblowers and snowmobiles) are particularly prone to the development of the gumming problem because the long off-season storage period coincides with the heat of summer.

Another fuel problem develops when condensation water causes rusting of steel fuel tanks. Engine vibration loosens rust particles which then find their way into fuel systems where they can cause a fuel obstruction or prevent proper fuel valve action.

Alert owners of power equipment avoid trouble by using a preventive maintenance fuel conditioner. This gasoline additive has been developed to prevent "gasoline gumming", inhibit rust and perform additional preventive maintenance functions.

Here are some simple hints to help you avoid trouble with your power equipment:

BUY only small quantities of gasoline at a time. Recently purchased gasoline is less prone to causing engine fuel problems.

USE summer grade gas in engines used in the summer and winter gas in engine used in the winter. Refineries alter gasoline formulas for best performance under varying seasonal climatic conditions.

ADD a good fuel conditioner for preventive maintenance. This will prevent the gas gumming problem from arising and inhibit rust formation. Mix the fuel conditioner with the gas in the portable storage can to achieve proper blend and to protect the gas waiting to be used.

Properly conditioned fuel can safely be left in the engine fuel system for months at a time. For simplified and sure

Poor Narcotic Center Could Become City

By ROBERT STRAND

Synanon, started 12 years ago by a band of narcotics addicts trying to kick the habit, hopes in 1973 to offer a $15 million communal city.

Founded in a shabby apartment on $35 weekly unemployment checks, Synanon has overcome powerful criticism and branched out into a business empire, an educational system and a kind of religion.

The name Synanon evolved as a corruption of the words symposium, seminar and synthesis by members of "rap" sessions during the organization's early days. In 1958 an attempt to incorporate it as the "TLC Club" — for tender loving care — was rejected by the state, because it was already in use. So Synanon became official.

The organization now controls $9 million in assets, including 300 vehicles and buildings in five cities housing 1,500 persons. Another 5,000 are involved in "the Synanon game."

Aim: City of 20,000

As its next step, Synanon plans a complete city in California for 20,000 persons, overlooking Tomales Bay north of San Francisco. Its eventual cost of a few hundred million dollars is a problem that hardly discourages Synanon members. Construction already has begun.

Synanon leaders think the city can be an answer to growing urban problems.

"This is the beginning of a very important force in the future of this country. I see no limit in my lifetime," explained Chuck Dederich, 57, the organization's founder and leader, in an interview.

Synanon City will reflect the communal philosophy of Synanon houses operating in Santa Monica and Oakland, Calif., New York and Detroit, as well as existing units, completed in Marshall, Calif., Dederich said.

TOTAL COMMUNITY

Residents of the city would have privacy in small apartments called "caves", and fellowship in communal dining and living rooms. They would contribute all their earnings to the community. In return, they would get "walking around money," the necessity of which would be limited because even soft drinks would be free.

TEACHERS MEET CONGRESSMAN PHILBIN — Richard J. Durkin, left, of Newton, president-elect of the Mass. Teachers Association, and Robert R. Weisner, right, president of the Newton Teachers Association, met recently in Washington with U. S. Congressman Philip J. Philbin, center, during recent meeting of educators. The teachers discussed Medicaid, full funding of Federal educational programs, general aid to education and a retirement plan for teachers for teachers crossing state lines.

Children would live apart from their parents in dormitories, and would be raised "by everyone," he said.

Synanon's philosophy has evolved from trial and error experience since its beginning with a handful of individuals, mainly narcotics addicts, seeking a way out.

Dederich was an alcoholic, and at the outset the group functioned somewhat like Alcoholics Anonymous. Gradually, Synanon members learned to impose harsh discipline on addicts who joined. They were forbidden to leave for long periods unless escorted. Only after six months' residence could they receive money for their labor — $1 a month. They could work up to $50 a month after five years.

Steady Growth, Success

In Santa Monica, Synanon successfully fought off attempts to force it to move, and eventually grew big enough to take over the huge Del Mar Beach Hotel. Today it houses 900 in the former hotel and nearby apartments.

In 1968 Synanon acquired the 11-story Athens Club in Oakland. At Tomales Bay 62 acres were purchased and an option taken on another 1,000. To several existing buildings, 42 units were added, plus a town hall, a huge warehouse and a sewage system.

As Synanon developed its essence boiled down to the "Synanon game," an approach now used with modifications in treating addicts in many nations.

In the game, a dozen or so persons sit in a circle, speaking their every thought, hateful and loving, in a noisy, uninhibited exchange with only physical violence barred.

What results is a kind of super-intensive encounter group which confronts the participants with a cold shower of reality. Its basis is the belief that salvation demands total honesty.

'Knowledge Is Love'

"If it is good to share your thoughts, feelings and fears with other human beings, then we do it a little better than other human beings," Dederich said. "To use a cliché, to know is to love."

"It's quite possible you couldn't hurt anyone if you knew him well enough. You certainly couldn't kill him."

By playing "the game," say Synanon devotees, they eventually understand dozens of persons better than they had their wives or best friends. For residents, game playing usually is required three times a week. Five thousand contributing non-residents visit Synanon weekly to participate.

Innovation In Learning

Learning, regarded as a life-long process, takes place in small, problem-oriented groups without conventional teachers.

"We've eliminated totally the idea that anybody can stand in front of people and teach them anything," Dederich said.

In the last fiscal year, Synanon reported to the California Registry of Charitable Trusts revenue of $2.6 million, partly from Synanon Industries' sale of office supplies and operation of gas stations, the rest from contributions.

For every cash donation, Synanon receives two or three dollars worth of free goods and services — so much food the report only lists $125,000 spent on meals for 1,500 persons, but $160,000 spent on cigarettes.

Hopes For Assistance

Dederich hopes light industry will be attracted to Synanon City. He also said he expects some of the federal government's funding "for experimental people arrangements."

"We want some of it, and I guess HUD (the Department of Housing and Urban Development) wants us to have some of it. That's what they say."

Reminded that sectarian social movements such as Synanon have a record of failure through the years, Dederich replied:

"It just isn't true. The Pilgrims, the Mormons didn't collapse. What Moses, Buddha and Christ put together didn't collapse."

DISEASE INCIDENCE

Malaria is a common disease in most of the warmer climate belts.

BIG CARRIER

The U.S. aircraft carrier Saratoga flight deck has an area of four acres.

Precaution On Paints

Whether you chose solvent-thinned or water-thinned paints, follow the manufacturer's directions. Consult a reputable paint dealer for help in choosing the correct paint for the surface. The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association says this step probably will save you needless problems later.

The pensive prints of Paula Gross of Newtonville are on view in a special spring showing at the Auburndale Branch of the Newton Free Library, now through mid-May.

Mrs. Gross has been taking black and white pictures with her Mamiyaflex camera since her husband, Dr. Edward S. Gross of Children's Hospital, suggested to her she might like to try her hand at his hobby, photography.

A native of Wynnewood, Pennsylvania, Mrs. Gross is a Swarthmore graduate and mother of two young daughters. She has studied locally in photographic workshops with Don Erceg through Project, Inc., of Cambridge.

Viewers of the Auburndale exhibit will be both puzzled and pleased with her inward-bound photos, her multiple-image work and her mood pictures. A companion selection of photography books complements the photo-show.

Wellesley Club 'Day on Campus' Set For May 5th

On Tuesday, May 5, 1970, members of the Boston Wellesley College Club will have the opportunity of spending the day on the campus in Wellesley.

Alumnae who wish to attend classes in Art, Music, Economics, Astronomy, English Literature and Political Science should register at 9:00 a.m. in Jewett outside the Auditorium. Both morning and afternoon classes will be available.

Lunch al fresco will take place in the Greek outdoor theatre from 12:00 to 1:30 p.m., where the Annual Business Meeting will be held and the Tupelos will sing.

Luncheon reservations should be made in advance with Mrs. John A. Baybutt, 55 Norfolk Rd., Chestnut Hill. All alumnae are cordially invited to come and see Wellesley College — "like it is."

West Newton To Have Class For Weight Watchers

Because of repeated requests of area residents there will be a new West Newton Weight Watchers class beginning April 23rd.

This new class, open to men, women and teenagers will meet each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry street in West Newton.

The lecturer for the class will be Miss Roseanne Kotzer, of Brighton. As a Weight Watcher herself, Miss Kotzer lost 25 pounds and has completed the special Weight Watchers Lecturers Training Course. She is also a social worker in Boston.

Other Weight Watchers classes in the area meet on Tuesdays at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. at the Newton Centre Women's Club, 1280 Centre Street. Also Weight Watchers meet in Waltham at the Waltham Moose Club, 17 Spruce Street on Mondays at 5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Newton Gals Get Softball League

The Newton Recreation Department announces it will start a women's softball league this summer. The league will consist of teams sponsored by local businesses.

Any women interested in playing or businesses wishing to sponsor a team may contact Fran Towle at the Newton Recreation Department, 969-3171.

An orientation meeting will be held at the Recreation Office, 70 Crescent St., Auburndale, May 6 at 7:30 p.m. At this time a temporary roster will be handed in by each team and additional league information will be disclosed.

We thought we knew what we were getting ourselves into.

Nobody thought it would be easy, but we didn't expect Volkswagen to be so tough, either.

Look what they made us do before we could hang out our 'VW shingle:

Have five square feet of land for every square foot of building. So there's room to grow. (We plan to be around for a long time.)

Put in our own ultra-modern "Diagnosis Department". (So we can spot small problems before they become big problems.) Stock a 90-day inventory of genuine VW parts. So what's needed is always on tap.

Give at least five times more space to parts-and-service than to the showroom. So we emphasize service as well as sales.

Hire Volkswagen-schooled mechanics, rather than just good, experienced ones.

Buy new tools and lifts made especially for VWs. So VW service is fast and precise. With the right equipment.

Set up a used car lot. With cars we go out and buy. So you'll have something to look at if you're not looking for a new car.

But if you think Volkswagen is tough with us, wait 'til you see how demanding we are with ourselves.

We didn't get into this business just to become an ordinary car dealer. With ordinary service.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

"What moistens the lip and what brightens the eye? What calls back the past like a rich pumpkin pie?" ... John Greenleaf Whittier. How true! Our pumpkin nostalgia goes back to the country's first English settlements, when the native pumpkins helped save the colonists of Jamestown and Plymouth from starvation. In the early flourless days the crusts of the first pumpkin pies were pumpkin shells. The Pilgrim women sliced off the top of a pumpkin, scooped out the seeds, and filled the cavity with milk, spices, wild honey or maple syrup. Then it was baked in hot ashes for six or seven hours and eaten from the shell with a spoon. This was the first so-called Pumpkin Pie."

You will recall with pleasure the dinner specials at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Enjoy your favorite drink before dinner in our Cork and Bottle Lounge. Open Sundays 1:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

France Faces More Problems Than the U.S.

By PHIL NEWSOM

As the United States fights a simultaneous battle against inflation and a possible recession, it is not without company.

In France, the General Confederation of Labor (CGT), with a membership of about two million, is attempting to upset an agreement signed by four other labor federations aimed at preventing a strike of gas and electricity workers for at least two years.

A French complication is that the CGT is Communist.

led and the suspicion is that CGT leaders are acting more from political motives than for concern for the membership.

As the administration of President Georges Pompidou attempts to solve its economic problems, revolutionize the French educational system, establish its "New Society" at home and reestablish itself as a power in the Mediterranean, it is beset by troubles on all sides.

Irate shopkeepers turned France into one massive traffic jam with roadblocks in protest against social security and tax policies.

Dissident university students give vocal and sometimes violent protest to overcrowded classrooms and what they regard as slow pace of government reforms.

In the Mediterranean, France declares it seeks to offset Soviet influence there, but it does so without consultation with its NATO allies, and in the case of military aid to the Arabs, against the wishes of a majority of the French people.

At home stiff credit controls already have led to a 20 per cent increase in bankruptcies. Unemployment is on an upward curve. And French officials say it may get worse before it gets better.

Symphony Sets First Concerts Date On May 3

The Newton Symphony under the direction of Michel Sasson will give its final concert of this season on Sunday evening, May 3. The main orchestral work on the program will be Pines of Rome by Ottorino Respighi. In performance of the work two tuben loaned to the Newton Symphony by the Boston Symphony Orchestra will be used.

The instruments are a type of horn invented by the famed composer Richard Wagner to produce a horn of greater carrying power in the middle harmonic voice range.

The lovely Siegfried Idyll of Wagner originally written for performance as a birthday present for his wife is also on the concert program, in addition to the Debussy Pavane pour une Infante Defunte.

Another highlight of the concert will be the performance of the singularly melodic Medelssohn Violin concerto in E minor. Max Hobart, of the Boston Symphony, the concertmaster and string coach of the Newton Symphony, will be soloist.

The concert will be held at 8 p.m. in the Meadowbrook Junior High School Auditorium. Ticket information is available from Mrs. Leo Stobach, 244-8506.

MOUNTAIN RANGE

South America's great mountain system, the Andes, extends for a distance twice as long as the mileage from London to Istanbul.

Rev. Dole Will Speak At UFO Quincy Meeting

"Emanuel Swedenborg — Explorer Into Worlds" will be the subject of a talk by the Rev. George Dole, pastor of the Church of the Open Word, of Newton, at the next meeting of the New England UFO Study Group, on Sunday, April 26, at American Legion Post #95 in Quincy.

Emanuel Swedenborg was an 18th Century scientist and visionary and Rev. Dole will explore his life and claims of visits to other planets, as well as the spiritual aspects of Swedenborg's life. Swedenborg attempted to track the human soul in relation to the body, and to this wrote two works from 1741-45.

He was later arrested as a result of his profession to enjoy free access to the spiritual world. The principle of Swedenborgian theology is the doctrine of life, in that God alone lives — that creation and man are dead, and that their apparent life is from the Divine presence.

Members are advised that this is the annual meeting and will start promptly at 2:00 p.m., to allow as much time as possible to the speaker.

HIGH BRIDGE

3 Newton Youths To Be Honored at AAA Party

Three young School Safety Patrolers from the Newtons who have been chosen in a statewide drawing to be guests of the American Automobile Association at a special "birthday party" in Boston on Tuesday (May 5).

Robin L. Carson of Newton Upper Falls, patroller at the Ralph Waldo Emerson School; John F. Donahue Jr. of West Newton, at the Franklin School and Amy K. Wexler of Newton Centre of the Bowen School will attend this 50th anniversary of the AAA School Safety Patrol movement with their adult supervisors. Accompanying the youngsters will be Catherine E. Harney of the Emerson School; Louis N. Guerico of the Franklin School and Carolyn Fabien of the Bowen School.

Purpose of this birthday party is to honor the girls and boys of the School Safety Patrols who stand guard at street crossings and ride on school buses to protect their classmates from traffic hazards. Traffic deaths of school-age children have been cut in half, while deaths of all other age groups have doubled, since the inception of the patrols.

The young delegates, who come from 63 towns and cities, represent more than 20,000 School Safety Patrol girls and boys throughout the state.

HOME MISHAPS

About 27,000 Americans die yearly in accidents in the home, twice the number killed while at work.

Boston Symphony Trio At Junior College on Sunday

Newton Junior College announces a concert to be given by the Boston Symphony Trio at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville, on Sunday evening, April 26, at 8:15 p.m.

Members of this distinguished trio are: Joseph Silverstein, Violin; Burton Fine, Viola; and Jules Eskin, Cello. Mr. Silverstein, Concertmaster of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, became a member of the Orchestra in 1955, and moved in successive steps from the last stand of the second violins to his present post to which he was appointed in 1962.

A native of Detroit, he picked up the violin in a natural manner - his father was a teacher of the instrument. He attended the Curtis Institute of Music as a scholarship student, and thereafter he played with the Houston Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra, and was concertmaster of the Denver Symphony.

His teachers have included Gingold, Mischaikoff and Zimbalist. Since coming to Boston, Joseph Silverstein has taken part in two important competitions. He placed third, the only American in the top ten, in the 1959 Queen Elizabeth of Belgium International Competition, and in 1960 he won the Walter W. Naumburg Award. In 1965 he was elected a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. More recently Mr. Silverstein has been distinguishing himself as a conductor.

Mr. Fine, Principal Viola of the Orchestra, came to the Boston Symphony Orchestra straight from the space age. For nine years, prior to joining the Orchestra in 1963, he was a research chemist with the National Space and Aeronautics Administration in Cleveland.

During his years with the federal agency he played with a number of chamber music ensembles including the String Quartet of the First Unitarian Church in Cleveland.

Mr. Fine is a native of Philadelphia where he studied at the Settlement Music School with Ivan Galamian. There were four years of additional study with Galamian at the Curtis Institute before he moved to the University of Pennsylvania for a B.A. in Chemistry and Ph.D. from Illinois Institute of Technology.

Mr. Fine joined this Orchestra as a member of the second violin section, but assumed his new position at the beginning of his second year after winning the extensive auditions which took place within the Orchestra and also included some of the most distinguished and best known chamber music players in the country. He is a member of the faculties of the Berkshire Music Center and of the New England Conservatory.

Jules Eskin, Principal Cello of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, came to Boston from a similar post which he had held for three seasons with the Cleveland Orchestra. Like his colleague, Burton Fine, he is a native of Philadelphia and studied at the Curtis Institute. His teachers were Gregor Piatigorsky, Leonard Rose, and Janos Starker.

He was the winner of the 1954 Naumburg Foundation Award and made his debut in Town Hall that year under the auspices of the Foundation. He has also played recitals in Boston and Washington, D.C., in addition to a thirteen recital tour of Europe in 1961. For three years he played with Casals in Puerto Rico and in Marlboro with Casals, Schneider, and Serkin.

Mr. Eskin teaches at the New England Conservatory and at the Berkshire Music Center. The program for the Concert at Newton Junior College includes: Beethoven Trip no. 3 in C minor op. 9 no. 3; Schoenberg String Trio; Mozart Divertimento in Eb for string trio K. 563.

This concert is free of charge and open to the public. A reception following the concert will provide an opportunity to meet the artists.

Petition Seeks Traffic Cut-Off On Crescent St.

A petition to persuade Newton officials to cut off Crescent St. in the West Newton - Auburndale area to traffic and to establish a playground for children is being circulated among the residents.

The petition, with more than 50 signatures, was presented to Alderman Richard J. Bullwinkle, Ward Three, by Mr. and Mrs. William F. Beckett of 94 Crescent St.

Bullwinkle said he will offer the petition to the other 23 aldermen.

The Becketts propose that Crescent St. be made off limits to traffic except to residents, their guests and business vehicles at certain times.

This would end the use of Crescent St. as a short cut to Commonwealth Ave., from Auburn St. and block it to use by the Recreation Department that plans to use a garage at Robinhood and Crescent streets for its trucks.

Mrs. Beckett said, "We don't want anymore traffic down here."

Bullwinkle is sounding out the city about establishing a recreation area next to the Myrtle Baptist Church on Curve St.

Mrs. Beckett said she has no objection to this.

The Becketts' concern over use of Crescent St. by the Recreation Department was diminished somewhat last week when the Franchises and Licenses Committee of the Board of Aldermen voted 4-0 to deny the department's request to use an underground gasoline tank at Crescent St.

Triple Crown To Baba Lewis Of W. Squash Asso.

Baba Lewis of Auburndale has once again topped the state rankings as announced at the spring meeting of the Massachusetts Women's Squash Racquets Association.

Mrs. Lewis has been the number one player for a number of years but this year performed a rare feat. She captured the Massachusetts triple crown - the handicap, state and Boston and district tournaments. In addition Mrs. Lewis is ranked number one by the New England Lawn Tennis Association.

Another Newton woman, Anne Batchelder also of Auburndale ranked second.

Election of officers was held at this meeting for the 1970-72 term. Elected president was Cynthia Kelly of Wellesley, who is best known in another sport - badminton - where she is one of the top ranking players in the U.S.; vice-president is Mary Abele of Wayland; Joyce Young of Waban is secretary and Mary Stewart of Wellesley is treasurer.

Local Agents to CLU Institute

M. Greely Summers, C.L.U. of 545 Hammond street and Sumner Rodman, C.L.U., of 94 Vine street will attend a week-long program of advanced study in business and financial family planning at the 69th C.L.U. Institute at Paradise Island, Nassau, in the Bahamas.

Mr. Summers is a general agent for the New England Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Boston and is a former president of the Boston Life Underwriters Association.

Likewise a former president of the Boston Life Underwriters Association, Mr. Rodman is affiliated with the Rodman Insurance Agency in Chestnut Hill and is treasurer of the American Society of C.L.U.

Women Voters Call For An Orderly, Balanced Growth

The League of Women Voters of Newton, following a study of zoning policies and practices, recommended today that the city adopt density and open space standards to assure "orderly and balanced" future growth.

The league called for "a more intensive use of existing business and manufacturing districts." It stated that at present there is an "underutilization" of certain land areas. It also suggested including a historic district zone in the zoning ordinance.

The league also supports inclusion of flood-plain and watershed protection districts in the zoning ordinance. It stated, "Certain lands should not be built upon for ecological and economic reasons."

The league report stated, "There was consensus for new zoning techniques," including cluster development and planned unit development "conditional upon safeguards for the open space that would result."

The study, carried out by members of the league's zoning committee, was the major project for the year by the league.

New African Company Plans Three 1-Act Plays In City

Three one-act plays by black playwrights will be presented by the New African Company in Newton. Three performances nightly are scheduled at the Pomroy House in Newton May 1, 2, and 3.

The New African Company, under the direction of James Spruill, will be remembered for their productions this year of In New England Winter and El Hajj Malik at the Elma Lewis School of Fine Arts and Brandeis University and Genets, The Blacks at the Loeb Drama Center, Harvard University.

Sponsored by the Guys and Dolls of West Newton, the Company will present "The Box" and "Clean" by Dan Owens, Boston playwright, and "Papa's Daughter" by Dorothy Ahmad.

Performances will be held on Friday and Saturday evening at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the door or reservations can be made by calling 332-2888 or 527-0891. Pomroy House is located at the corner of Eldridge and Church streets Newton Corner, just off the Mass. Turnpike.

This production is the first in a series which the New African Company plans to present during the spring and summer in communities in the Boston area.

ARTHUR CHANSKY
Chansky Winner In "Best Sport Story" Contest

Arthur Chansky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Chansky, 10 Philbrick Rd., Newton Centre, was the recipient of an award for a sports story submitted in a contest sponsored by Southern newspapers.

Chansky, sports editor of the "Daily Tar Heel," student newspaper at the University of North Carolina, is a senior at the university's school of journalism.

The contest, sponsored annually by the "Charlotte Observer" and "The Charlotte News," drew 269 entries from the best editors, best news stories, best feature stories and best sports stories. The Newton youth was a winner in the latter category.

DiCarlo Is State Legal Assistant

Wayne Rocco DiCarlo of Newton Centre has been appointed as Legal Assistant in the Eminent Domain Division for the Commonwealth of Mass. by Attorney General Robert H. Quinn.

DiCarlo is a graduate of Villanova University and received his law degree from Boston University in 1969. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar last June. He is a resident at 316 Langley rd., Newton Centre.

Teens To March Sunday May 3rd To Assist St. Jude's Hospital

The 1970 Danny Thomas Teenage March will be held in this area on the afternoon of Sunday, May 3rd, according to an announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Mansour of 38 Bowers St., Newtonville. District Leader of this year's march.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Mansour the annual Teenage March is headed up nationally by comedian Danny Thomas, who is president of the sponsoring group called ALSAC. Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children.

Appointment of Daniel G. Hurley as 1970 Greater Boston Chairman has been announced by Edward E. Nicholas of West Roxbury, City Director.

Each year the organization calls upon thousands of teenagers to donate their time and efforts on behalf of ALSAC which is the fund raising group for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, a nationally known research center founded by Danny Thomas in 1963.

To a great extent, because of the splendid cooperation and volunteer help received from area teenagers, ALSAC is able to turn over 94 percent of all monies collected directly to the research hospital which is dedicated to aiding children stricken with catastrophic diseases from all walks of life regardless of their race, creed or financial status.

The objectives of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital are twofold: to gain knowledge of the biological process upon which all life depends, and to provide diagnostic treatment and research facilities for study of the medical problems of children.

Exciting results have come in the treatment of leukemia patients who have gone to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital after diagnosis.

Utilizing a combination of drugs, recession has been obtained and continued without the patient becoming immune to the drugs. Of the first five patients given this treatment, one has been in complete remission for more than three years, four others for over two years without medication. Others have since been given this same treatment with excellent results.

The response of local teenagers from Greater Boston cities and towns who have volunteered to collect funds from their neighbors on Sunday, May 3rd, has been more than gratifying according to the District Leader.

Other area teenagers who wish to help make the 1970 Danny Thomas Teenage March a success should contact their District Leader at 527-7885. The Boston Phone is 266-6628.

Library Named For Newtonite

The Horovitz Workmen's Compensation Library, named for a prominent Newton attorney, Samuel B. Horovitz, will be dedicated on Saturday, May 9, at 11 a.m.

The library, which will be located in the Roscoe Pound American Trial Lawyers Research Center at 20 Garden St., Cambridge, will be the largest library of the specialized subject of workmen's compensation in the world, including some 3600 books and pamphlets.

Rev. Robert F. Drinan, S.J., Dean of Boston College Law School, will be the principal speaker at the dedicatory exercises. Attorney Horovitz is the founder of the Roscoe Pound Foundation.

Hospital Women Plan Luncheon Here On May 26

The annual Membership & Friends Luncheon of Brookline Auxiliary of Jewish Memorial Hospital will be held on Tuesday, May 26, at noon, in Sidney Hill Country Club at Chestnut Hill.

This annual event is held to honor members and friends of the hospital's auxiliary.

Following the luncheon which begins at 12:30 p.m., a special program will be presented by Mrs. Audrey F. Hoffman, interior and floral designer. Speaking on "Flowers, Fabrics and Furnishings," she will demonstrate techniques of enhancing the home decor.

Reservations for this luncheon meeting must be made by May 20 by contacting Mrs. Louis S. Hanflig at 332-2768 or Mrs. Ruby Palmer at 782-8350. Luncheon donation is $3.

Mrs. Herbert Squier, Newton director of nurses at Jewish Memorial Hospital, will speak at the luncheon, and Mrs. Rubin Cohen, Chestnut Hill, will open the meeting with the invocation.

Mrs. Phineas Gordon, Chestnut Hill, president of Brookline Auxiliary, will preside.

Committee for the luncheon meeting includes Mrs. Louis S. Hanflig, Chestnut Hill, membership chairman; Mrs. Stuart Palmer, Brighton, life membership chairman; Mrs. Nathanial Brody, Westwood, Friends chairman; all co-chairmen.

Assisting on the committee are Mrs. Harry A. Krasnow, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. David Stern, Newton; Mrs. Morris Kaplan, Newton; Mrs. Joseph Keizer, Brookline; Mrs. Leo Cole, Newtonville; Mrs. Clarence Yanofsky, Brookline; and Mrs. Louis Hellmann, Chestnut Hill.

N-V Woman's Club Annual Event Monday

The annual meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club will follow a luncheon next Monday (April 27) at the Holiday Inn in Newton.

Mrs. Samuel J. Melick will call the meeting to order at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Warren W. Oliver, chairman of hospitality and her committee: Mrs. Edmund Anthony, Mrs. Walter E. Brown, Mrs. Herbert Duvay, Mrs. Warren L. Huston, Mrs. Walter N. Keene, Mrs. Harold E. Marr, Mrs. John B. Naylor, Mrs. Vaughan Richardson and Mrs. Joseph L. Savigny are planning the affair.

Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, past president of the Newtonville Woman's Club and the present Publicity Chairman of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will give the Grace before luncheon.

Newton Junior College Fetes Honor Students

Newton Junior College will hold its annual Honors Convivium on Tuesday evening, April 28, at the Skyline Room of the Science Museum of Boston. This event inaugurated many years ago, traditionally honors those students who have achieved scholastic excellence and have been cited on the President's List.

The program will include welcoming remarks by Charles W. Dudley, President of the College, and congratulatory greetings from the Honorable Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of Newton; Aaron Fink, Superintendent of Schools in Newton; Bertram H. Loewenberg, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the College; and Wendall R. Bauckman, President of Aldermen of Newton.

Members of the Board of Directors and the Women's Council of the College will be among the guests.

The guest speaker of the evening will be Mr. David McCord, noted poet and essayist, who will speak on "A Way Into A Poem."

Mr. McCord, a graduate of Harvard, holds many doctoral degrees and has been the recipient of numerous awards and medals. Among his many distinguished positions and affiliations are: Executive Secretary of the Harvard Fund Council, member of the Breadloaf Writers Conference, Trustee of the Plymouth Foundation, Phi Beta Kappa Poet at Harvard and Tufts, and Membership in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

In addition to lectureships at many outstanding colleges and universities, Mr. McCord is author of numerous articles, essays, and books. Among his publications are "The Fabric of Man" and "Odds Without Ends." The range of his interests and talent is well represented in his contributions to scholarly journals and periodicals as well as magazines such as the New Yorker. Mr. McCord has also held several one-man water color shows.

The honors students being feted will be accompanied by their parents or other members of their families. The students are: Louis J. Baccari, Jr., Arthur J. Cogan, Kevin F. Corrigan, Peter Didomenico, Walter L. Dore, Patricia A. Filosa, Mrs. Anna G. Germaise, Robert Hare, Donald C. Hunter, Donna J. Jansky, Thomas J. Keane, Jr., William G. Auction By Lions Club On Saturday

A number of attractive items have been collected for the annual auction of the Parkway-Boston Lions Club to be held on Saturday, April 25, in the Holy Name Church Hall.

"Col" Phil Goldstein, well known auctioneer, will call for bids, starting at 12 noon and continue until all articles are sold.

Chairman James Sullivan is seeking donations of usable, resalable items and a call to Leo the Lion at 323-0335 will result in pick-up service.

Dudy Answering Service has donated the telephone number of the club.

will be presented by Mrs. Warren L. Huston, education chairman; the Theresa L. Cram scholarship to Miss Stephanie Lent of Newtonville and the Newtonville Woman's Club scholarship to Miss Cynthia Otis of Newtonville.

Program chairman, Mrs. William C. Custer will introduce the program for the "Up, Up and Away" with Emily Sullivan. Educated at Emerson College and The New England Conservatory of Music, Miss Sullivan has had varied opera, radio and television experience in music and drama.

Board Meeting

Mrs. Noah Solomon, president of the Greater Boston Council of Mizrahi Women, will speak at a board meeting of the Brookline-Brighton Newton Chapter at the home of Mrs. Resi Eppenstein, 27 Boulevard terrace, Allston, next Wednesday (April 29) at 1 p.m.

Temporary Homes Are Needed For Mental Patients

A hard pressed search goes on for foster homes for men and women who are well on their way back to health after a successful fight with mental illness. Members of the Case Aide Program, at Metropolitan State Hospital, Waltham, which trains and supervises the volunteers who have worked for months to prepare long-term patients for a new life outside the hospital, are having to tell their patients that there still is nowhere for them to go.

These recovering patients are not being held in the hospital for reasons of health or financing. As for as the hospital is concerned they are ready now to move into warm, loving homes where they can continue to progress towards independence and full health.

The Department of Mental Health will pay for their room and board, and the Hospital and the volunteer Case Aide Program will provide consultation, medication and help and support should any be needed.

Many of these men and women no longer have families or homes of their own. All of them long to find a place where they can share family living again; some can take full or part-time jobs.

Anyone interested in opening his or her home to one or more of these people is invited to contact the Director of the Mental Health Case Aid Program, in Lexington, Tel. 862-1496. For families who have the room in their homes and in their hearts this can be the first step towards a most rewarding venture for the whole household.

JUDGE CASTS DOUBT ON KENNEDY'S INQUEST TESTIMONY

EDGARTOWN District Court Judge James A. Boyle, casting doubt on part of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's testimony, found probable cause he operated a car negligently — possibly even recklessly — thus apparently contributing to the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, according to secret inquest documents made public Wednesday. Judge Boyle, noting "inconsistencies and contradictions" in the inquest testimony, said he felt the senator and the young blonde secretary were not heading back to the ferry to Edgartown — as Kennedy said they were — when the car plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island last summer after a party. The judge's 12-page report on the inquest over which he presided and the 763 pages of testimony given at the inquest by Kennedy and 26 other witnesses were released by Suffolk Superior Court. The four-day inquest ended Jan. 8, Kennedy, in his testimony at the inquest, and in two previous public statements on the accident, said he and Miss Kopechne, 28, were headed back to Edgartown from Chappaquiddick Island when he took a wrong turn and went off a bridge. From Washington, Kennedy said he rejected Boyle's findings and found them "not justified." He said, "I plan no further statement on this tragic matter. We must all live with the loss of Mary Jo and the pain that this has inflicted upon us." Although the judge's report appeared to be a strong indictment of Kennedy, it is unlikely any legal action will come out of it. A grand jury probe of the case ended April 7 after hearing only four witnesses and returning no indictments.

POLITICIANS ACCUSED OF OVERLOOKING MEDICARE RATE HIKES

POLITICIANS who oppose increased auto and home insurance premiums look the other way when the Department of Health, Education and Welfare raises Medicare rates, an insurance executive charged Wednesday night in Boston. William A. Cooke, of Cranston, R.I., president of the Independent Mutual Insurance Agents of New England, said Medicare rates have increased 77 per cent since the program started in 1964, compared with a 54 per cent increase in auto insurance rates since 1960 — and politicians did not attack the Medicare hikes. "Where are the shining knights on white chargers with their lances pointed menacingly at the profiteers who dare increase premiums simply because costs have risen?" he asked. Cooke said elected officials opposed rate increases automatically for political expediency.

LAWYER SUFFERS SEIZURE; BRADY TRIAL POSTPONED

GEORGE L. BRADY'S larceny conspiracy trial was postponed Wednesday until Friday because defense attorney Robert F. Muse was hospitalized under doctor's orders. Muse slumped in the courtroom Tuesday as he was delivering his opening statement to Judge Edward J. Hennessey and the jury of 12 men and four women. Muse was admitted to Massachusetts General Hospital for tests in connection with his slight seizure, the judge said. Brady is charged with conspiring to steal about $400,000 from construction funds for the Boston Common Garage while he was head of the Massachusetts Parking Authority.

The Nation

NIXON TO TELL NATION OF HIS DECISION ON CAMBODIA

THE WHITE HOUSE said Wednesday President Nixon would address the nation tonight, presumably to announce his decision on Cambodia's request for extensive U.S. military arms and supplies. Meanwhile, the United States provided military advisers and other support Wednesday for a South Vietnamese attack on Communist forces just inside Cambodia, provoking charges in Congress that the President might be widening American involvement in Indochina. The speculation in diplomatic circles was that Nixon, hoping to avoid any appearance of direct American involvement, would arrange for indirect supply of arms to Cambodia through Allied nations, such as Thailand. The Defense Department announced that at Saigon's request, it was providing "advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation and some logistics assistance" for an assault which South Vietnam carried out Wednesday.

BLACKMUN APPROVED BY SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

SUPREME COURT nominee Harry A. Blackmun won over the Senate Judiciary Committee so quickly Wednesday it ended its public hearings after just three and a half hours. In contrast to the drawn-out battles over Nixon's two previous choices, he could have his approval by tonight. Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Ky., was the ninth member of the 17-member committee to assure the Minnesota jurist, now a member of the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals, that he would recommend confirmation. After calling an end to the hearing, the committee met in executive session and decided to meet again at 10 a.m. today. It was believed it might formally recommend confirmation by the full Senate at that time.

U.S.-AIDED SO. VIETNAMESE TROOPS STRIKE INTO CAMBODIA

SOUTH VIETNAMESE troops aided by U.S. military advisers, planes and artillery, struck into Cambodia Wednesday in a drive to destroy Communist sanctuaries within striking distance of Saigon, the U.S. Military Command in Saigon announced early today. U.S. military spokesmen said the American support for the drive is "in the form of helicopters, artillery and tactical air strikes." But military sources said a handful of American ground troops also crossed the frontier in a region 35 miles west of Saigon opposite Tay Ninh province. A spokesman for the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, said American participation in the border-crossing operation came at the request of the South Vietnamese. Final approval of the U.S. assistance came from President Nixon. A South Vietnam defense ministry statement said the operation was aimed at destroying an "extensive" complex of Communist bases and staging areas inside Cambodian territory which "have posed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam."

5 Girls Put "Earth Day" Idea To Work

An observance of the recent Earth Day that was little noticed, but very much in the spirit of improving our environment, took place in Newtonville this past week.

Five coeds, all students at Day Junior High School, took it upon themselves to clean up their main street.

Armed with plastic garbage bags (and lots of energy), they cleaned up Walnut Street from Newton High School to their own Day Junior High.

Newton Drug Abuse Growing Warns Report Of Committee

The establishment of a Youth Services Department in Newton to fight drug use, delinquency and mental illness was recommended in a report released yesterday that was prepared by a 30-member Drug Study Committee appointed a year ago by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

The Committee, chaired by Child Psychiatrist Dr. Joseph Sabbath, concluded in its 12-page report that "a rapidly escalating problem of drug abuse is taking place in Newton" and that aside from education programs in the schools and through the Police Department, "the existing programs to deal with the problem are scattered, poorly integrated, incomplete and thoroughly inadequate."

Statistics in the report presented by Dr. Edward Landy, assistant school superintendent for pupil personnel services, showed that as of last June, 70 known Newton boys and 35 girls used marijuana; 47 boys and 17 girls used hallucinatory drugs and nine boys and three girls hard core narcotics. Thirty per cent of high school age students have been involved with marijuana ranging from a single experiment to more sustained use.

A pilot study conducted in February polled 90 students.

Between 60 and 70 per cent of the students felt that they were well-informed about LSD, speed and heroin.

Thirteen of the ninety students or 14 per cent said they smoked marijuana in the past year. Eight students (9 per cent) tried drugs during this same period of time.

Approximately 17 per cent of the students see group pressure as the major impetus behind taking drugs, 23 per cent consider feeling down or unhappy as the prime motivating force.

Forty per cent of the students felt marijuana should be legalized, 88 per cent felt there should be education programs about

Vacant Store Site Of 6-Weeks Course

Twenty ninth-grade students from the Weeks Junior High School will participate in a six week pilot project this spring that will move them from their suburban school to a vacant store in the Castle Square section of Boston's South End.

The School Committee on Monday night approved the pilot program by a vote of 5 to 2 with Committeemen Francis Frazier and Alvin Mandell opposed. Committee member Edwin Hawbridge abstained from voting.

According to Socrates Lagios, principal of the Weeks School, it is hoped that if the pilot program is successful it will be followed by a six weeks summer program and an ongoing program for the 1970-71 academic year.

The students will attend classes in a vacant store at 469 Tremont St. which is being donated for the purpose by the BRA and the Castle Square Tenants Council, joint owners.

Turndown By Aldermen On Parking Lot

Members of the Newton Board of Aldermen at their last meeting refused to approve a request for $20,000 to build a temporary parking lot for personnel at Newton High School.

The consensus of opinion among a majority of the board members was that the School Department should take the required funds from the $18.4 million recently approved for construction of the new high school or find the money somewhere else within their budget.

"When we sliced $1 million off the bond for the new school I was interested in where it would be taken from."

Prof. Albert R. Beisel, Jr., left, outgoing president of the Newton Community Chest and Council, discusses annual report with newly-elected President Robert P. Freeto.

Freeto Heads 1970 Community Council

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Chest and Council was recently held at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale.

Delegates from 105 organizations and agencies heard the Honorable Franklin N. Flaschner speak on "Regional Citizenship — How Meaningful Today."

Judge Flaschner is a graduate of Yale University, Yale Law School, and the Harvard Littauer School of Public Administration. He is now president of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council, which includes over 100 communities.

Judge Flaschner was elected to seven successive terms on the Newton Board of Aldermen and resigned recently to become the Presiding Justice of the Newton District Court.

Professor Albert R. Beisel, Jr., outgoing Presi-

Bellotti Friends Explain

His 1964 Run For Governor

Friends of Francis X. Bellotti, striving to improve his chances of achieving the Democratic nomination for Governor, are seeking to explain his action in opposing a sitting Governor of his own party in the 1964 primary.

There is not much evidence that his '64 action, which aroused bitter feeling in segments of the Democratic party at the time, is still hurting Bellotti. But some of his backers obviously think it is.

To support the claim that Bellotti had to make his move upward toward the Governorship in 1964, they quote from a recently published book which reports that Robert Kennedy then was planning to run for Governor of Massachusetts in 1966.

Aldermen Approve Request For $1500 . . .

City's Tiny Deer Herd Should Have Food Available For Year

Newton's small herd of deer will be able to eat for the next year in the security of its preserve on the Webster Estate off Hammond Pond Parkway in Chestnut Hill.

The aldermen, by a 12-8 vote approved a request for $1500 from Mayor Monte G. Basbas to feed and maintain the buck and five doe who roam the estate. The money to be apportioned over the next 12 months, will pay for grain ($520) and maintenance ($1000).

But before the appropriation was approved there had been an attempt to cut it to $300 until Mayor Basbas publicized the park and told the public "how they can enjoy this land."

That was the argument used by Alderman Joseph M.

McDonnell who moved to cut the appropriation request.

McDonnell said the city should erect signs and let the citizens know the land has been set aside as an open space conservation area.

He said, "For a year we've had the Webster Estate land and never done anything to make it publicly available." He said if the $1500 were approved the matter would be forgotten for a year.

The motion lost after Alderman Harry L. Walen commented "it might be more merciful to shoot them" than cut off the grain.

In the aftermath of the voting Mayor Basbas said this week, "I do not intend to open the park so people can go in there and hurt the deer."

The mayor said that in time the city will install fencing and set off trails to confine the deer to a specific area of the estate.

"But I do not intend to make a Franklin Park out of it when there are other priorities."

Meanwhile, the mayor said, citizens can park along the fence and watch the deer inside. He said the deer have the run of about 30 acres of the 60-acre park. He said in the past, "some kooks have gotten in there and killed deer."

The mayor said eventually gates will be set up and attendants assigned to the park but this will cost money that can not be afforded at this time.

Voting with McDonnell to cut the appropriation were Richard J. Bullwinkle, Thomas B. Concannon, Harry H. Crosby, Peter F. Harrington, Matthew Jefferson, Andrew J. Magni and Arthur H. Sullivan.

Voting for the appropriation were Adelaide B. Ball, Alan S. Zarkin, Elliot K. Cohen, Ernest F. Dietz, Louis I. Egelson, David W. Jackson, Sidney T. Small, Robert Tennant, Edward C. Uehliien, Harry L. Walen, Wendell R. Bauckman and Jason Sacks.

Council -

Council activities may be re-directed because of the new emphasis on a regional approach to planning.

Newton is a part of Region V — under the guidelines furnished by the State Reorganization Act which includes 27 communities and over a half million people.

A special task force from United Community Services in Boston and the Newton Community Council are engaged in the details of cooperation and guidelines.

Even though this new venture may change the whole design of Community Councils, Professor Beisel stated that the Council had left to the Newton community a legacy in the form of the Community Relations Commission, which has made and will continue to make a substantial contribution to the citizens of Newton.

Newton has always furnished outstanding leadership to its agencies and organizations — this year is no exception.

Delegates from 105 organizations and agencies elected Robert P. Freeto as president of the Chest and Council.

Elected officers of the corporation are: Dr. Sylvia G. Krakow, First Vice - President; Mr. Charles J. Doherty, Second Vice - President; Mr. Francis C. Chase, Treasurer; and Mr. Donald C. Root, Assistant Treasurer.

Miss Adelaide B. Ball and Mr. H. Donald Norstrand were re-elected Clerks of the Council and Chest respectively.

Council Board members elected this year for a three year term are: Professor Albert R. Beisel, Jr., Mr. Stephen P. Crosby, Mrs. Robert G. Fisher and Mr. Luther R. Manning, Jr.

The new Chest Directors - at - Large for a three year term are: Mrs. S. Page Cotton, Mrs. Henry Gesmer, Mr. Stanley Miller, Mr. Daniel Mordecai, John F. Reichard, M.D., and Mr. Bradbury Seasholes. Mr. Gary P. Brazier was elected for a term on one year to fill a vacancy.

Charles River Medical Society Conclave May 5

A number of Newton physicians are participating in the annual meeting of the 700-member Charles River District Medical Society to be held next Tuesday (May 5) at 6 p.m. in the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton. The Charles River District Medical Society comprises physicians who live or practice in Newton, Needham, Waltham, Wellesley and Weston.

Donald E. Bowen, M.D. of Weston, who will complete his term as president, will present the annual report for 1969-70. It will note:

—formation during 1969 of a Regional Planning Committee, chaired by John McGinty, M.D. of Dover. The committee has focused upon health service needs in the Charles River District and upon new approaches to the delivery of health care in response to accelerated social change.

—the awarding of scholarships of $500 each to four medical students by the Committee on Medical Education under the chairmanship of Daniel J. Blacklow, M.D. of Weston.

—close coordination with mental health planners and workers by the Committee on Mental Health chaired by Robert E. Arnot, M.D. of Wellesley. The committee worked for an integrated community program and for development of regional general hospital psychiatric centers. As a result of community wide mental health planning by citizens and health professionals, inpatient psychiatric care units are being planned at Newton - Wellesley and Waltham Hospitals.

Dr. Bowen also will report upon activities of the Committee on Religion and Medicine. R. Emerson

Sylvester, M.D. of Auburndale, chairman; the Committee on Emergency Medical Care, Robert V. Condon, M.D. of Needham, chairman; School Health Committee, Edward J. Sawyer, M.D. of Newton, chairman; Legislative Committee, Joseph A. King, M.D. of Needham, chairman; Joint Medical - Legal Committee, Peter Angelo, M.D., Waltham, chairman.

Also, Public Relations Committee, Eugene H. Courtiss, M.D. of Newton, chairman; Blue Shield Professional Service Committee, Lewis S. Pilcher, M.D. of West Newton, chairman; Mediation Committee, Kenneth Christopher, M.D. of Needham, chairman; and the Committee on Tax Supported Medical Care, Joseph R. Cotter, M.D. of Newton Highlands, chairman.

Dr. Bowen also is expected to discuss the staff report of the Senate Finance Committee, made public earlier in the year and dealing with factors responsible for the rising cost of Medicare and Medicaid.

According to Dr. Bowen, physicians are concerned about the absence of data and statistics to support conclusions drawn in the report, and the incorrectness of many of the conclusions.

Dr. Bowen noted much of the increase in the cost of Medicare and Medicaid to the Federal and State governments resulted because of incorrect cost estimates in the first instance, in spite of health professionals cautioning the two programs would be more expensive than estimates published by governmental officials when the programs were enacted.

Moreover, costs can be expected to climb, especially if the requirement is retained that calls for comprehensive

Attends Event For Presidents Club in Bermuda

Ellet Lappan, assistant manager of group sales division for Massachusetts General Life Insurance Company's Boston, Mass., office is one of seventeen company employees, who attended the Company's annual President's Club convention in Bermuda April 22-25.

Lappan qualified to attend the Company's President's Club by having attained an outstanding level of performance in the sale of group or individual life and health insurance through independent insurance agents and brokers.

Lappan was graduated from Weston High School, Weston, Mass., and received a B.B.A. degree from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. He also completed two years' service with the U.S. Army.

An avid skier, Lappan resides at 83 Glen avenue, Newton Centre.

care to be furnished to all beneficiaries by 1977.

He also noted the report called attention to large fees paid to physicians singly or in groups, with an implication physician earnings were drastically out of line with physician performance.

Further analysis showed the large payments, in one instance, represented all of the care furnished by the staff of an entire hospital, even though Federal records carried only the name of a single physician.

In other instances, no attempt was made to determine whether the physicians based their entire practice in low income and poverty areas, and thus were billing for the quality care the programs sought to have delivered in those neighborhoods in the first place.

Franklin PTA Annual Fair On School Ground May 2nd

On Saturday, May 2, the Franklin School P.T.A., West Newton, will sponsor its annual Fair from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. on the school playground.

Chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norton announce that the Fair will be open to the public. There will be 12 game booths with prizes for everyone, surprise grab bags, authentic Chinese rickshaw rides, an indoor children's art auction, Mother's Day gift booth and, of course, refreshments.

Other attractions include a White Elephant and Toy Booth managed by Mrs. Helena McHugh and Mrs. Barbara Sorota, a Cake Sale conducted by Mrs. Dot Lancioti and Mrs. Marilyn Antonellis, a Make-up Booth under the direction of Mrs. Riza Federman, a Puppet Making Booth supervised by Mrs. Pat Cornu, Movies directed by Mr. and Mrs. Kerker Kassabian, a Country Store featuring penny candy, popcorn and balloons under the proprietorship of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pappas and Chalk Drawing conducted by Mrs. Mary Boule.

Publicity is being handled by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gleekman and advertising posters for the Fair were made by the 5th grade children at the Franklin School.

Some say:

"I don't need God"

Maybe you don't... if you think of God as merely some distant person, or unknowable.

But, if you were to know God as Mind, the source of all ideas and intelligence, or as Life, the source of strength and health... wouldn't it make sense to know Him better?

You can... Practical ways of knowing God are discussed at the Christian Science Sunday School. Visit a class this Sunday at 10:45 A.M.

Book Plates, Certificates Given 15 Contest Winners

Over half of the 650 contestants in the essay contest, "Twelve Books I Would Like to Own and Why," recently attended the award ceremony at the Main Library.

The large crowd of students and many parents were on hand to receive the specially designed book plates given to each contestant and to honor the fifteen top winners. Mr. George Michaels, President of the Friends of the Newton Free Library, which sponsored the essay contest, gave certificates worth $2.00 of books of their own choosing to each of the fifteen.

Receiving the top prizes were Anne Butterworth and Kimberly Threadgold of the Cabot School; Susan Carnes, a student at Mt. Alvernia Academy; Elliot Cohen, who attends the Mainmonides School; Leila Brandwein, a student at Spaulding School; Robin Mosher, Underwood School; Ellen Hinesy and Debby Robbins, students at Beethoven School; Kathie McGraw and Laura Ribonowicz of the V. J. School; George Graves, Lyde School; Cindy Kampe, a student at Spaulding School; Laura Liberman, Memorial School; Martha Patterson from Warren Junior High School; and Eric Starbuck, a student at William School.

After the award ceremony, the crowd enthusiastically applauded Mrs. Nathan Freedman, who conceived the idea of the essay contest and chaired the contest committee for the Friends of the Newton Free Library. Mr. Robert McLean of the Boston Globe, featured speaker of the evening, discussed informally the subject of college newspapers.

Those contestants who were unable to attend the party to receive their package of book plates may expect them to arrive in the mail soon.

The winning essays and all the contestants' lists of twelve books are now being studied by Mrs. Carol Lynch's class in the Children's Literature at the Murray Road Annex of Newton North High School. This class will compile a bibliography of all the choices of books, which will be featured later in a display at the Main Library. Students in the class will also interview some of the contestants to learn more about the qualities of books preferred by Newton students.

The high degree of interest in the essay contest shown by Newton students of all ages was very rewarding to members of the Friends of the Newton Free Library.

LAW DAY U.S.A. A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS: On Friday May 1, the Nation will pay tribute to the law and its indispensable role in the lives of all or citizens. The day has been set aside as Law Day USA by joint resolution of Congress and by official proclamation of the President;

AND WHEREAS: The benefits that have accrued to each of us as individuals and to all of us as Americans through our adherence to the rule of law are too numerous to record. Without law, no citizen could enjoy the rights, freedoms, opportunities and protection which we take for granted. And without law administered by independent courts, no community or nation could endure as a stable entity;

AND WHEREAS: The theme for Law Day USA this year is: "Law - Bridge to Justice." It avers that the goal of law is to serve as a unifying influence in protecting the rights of individuals and correcting injustice. A century ago, U.S. Supreme Court Justice David Davis reminded us: "The Constitution of the United States is a law for rulers and people, equally in war and peace, and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men, at all times, and under all circumstances."

AND WHEREAS: The theme for the 1970 observance of Law Day USA on May 1 is an appropriate reminder that without the framework of law, social problems would become unmanageable and justice unattainable;

NOW THEREFORE, I, Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of the City of Newton, do hereby designate Friday, May 1, 1970, as Law Day USA in this City, and call upon all citizens, organizations, schools, churches, the media of information, and businesses where possible to recognize this special day and to join in its observance.

Max Hobart, Violinist, Is Symphony Guest On Sunday

The Newton Symphony already well-known to under the musical direction of Newton's concert-going Michel Sasson will feature public since as concertmaster Max Hobart, violinist of the Boston Symphony, as soloist in a performance of the ever-popular Mendelssohn Violin Concerto in E minor, this Sunday, May 3rd, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Hobart is second assistant concertmaster of the Boston Symphony and is also a member of the Boston Symphony Chamber Players. Prior to 1956 he studied with Vera Barstow in Los Angeles.

After winning the Coleman Auditions in Pasadena, California he was invited to study with the world famous Quartetto Italiano and later performed with the Virtuosi di Roma in Venice. Returning from Europe, he played in the symphonies of New Orleans, Washington, D.C., and Cleveland.

Four seasons ago, he came to play with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. He has been an active performer throughout New England both as a member of the Boston Symphony Chamber Players and in recital.

Earlier this month in Boston Mr. Hobart gave stunning performances of Stravinsky, Brahms and Beethoven in recital with Newton Wayland, pianist.

At the May 3rd concert, the program will also include Mr. Hobart's artistry in performance of the very

Spring Open House Sunday At Newton's Jackson Home

The Spring OPEN HOUSE of the Jackson Homestead will take place this Sunday afternoon, May 3, from three to five p.m. with memorabilia of the stately old mansion's original residents, the Jackson family, on exhibition.

Items of the exhibit covering three hundred years from 1670 include legal papers, historical records, family diaries, and correspondence, all revealing intimate details of life in early Newton. Those interested in the historical background and social development of the community will find the exhibit fascinating.

The OPEN HOUSE is open to the public without charge.

Tri-Lecture Series Start This Friday

The first in a three-lecture series under the sponsorship of the Medfield Historical Society, will be held Friday morning, April 29, at First Parish Church hall in Medfield. It will commence at 10 a.m.

"What to Collect in the 1970's," is the subject of the lecture to be given by Dr. Lloyd E. Hawes, well known historian and author. He is president of the International Wedgwood Seminar; member of Decorative Arts Committee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts; author of the book "Dedham Pottery," and trustee of Old Sturbridge Village.

The next illustrated lecture will be held on May 6 at 8 p.m., and titled: "Entertainment for Man and Horse - Food and Travel in Early New England." The lecturer will be Barnes Riznik who is vice-president of Old Sturbridge and co-director of the Graduate Program in American History and American Museum Work, sponsored by University of Connecticut and Old Sturbridge Village.

The concluding lecture will be given by Professor William M. Jewell, chairman of Liberal Arts Department of Boston University, on May 20 at 10 a.m. in the church hall. The subject will be "The Art of Landscape Painting." Prof. Jewell is a member of the Guild of Boston Artists, American Water Color Society and the Copley Society.

A subscription fee is charged for the lectures and information may be had from Mrs. John Jensen, Elm street, Medfield or by calling 359-2642.

powerful tone poem "The Pines of Rome" by Ottorino Respighi and two works of quieter dimensions, "Seigfried Idyll" of Richard Wagner and "Pavane pour une Infante Defunte" of Claude Debussy.

Some tickets are still available for this final concert of the season which will take place at the Meadowbrook Junior High School. For information call Mrs. Stolbach, 244-8506.

Ex-Crusader Tony Curtis

Another idol has been found to have feet of clay. Embarrassed officials of the American Cancer Society moved swiftly this week to cancel anti-smoking spot appeals on television by movie actor Tony Curtis.

Curtis has been convicted in a London court of having marijuana in his possession and fined $120. The explanation by Tony's British attorney that he doesn't smoke the drug but was given it by a friend in case he needed it, is somewhat unconvincing.

An ironic aspect to the situation is that marijuana users for some time have been claiming that cigarettes are more harmful than "pot." Most parents would prefer to have their children smoke cigarettes — if they must smoke.

The London incident killed Tony's image as a crusader against smoking and quite probably did more than $120 worth of damage to his movie career.

Mud in New Haven

From the eminence of his position as president of one of America's greatest and oldest institutions of learning — Yale University — Dr. Kingman Brewster, Jr., has flung a ball of mud at the American system of jurisprudence.

He has professed himself as "skeptical of the ability of black revolutionaries to achieve a fair trial anywhere in the United States."

That isn't the first time that the idea has been advanced in recent months. You can hear almost the same words, interspersed with the vilest obscenities, any night members of the Chicago Seven are speaking before audiences from Maine to California.

In all justice to Dr. Brewster, it must be recognized that he and a number of other college heads have been under severe strains of late. The Yale head perhaps misled himself, too, when he succumbed to the vocal fireworks far-left radicals have put to work in connection with a Black Panther case in his own backyard at New Haven.

Yet, he, better than most laymen, knows or should know that comment on a pending trial, is extremely questionable conduct. He has already heard from a number of justices, some of them distinguished Yale graduates. He will hear from more and as soon as his alumni catch their breath he'll be hearing from them, too.

His ultra-extravagant hyperbole was all-embracing. Taken literally his words would include Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Canal Zone and Guam. Perhaps, a psychiatrist might find in his words a symptom of that over-mental-fatigue which is afflicting too many of our highly-placed top-rank educators.

After the super-radicals, who've struck a gold mine in voicing the wildest of intemperate oratory every place they go, have incorporated his words into their nightly speeches, Brewster may wind up a hero among them and their hirsute followers.

However, Yale, founded in 1701, many years before the Declaration of Independence, will continue to provide the nation and the world with great minds in the arts, sciences and professions.

In its own good time Yale's alumni and those who keep its endowment funds healthy will deal with Brewster if he's still there when it comes time to make a decision.

Guests of Sweden

Under guidance of its comparatively young premier, Olaf Palme, Sweden has been enjoying several years basking in the spotlight of international attention by opening its doors wide to lend asylum to American deserters and draft dodgers.

Now it's facing a problem of its own making. Within its borders are more than 400 Americans, who by their actions or by formal rejection of their birthright, have denounced the United States.

Not all of them, however, are enjoying Sweden's excellent economy, its ghetto-less major cities or its beautiful scenery.

More than 25 per cent of them are in jail or on their way there. Sweden is finding that they didn't have the makings of first-class guests. It found many of them had set themselves up as suppliers of LSD in a burgeoning black market.

It is handing out stiff prison sentences to these peddlers and is considering kicking them out of the country when their sentences are finished. Maybe, these deserters and draft-dodgers were actually doing the United States and its armed forces a favor when they sought haven in Sweden.

Some of them passed through Russia on their way to Europe. The Russians patted them on the back and got rid of them quickly. France and Denmark told others to "keep on going," when they tried to establish roots in those countries.

At last count Interior Minister Erik Holmquist had the names of 110 American expatriates on his list of unwanted. Possibly, he and Palme will revise their attitude toward the United States long enough to try to persuade us to take them off Swedish hands.

Do we want them? Do we need them? Various groups, particularly among the leftist faculty members of several U.S. colleges, have been painting sad pictures of life away from their American homes of these renegades. They've been beating the drums for amnesty and prodigal welcome-homes.

The news out of Stockholm won't make good grist for their propaganda mills. Yet, in the manner of far-leftists, it isn't likely they will share red faces with the premier and his interior minister.

After all, Palme and Holmquist have to explain it all to the Swedish people.

Political Highlights

There were rumors to that effect for a period in 1964, but they were not taken too seriously because Bobby's plans were pretty vague, and there was considerable doubt that he could meet the residency requirement if he had decided to come into the Bay State and bid for the Governorship.

Bobby wanted to be the Democratic candidate for Vice President in 1964 only to have Lyndon Johnson kill off that idea. Then RFK ran for and won election to the U.S. Senate from New York State, taking up residence there instead of Massachusetts.

Ironically, Endicott Peabody was probably more responsible than anyone for the fact that Bellotti topped him in the 1964 Democratic primary and prevented him from going on to run in the final election.

Peabody was a fairly strong Governor even though he was eventually unsuccessful in his all-out drive to wipe out the death penalty and junk the electric chair.

Peabody decisively defeated Bellotti at the Democratic State Convention in West Springfield. (That was the conclave to which Ted Kennedy was flying when his plane crashed, and he was critically injured.)

But Peabody had made one mistake which was to prove fatal to his chances of winning reelection.

He had a convention rule adopted under which a candidate could run for only one office.

That rule prevented Bellotti from stepping down and accepting the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor and second place on the Democratic State Ticket after he had failed to get the convention nod for Governor.

Whatever course Bellotti followed, he was faced with the necessity of running against a candidate endorsed by the State Convention. He took the big gamble and set his sights on the Governorship.

Bellotti was a good vote-getter. A number of powerful Democratic leaders in the State were at odds with Peabody and backed Bellotti who emerged a winner from the primary but then in the election could not surmount the bitterness his primary victory had created.

It's difficult at this point to accept the claim that 1964 was a now-or-never year for Bellotti because of Bobby Kennedy. Six years later, Bellotti is still very much in the political picture. He must be reckoned as a potentially strong contender in next September's Democratic primary.

Celeste Candidacy Recalls Strange Convention Episode

A carefully typed news release announced that Vincent J. Celeste would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Attorney General. As we read it, memories came rushing back of one of the stranger episodes in GOP annals.

It occurred at the 1958 Republican State Convention in Worcester where the late George Fingold defeated Christian A. Herter, Jr. for the GOP endorsement for Governor and then persuaded Herter to become his party's candidate for Attorney General.

(Fingold died on Labor Day of that year. Charles Gibbons stepped into the breach and became the nominee for Governor in Fingold's place. He was the same Gibbons who later was indicted on evidence gathered by the Crime Commission, lived under a cloud for several years and died a broken man only a short time after the charges against him were dropped.)

Republican leaders went to that convention not knowing whom their party would put up against the late, great John F. Kennedy, then standing for reelection to a second term in the U.S. Senate. They merely promised they would have a candidate when the convention closed.

During the convention the GOP chieftains prevailed upon a member of one of the best known and wealthiest families in Massachusetts to carry the Republican banner against John F. Kennedy. He wasn't interested in becoming involved in a hopeless fight with JFK but finally consented to do so.

Vincent Celeste was a candidate for the convention endorsement for U.S. Senate. The amused newsmen scratched him off their list, sat back and waited to see him crushed as the weight of the Republican machine was mustered behind the candidate the GOP bosses had persuaded to run.

Then the delegations began to announce their vote totals and Vinny Celeste went into the lead.

The puzzled political pundits decided that some votes were being thrown to Celeste to make it appear like an interesting contest. They abandoned that idea when Celeste forged into a big lead and went on to win overwhelmingly.

It subsequently developed that the Republican bigwigs, soon after getting the man they wanted to run against John F. Kennedy, had learned he was to be divorced, had decided they didn't want him after all and had sent word to the various delegations to vote for Celeste.

To some observers it seemed at the time there could have been some less cruel way of handling the situation.

Now Vincent Celeste is back seeking a nomination from the Republican party which today has only a very few of the leaders who were running it in 1958.

GOP Conservative Leader Backs Linsky For Lt. Gov.

After Governor Sargent tapped Representative Martin Linsky of Brookline as the man he wanted to be his running mate and the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, rumblings of discontent and dissatisfaction were reported in the conservative wing of the GOP by some columnists and commentators.

It seemed like a natural reaction. Linsky is a liberal by any standards.

After that initial reaction, however, a feeling gradually developed within the Republican party that since Governor Sargent must run as a team with the nominee for Lieutenant Governor he has a right to handpick his ticket mate.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Preserve Wetlands

Editor of The Graphic:

Let's place morality in the proper perspective. We are not against low income housing, but rather we are for the preservation of natural wetlands, floodzone areas, and the appropriate use of such lands. We are for the reclamation of the Charles River and we are for the retention of natural breeding places for birds and other species of wildlife.

We just observed Earth Day — a day which focused all over our country on the problems of our environment and the intelligent solutions to the vast myriad of related problems we face and must face up to.

There is an overall morality to be considered in how we preserve, maintain, and reclaim that which we already have. We must not allow our cities and towns to be devoured by well intentioned individuals or groups.

A additional rehabilitation and expansion in blighted areas seems a more sensible and desirable solution to immediate and future housing problems rather than the usurping of lands which serve an important and undeniable role in nature's order.

It seems rather purposeless to change the character of satisfactory existing areas which will tend only to create other additional burdens and problems. Newton does not have the type of large lot zoning against which the Snob Zoning Bill was directed.

We are not in any sense of the word denizens of an affluent area or a blighted area. The abutters and residents of our area consist of three policemen, several retired couples or limited income, working men and women and a few self employed professional men.

These people have worked long and hard and deserve to be allowed to live their lives with a few trees and birds within their view.

Our city seems to be besieged by well meaning people who have not considered all the effects of their proposal in long range terms.

We trust that our city fathers will not fall prey to the lure of shopping malls or

Reply By Shea

Editor of The Graphic:

Recent letters to the Editor of your paper criticizing my speaking at the Boston Common prompt the following reply.

First I would like to make very clear that I had no idea that there would be any violence later occurring in Harvard Square. My participation in the speaking in Boston was intended to be a rational address on the setting of national war policy.

It was only designed, in accord with my consistent approach to government on the Board of Aldermen and in the state legislature, to encourage participation within our constitutional system of government.

I deplore the later violence in Harvard Square. Without qualification I concern this violence as unjustified, irresponsible, indiscriminate, unproductive, and approachingly fatal to dissent.

While I understand the frustration with a directionless war policy which has created the setting favorable to violence, such violence will only lead to repression and further violence. Those who advocate such violence are responsible for seeking to destroy all hope for future reasoned political decision making.

I had known that the April moratorium would have degenerated into a contest of profanity to the exclusion of rational discussion of the national war policy. I would not have agreed to speak.

Unfortunately none of us is endowed with qualities of foresight equal to hindsight. Unfortunately the April moratorium was not the success of last October's rational and responsible Boston Common moratorium.

While I regret the later glittering project plans, or silver tongued orators, and will, in their wisdom, exercise the kind of vision, intelligence, and morality that is needed to protect the small amount of undeveloped acreage that Newton still has for the enjoyment and use of tomorrow's citizens.

Jacqueline L. Richmond, Christina - Goddard Area

Against Housing Site

Editor of The Graphic:

I am opposed to the use of the Newton Highlands site located at Goddard and Christina streets for multi-unit housing.

This site chosen is "wet, swamp land" and should be kept as such. In case of torrential rains where is this water to go? This "wet land" is a protection in preventing water in torrential rains, from seeping into cellars of neighborhood houses.

The table land should and must be preserved for the reasons mentioned.

We are on four different levels, Winchester St., Goddard St., Christina St., Bernard St., and the Charles River. The Charles River did overflow during the last hurricane and overflowed as far as Bernard St.

This "wet land" holds the water and is a protection to this area. It should not be used for multi-unit housing for this important factor.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Helen C. McDonough

degeneration of the Common's program, I believe in and am proud of what I had to say in being the first speaker; I also take some modest satisfaction in the possibility that what I said, along with the speeches of Professor Steven Worth and John Kerry, may have added some constructive dimension to a regrettable affair.

While I censure those who directly caused the violence, those individuals who by their past silence and inaction have permitted a war policy to drift without proper Congressional sanction into national blood letting for a longer period than it took us to win World War II and those who have years by their silence permitted domestic policy regarding the urban crisis and environmental preservation to similarly drift, also deserve censure.

I close by cautioning against following our emotions and disdain and even hatred which we must try to listen and understand, then act to a very disturbed and increasingly unstable society.

Worried Citizen

Editor of The Graphic:

I am writing this letter because I am heartsick at the trend things are taking in Newton. I cannot sign my name because of business reasons, my job would be at stake.

My husband and I are a bit over the middle-age bracket. We own our own home in a fairly nice neighborhood in Auburndale. Once Auburndale was a quaint little village but the toll road cut it in half and there isn't too much quaintness left. But it is our home, and we are making the best of it.

We heartily agree that we should build apartments for our elderly and for people in the low income bracket, but only for those who have resided in Newton for ten years or more. We want this for our people.

We were both horrified and dismayed when we read about the low income housing that this PARD, INC. tends to build throughout the Newtons. This is ridiculous. Can you imagine what our school system which we can hardly support now will turn out to be?

Our schools even for our own are too small — what about all those kids that will be coming in? Do you see Wellesley or Weston getting involved in anything like this? They are keeping their skirts clean.

I think all the citizens should be made aware of this and that they all should have a voice in the matter. Our Mayor should make sure that we all should have a voice in this matter. He should protect our rights as citizens and as taxpayers.

Let us not involve ourselves with anything else that will tend to have all our people think of moving elsewhere.

We would like more information on this PARD, INC. and Mr. Casselman's connection with them.

Alderman Explains

Editor of The Graphic:

As a result of the considerable interest which has arisen due to the NCDF housing proposals, many stories and rumors have been circulated concerning my position as an alderman and chairman of the Land Use committee of the Board of Aldermen which I shall attempt to lay to rest.

First of all, I do not now nor have I ever represented anyone connected with NCDF. The stories which have been circulated probably arise out of the fact that I do represent as an attorney a person who happens to have the same last name as the executive director of NCDF.

These persons are not related to each other nor do they even know each other to my knowledge. I have never represented anyone remotely or otherwise connected with NCDF. This is a vicious rumor which is being circulated by irresponsible persons.

Secondly, I have made no statement publicly or privately as to what my stand is on any selected NCDF site. At some time in the future and in due course, I will be called upon to vote on each selected site. My vote will be in public both as a committee member of Land Use and as a member of the Board of Aldermen when and if the full Board takes a vote.

However, as chairman of the Land Use committee which will conduct all the public hearings on all the NCDF sites, I feel personally, that I must maintain an impartiality up to and through the public hearings in order to afford both the proponents and opponents a full, fair and impartial hearing.

To some of those opposed to the NCDF proposals, my refusal to take a stand on one side or the other prior to conducting the public hearings means that I favor the selected sites. To those who favor the proposals, it means I oppose. To these people I can only say that I am sorry if this attitude gives rise to this

Newtonites On Hub Community Services Board

Dr. Charles D. Bonner, director of the Rehabilitation Center at Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge, and Mrs. Ophelia Howe, assistant professor at the Boston University School of Social Work, both of Newton, have been elected members of the Board of Directors of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, the voluntary health and welfare planning council which provides budgeting, planning and counseling to more than 325 health, social welfare and related agencies serving 65 communities.

As a result of a nearly two-year-long study of the council's organization, structure, procedures and policies, UCS is significantly increasing its emphasis on health, social welfare, urban and other related planning.

The self study findings and recommendations advanced by the volunteer lay, professional, business, labor and consumer leaders, who comprised the study committees, are designed to strengthen the overall and specialized capacities and capabilities of UCS.

Chief among these is a broader, citizen-led, community-focused planning effort that leaders envision will involve UCS more directly and constructively.

The Newton Servicemen's Send-Off Committee recently entertained five young Newton men of whom three were sent home from the Boston induction center and two were inducted into the military service. The Newton Lions Club was host and provided coffee and doughnuts.

Those inducted into the military service were: Thomas J. Lilly, 56 Waverley Ave., Newton, and Michael F. Keaveney, 36 Williston Rd.,

Auburndale. Newton Lions Club President Laurence Kadis provided transportation to the Boston Army Base.

At a previous induction, five young men were also given a send-off from the Newton induction center, 861 Washington St., Newtonville, and two were sent home from the Army base.

Those inducted were Phillip C. Rousseau, 229 Pearl St., Newton; Frederick E. Green Jr., 20 Kingston Rd., Newton Highlands; and Richard C. Mooney, 59 Fuller Terr., West Newton. Newton Council No. 187 Knights of Columbus was host.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by George E. Mead Jr., and they were driven to the Boston Army Base by Gerald T. Quinn (Grand Knight) and Gerard Pope (Past Grand Knight). Traveling bags containing gifts were presented to all the young men by Francis L. Howley, Newton Post 48 American Legion, Chairman of the Send-Off Committee.

Also present at these inductions were: Mrs. Rose Cowles, clerk of board 115; Mrs. Jeanette Tice, clerk of board 116; Mrs. Mary Bryant, clerk of board 117; plus families and friends of the inductees.

Chairman Howley of the Send-Off Committee states that each month's draft quota is usually four to five times more than needed at induction time. Most of these young men enlist before the

Open Letter From One Area Presents Housing Argument

"AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL CITIZENS OF NEWTON IN RE: NEWTON COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION SITE AT COMMONWEALTH AVE., WALNUT ST. & LAKEVIEW AVE."

"Let it be made clear at once that we are not against the total plan. The N.C.D.F. will immediately reply, 'Oh! Yes. Another group who are for low-income housing, but not near them.' This is not true as you will see. We feel our objections have great practical, moral and legal value.

"The site is completely unsuitable. It is too small. On each of the others they plan about 59 units. On this they can work out only 35. They estimate occupancy of about 100 people, which figure includes about 35 children. If this were privately owned land, only five to seven houses could be built.

"The topography of the site could hardly be worse for their purposes. It is a triangle which is fairly flat at the corner of Commonwealth and Walnut, but rises steeply and narrows to a needle point at the junction of Commonwealth and Lakeview. They will have to excavate a sharp drop from Lakeview Ave. for most of the Commonwealth Ave. frontage. They emphasize how meticulously they will be about saving trees, but it will be impossible to erect 21 buildings, a large parking lot directly opposite the main entrance to City Hall and a play area without sacrificing a great percentage of the trees.

"Further still, when Mr. Nesson built the four houses opposite on Commonwealth Ave. between Beaumont and Lowell Avenues, he had his architect create a common driveway in the rear for entrance to garages to prevent four driveways from breaking up the sweep of the 50 ft. set-back lawn along the front.

"Now it is proposed that all this wise and far-seeing planning be cast aside. The exact situation which the city fathers tried to prevent will be realized if the N.C.D.F. is allowed to build there. Particularly at this time, when such terrific stress is being put upon ecology and conservation, it seems unthinkable that this site should be chosen.

"The setting of City Hall and the beauty of Commonwealth Avenue is something to be preserved. It is dear to all residents of Newton, not just close neighbors of this site. Let us keep it beautiful.

"Unfairness to home owners in this neighborhood. These people invested their money and bought homes in a single residence area feeling they could depend on the well established and strictly maintained zoning laws of the City of Newton.

The work will be done in cooperation with the Newton Department of Public Works. Mrs. Palen said. Plans also call for upgrading of the landscaping near the entrance of the library, including the addition of several evergreens.

The Auburndale Community Association has donated $50 toward the park. The association notes in its most recent bulletin that the city has removed a bench near the telephones at Commonwealth ave. and Lexington st. following complaints against "noise, loitering and drinking" at the site.

The ACA bulletin said a petition has been started to have the telephone booths removed.

Carr Carnival Sunday Offers Free Prizes

Free prizes await every one who attends the Carr Carnival Sunday, May 3rd, 11 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Nevada Street, Newtonville School.

A midway of booths will provide games, while hot dogs, cotton candy, and other treats will whet appetites.

Rain or shine, the event will take place, according to PTA Co-Presidents Mr. and Mrs. Martin Goldenberg, and event Chairman Mrs. Martin Karas.

For the adults, a bakesale is planned. For further information, on the Carr Carnival, Mr. Martin Karas, 244-9391.

"From a traffic standpoint, the site is too dangerous. Walnut and Commonwealth is one of the busiest intersections in Newton where, even now, one often has to sit through two traffic lights to cross Commonwealth Ave. It can only grow worse in coming years, even if this plan does not go through. If it does go through, the ingress and egress of cars from the development will create real traffic problems and a situation dangerous to all, especially the children in the development.

"The development will eliminate the green belt on the Commonwealth Ave. side of City Hall. These buildings, done in faithful reproduction of Christopher Wren architecture, have been called the most beautiful municipal buildings in the United States by a national magazine.

"About 20 years ago, the city took by eminent domain this entire site from the Nesson family for the specific purpose of protecting City Hall. Further, the triangle of land from the War Memorial to the junction of Homer Street was given by the Nesson family to the city for the same purpose.

"Further still, when Mr. Nesson built the four houses opposite on Commonwealth Ave. between Beaumont and Lowell Avenues, he had his architect create a common driveway in the rear for entrance to garages to prevent four driveways from breaking up the sweep of the 50 ft. set-back lawn along the front.

"Now it is proposed that all this wise and far-seeing planning be cast aside. The exact situation which the city fathers tried to prevent will be realized if the N.C.D.F. is allowed to build there. Particularly at this time, when such terrific stress is being put upon ecology and conservation, it seems unthinkable that this site should be chosen.

"The setting of City Hall and the beauty of Commonwealth Avenue is something to be preserved. It is dear to all residents of Newton, not just close neighbors of this site. Let us keep it beautiful.

"Unfairness to home owners in this neighborhood. These people invested their money and bought homes in a single residence area feeling they could depend on the well established and strictly maintained zoning laws of the City of Newton.

Increase In Rates At Jr. College Stays

Tuition at Newton Junior College will remain at the increased rate set in March by the Newton School Committee — at least for the present.

The full - time charge will be $800 per year for resident students and $800 for non-residents.

At the Newton School Committee meeting on March 23, NJC President Charles W. Dudley and Bertram H. Loewenberg, chairman of the college's board of directors, were asked to come back with recommendations for differentiated tuition rates.

Some Committee members feel that tuition rates should be higher in the more expensive nursing and data-processing programs. Administrators at the Junior College have asked for more time to make a thorough study of the matter.

At the meeting Monday night (April 27), the School Committee again voted to table the matter until its members and the NJC board can meet jointly to consider ways of financing the college, and to discuss the much-debated tuition policy.

Their decisions would relate to the 1971 - 1972 year.

"They were told, in good faith, by the sellers of the land or houses they purchased that this site would remain open because it had been taken for green belt purposes around City Hall.

"Now they are confronted with the possibility of having multiple housing with a density of about 100 people crowded onto a small, unsuitable lot in the midst of a completely built up district of single homes. It will make a mockery of zoning regulations in the future, especially since there is no need of it.

"The two goals sought by public minded citizens of providing low rental dwellings for low income families and conserving the amount of green space left open in the city are not incompatible.

"The N.C.D.F. is a group of zealous, public minded citizens of Newton with admirable motives. However, they are directed in their organization by a high-pressure, highly professional firm. We object strongly to their high-pressure tactics.

"They insist this plan must be a package deal — that you cannot object to one site without ruining the whole plan — that you are either for or against housing — they threaten that you had better accept this whole plan, because if you don't, the state will come in and force something on us that we shall not like at all — that there is absolutely no alternative site in Newtonville — that they have searched and searched and this is it — a vote against it will defeat the whole plan. These statements are not true, but they are being hammered at every meeting and by a telephone marathon to everybody in Newton.

"There is nothing in the requirements for the $13,000,000 loan they seek which prescribes where the sites shall be within the city. The N.C.D.F. wishes to have a site in each village, which is very admirable, but are not required to do so. They admit having none in four villages. They wish to have this site, but it is a fact that although the city planning board worked hard and long to pinpoint 42 possible sites in Newton, (of which they selected only 4), this particular site was not included in their report. It is quite apparent that the N.C.D.F. cares nothing about conservation nor the feelings of home owners in the area who bought believing they could depend on the zoning laws of Newton.

Very Truly Yours,

Miss Newcomb, Mr. Mastaj Married In Newton Church

Miss Virginia Ann Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Newcomb of 14 River Park street, Needham, became the bride of Mr. Walter Mastaj of Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mastaj of Garfield, N.J., at a recent afternoon ceremony in Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton.

Rev. Stanley J. Miskiewicz, serving as best man was officiated at the two o'clock, double ring service, and a reception followed at Mary Hartigan's, Dedham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer nylon over taffeta which had beaded lace inserts at the neckline, sleeves and train. Her bouffant veil was caught to a beaded headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Patricia Newcomb of Needham was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Nadine Moro and Sue Stanfield of Needham, as well as the bridegroom's sister, Christine Mastaj of Garfield, N.J.

Becomes Bride Of Mr. Wolner

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tannenbaum of Newton announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rena Tannenbaum, to Eric D. Wolner. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Wolner of New York City and the late Mr. Louis Wolner.

Rabbi William Berkowitz performed the ceremony. The Plaza in New York City was the setting for the reception. Both the bride and groom were graduated from the University of Bridgeport.

Following a trip to Barbados, Mr. and Mrs. Wolner will live in New York City, where the groom is a teacher in the public schools.

Miss Richmond Is Fiancee Of K. S. Miner

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Trachtenberg of Newtonville makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nancy Susan Richmond, to Kevin Scott Miner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Miner of Southington, Conn.

Daughter of the late Mr. Edward Richmond, the bride-elect is a graduate of Newton South High School and Vermont College. She is now attending the University of Vermont.

Mr. Miner, a graduate of Southington High School, expects to receive his B.S. degree in Engineering from Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., in June, when he will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Army.

An August 2nd wedding is planned.

MRS. THOMAS LANE BRUCE

Wichita Church Setting For Bruce-Stafford Wedding

At a two o'clock afternoon ceremony on Saturday, April 18, in St. James Episcopal Church, Wichita, Kan., Miss Barbara Lee Stafford became the bride of Thomas Lane Bruce.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Samuel Thomas Stafford of Wichita, Kan., and the late Mr. Stafford. Mr. and Mrs. William Lane Bruce of Newton Centre are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Edmund B. Partridge officiated at the two o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception followed at the Crestview Country Club, Wichita.

Mr. L. Vaughn Downs of Ephrata, Washington, gave his niece away. Her ivory satin gown, previously worn by the groom's mother, was marked with embroidered pearl motifs. The smartly styled skirt terminated in a train.

A becoming headpiece, made of white lilacs, baby's breath and stephanotis, held in place an elbow length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white lilacs with gardenias.

Mrs. Arthur Warren Kincaid 3rd of Wichita, Kan., was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Bruce and Miss Meredith L. Bruce, both sisters of the groom, of Newton, Miss Susan Howell of Arlington, Va., and Miss Adrienne Seelig of West Orange, N.J.

The two flower girls were Dana Knapp and Wendy Knapp, both of Wichita.

Serving as best man was Jeffrey Fenn Bruce of Newton Centre, brother of the groom. The ushers included Jeffrey Early of Merriam, Kansas, cousin of the bride, Stephen S. Dyro of Portland, Me., Mark P. Sheehan and Russell Lightman, both of Newton Centre.

Following a trip to Charleston, South Carolina, the couple plans to live in Newton Centre.

Both the bride and groom attended Parsons College in Iowa.

Camp Fire Girls Elect Officers on April 15th

The Newton Town Committee of the Camp Fire Girls Organization conducted election of officers at their annual meeting on Wednesday (April 15).

The retiring chairman, Mrs. Eugene Hirschberg, has been active in Camp Fire for ten years. She has served as chairman of the Newton Town Committee for the last three and a half years. During that time the Newton Camp Fire Girls enjoyed a substantial growth not only in number but in spirit. Mrs. Hirschberg handed the gavel to Mrs. George MacDonald, the new chairman of the Committee.

Mrs. MacDonald is well versed in the ways of Camp Fire. She has been active in the organization for nine years and knows well the needs and hopes of the group. The Newton Camp Fire Girls will continue to grow in every aspect under her guidance.

Other newly elected officers of the Newton Town Committee were: Mrs. Floyd Gilles, Vice - Chairman; Mrs. Robert Dunne, Secretary; Mrs. Marshall Melin, Treasurer; Mrs. David Blau, Group Organization; Mrs. William Tompkins, Training; Mrs. Richard Green, Adult Membership and Registrar; Mrs. Moselio Schaechter, Public Relations; Mrs. Henry Hall, Program; Mrs. Gordon Vawter, Ways and Means; Mrs. Floyd Gilles, Leader - Sponsor Organization; and Mrs. Irving Backman, Service.

Guest speakers at the Annual Meeting were: Mr. Daniel R. Robinson of the Community Council; Miss Edith A. Balke of Rebecca Pomroy

House and Mrs. Katherine Cushman of the American Red Cross. They spoke on "Resources and Opportunities For Service In Our Community."

After their very interesting and informative talks the speakers answered questions from the audience. They opened many new doors in which our Camp Fire Girls may help the Community. The Camp Fire Girls can look forward to a very interesting and exciting year.

Newton Nurses To Alumni Day At Beth Israel

Mrs. Hope Berezin and Mrs. Gloria Miranda of Newton will be tour leaders at the Second Annual Alumnae Day at Beth Israel Hospital this Saturday (May 2) by the Beth Israel Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Association.

Winners Named In Library's Bridge Games

Realtor Edmund Lang, of 458 Albemarle Road, and Newton High School senior Arnie Krakow of 222 Homer Street, are the two top winners in the Newton Free Library Bridge Club this year, according to a recent report from M.I.T. student Bill Renke of Newton, club organizer and coordinator.

The remaining top 10 players, members of a group which meets regularly the first Monday evening of every month at Newtonville Branch, Walnut Street, are Sue Schlossberg in third place; Mrs. Tina Levin, fourth; Eileen Geary and Margaret Sudbey with tie score in fifth and sixth places; Mrs. Pearl Schertzer, seventh; eighth, Mr. Arthur Model; ninth, Mrs. Limmert, tenth and eleventh in another tie, Mrs. Ellen Taxer and Mr. Jerry Rossman.

The club, which grew out of a 30-day bridge binge held at Newtonville Branch last August, plays only duplicate bridge, although some members have indicated they would like to have some instructional sessions. The monthly group has carried on with the intention of the original summer bridge binge, to bridge the generation gap with bridge.

The membership is split about 50-50 between young adult students and older adults.

Assisting Bill Renke are Mrs. Edith Corman, telephone squad, and Newton High senior Ann Cohen as tournament director. Miss Cohen is also president of the Newton High Bridge Club, which loans duplicate boards, cards and score sheets to the Library bridge players.

The Renke-Corman-Cohen steering committee says the matches serve as gatherings for people to make new friends. "Playing duplicate at the library is a great way to build up confidence," says Bill Renke, "and gain experience before playing in larger tournaments."

Interested players may simply come to the Newtonville Library Hall at 7:30 p.m. on the first Monday of each month, or telephone Bill Renke at 492-6023 (school) or 332-4426 (home).

Current regular members are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arnold, Lloyd Arvedon, Mrs. Marion Bailing, Howard Belkin, Eric Carleen, Ann Cohen, Mrs. Edith Corman, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Davidson, Richard Feldman,

Mrs. Mary Shannon, President of the Dedham Chapter of the League of Women Voters will speak to the group on Legislative procedures and Mrs. Laura Putnam, past president will speak on League Works and Goals. A question and answer period will follow the talks and election of officers for the coming year will be held.

A coffee hour will follow the program.

Feuer Elected President Of Needham Firm

Mr. Leo J. Feuer of Newton has been elected president of The William Carter Company, the nationally-known, century-old Needham Heights knitwear manufacturing firm.

The announcement was made, along with other advancements and promotions at the top administrative level of the firm, following a meeting of the Carter stockholders and board of directors on April 21.

Mr. Feuer had served as Executive Vice President since 1967. He is a 1943 graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and joined the firm in 1947 as a development engineer.

He was promoted to Director of Research and Development in 1951 and elected to the company's Board of Directors in 1965.

Mr. Feuer is a member of the M.I.T. Club of Boston; the American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM); the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists (AATCC); and a former member of the U.S. Government Textile Division of Science Advisory Board.

Mr. Feuer and his wife, the former Marguerite T. Brink of Newton, have five children and reside at 43 Fairmont Ave., Newton.

Newton Joins Charles River
Cleanup Drive

Part of the meandering Charles River is going to the cleaners, including a section in Newton.

The shoreline of the river from Dedham to the Lower Basin in Boston, will be picked clean of trash in a massive drive sponsored by the Metropolitan District Commission on May 16.

MDC Commr. John W. Sears has asked residents in the area to volunteer their services during the day in the cleanup campaign.

Sears said the riverbank will be divided into seven sections, with specific groups responsible for each. Sears said a report-back process will be used to maintain the "house-keeping of the bank" by the responsible groups.

On the Newton side, James Kennedy of 461 Wolcott st., Auburndale, will be in charge of that river from Ward ave. to Rte. 30.

The MDC will provide trucks and heavy equipment to remove debris and also to help with new planting, installation of benches and other river bank fixtures.

Newton residents interested in helping may contact Mr. Kennedy.

Science Classes Attend Conclave

Science class students from both Newton and Newton-South High Schools will attend the American Society for Microbiology's 70th annual meeting today in Boston. More than 7500 of the country's leading scientists are attending this event making Boston the center of the scientific world this week.

Discussion of careers in microbiology, presentation of technical papers, the science film theater and technical exhibits are all part of the agenda.

Leona J. Breslow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Breslow of 129 Spiers road, Newton Centre, has achieved the required 3.5 or above average in her first semester at the University of Massachusetts entitling her to join Alpha Lambda Delta, national honor society. Expectant Parents Classes Start May 13 At Hospital Classes for expectant parents will begin Wednesday, May 13, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. An eight week comprehensive program in "Prepared Parenthood" is being sponsored by the Boston Association for Childbirth Education, (BACE). Mrs. Regis Roderick, R.N. of Wellesley will conduct the course.

The classes include detailed instruction about anatomy, physiology, labor and delivery. Available medications and anesthetics are discussed. Postpartum care, baby care, and breast feeding are covered.

Special emphasis is placed on the supportive role of the husband during labor and delivery.

Mrs. Roderick said, "The main objective of the course is to teach parents how to achieve a satisfying and meaningful experience from childbirth. In order to do this, the program includes techniques for relaxation and specific breathing methods (La Maze) proven to help relieve discomfort during labor and delivery. We aim to have each parent participate in the birth of their child to the degree which they are able and desirous to do so."

By being prepared and knowing what to expect in childbirth, the fear of the unknown, and its anxiety producing discomforts is diminished. Prepared parents can look forward to the birth of their child with that special joy and excitement that is to be found only in parenthood.

Mrs. Roderick's lectures will be complemented with films, reading material, and group discussions. Mrs. Roderick received her R.N. from Misericordia Hospital School of Nursing, N.Y., N.Y. She obtained her B.S. in Nursing from Boston College.

She served in Public Health Nursing and was an instructor at the Faulkner Hospital School of Nursing.

The Boston Association for Childbirth Education has conducted similar sessions in the Family - Centered approach to childbirth for the past 17 years, and has helped many parents prepare and participate in childbirth. University Women Meet On May 6th

The annual dinner meeting of the Framingham-Wellesley Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held on Wednesday evening, May 6, at the Officer's Club, U.S. Army Natick Laboratories, in Natick.

The group will be privileged to hear Mrs. William B. Floyd, Director of the John Hubbard Sturgis Research Fund, Architectural Heritage Inc. She will speak on "Historical Architecture in Today's Urban Space," in conjunction with one of the group's chosen topics for study, "The Human Use of Urban Space."

Mrs. Floyd has successfully combined a brilliant architectural career with a career in homemaking. She resides with her husband and three children in Weston. Receiving her B.A. in History of Art from Wellesley College in 1953, she then went to the University of New Mexico where she received her Master's in the History of Art in Architecture.

She was the recipient of the Stevens Traveling Fellowship from Wellesley College in 1969-70, and Scholar of the Radcliffe Institute in 1969-70, and 1970-71.

Some of her professional affiliations include being a member of the Society of Architectural Historians; Wellesley College Friends of Art; and Weston Historical Society. She has also had numerous publications in professional journals.

Mrs. Floyd will be introduced by Mrs. Oscar Jostedt of Wellesley Hills, Cultural Interests Area Representative for the group.

Harvard Women's Luncheon To Be Held On May 7
The Harvard Women's Club of Boston will hold their annual luncheon on Thursday, May 7th at the Longwood Towers, Brookline.

An election of officers for the next club season will precede the luncheon. Mrs. Kenneth Goepfer, president, will introduce the musical program of the afternoon, entitled "Notes from Broadway." Harriet H. Buckingham, soloist, will be accompanied on the piano by Eleanor Webber.

Mrs. Buckingham studied voice at Boston University where she received her Master's Degree in music. Here she won national honors when she was selected to sing before the convention of the Mu Phi Alpha Professional Music Sorority in Seattle, Washington.

Club members planning to attend from the Newton, Brookline, Dedham area are: Mesdames Arthur Anderson, Walter Blanchard, Edward Gray, William Looney, John E. Milea, Neal O'Hara, Max R. The 85th Annual Meeting of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association was held in Tuesday, April 14 at Allen Riddle Hall. More than 200 interested members of the association gathered at 10 o'clock for the coffee hour which preceded the meeting at 10:30.

The highlight was the announcement made by the retiring treasurer, Mrs. Clinton H. Shattuck of Wellesley that the Aid is the recipient of a large bequest in the amount of $66,000 from the late Mrs. Donald G. Morse of Wellesley. Mrs. Morse served for many years as chairman of the New Born Photo project and was a long aid faithful director of the Aid.

Pourers were past presidents Mrs. Winslow H. Adams, Auburndale; Mrs. Edward P. Garland, Wellesley; and Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., Waban. Special greetings were given another past president, Mrs. P. Edward Eden, formerly of Newton Highlands and now of Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Greetings were given by Richard P. Axten, hospital president and William S. Brines, hospital executive vice president, both of Wellesley.

Following the informative address given on "Drugs, Sex and the Younger Generation" by Dr. William E. Stone, director, Newton Mental Health Center, the business meeting took place.

Mrs. Ronald W. Adams of Newton, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of new officers and directors as follows: President, Mrs. Jarvis Farley, Wellesley; 1st Vice President, Mrs. Charles A. Higgins, Weston; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. H. J. Purple, Newton; recording secretary, Mrs. Richard L. Kenney, Auburndale; corresponding secretary, Mrs. David L. Currier, Newton Lower Falls; Treasurer, Mrs. Thomas E. Franks, Wellesley Hills and Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Edward V. Hickey Jr., West Newton.

New Directors include Mrs. Robert F. Beck and Mrs. William R. Martineau, Needham; Mrs. Maxwell Schleifer, Newton; Mrs. Julian D. Anthony, Mrs. William S. Duncklee, Mrs. William F. Fullerton and Mrs. Frederick H. Hovey, Jr., Newton Centre;

Robert H. M. Young Jr., son of Mrs. Gloria Tenney of 30 Cedar road will receive a B.A. degree in government at commencement exercises at the end of May from Beloit College, Beloit, Wisc.

Rep. Margaret Heckler (R) Flays U.S. Policy in Laos

Rep. Margaret Heckler (R-Mass.) sharply criticized United States policy in Laos, alleging this country is waging a secret war behind the backs of Congress and the American people, during a speaking engagement at the Sidney Hill Country Club Tuesday. Mrs. Heckler has just returned from a 12-day tour of Southeast Asia.

Comparing Laos in 1963 to Cambodia at the present time, Mrs. Heckler asked, "Will we also be sucked step by step into Cambodia's war?"

Students Stay Out

A substantial number of students at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale remained away from classes for the fourth consecutive day yesterday in protest against the dropping of five faculty members.

Freeport Answers Several Questions On Its Project

Freeport Foundation today responded to widespread inquiries by releasing a "Questions and Answers" sheet prepared for the Newton aldermen now considering Freeport's application for permissive land use for the house at 361 Commonwealth Ave., Newton.

Freeport House will offer a temporary home for Newton High School students who should be taken out of a tense family situation but need to be living in Newton in order to stay in their school and be near teachers, family, and friends.

According to a restriction voted by the aldermanic Land Use committee on April 16, there are to be no more than nine young people, including both the "client students" and the "model students," living at Freeport House sharing the chores and responsibilities cooperatively.

House parents supervising the Freeport students will be Rev. and Mrs. Charles Blake, a former missionary couple who have worked extensively with young persons both in this country and abroad. With most of their own five children already grown up or in college, the Blakes are welcoming this opportunity to befriend boys and girls who need a warm, supportive family life such as the House will offer.

The "Questions and Answers" sheet covers the most common inquiries.

How many people will live at Freeport House?

When the house is ready for residence, the houseparents and their family, if any, will move in. Shortly thereafter, three students, two of them "clients" and one a "volunteer," will be added. Although the house can easily accommodate 18 people, the house population will grow by only one person at a time, a new student being added only when the house community and the consulting staff feel that this can be done comfortably.

Who will do the day-to-day chores?

The daily jobs (cooking, cleaning, laundry, yardwork, trash disposal, etc.) will be done by the students and houseparents cooperatively.

Will drugs be allowed?

No. Any person found possessing or using unlawful drugs will be required to leave.

Will students be allowed to drink alcoholic beverages?

No. Anyone drinking unlawfully will be required to leave.

Will sexual relationships be allowed?

No. Any student engaging in unlawful sexual relationships will be required to leave.

Will students have motor vehicles?

No. Students living at Freeport may not have a car, motor cycle, or any other motor vehicle.

Will there be a parking problem?

No. The carriage house can hold at least two cars and the grounds can accommodate five. On street parking will be in accordance with the residential atmosphere of the neighborhood.

Will there be a visitor problem?

No. Visiting will be limited, and all visitors will have to be cleared in advance with the houseparents so that the number at any time is not inappropriate.

How will the carriage house be used?

The carriage house will be used for parking and storage. It will not be used for living quarters.

Will Freeport's occupancy of this house make it unsuitable for future family occupancy?

No. In accordance with the residential atmosphere of the neighborhood and the aims of the Freeport family, the only changes to be made will improve the house in structure and appearance.

Lacrosse Squad Sets Fast Record To Date

Since its inception at Newton High as a varsity sport three years ago, lacrosse has grown with the enthusiasm of all attached to the program. This spring the athletic department was able to obtain the coaching services of Ross Parham, former high school All American and coach at West Point and Harvard.

After looking over last year's record and this year's team Coach Parham decided that NHS was ready to play the private school varsities. For many years lacrosse was played primarily in the private schools in this area but last year's performance seemed to merit varsity versus varsity play.

When the team arrived at South Byfield to play Governor Dummer much to the team's collective chagrin, they found the school's jayvees ready to play. What followed was a 17 to 0 drubbing and it is a good bet that the next time these teams meet it will be strictly varsity teams involved.

Junior Dave Hallet scored four times to lead the onslaught while Brian Maroney, who was scoreless up until this game scored three times. Steve McCarthy, Richard Johnson, John Murphy, George Reynolds and Charlie Levin all scored twice.

By periods NHS poured in six in the opening period, four in the second, three in the third and four in the final set. Sharing the netminding while working the shutout were Bill Eger and Vin "O.J." Greco.

Contests versus Andover Academy jayvees and Needham ran the teams record to 5-0. The Needham contest was a fight punctuated match with Newton winning the fights and the game.

Against Andover Newton relied on a tough defense which only allowed ten shots on diminutive goalie Bill Eger. Scoring honors went to George Reynolds with two scores.

Reynolds now has accounted for ten goals in the young season. Other scorers for NHS were Steve McCarthy, Charlie Levin, Rich Clark and Charlie MacGillivray.

All the scoring was done in the second and fourth periods with Newton scoring three in each and Andover tallying one in the second.

Earlier this week Newton battled Longmeadow and Tabor Academy. Next week they face Concord-Carlisle and Winchester, one of the few public schools to play lacrosse for any great length of time.

'Y' Sets Up Tennis Course Opener May 5

The Newton Y.M.C.A. will offer an extensive program in tennis for both beginner and intermediate levels. All sessions are co-ed for men and women 15 years of age and upward.

Morning sessions, Tuesdays and Thursdays, between 10:30 a.m. and 12 noon, will be offered on the following dates for beginners: May 5, May 26, June 16, and July 14, and August 25. The same dates will apply for the evening sessions for beginners between 6:00 and 7:30 p.m. Intermediate sessions on Mondays and Wednesdays will commence on May 11, June 1, June 22 and July 13.

All sessions include five one and one-half hours periods. Intermediate classes are limited to ten persons per class, while beginner classes are limited to fifteen persons per class.

Mrs. Patricia Higgins will instruct the morning beginner classes and the evening intermediate classes. Mr. Richard Schuman will instruct the evening beginner classes for the third year. Both instructors have extensive background and experience in the field of tennis.

For further information contact the Y.M.C.A. Physical Department, at 244-6650. The Newton Y.M.C.A. is located off of Exit 17 of the Massachusetts Turnpike extension. The "Y" serves all communities in the west suburban area.

Newton Beats Waltham In 2-Day, 15-Frame Game 7-4

It took the Newton High baseball team fifteen innings and two days but they finally managed to humble Waltham 7 to 4 last week to take an early season lead in the Suburban League. Both teams were undefeated previously.

On Tuesday Waltham and Newton threw the aces of their staffs, Jethro Mills for the visiting Orange and black and Ed Elliott for the Hawks. Newton, the victim of one poor defensive frame was down 3 to 1 going into the final inning. Chuck Pendergast led off with an opposite field triple. After Bob Wargin fanned Mills knocked in Pendergast with an infield hit down the third base line.

Bob Fabiano was passed and Mike Lally advanced them with a groundout to bring up first baseman Len Gentile. Gentile hadn't gotten the ball out of the infield and had left the bases loaded the last two times up.

Gentile again seemingly obliged with a bounce to shortstop Lou Annunziata. The anxious shortstop threw wide however, pulling Ned Yetten off the bag and allowing Mills to score.

A rhubarb ensued with volatile Waltham coach Ray Yetten charging umpire Ray Cuihane. After a short heated discussion Yetten was tossed. It was the second consecutive year that Yetten didn't last seven versus Newton.

After the argument third baseman Eric Bell was struck out to end the inning. A brief Waltham rally in the eighth was foiled and the rain began to pour down and the game called until the next day.

Both teams did the rest of their scoring in the second frame. A free pass to Paul Aronian with the bases filled was how NHS scored. Elliott led off the inning by reaching on an error by second sacker Paul Aronian. Catcher Brian Osganian bunted his way on and Jim Auld tried to sacrifice them both with a bunt but first baseman Gentile threw the ball into left allowing Elliott to score.

A wild pitch and a dropped fly scored the other two runs as the usually well drilled Newton defense had quite a lapse. In the pitching statistics Mills struck out eight and walked none while giving up six hits.

The chunky Elliott was wild with eight free passes but he struck out eleven and got out of two bases plugged jams.

The next day the sometime lethargic Newton offense came to life. NHS scored four in the first but Waltham came back with three in the bottom half frame.

The Waltham comeback was shortened by the fielding brilliance of shortstop Chuck Pendergast. With two on and no outs Pendergast, with his back to the plate made a diving grab of a Ned Yetten pop in short left.

The first inning saw another beauty in the field by sophomore Eric Bell. With men on first and second Bell dove and stopped a shot with his backhand headed down the leftfield line and scrambled to the base for the final out of the inning.

Offensively Pendergast had two hits as did Mills and Lally. Gentile struck three safeties. Gentile had three hits while Lally stole three times, all on delayed steals and Pendergast pilfered two.

Thursday Newton returned to Dickinson Stadium and easily whipped Arlington, 7 to 1. Steve Matloff picked up his second win going all the way and allowing three hits, striking out four and walking none.

For Matloff it was his eleventh inning of the season.

LONG, LONG ROAD AHEAD — With one lap gone in the eight-lap, two-mile run, the field is still together. Out front is Jeff Grossman who went on to win handily and lead a Newton High sweep of the inter-city duel.

Newton High Trackmen Set Up 115-25 Win Over South

The Newton High Track four sweeps in what has come to be a typical Newton-Newton South track meeting.

Double winners for NHS were co-captains Steve Scrimshaw, and Skip Fawson and Stan Birdwell, indoor captain elect.

Both captains drew praise from Coach Ed Boyle. Scrimshaw with a fast 51.3 quarter mile and Fawson with a 177' 5" heave in the javelin. Both were exceptional early season showings.

Fawson began the meet with a win in the 120 high hurdles in the time of sixteen seconds. Al Alphin, only a sophomore finished second in his first high school competition.

In the low hurdles NHS was 1, 2 as Birdwell skinned over the 180-yard event in 22.3. He was followed by Paul Fayre, another sophomore.

Football standout George Norcross led a sweep of the 100 with a 10.8 clocking. Gordon Manter and Paul Price were second and third respectively. Norcross placed in the BAA and State Meet last winter and should be set for a top outdoor season.

Alan Boyer and Mike Tymen were another pair of 1, 2 finishers in the 220. Boyer covered the furlong in 23.6 in winning going away from the rest of the field.

Co-captain Scrimshaw swept to victory in the quarter with junior Jim Doolin right behind him for much of the race. Doolin is another newcomer to track and has shown fantastic promise (a 53 second quarter in his first 440) in the short time he has been out for track.

Senior cross country captain Doug Tomb eased to a 2:10.3 verdict in the half mile. Dick Chasson, another soph was third.

The mile was an NHS sweep with Dave Blake winning at the tape in 4:53.7. Jim Boyes and Chris Doolin were all within two seconds of the winner. Chris is the other half of the brother combination and his 4:55 clocking for this first

The junior right hander, who is 6 foot 3, rightly stands at 2:40 on the season and fashions a glittering 1.67 earned run average.

According to head Coach Art Ditmar, "If Dana continues to perform in the same manner he is a good bet for All New England honors as a pitcher."

Billy Hamill Memorial Fund Established Here

Friends of the late Billy Hamill, one of Newton High's all time athletes, who died recently at the age of 33 are launching a memorial fund to be presented to his family.

A committee headed by former teammate Russ Halloran, business manager and baseball coach at Rivers Country Day School in Weston, has been organized.

The Billy Hamill Memorial Fund Committee plans to establish an annual baseball trophy to be awarded to the outstanding high school baseball player in the city.

Coaches from Newton High, Newton South High, Our Lady's, Sacred Heart and St. Sebastian will each nominate a candidate. The committee will select a winner.

A large permanent trophy will be presented to the winner's school and an individual trophy will be given to the recipient.

Hamill participated in three sports at Newton High but he was best known for his baseball ability. He was the only schoolboy to be chosen all-scholastic for four years. He also holds two Newton High marks — highest average in a season .484 and career average .396.

Hamill was signed by the Boston Red Sox as a junior at Holy Cross. He played minor league ball for three years, batting for more than .300

Newton Tennis Team Bows In Opening Match

Lincoln Sudbury, led by last year's State Individual Champion John Ingard routed the Newton High tennis team in their initial match of the year last Wednesday at Newton High.

Ingard, defeated Marc Brass 6-1, 6-0 as did Tracy Keovil to Bob Scheper in the numbers one and two singles position. Other wins for Lincoln were recorded by Bill Cruikshank who defeated Rick Farian in two sets by identical 6-3 scores.

The first doubles team of Ken Sauter and Bruce Johnson defeated were victorious for Lincoln. Art Greenberg and Bob Burke in the second doubles were Newton's only win. They defeated Chris Walkley and Steve Atwood 6-2, 6-6, 6-3.

With this drubbing in would seem Newton State Championship hopes would be dulled but quite to the contrary three top Newton players were absent for this meet and if these teams meet again later on in the season the outcome could be very different.

This week Newton heads into their first full week of tennis with matches scheduled for three days. Coach George Jessup estimated that the team will play in excess of thirty matches this spring.

Patriots Invited To Reym Men's Sports Night

Two star players of the Boston Patriots, Larry Eisenhauer, All Star defensive end and Jon Morris, All Star center, will be special guests of the Temple Reym Brotherhood at its annual Family Sports Night dinner Tuesday, May 5. The affair will be held at the temple's Ord's Social Hall starting at 6 p.m.

Reservations and further information may be obtained from Dinner Chairman Marty Goldenberg at LA 7-8010 and Allen Post at 969-1543.

Other committeemen include Bob Garber, Leon Landman, Phil Marsh, Nathan Seltzer and Lou Tobin.

PTA Council Meeting Due On May 7th

The next meeting of the Newton PTA Council will be held Thursday, May 7, at 8:00 p.m. at the Spaulding School. The business for the meeting will include Rev. Joseph O'Donnell's report on the Review Conference and a report of Council's Charter Review representatives, Champe Fisher and Dr. Gilbert Friedell. The election of officers will also take place.

An added feature will be the introduction of AFS Students by Dr. Philip Richmond. These students are: Matts Larson from Sweden; Norma Kriger from South Africa; Chris Beeman from Germany; and Liz Richter from Switzerland.

The program for the evening promises to be an outstanding one. Mr. Irwin Hoogheem, from the Division of Pupil Personnel Services, will speak on DRUG EDUCATION IN THE NEWTON SCHOOLS.

Mr. Hoogheem has been working out material for Newton teachers to present in their curriculum and has worked directly as a counselor with students with problems of drug abuse. He is also a member of the citizen's committee set up by the Mayor to study the drug problem in Newton.

Mr. Hoogheem will discuss the Drug Education Program of the Newton Schools, and the community resources available to deal with drug problems, and will comment on the possible role of the PTA in a united community effort to deal with this problem.

Women's Softball League Planned

The Newton Recreation Department is starting a Softball League this summer. The league will consist of teams sponsored by local businesses.

If you have a group of women who are interested or would be interested in sponsoring a team, call Fran Towle at the Newton Recreation Department, 969-3171.

On Wednesday, May 6, at 7:30 p.m., there will be a meeting at the Recreation Office on 70 Crescent street, Auburndale. At this time a temporary roster will be handed in by each team and further information concerning the league will be discussed.

Murray Rd. Students Now Instructing In Schools

Murray road students are entering other Newton Schools, tutoring and teaching elementary and junior high schools throughout the city. The teacher-tutor program is one course coordinated by a Murray road teacher, Mrs. Carol Lynch. Murray road students go to different schools and instruct individuals or whole classes in such subjects as math, drama, poetry, and art. Twenty-five per cent of the student body or about 30 students are involved in the program.

Students meet collectively with Mrs. Lynch to discuss their progress and problems in teaching. The entire school system benefits from the program and so do the students. Students have to know their subject inside out to teach the inquisitive pupils and in teaching they learn a great deal about the learning process and themselves.

Some students tutor individuals or teach full-credit courses at Murray road. They present to the faculty an informal course syllabus and their qualifications to teach a course. The core faculty meets to consider acceptance of the course. The subject teacher sponsors the student and together they coordinate and develop a course such as Myth/Sociology, German, Computers, etc.

Students often react with greater enthusiasm when taught by people closer to their peer group, and teacher-students enjoy sharing their ideas. In the future, it is hoped this technique of having students tutor students will become more common.

MRS. RUTH KARP

Waban Woman Asst. Dean At Northeastern

A Waban woman who raised a family, then began her college studies, was named assistant dean of Northeastern University's College of Liberal Arts yesterday.

Mrs. Ruth Harris Karp of 32 Warren Road, was graduated from Brooklyn's Eastern District High School, and received an associate's degree in liberal arts from Newton Junior College in 1963.

She was graduated magna cum laude from Boston University, with a bachelor's degree in government history in 1966, and earned her master's degree in history from Northeastern University in 1968.

From 1966 - 1968, while studying for her master's degree, Mrs. Karp served as a teaching assistant in Northeastern's Department of History.

In July 1968, University President Asa S. Knowles named Mrs. Karp assistant to the dean of liberal arts, a position which she held until her present appointment.

Mrs. Karp was elected to Phi Beta Kappa while at Boston University, and holds memberships in Phi Alpha Theta and Phi Kappa Phi, both at Northeastern University.

She is a member of the American Historical Association and serves in various executive positions in the League of Women Voters.

She resides with her husband, Harvey, an electronics engineer, and has two children, Bruce and Marcia.

Shea Bill Calls Anti-Pollution Youth Corps

State Rep. H. James Shea Jr. of Newton, has filed legislation that would establish a youth corps to deal with environmental problems at the community level.

Shea's bill calls for a Youth For Environmental Survival Corps that would develop community action programs dealing with environmental abuses.

The group also would conduct education, research, and community organization projects. Three of its members of the governing commission would be under 26; half of the 12-member advisory council would be under 26 and the associate director would be under 30 at the time of appointment, under terms of the bill.

Among its duties would be the evaluation of the efficiency of current anti-pollution agencies.

Political Highlights

That was the sentiment expressed by the leader and spokesman of the Republican conservatives in Massachusetts — former GOP State Chairman Lloyd B. Waring — as he endorsed Linsky for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor after meeting with him.

Waring's stand will carry considerable weight with other conservative Republicans in the State. He is the top GOP fund-raiser and was one of President Nixon's leading supporters.

"I am writing this letter to express my personal support for you and your leadership in choosing Representative Martin Linsky of Brookline as your running mate in 1970," Mr. Waring declared in a letter to Governor Sargent.

He went on to stress that because the Governor and Lieutenant Governor candidates will be running as teams this year for the first time in Massachusetts history, the Governor has a responsibility to pick his running mate.

Waring praised Linsky as "an able young man who is both open and practical in his approach to the problems of the day." He forecast a Sargent-Linsky victory in November and offered any assistance he can give to help achieve it.

Crybaby Bill Baird Hopes To Run Against Kennedy

William H. Baird, the crybaby birth control crusader, is thinking about running against Senator Edward M. Kennedy next November.

Thinking about it is probably as far as he will get because the likelihood that his followers will obtain the 61,000 signatures needed to place his name on the ballot is so remote as to be non-existent.

Why Mr. Baird would even consider the possibility of opposing Ted Kennedy is a mystery to this onlooker, but he is a man who holds himself in very high esteem.

He called the writer recently to object to one of the pieces we had written about him. We agreed to publish his rebuttal, but it never arrived.

One of the things Mr. Baird, who has declared publicly that he isn't very brave, a fact on which there is no disagreement whatever from this corner, wanted to know was how much research we had done on him.

All we had been trying to say was that for a grown man and a supposed crusader he was a terrible crybaby, and not much research was needed to reach that conclusion.

Mr. Baird wanted to challenge the constitutionality of the birth control law in Massachusetts. So he precipitated a test case by violating that law. He was arrested, was convicted and sentenced to serve three months in Charles Street Jail.

The jail door had hardly clanged shut behind him when he began to cry for a parole or pardon. He indulged in such heroic measures as having his small children periodically join the picket line outside the Charles Street Jail.

Suffolk County District Attorney Garrett Byrne could not quite see why crusader Baird should be given a pardon or parole inasmuch as he had purposely, intentionally and wilfully violated a law in order to challenge its constitutionality.

Byrne is an old-fashioned schnook who has the weird idea that his duty as District Attorney is to uphold a law unless and until it is ruled invalid and stricken from the statute books.

So he let brave Bill languish for 36 days in the Charles Street Jail until he was freed on bail by a federal court.

When William finally came out of the bastille on Charles street to the cheers and applause of the proprietors of the radio talk shows, he sounded as if he had emerged from the worst of the Viet Cong horror prisons.

It was an under-statement when he declared that he's really not a brave man. (We're not either, but neither are we going to jail to precipitate any test cases in court. We would moan even longer and more loudly than Mr. Baird about the limitations of jail life.)

Harry Truman might say that you should stay out of the kitchen if you can't stand the heat. Translated, that means that if you can't stand 90 days in the hoosegow, don't get yourself arrested to test the constitutionality of the law.

It's too bad, though, that William H. Baird can't get the 61,000-odd signatures needed to place his name on the ballot as a candidate against Senator Edward M. Kennedy. Shades of Vinny Celeste! That would be interesting.

Columnist Claims Humphrey Can't Get Campaign Funds

It is somewhat difficult to accept the report of a national columnist that Hubert H. Humphrey, the unsuccessful Democratic nominee for President in 1968, may be unable to raise enough money to finance a campaign for election to his old seat in the U.S. Senate.

We thought HHH was so strong in his home state of Minnesota that all he had to do was collect enough signatures to place his name on the ballot and then sit back and wait for the votes to be counted.

But a syndicated columnist claims that Hubert has unhappily informed his aides that he may be forced to give up his idea of returning to the Senate unless somehow he can raise $750,000, a tidy sum, indeed, to pay the cost of his campaign.

It must be expensive campaigning out in Minnesota because newsmen say the Republicans already have raised more than $1 Million for Congressman Clark MacGregor who has been picked by President Nixon to run against Humphrey.

To some political experts it may seem surprising that Mr. Nixon is trying to block Mr. Humphrey's political comeback. He might not be able to defeat anyone else. Of course, Mr. Nixon may figure that if Mr. Humphrey can't run for the U.S. Senate, he may be obliged to wait and run again for President.

It also seems that Democratic leaders have been appealing to Humphrey to help wipe out the staggering $9 Million debt left from the 1968 Presidential campaign and that the honorable Hubert has been doing so, drying up some of the sources from which he might get the money to finance a run for the Senate. But we still think that one way or another he'll be a Senate candidate this year.

Shattuck Urges Larger Board

Former Newton Alderman Benjamin F. Shattuck has proposed that the size of the School Committee be increased from its present eight members to a 17-member group.

Shattuck made the suggestion in a letter to Charter Commission Chairman Florence Rubin.

He said the larger committee would give the city's 90,000 residents "broader representation . . . a wider spectrum of opinion . . ."

The community leader said that eight members could be elected at large plus one from each of the city's wards. The mayor would be the 17th member with full voting rights, under Shattuck's proposal.

He said local points of view would have a greater voice and also "with a larger number of committeemen, there would be less chance for enthusiasm to overcome common sense."

Gets Degree At Bates College

David Spooner Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Curtis, of 126 Pleasant street, Newton Centre, received the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the One Hundred Fourth Commencement of Bates College on April 20.

Curtis was an English major. During his junior year he was appointed to the position of student assistant to the English Department.

Court Order To Have Landlord Repair Property

A court order will be issued in connection with the city's bid to have a Newton landlord repair property that allegedly is in violation of the state sanitary code.

District Court Judge Francis J. Larkin requested Deputy City Solicitor Charles H. Morang to submit a list of all the city's applications for complaints against Abraham Ginsberg of Newton Lower Falls.

Judge Larkin made the request Friday (April 24) following a conference with Morang and Atty. George W. Cashman, counsel for Ginsberg.

Cashman told the court his client could fix up his property for half the cost it would take the city to do it.

Cashman said Ginsberg is in the process of doing that now at property at 6-8 Mechanic St. Cashman told Judge Larkin that Ginsberg began negotiations with Morang in February, 1968 to obtain federal low-interest loans for property repairs.

Cashman said, "Every one of the properties involved in the matter before the court, with one exception, were involved in the negotiations."

He said the cost of rehabilitation for all the property originally was estimated at $35,000. However, when the bids came back, the lowest cost was $37,600 for the property at 6-9 Mechanic St. alone.

Cashman said by using this figure as a guideline, it was estimated it would cost Ginsberg $400,000 to repair all the property by participating in the city's Code Enforcement Program.

The attorney said, "We were literally led down a blind alley during which time we would have been rehabilitating the property."

Morang told the judge the city possesses "all kinds of evidence, letters, orders and pleadings, asking Mr. Ginsberg to repair his property for five to 10 years."

He said, it is impossible to tell how much rehabilitation is going to cost until it is put out to bid."

Judge Larkin asked Morang to prepare a new list of all the city's applications for complaints. Some had been withdrawn because Morang and Cashman agreed there would be none sought against vacant apartments. Originally there were 78 applications.

Rowland Sylvester, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. Emerson Sylvester of 81 Woodland road, Auburndale, a 1968 graduate of Newton High School, is a featured performer on trumpet at a student recital scheduled for Ithaca College this month.

Carol Talkow, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Talkow of 86 Clements road, Newton, is stage manager for the Centenary College for Women production of "Good Housekeeping" by William McCleery set for next week in the Little Theater on the campus of the Hackettstown, N.J. school.

Pioneer In Medic Alert Field

Nominated As Secretary for Million Dollar Round Table

C. Robinson Fish III, C.L.U., Northwestern Mutual Life, Boston, has been nominated for the position of Secretary in the Million Dollar Round Table. This is an international association of 9,000 top life insurance salesmen residing in nearly two dozen countries around the world.

A resident of Waban, Fish is a native of Greenville, Rhode Island, and a 1944 graduate of Brown University. He is married to the former Shirley Arthur, Providence, and has three children. He served during World War II in the Pacific theatre as an officer in the U.S. Navy.

In addition to his reputation as a recognized expert in the field of life insurance sales, Fish has gained prominence in New England and nationwide for his interest and support of the Medic Alert program.

In 1962, Mr. and Mrs. Fish were faced with a personal problem: how to protect their 15-year-old son, who developed a sensitivity to tetanus toxoid. He was going away from home to school, and would be with strangers unfamiliar with the danger of giving him such shots.

In working out a warning system for his son, Fish realized that many other persons needed a way to advise strangers of their illnesses or allergies at times when those persons might be unable to explain their problems.

He pursued this matter with the board of directors of the Boston Life Underwriters Association, which was seeking a useful public service project. The board appointed him chairman of a committee to investigate the extent nationally of the problem.

After months of research and correspondence, the board voted to sponsor the Medic Alert System, begun in 1956 by a California doctor, Marion C. Collins, M.D. Community response was so overwhelming that the mayor of Boston proclaimed a "Medic Alert Month" and the project gained nationwide attention.

Aldermen -

"I was told it would come from an escrow," said Alderman Robert Tennant. "If they can just take $1 million from landscaping, then they can give $200,000 for a parking lot."

In discussing the request for the appropriation, Alderman Finance Committee Chairman Edward Cullen said that when construction on the new school begins, about 500 workmen will be coming into the area.

There are now 300 cars driven to school by faculty and administration. There are currently 226 legal parking spaces for them, some of which will be lost when the start of work on the new school, he declared.

The aldermen turned down the appropriation request, with a 12 to 3 vote. Voting to approve the money were Aldermen Jas. Sacks, Cullen and Harry L. Vane.

In other action the board: ... approved the sale for $5,000 of city-owned land adjacent to the Holy Sepulchre Church in West Newton for construction of a new church edifice.

... After considerable debate and an hour-long bench-closed-doors session approved an additional $1,000 for a new three-year $299,640 garbage contract with Capeno Brothers, the only bidder.

... Passed the city's annual "workable program" report to the federal government listing all city projects involving federal government money.

... Received information from Land Use Committee Chairman Alan Barkin stating the hearing dates for rezoning petitions on 10 sites chosen for low and moderate income housing by Newton Community Development Foundation could not be set until the parcels involved that are owned by the city are declared surplus by the city.

C. ROBINSON FISH

Trustees of the National Association of Life Underwriters (NALU), a 100,000 member organization located in Washington, D.C., were so impressed that they asked Fish to present the Medic Alert story at the next NALU annual meeting.

NALU subsequently endorsed the project, and more than 200 local associations now sponsor the project in their own communities. For its efforts the Boston association has received four major awards under the Louis I. Dublin National Public Service Award.

Fish is now a member of the National Medic Alert Board and Chairman of its nominating committee. Mrs. Fish has assisted in the project by writing many articles on Medic Alert and manning information booths at various conventions.

Fish has served as board member and President of the Boston Life Underwriters Association. He has also served on the board of the Boston Chapter of Chartered Life Underwriters and as Vice Chairman, NALU Public Service Committee. Within the Million Dollar Round Table he has served on the Bylaws, Membership and Program Development Committee — twice as Vice Chairman of Program Development. He was a speaker at both the 1965 and 1969 MDRT Annual Meetings. Officers will be elected at the Annual Business Meeting of the MDRT in the Hawaiian Village Convention Hall Honolulu, Hawaii.

"Drop-Ins" At Murray Rd. School

The relaxed atmosphere of the Murray Road School has produced an unexpected side effect, drop-ins. A drop-in is a student who has no affiliation with a school but goes to classes anyway. If Murray Road is truly pioneering educational techniques of tomorrow, future guidance counselors will not grow grey hair over drop-outs.

Drop-ins receive no official recognition, only personal satisfaction. "I come to class just because I like it," says Robin Kilson, a drop-in who is taking 5 Murray Road Courses while maintaining her regular high school studies. Most drop-ins can't carry as heavy a load as Robin, so drop-ins usually take night classes to avoid conflicts between regular high school studies and Murray Road studies.

Drop-ins may be attracted by the freedom, or maybe by the personal, friendly atmosphere, or maybe it is just their reaction to the inductive learning approach. But whatever it is, in whatever combination, it works.

The number of officially unofficial students is estimated to be 10 to 15 or approximately 10% of the regular student body of 120. Murray Roaders hope the number of drop-ins doesn't reach a problem level which would mean finding a humane-fair way to restrict drop-in participation.

Murray Road means different things to different people. For many people it has been immeasurably successful. Murray Road is not the only answer, and is not the answer for everyone, but for many, Murray Road has been an answer.

Mrs. Kahl Named To Radcliffe Institute

Mrs. Mary Carson Kahl of Waban has been appointed a Scholar of the Radcliffe Institute for the academic year 1970-71. She will carry on research in her field, French literature, in Radcliffe and Harvard.

Mrs. Kahl is a graduate of Mount Holyoke College. She holds the A.M. degree from Radcliffe College and the Ph.D. degree from Harvard. She will prepare for publication an analysis of the political themes of the French tragic theater in the early 17th century.

Mrs. Kahls, the mother of two children, is married to William Kahl, Provost of Simmons College.

Mother's Day Is Theme For May 5 Program

On Tuesday, May 5, at 7:30 p.m., the Mayflower Chapter B'nai B'rith will present a Mother's Day Program at the Leydon Congregational Church, 1835 Beacon Street, Brookline.

Headlining the program will be the Mayflower Choral Group led by Sol Stern of Newton. Refreshments will be served. Members as well as their mothers and grandmothers are all welcome.

The evenings entertainment has been planned by Mrs. Norman Stiller, program Chm., and Mrs. Walter Silver, co-chm., both of Newton. Mrs. Leo Sherman of Brookline, President, will preside. Members and guests are urged to note the change of date.

Nebraska has 5,570 miles of streams.

Work -

The girls' efforts produced nine fully-filled bags of cans, bottles, papers and other assorted debris.

Sharon Reisman, 28 Fairway Drive, West Newton, one of the members of the group, explained how the project got underway.

"We all felt we wanted to do something to improve the appearance of our community. We decided that going to meetings wouldn't really help that much. So, we chipped in, bought garbage bags and went out to clean up our own neighborhood."

The other volunteer members of the clean-up crew included: Joanne Green, 113 Beaumont, Newtonville; Diane Blue, 15 Charleston Park, Newtonville; Judi Rosen, 114 Lowell, Newtonville; and Janet Fay, 35 Kensington, Newtonville. All of the girls are ninth graders at Day Junior High.

Death By Drug Overdose At 19; Found in Boston

Ann Rebecca Evans, 19, 151 Parker street, Newton Centre, died from an over-dose of narcotic drugs, according to Dr. George W. Curtis, who examined her after she was taken to Boston City Hospital early Monday. She was found on a bench in a courtyard in Boston's South End.

Miss Evans is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Evans, and by a brother, John, and a sister, Susan.

Peter J. Racheotes, son of Mrs. Thelma E. Levine of 91 Oldham rd., West Newton, a graduate of Nason College with a B.A. degree and of the University of Massachusetts with an M.Ed. degree has also received his Ed.D. from the University of Mass. at Amherst. His major was in Counselor Education and he is a member of American Personnel and Guidance Association, the American School Counselor Association, Phi Delta Kappa and the American Psychological Association.

Local Women Are Sponsors Of Annual Antique Market

Three Newton Club women are sponsors for the big fifth annual Antiques Flea Market sponsored by Morgan Memorial of Boston, to raise funds to send the state's 400 neediest children to summer camp.

They are Mrs. Russell S. Broad, Mrs. Julian D. Anthony and Mrs. Bennett H. Stayman.

The spectacular event, drawing more than 150 antiques and specialty dealers from all parts of the eastern United States, will be held Saturday, May 23, at the Topsfield Fair Grounds, rain or shine, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

All proceeds of the event, largest of its kind in New England, will go into a special fund for needy children, recommended by 36 agencies.

The dealers, all collectors of rare items, will have thousands of articles for the curio hunters, and there will be plenty of "kooky stuff" at bargain prices that you would never find elsewhere.

The charity event drew several thousand browsers and buyers last year. In fact, many of the dealers are among the best buyers because they recognize unusual items that are being sought by people in various parts of the country.

There will be all kinds of things from past generations, and around the world, such as bone china, crystal, clocks, arts, silver, pottery, trunks, and a fabulous array of objects.

Morgan Memorial is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year.

From a small beginning the Goodwill plan of self-help for handicapped people began at Morgan Memorial. There are now 140 autonomous and non-profit Goodwill's throughout the U. S. and 22 overseas.

Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries is the largest voluntary, non-profit and non-sectarian agency in New England serving handicapped and disadvantaged people.

The camps program, started in 1906, and situated on a 500-acre tract of land in Athol, is one of the oldest and largest in the U. S. The camps program is just one of the several Morgan agencies serving all ages, needs and creeds.

Full Calendar For West Newton Convalescents

The residents of the Newton Convalescent Center of 25 Armory Street, West Newton, enjoyed a festive week starting on Monday (April 20th) with the traditional Passover Seder.

On Tuesday (April 21) another excellent feast was prepared by Harry Boehm while his son, Jay, participated in the service by chanting from the Haggadah. Everyone joined in song. This special Passover observance was appreciated by all.

On Wednesday, ten children from the Boston Club of South Boston visited the home and gave their presentation of Spring Poetry. They also joined the residents in a game of Bingo and refreshments.

On Sunday (April 26) Greek Easter was observed and all the residents helped our Greek Orthodox people celebrate their holiday.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS
 Italian food lovers know that Romagna's cookery is very different from Bologna's style. Less cream and heavy sauces are used. Ragù, for example, is drier. The pasta is made without water, just flour and eggs—whites and yolks in the white pasta and yolks alone in the red and green. Fish is used often, dressed in many different sauces and mixtures. Desserts are rich and luscious and the whole meal can be crowned with a good Italian wine.
 Meals are always a treat at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANTS, 111-113 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400, for we know people enjoy good food. Choose from a wide variety of entrees including choice beef, poultry and seafood. Open Sundays from 1:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Plan to bring Mother here on her day—May 10.

GOP Woms. Club To Tour Police Dept. On May 4

The Newton Women's Republican Club has re-scheduled its Tour of Police Facilities at Newton Police Headquarters, 1321 Washington Street, West Newton, cancelled because of the March 31 storm. The new date is Monday, May 4 at 8 p.m.

It will include a tour of police facilities, showing the crime detection laboratories, displays of narcotic devices, dangerous weapons, traffic enforcement equipment, and canine exhibition. Police Chief William F. Quinn will address the group, and explain some of the problems incident to law enforcement and crime detection.

Mrs. Rene J. Marcou, president of the Newton Women's Republican Club, and Mrs. Edward C. Beecher, program chairman, extend a cordial invitation to all residents of Newton to take advantage of this opportunity to become better acquainted with our protectors.

Heart Research Aid Women Plan Luncheon May 4

Women's Aid For Heart Research will hold its Annual Spring Brunch Monday, May 4th at the Blue Hills Country Club in Canton. The purpose of the Brunch is to raise funds for maintenance of the organization's self-imposed obligations in the fight against heart disease.

Women's Aid For Heart Research annually maintains the Herman L. Blumgart Clinical Research Fellowship at The Beth Israel Hospital. In addition they have donated Pacer-makers and other vital equipment to local hospitals, among them The Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Children's Hospital, Jewish Memorial Hospital, Cambridge City Hospital, and established a section of the Medical Library at Brandeis University. They are also vitally involved in the Cardio-Vascular Unit at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

The officers and members of Women's Aid For Heart Research are Mrs. Herbert H. Sawyer of Newton, President; Mrs. Merle Locke, Vice-President; Mrs. Albert Levine, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Melvin Weinstein, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. William Kopans and Mrs. Joseph Kruger, Treasurers; Mrs. Irving Kleinberg and Mrs. Sidney Shafer, Co-Chairmen of the 1970 Brunch.

Dinner Meeting Of Red Cross Is Set For May 28

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its Annual Dinner Meeting on May 28 at the Brae Burn Country Club, according to an announcement made today by the Annual Dinner chairman Henry J. Willson.

The social hour will be at 6 p.m. with dinner following at 7.

The principal speaker of the evening will be William J. Phillips, Assistant National Director of Disaster Services for the American Red Cross.

There will also be a business meeting at which time awards will be presented to those who have volunteered unusually long periods of service to the Newton Red Cross.

Charter House Hotel Invited To New Listing

National recognition for its outstanding facilities and services was received by a Newton hotel today.

David W. Cunningham, general manager of Charter House Hotel on Route 9 in Newton, announced that the hotel was invited for listing in the 12th edition of Mobil Travel Guide, country's best-known national travel guidebook.

The seven volume Travel Guide lists more than 24,000 restaurants, hotels, motels and resorts, rated on a one to five star basis. The Guide, which has been compared to the famed Guide-Michelin by travel experts, was just released to Mobil stations and bookstores.

For listing in the Guide, an establishment must be personally inspected by an impartial, trained inspector who reports his findings to an editorial board. Mobil has given complete independence to this group in deciding on listings and ratings.

Each of the seven regional editions gives valuable information on local history, sightseeing, amusements, sports and recreation facilities. They also include regional road atlases and detailed maps of major cities, special auto-tour sightseeing routes, and advice to travelers.

The Newton Charter House is operated by Hotel Corporation of America.

All-Newton Girl Scouts Set Spring Meeting For May 6th

The Third Spring Meeting of the All-Newton Girl Scouts will be held Wednesday, May 6, at 6:30 p.m., at the First Baptist Church in Newton, corner of Beacon and Centre Streets.

All Newton Girl Scout adults are urged to attend — leaders, troop committees, organizers, and consultants, and interested parents.

The meeting will be preceded by a pot-luck supper. Those attending are asked to bring a casserole, salad, dessert, or rolls and butter to serve eight people, and to bring their own silverware and dishes.

Senior Scouts will be special guests. Girl Guides from England and Australia will be represented. Of interest for discussion are Senior opportunities, national and international.

Lasell Junior College girls who are helping Girl Scout troops this spring with arts and crafts, singing, square and folk dancing, dramatics, first aid, out-door cooking, and camping will also be invited by the Scouts. Anne Hervey is Lasell telephone chairman.

Service pins for years of national membership and participation in all forms of Girl Scouting will be presented by the All-Newton Neighborhoods Chairman, Mrs. Newton A. Teixeira. Mrs. Julius Feldman is Chairman of Centre Neighborhood.

Two Newton Physicians Are Authors of Medical Studies

Studies by two Newton physicians on the staff of Beth Israel Hospital were recently published in two leading medical journals.

"Comparative Features and Course of Ulcerative and Granulomatous Colitis," by Dr. Donald J. Giotzer, appeared in the March issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

The paper, done in conjunction with Drs. H. Goldman and L. Zetzel of the B. I. staff and three former residents of the hospital, deals with the criteria used to distinguish the two types of colitis. Dr. Giotzer is an Associate Surgeon at Beth Israel and Assistant Professor of Surgery at Harvard Medical School.

Dr. John J. Skillman, Associate Surgeon at B.I. and a co-director of the Surgical Intensive Care Unit at the Hospital, co-authored a paper entitled, "Pulmonary Arteriovenous admixture — improvement with albumin and diuresis" which appeared in the April issue of the American Journal of Surgery. His co-authors were B. Parikh, a former resident at B.I., and Miss Barbara J. Tanenbaum, technician.

Math Teacher To Expand The Number System

Mathematics in its present state, with all its intricacies can't explain all natural phenomena. So, John Foss, a physics and math teacher at Murray Road School is exploring an expansion of the number system.

The number system has been expanded before to explain otherwise inexplicable phenomena. A few of the expansions were fractions, negative numbers, radicals, and complex numbers. However all of these expansions of the number system were fundamentally linear. Mr. Foss is planning to put aside the concept of linearity and create non-linear math.

He is presently assembling ideas for a physics text. He hopes to use the concept of non-linearity to explain certain events mathematically in a comprehensive under linearity, and use linearity to

Dr. Skillman, who is Assistant Professor of Surgery at Harvard Medical School, also presented a paper on gastric mucosal barrier studies at the meeting of the American Surgical Association in White Silver Springs, West Virginia, April 27 to 29. Co-authors are Drs. William Silen, Raphael Chung, and Sharon Gould, all of B.I.

Brimmer and May "Night at Pops"

Something new has been added this year to enhance the traditional Brimmer and May "Night at Pops" — a dinner at the Harvard Club for family and friends before the concert, on Monday, May 18.

The school Parent-Teacher group is sponsoring this fundraising project under the chairmanship of Mrs. John A. Paine of Weston and Mrs. Edward Bliss of Dedham.

Others on the committee are: Mrs. Bartlett H. Stone, Mrs. Frantz Warner, Mrs. Bernard Scher, Mrs. James Gabriel, Mrs. Seth C. Crocker, Mrs. A. L. Kershaw, Mrs. William McKibben, Mrs. M. Greely Summers, Mrs. Patrick Fitzpatrick, Mrs. David F. Hawkins, and Mrs. William M. Breed.

Early reservations have been made by Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Almy, Mr. and Mrs. William Young, Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Weyerhaeuser, Mr. and Mrs. George Kolligan, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rosenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Urbanett, Dr. and Mrs. George Bottomley, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Trott, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cogan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Connorton, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bacon. It is requested that reservations be sent in promptly. Those who are unable to attend the dinner are asked to come to the concert.

explain physical occurrences best understood through it. Students studying Foss Physics should find physics more understandable.

Masters degrees in physics from M.I.T. and Brandeis as well as John Foss's doctoral candidacy at M.I.T. in physics/math, all add faith to his ability to complete his ideas which are presently in an infancy. If he succeeds he will add a new perspective to math and physics.

HOE-DOWN COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING — Members of the committee making plans for the gala Western Hoe-Down to be held at Temple Mishkan Tefia, Saturday night, May 2nd at 8 o'clock, are, seated, left to right, Mrs. Sheldon Krantz, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Popkin; standing, Mrs. Sidney Sandler, Mrs. Harvey Granfield, Mrs. William Stein, William Stein, and Mrs. Jack Birnbaum.

3rd Country Players Show Is Now In Full Rehearsal

The spring production of the Newton Country Players is in full rehearsal swing now. "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" by Robert Anderson, a play consisting of four one-act plays, involves a large cast and crew of Newton Country Players members and is being directed by Howard Rosenfield of Allston.

The producer for this production is Shirley Vitello, who has been with the group for two years. Business and house manager is Mikki Krassin, who will be remembered for her role of Chantal in "The Balcony." Florence Cohen, who also appeared in "The Balcony" is wardrobe consultant, and Donna Thorman will be in charge on properties, assisted by Hope Schein and Diana Floyd.

Lt. Mark To Be Vietnam Advisor

First Lieutenant William Rothwell Mark of Newton, has graduated from the Military Assistance Advisor Course (MAAD) at the Institute for Military Assistance in Fort Bragg, N.C.

Lt. Mark, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mark of 69 Oakland Ave., Newton, is a graduate of Newton High School with a B.A. degree from Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, N.C. His wife, Pauline, is also a resident of Newton.

Lt. Mark was taught history, traditions, culture and geography of Vietnam during the six weeks course and received intensive language instruction which was designed to prepare him for advisory duty in Vietnam.

Inflation's Everywhere A spokesman for British Rail said the cost for using restrooms at the Euston and Victoria Stations would be increased from sixpence (six cents) to one shilling (12 cents) to include a clean towel in the service.

And if you don't want a clean towel? "Too bad," said the spokesman. "It will still cost one shilling."

We thought we knew what we were getting ourselves into.

Nobody thought it would be easy, but we didn't expect Volkswagen to be so tough, either.

Look what they made us do before we could hang out our VW shingle:

Have five square feet of land for every square foot of building. So there's room to grow. (We plan to be around for a long time.)

Put in our own ultra-modern "Diagnosis Department." (So we can spot small problems before they become big problems.) Stock a 90-day inventory of genuine VW parts. So what's needed is always on tap.

Give at least five times more space to parts-and-service than to the showroom. So we emphasize service as well as sales. Hire Volkswagen-schooled mechanics, rather than just good, experienced ones.

Buy new tools and lifts made especially for VWs. So VW service is fast and precise. With the right equipment.

Set up a used car lot. With cars we go out and buy. (So you'll have something to look at if you're not looking for a new car.)

But if you think Volkswagen is tough with us, wait 'til you see how demanding we are with ourselves.

We didn't get into this business just to become an ordinary car dealer. With ordinary service.

Local Women To Spring Event In Randolph

A number of Newton area women will be attending the Spring Conference of the New England Branch of the National League at Temple Beth Am in Randolph next Wednesday and Thursday (May 6 and 7).

Registration will open the Conference on Wednesday, May 6, from 1:30-2:30 p.m., to be followed by an "Idea Mart," an open forum on all phases of Sisterhood activity, chaired by Mrs. Leon Shulman.

Temple Emanuel of Newton will present the evening program, "The Fruits of Our Labor." On Thursday, May 7, at 10:45 a.m., the following sessions will be presented to coincide with the theme of the Conference, "Thou Shalt Not Stand By Idly": Meyer Goldstein of Brandeis University, Chairman of Concerned Jewish Student Group, will speak on "The New Generation, Jewish Style"; George Marcus, Educational Director of Temple Israel in Swampscott and Director of Camp Tel Noyar — "Operation Breakthrough in Jewish Education"; Mrs. Bernard Garber, New England President of Hadassah — "From Newton to Natanya, With Love";

Also Rabbi Samuel Kenner, Chairman of Greater Boston Commission on Soviet Jewish and N. E. Director of United Synagogue together with Faye Robbins, a Senior at Milton High who toured Russia with USY — "Midnight in Moscow, A Shadow On Our Conscience"; Murray Schwartz, Supervisor at Jewish Family and Children's Service — "The Price of Family Survival, An Ounce of Prevention"; Rabbi Gerald B. Zeligman of Temple B'nai Moshe — "A Kiddish On Blue Hill Ave., The Changing Inner City."

Following Lunch, Mrs. Samuel Siegel, Branch President, will present Mrs. Paul Perman of New York City, National Chairman of Leadership Training and Conference Guest Speaker, who will give the keynote address.

In the evening, Rabbi Abraham Kazis of Temple Beth Israel, Worcester, will install the newly elected officers and board.

Newton Boy Plays 'Dodger' In 'Oliver' Here May 7, 8

"Oliver," the heralded musical hit from Britain, will be ushered on to the Meadowbrook Jr. High School stage Friday and Saturday evenings, May 7 and 8.

Based on Charles Dickens' famous "Oliver Twist," the musical follows an appealing orphan boy's adventures in the grim underworld of London during the Victorian era.

It will include cast members from twenty-two towns in the southwest Boston tri-valley region, among them Joseph Shrand and Dr. Hyman Shrand of 283 Country Club Road in Newton.

In contrast to Dickens' work, "Oliver" as a musical takes on a unique charm in its light entertainment with a host of Lionel Bart songs that have become immediate favorites since the early five-year run in England and a two year sell-out in New York.

Scenes of squalor turn into rowdy revelry and a bleak workhouse where orphans are penned up and starved, for instance, becomes the site for a chorus of ragamuffins who beat spoons in empty gruel bowls and belt out a rousing paean to "Food, Glorious Food!"

The appealing role of "The Artful Dodger" is handled by eleven-year-old Joseph Shrand, who seems a natural for the part. Born in Capetown, South Africa and raised in London, he has lived in Newton for two years.

Having seen the original London production of "Oliver" several years ago, his long-held dream to play the role of "The Artful Dodger" is now being realized.

A cast of more than 100, along with full orchestra combine to produce the most exciting production of this well-known show. Having opened with four performances last week-end in Walpole, the production was met with rave reviews and comments, and sell-out houses.

A. E. Eldridge is directing "Oliver" and conducting its rich melodic score and Anne Matthies has designed the production's scenery that ranges from the grim workhouse to sunlit London streets, from the undertaker's macabre place of business to Fagin's school-room for thieves, from a dim-lit underworld tavern to the Thames embankment.

All proceeds from this production of "Oliver" will benefit the regional Center for Creative Arts, a unique non-profit organization which is developing a headquarters for providing cultural opportunities to everyone in the area.

Shrine Club Plans Dinner

Area members with wives and guests are planning to attend Past President's Night of Charles River Valley Shrine Club, Saturday, May 16, at Valle's Steak House.

Congregational Action Auction Tomorrow Nite

The Newton Highlands Congregational Church is having an ACTION AUCTION tomorrow evening (May 1st) at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall, with "Mad Auctioneers," Bill Bullen, Jim McDonald, Charlie Thompson and Warren Sylvester calling for bids for the many articles, useful as well as ornamental, which have been donated by members of the church.

The dinner, which will be at 6:30 p.m., will feature delicious home-cooked chicken followed by strawberry shortcake, prepared by a committee, headed by Mrs. Lester C. Smith.

The Hostess Chairman is Mrs. R. Alan Chesebro.

Shows Statues At Art Exhibit

Newton sculptor Polly Egelson is among the artists invited to participate in the annual art exhibition sponsored by Temple Shalom of Medford. The exhibit, entitled Art 11, will open next Sunday, May 3, from 2 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Egelson will show eight terra cotta statues and four bronzes. The exhibit will be open from May 3 through Wednesday, May 6.

Mrs. Egelson graduated from Radcliffe and has shown her art in galleries and museums throughout the Northeast.

For Cryin' Out Loud!

A myth of a hungry crocodile brought about the expression "crocodile tears," according to the Handy Book of Literary Curiosities, published by the Gale Research Co.

The old superstition has it that to lure victims within reach crocodiles would make moaning, sighing sounds like a person in distress. In fact, the book says, crocodiles do emit loud and plaintive cries something like the howling of dogs.

Carnival And Bargain Sale At Pine Manor

A gala Carnival and Bargain Sale to which the public is cordially invited will take place on the campus of Pine Manor Junior College in Chestnut Hill, on Saturday (May 9) 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Pine Manor Student Government and the student members of the Admissions Advisory Committee, the Saturday festival is planned as a scholarship benefit and is an expansion of student concern for offering increased financial aid to disadvantaged students.

Children of all ages will enjoy the pony rides, balloons, booths, and prizes now being planned for the Carnival. A bake sale of cookies, cakes, sandwiches and confections will be featured by members of the faculty. The Bargain Sale which will be held in the Main House in the Music Room, on the campus will offer for sale: clothes (all sizes), bikes, jewelry, "nick-nacks" and furniture.

Miss Elizabeth Case of 34 Roundwood Street, Newton, is faculty advisor for the financial aid festival.

The Pine Manor campus is located at 400 Heath Street, Chestnut Hill, and may be reached from Route 9 by turning south on Hammond Street for one short block and then turning left on to Heath Street. Further information may be secured by telephoning 734-9400. Young and old are cordially invited to the festival.

34th Event For Catholic League

Mrs. Angelo Traiello of Newton and Mrs. Paul T. Kendrick of Chestnut Hill are Congress Committee Members of the League of Catholic Women who will attend the 34th Diocesan Congress of the League to be held on Tuesday (May 12) at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston.

Theme of the congress this year will be Dynamics of Local Delegates To Women Voters D.C. Conference

The Fiftieth Anniversary National Convention of the League of Women Voters of the United States will take place in Washington, D.C., at the Sheraton-Park Hotel May 4-8, 1970.

Delegates from the League of Women Voters of Newton will be Mrs. F. Dow Smith, President of the Newton League; Mrs. A. Arthur Lowenthal, Unit Chairman; Mrs. Robert Wofsey, Second Vice President; and Mrs. Lawrence Rubin, Treasurer of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts.

At the 1970 Convention, the League will carry out the business of the organization which sets its course for the next biennium. This convention will conclude the celebration of the League's first fifty years and launch into the second.

In general sessions, delegates participate in the democratic process through debate and action on program, by-laws, budget and in the election of officers and directors.

Looking forward into the League's second half-century, this convention will consider the recommendations of the regional Structure-Procedures meetings held over the past year. Outside of convention sessions, caucuses are arranged by the delegates themselves to promote a program item or discuss a League issue.

As a double celebration of the twenty-fifth birthday of the United Nations coinciding with the League's fiftieth, delegates will have a special opportunity to attend a luncheon and hear outstanding speakers on American participation in the United Nations.

Dissent and the keynote address will be delivered by Richard Cardinal Cushing, Mrs. John C. Chipman of Chestnut Hill is vice-chairman of this event.

Dever Enters Contest For Middlesex County Sheriff

John F. Dever, Chairman of the Middlesex County Commission, has formally announced his candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Middlesex County.

Dever, 35, of 9 Canterbury

Road, Woburn, made the announcement at dual press conferences held recently in Boston and in Lowell.

In his statement the Commissioner, who was first elected to his post in 1962 when he was 26 years old,

They will travel by MBTA from Newton Centre Station to the Arlington St. Station, departing and returning within the formal school schedule.

Students will be chosen on the basis of their ability to handle responsibility and fulfill academic requirements in a different situation and their desire to be a part of the program, Lagios said. Parental approval will be required.

The overall objectives, as outlined by Lagios and other members of the Weeks staff, are to help students become more familiar with the city by first-hand involvement in the urban community; to deal with prejudices through daily contact with urban students and common learning tasks; to serve the Castle Square Community in various ways; and to help Weeks students become more responsible for their own learning by removing them from the regular school schedule and setting.

The spring program will include a science course on animal behavior, an urban course which combines English and Social Studies, a peer tutoring program in Math and French and a series of individual projects.

The urban studies will combine Weeks 9th graders with a group of Castle Square 8th graders who will grapple together with the question, "What does the urban environment teach us about the way people deal with the issues of self-identity, power and relationship?"

According to Lagios, this course will include such activities as taking a neighborhood tour, taping city sounds, studying demographic maps and city planning data; visiting the Haymarket Square area and comparing it to a supermarket; interviews with older residents and writing about a neighborhood 100 years ago; visiting City Hall, a police station and a court; and planning a Utopian city.

Committeeman Francis Frazier objected to the proposed project saying that as a Newton School Committee member he had no right to authorize expenditure of funds outside the city.

Supt. Aaron Fink said no additional funds would be required for the six week pilot program which, he explained, would be carefully evaluated before any continuation of the program was contemplated.

"Education is not confined to a school building in Newton," Fink declared. He compared this program to the Camp Union one which takes 6th graders to New Hampshire for a week for a first-hand study of nature.

"There is no way that a student can really understand the relationship to the inner city without going to the inner city," Fink emphasized.

Frazier replied by saying that the pilot program is just the beginning and the summer and fall programs that would probably follow call for five teachers.

"What kind of organization do we have that we can spare five teachers?" Frazier asked.

Committeeman Vincent Stanton, who did not vote in opposition to the program, did express some reservations. "Our desire to enter the real world can be an escape from reality. What brothers me is what we give up to do it! A really smashing program is one which provides relevance without sacrificing the core curriculum," Stanton said.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas expressed concern that the reallocation of instruction funds at Weeks to pay for the program might cause money shortages for other things at the school. Lagios responded that this would not happen.

Committeeman Alvin Mandell said he was in sympathy with this kind of program but felt it might be presumptuous for Newton to send 13 and 14 year-old social worker types to work with deep-seated social problems. He noted that remarks made by Mrs. Irene Bickelman of the Weeks staff indicated that the people of Castle Square have been taken advantage of through other temporary programs which move in and out of the area.

Therefore, Mandell said, a commitment to this six-week pilot program is almost a commitment to a summer program. "We were forced to cut funds for our program for perceptually handicapped children because of this year's fiscal situation. I would rather see the money go to that," Mandell asserted.

JOHN F. DEVER

called for an updating of the approach to penology as a means of reducing crimes.

"This is the period of the 70's," he said. "We have to be aware of the realities and the needs of the 70's. We must be able to recognize the deficiencies that may presently exist in the system, but more important, we must be willing and capable of making the system work to the best advantage of both the inmate and the public."

Dever, who is presently serving as a member of the President's Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, pledged to initiate programs geared to the rehabilitation of prisoners, including the extension of work release programs with proper safeguards and incentives.

The candidate declared that officials and public alike have asked the impossible of our courts and of the police.

"We demand that they do what is necessary to protect our property and persons," he said, "but insist that they accept provocation without parallel in our history. If they react harshly we criticize them for being too brutal. If they are lenient we criticize them for being too soft."

"Prisoners who have paid their debt to society need jobs. The prison inmate especially needs job placement bureaus and counselors, as well as vocational training programs in keeping with current job requirements on the open market."

Dever, now in his fourth consecutive year as president of the statewide Massachusetts Sheriffs and County Commissioners Association, said he envisioned programs which would restore the dignity to "our fellow man who finds himself in our correctional institutions; where too often and for too long, the emphasis has been on punishment and dehumanization."

Dever pointed to the figures on recidivism or prisoner return as an indication of the need for an updated approach. He added that alcoholics and drug addicts needed and deserved appropriate medical and psychiatric care rather than solitary confinement.

EdCo's purpose is to increase cooperation among city and suburban schools. The Title III Education Act has provided funds for a program of public information on the innovative program at Meadowbrook Junior High.

The three-day event, jointly sponsored by the State Department of Education and PACE (Projects to Advance Creativity in Education) will include 66 exhibits and presentations that demonstrate creative teaching.

The Creative Education Fair is expected to attract thousands of visitors to the Boston City Hall. Among these will be Governor Francis W. Sargent and Boston Mayor Kevin H. White.

Both have issued proclamations praising the participating school systems and the individual teachers who are working on presentations.

Allan Dinner of 12 Kenilworth Street, Newton, has been singled out for special scholastic recognition at Indiana University where he is a dean's list student.

The Committee, in its report declared that "the drug abuse problem just cannot be separated from the other problems of youth and the ills of our society."

The Youth Services Department recommended by the Drug Study Committee would have an executive director and would have the same status as other municipal agencies such as school, police and fire.

It would act as a clearing house for any programs, agencies, public or private, including the court clinic, that are related to all of youth problems and needs," according to the report.

"The department would coordinate, integrate and evaluate the numerous agencies throughout the city that deal with youth problems and needs. It would retire inefficient and overlapping programs and reinforce those that are most effective," the report also points out. That “There would be a 20-30 member youth advisory council consisting of citizens from various professional and law organizations as well as a representative group of teenagers,” the report adds.

The committee also recommended:

- Graduated education programs starting with the primary grades for the schools and programs for parents, churches and —Enough financial support to apprehend the pusher and seek out all possible sources of supply.

—A 24-hour telephone line ("Hot Line") as a service to youth to call at any time in a crisis resulting from any cause, staffed by professionals.

—A facility such as the Freepoint House that is a residence for a limited number of children in the Newton Community as an alternative environment when an extraordinarily unhappy home life becomes a threat to the child's mental health and his proper social interaction.

where the child and the parents will be involved.

In the areas of treatment and rehabilitation the Committee recommended:

- Diagnoses, evaluation, and psychiatric treatment through the Newton Mental Health Center.
- The Newton-Wellesley Hospital to deal with the immediate medical emergency resulting from drug abuse.
- Half-Way House as a residence staffed by trained professionals to deal with the addict who volunteers himself for help.

—Middlesex County Hospital or an adaptation of at least a portion of the hospital for the inpatient drug addict for modification of the existing facilities to provide a portion as a center for inpatient drug addicts. The Committee supports pending legislation for use of Middlesex County Hospital as a 24-hour-a-day drug center with in-patient and out-patient facilities.

—Measures to allow first-time drug offenders not to receive permanent criminal records. The Committee endorses Attorney General Quinn's proposal that repeated offenders be given a choice between punishment and treatment.

- Rehabilitation Counseling
- Coordination with Other Municipal, County and State programs.

One high school student was quoted as saying he knew 11 fellow students who had used heroin.

That section of the report stated:

There were four students of our committee, one from each of the major high schools of both public and parochial schools. The students recommended that the findings indicated that the widespread use of drugs particularly marijuana, the use of which they estimated was from 30 to 70 per cent. Use of other drugs like heroin or LSD was confined to a smaller group.

"One student said he knew 10 students that had used heroin. This is in one of the schools. Another student mentioned that alcohol is used 80 to 90 per cent of the students. They saw that the

"All of them noted a dramatic increase over the past two years. One of the students put it this way, 'The problem that we are facing is not simply a drug problem, but a problem of youth. A generation with dissent in its gut, Vietnam in its heart and drugs in its system will soon be in power. Society is partly to blame and the government is partly so and the individual also.'"

The message that the com-

is as follows:

"1. Children want parents more than ever to communicate with them on a meaningful level not just about drugs, but about all the other temptations and problems that the adult world presents them with. They are concerned about the 'drugs' many adults use, about their materialistic values and their lack of discipline and flouting of the law.

"2. Children and youth want authority and guidelines to be supplemented by facts and consistency. Force by itself is no longer effective. Youth has personalized the law, i.e., taken it as a personal affront to their 'freedoms.'

"3. Children and youth are willing to become involved if a challenging enough, well led program is presented to them. They want to see that the adults in our community

"4. Youth has to be served by concern, time and personal attention. The alternative of punishment no longer has the same deterrent effect especially to those children who have lost out in their battle to belong to their family or a healthy group of friends.

"5. There are pathological elements in our society that are all too willing to take over when the family and community give up. Under these circumstances they turn to disturbed peer groups and worse. The concerned adults have to get to their children before organized crime does.

"6. Youth have to be encouraged to take graduated and increasing responsibility for their actions. They have to be helped to fight their own

Sacred Heart College To Institute Summer Course

This year, for the first time, Newton College of the Sacred Heart will have a summer session. The program it will offer is a select choice of courses organized around the theme, "Recent Developments in the Study of Religion."

The teachers in the program will be drawn from the regular faculty of the college. Though anyone with a high school diploma or its equivalent can be admitted, each of the courses will be worth three college credits.

The courses will include: "Biblical Insights into Modern Problems," taught by Dr. Robert G. Rogers, Professor of the Old Testament and Director of the Summer Session; "Religion and Ethics," taught by Mr. Pierce, Professor of Religious Ethics; "Psychological Roots of Religious Development," Margaret M. Gorman, RSCJ, Professor of Psychology; "An Introduction to the Thought of Bernard Lonergan," Dr. William E. Murnion, Professor of The Philosophy of Religion.

The session will run Monday to Friday from June 29 through August 7. The classes will be an hour in length. The earliest will be at 9:00 p.m. and the latest 1:00 p.m.

For those who might want to attend the classes but cannot fit them into their schedule, there will be a special three-day workshop entitled "Christian Hope in a Revolutionary World," on July 16, 17, 18. The workshop will concentrate upon the relationship between Christian faith and social revolution.

The subject will be covered from a Biblical, an historical, a psychological, and an ethical point of view. The teachers from the summer session will also conduct the workshop.

Those who are interested in participating in either the classes or the workshop should write to Dr. Robert G. Rogers, Newton College of the Sacred Heart, Newton, Massachusetts 02159 or call him at 332-6700.

Harvard Honors Local Residents Next Thursday

Four Newton area residents are among the men and women to be honored at Harvard University on next Thursday (May 7) at the University's 16th annual 25-year recognition ceremony.

President Nathan M. Pusey will preside at the program which will be held at 4 p.m. in the faculty room of University Hall.

Those honored will receive the traditional Harvard chair, a captain's chair finished in black lacquer and emblazoned with the Harvard coat-of-arms. A brass plaque affixed to each chair bears the name of the recipient.

Local honorees are Joseph Osborne, M.D. of 29 Ashmont road, Waban, of the Medical School; Carter Redd Rowe, M.D., of 21 Cedar road, Chestnut Hill, Medical School; Albert Otto Seeler, M.D., of 170 Neholdden road, Waban, Medical School and Professor James Headon Shaw of 10 Stiles Terrace, Newton Centre, Dental Medicine.

Newsboy Sees Woman Slugged, Robbed Of $8

A 12-year-old newspaper boy from Hunnewell Ave., witnessed the mugging of a 58-year-old Newton Corner woman on her way home from church last Sunday morning (April 26). The attack occurred near 90 Washington St. about 9 o'clock.

The woman, Mrs. Stanley (Sophia) Durickas, 52, Eldridge St., was grabbed from behind, knocked to the ground, and robbed of her pocketbook containing $8. The newsboy told the police that the attacker was a white male about 25 years of age wearing all black clothing.

Mrs. Durickas said the man fled through the yard at 90 Washington St. An unidentified motorist took her to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where she was treated for a laceration of the eye and abrasions of the hand and knee.

Among other police investigations over last weekend was a break at Mayflower Furniture Co. This was nearly a repeat performance of another break there several weeks ago except that this time the thieves failed to break open and rob the safe, although they tried to do so.

Police reported that the intruder apparently hid in the store at 1210 Washington St., West Newton, before closing time. Nothing was missing from the store.

An attempt was also made to enter the Beneficial Finance Co., 352 Walnut St., Newtonville, at about 12:25 a.m. last Sunday. Glass in a back door was broken and a white male was seen running from the rear of the building.

Witnesses said he got into a red and white car on Highland St. and drove away.

The entry to the company was not completed.

Police investigated a possible break at Bowen School, 280 Cypress St., Newton Centre at 5 a.m. last Sunday. A window was found open but nothing was reported missing.

A babysitter at the home of Dr. Michael Dikes told police last Saturday at 10:45 p.m. that four boys came to the door, created a disturbance and ripped off the mailbox.

Davoren Lashes Flag-Abusers At Legion 'Old Timer' Dinner Here

Secretary of State, John F. X. Davoren, was among the guests and speakers who honored 52-year members of Newton Post 48 American Legion at the "Old Timers' Dinner" recently held at Newton City Hall cafeteria.

Sergeant-at-Arms Nick Narone was dinner chairman. A Pacific theatre veteran of World War II where he served as a U.S. Navy beachmaster, the former House speaker had high praise for the aims and ideals of the American Legion, including its junior baseball program, aid for hospitalized veterans and other patriotic programs.

"We do not profess to sole ownership of the American flag," Davoren declared, "but neither will we stand idly by while so-called peace lovers tear it apart."

He urged members of the American Legion to provide a forum for reasonable discussion of clashing relationships between generations and between those who oppose American foreign policy and those who support our fighting men overseas.

"We owe it to our brave fighting men in the far corners of the globe to help create an atmosphere of understanding, not one of blind hatred... these are very difficult times and we must try to work together to help America find solutions to these very pressing problems."

The state secretary stated that Americans should become increasingly suspect of protesters who claim only to be interested in world peace but who covertly parrot the Communist line.

"There are many sincere, dedicated persons who believe a way must be found to end armed conflict," he warned, "and they should not be lumped together with the others."

Other headtable guests were: Senior Vice Commander Murdock Fraser; Adjutant Malcolm McVarish; P. C., Finance Officer Francis L. Howley; P. C., Edward Edmunds, Past Commander of Post 48, and Winslow Auryansan, administrator

Chamber Planning Formation Of Transportation Committee

Chamber of Commerce President Victor A. Nicolazzo has announced the formation of the new committee on Transportation under the leadership of Patrick Joyce of Needham Hydraulics Corp.

The objective of the committee is to recommend policy and action with respect to public transportation, highways, traffic and parking. The committee is expected to work with the MBTA, the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway and the Penn Central Railroad to assure adequate service; to study and recommend policy on further public transportation routes from Boston to Needham via rail or transit; to study and recommend action on Highland Avenue - Route 128

Nicolazzo also announced the appointments of Robert P. Lurvey, treasurer of West Newton Savings Bank as chairman of the Regional Affairs Committee and the reappointment of Stafford Davis as chairman of the Public Safety & Health Committee.

Among the distinguished speakers will be Senators George McGovern of South Dakota and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania; Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Indiana; Mrs. Katherine Graham, publisher of the Washington Post; and Fred Friendly, former CBS News president.

In addition to the plenary sessions, convention workshops will explore such topics as Israel's security, the black revolution, Jewish youth, new priorities in Jewish and American life and anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union and elsewhere.

A plenary session on "The Crisis in the Middle East" will open the convention on Wednesday night, May 20. Dr. Franklin Littell, professor of religion at Temple University, a prominent Protestant theologian, will share the platform with Minister Shlomo Argov of the Israeli Embassy and Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, president of the American Jewish Congress.

Sign Petitions Against Housing...

Hunnewell Hill Dwellers Seek Development Hearing

A group of Hunnewell Hill residents have petitioned the Newton Board of Aldermen to hold a public hearing in connection with a controversial Newton Community Development Foundation project in their area.

Mrs. Cecil W. Cadwell of 25 Hunnewell Ave., Newton Corner, said the petition with 61 signatures, 11 more than the minimum required by ordinance, has been filed with the city clerk.

The hearing is being sought so that residents may present their arguments against the 52-unit complex planned by the NCDF. The housing development would be at the end of Hunnewell Ave. adjacent to a playground.

The petition states 10 reasons for opposition including the taking of some park land, the possibility that Hunnewell Ave. would be opened through traffic from the Mass. Turnpike and other traffic problems.

The aldermen, who would have to set a date for the hearing, currently are considering how to hold general public hearings on the 10 NCDF proposals involving a total of 563 housing units.

The aldermen have debated whether they can hold public hearings on land not yet released by the city. The city Law Department has said the six pieces of city land to be used must be declared surplus and this requires a public hearing. This, then, would entail a total of 16 public hearings in connection with the NCDF proposition.

Confirmation By Bishop Sherrill At St. John's

The Right Reverend Edmund K. Sherrill, Bishop of Central Brazil, administered the Laying on of Hands, or Confirmation, to the candidates presented by Reverend Edwin S. S. Sunderland, Jr., Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, on Sunday afternoon, April 26, at 4:00 p.m.

Those confirmed were: Robert W. Clubb, Andrea W. Knox and Julia L. Slayton. Received into the Episcopal Church were: Francis J. Pilchuck and Nancy C. Vartanian.

Following the service, Bishop Sherrill, the confirmands and their families were honored by the congregation at a reception in the Loring Room.

'International Day' Fetes 11 Countries

Memorial School held its annual International Day recently with eleven countries represented. Chosen to enrich the social studies program of the school, it was an all-day event.

The Creative Arts Committee of the P.T.A. under the leadership of Anna International Day Program, planned 15 minute visits to Sebok, chairman of the In-the-classrooms with a guest in native costume giving a brief talk.

This included the geography, economics, history, and language of their country. The children had an opportunity to ask questions of the visitors and inspect some of the items brought in as examples of their local crafts, currency, handwork, art, and music.

To further enhance the flavor of these countries, a dish of toothpick foods for the children to sample was provided by Elaine Applebaum and Jackie Klein.

Included were French cheese, English biscuits, Israeli chocolate candy, Japanese coconut biscuits, Alaskan crabmeat, Irish bread, and Danish salami fingers and ham.

All the grades had a chance to spend some time in the gym which was gaily decorated through the artistic imagination of Lucille Smolens and Caryl - Ann Feldman.

Bright posters, flowers, and music set the scene while each country represented prepared a table with its flag, dolls in traditional costume, maps, stamps, pictures, souvenirs, art-work and books. These were augmented by a range of materials from the resource boxes donated by the Children's Museum in Boston.

The teachers, members of the Creative Arts Committee, and guests enjoyed an informal buffet lunch together and Dr. Eldridge, principal of Memorial School, invited the visitors to return at a later date to observe our school in

Fair Housing Committee To Meet Monday

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights will be held on Monday, May 4, at 8:00 p.m. at the Abundant Congregational Church, Hancock and Woodland Sts., Abundant.

There will be a brief business meeting first, with the election of officers for 1970-1971, followed by a panel discussion on Minority Problems, and what Newton is doing to try to meet them.

The speakers will be Mr. Robert C. Hayden, Executive Director of METCO; Mr. Gordon Martin Jr., Commissioner of Massachusetts Against Discrimination; and Mrs. Marvin Sparrow, Co-Chairman of the Newton Coalition. The panel discussions will cover the areas of discrimination in housing, employment, and education. There will be a sherry hour after the meeting.

All members and friends are invited to attend, and to bring a guest to share in the interesting discussion. In addition, there will be an up-to-date report on the progress of the Newton Community Development Fund.
